SUBJECT TO COMPLETION, DATED FEBRUARY 14, 2022

PROXY STATEMENT FOR EXTRAORDINARY GENERAL MEETING OF
WALDENCAST ACQUISITION CORP.
(A CAYMAN ISLANDS EXEMPTED COMPANY)

PROSPECTUS FOR 102,251,449 ORDINARY SHARES AND
11,500,000 WARRANTS
OF WALDENCAST PLC

(AFTER ITS DOMESTICATION AS A PUBLIC LIMITED COMPANY INCORPORATED IN JERSEY),
WHICH IS THE CONTINUING ENTITY OF WALDENCAST ACQUISITION CORP. FOLLOWING THE DOMESTICATION, WHICH WILL BE RENAMED "WALDENCAST PLC"
IN CONNECTION WITH THE BUSINESS COMBINATION DESCRIBED HEREIN

The board of directors of Waldencast Acquisition Corp., a Cayman Islands exempted company ("Waldencast" and, after the Domestication as described below, "Waldencast plc"), has unanimously approved (1) the domestication of Waldencast as a Jersey company (the "Domestication"); (2) the merger of Obagi Merger Sub, Inc. ("Merger Sub"), a Cayman Islands exempted company limited by shares and indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Waldencast, with and into Obagi Global Holdings Limited ("Obagi"), a Cayman Islands exempted company limited by shares (the "Obagi Merger"), with Obagi surviving the Obagi Merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of Obagi Holdco 2 Limited, a limited company incorporated under the laws of Jersey ("Holdco 2") and an indirectly wholly owned subsidiary of Waldencast plc, pursuant to the terms of the Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of November 15, 2021, by and among Waldencast, Merger Sub and Obagi, attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A (as may be amended from time to time, the "Obagi Merger Agreement"), as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus; (3) the purchase of all of the issued and outstanding membership interests of Milk Makeup LLC (the "Milk Transaction"), a Delaware limited liability company ("Milk"), by Waldencast Partners LP, a Cayman Islands exempted limited partnership ("Waldencast LP") and Obagi Holdco 1 Limited, a limited company incorporated under the laws of Jersey ("Holdco 1") and together with Waldencast LP, the "Milk Purchasers"), pursuant to the terms of the Equity Purchase Agreement, dated as of November 15, 2021, by and among Waldencast, Milk, the Milk Purchasers, the members of Milk (the "Milk Members") and Shareholder Representative Services LLC, a Colorado limited liability company, solely in its capacity as representative, agent and attorney-in-fact of the Milk Members (the "Equityholder Representative"), attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex B (as may be amended from time to time, the "Milk Equity Purchase Agreement" and together with the Obagi Merger Agreement, the "Transaction Agreements"), as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus and (4) the other transactions contemplated by the Transaction Agreements and documents related thereto. In connection with the Business Combination (as defined herein), Waldencast will change its name to "Waldencast plc."

Upon consummation of the Business Combination, the combined company will be organized in an "Up-C" structure, whereby the Milk Members will retain a direct equity ownership in Waldencast LP, an entity that is classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, in the form of Waldencast LP Common Units, which will be redeemable at the option of the holder of such units, and if such option is exercised, will be exchangeable, at the option of Waldencast plc, for an equal number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or cash (together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of voting, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares). The equity interests of Obagi and Milk will be held by Waldencast LP. Waldencast plc's interests in Obagi and Milk will be held through its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Holdco 1 and Waldencast LP.

As a result of and upon the effective time of the Domestication, among other things, (1) each of the then issued and outstanding Class A ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, of Waldencast (the "Waldencast Class A ordinary shares"), will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into an ordinary share of a par value of $0.0001 per share of Waldencast plc (the "Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares"); (2) each of the then issued and outstanding Class B ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, of Waldencast (the "Waldencast Class B ordinary shares") will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, (3) each then issued and outstanding warrant of Waldencast (the "Waldencast warrants") will convert automatically into a warrant to acquire one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share (the "Waldencast plc warrants"); and (4) each of the then issued and outstanding units of Waldencast that have not been previously separated into the underlying Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and underlying Waldencast warrants upon the request of the holder thereof (the "Waldencast units") will be cancelled and will entitle the holder thereof to one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share and one-third of one Waldencast plc warrant. Accordingly, this proxy statement/prospectus covers (a) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to be issued in the Domestication and (b) Waldencast plc warrants to be issued in the Domestication.

At the Obagi Merger Effective Time (after giving effect to the Obagi Pre-Closing Restructuring, as defined herein and as more fully described in the Obagi Merger Agreement and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus), among other things, each outstanding share of Obagi Common Stock as of immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time (other than in respect of excluded shares as described more fully in the Obagi Merger Agreement) will be cancelled and converted into the right to receive, (a) an amount in cash equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the Obagi Cash Consideration (as defined herein) by (ii) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares (as defined herein); and (b) a number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the Obagi Stock Consideration (as defined herein) by (ii) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Obagi of $655.0 million (the "Aggregate Obagi Merger Consideration"). At the Obagi Merger Effective Time, (i) all Obagi Options will be converted into Waldencast plc Options (as defined herein), subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Obagi Options immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time; provided that any Obagi Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Obagi Per Share Merger Consideration will be cancelled without consideration, and (ii) all Obagi RSUs will be converted into Waldencast plc RSUs (as defined herein), subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Obagi RSUs immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time. The foregoing determinations do not take into account any additional equity incentive compensation awards that may subsequently be granted. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement — Consideration." Additionally, at the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Obagi Merger Agreement (the "Obagi Closing"), Waldencast will enter into the Investor Rights Agreement together with Cedarwalk Skincare Ltd., a Cayman Islands exempted company limited by shares ("Cedarwalk"), Waldencast Long-Term Capital LLC, a Cayman Islands limited liability company (the "Sponsor") and a guarantor of Cedarwalk's obligations thereunder (the "Investor Rights Agreement"). Pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement, Cedarwalk will have the right to nominate one director for election or appointment to the Waldencast plc board of directors for so long as Cedarwalk owns 5% of the then-outstanding common stock of Waldencast. Upon completion of the Business Combination, Cedarwalk is expected to hold 18.3% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. This level of ownership interest is based on Waldencast's capitalization as of September 30, 2021 and assumes (i) that no public shareholders exercise their redemption rights in connection with the Business Combination, (ii) Waldencast sells and issues 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors (as defined herein) pursuant to the PIPE Investment (as defined herein) and (iii) Waldencast sells and issues 33,300,000 units of Waldencast plc to Burwell Mountain Trust, Dynamo Master Fund and Beauty Ventures LLC (the "Forward Purchasers"), comprising of 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 warrants to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction (as defined herein). If the actual facts are different from these assumptions, the percentage ownership of Cedarwalk in Waldencast plc will be different. For additional information regarding the Investor Rights Agreement, see the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger — Investor Rights Agreement."

At the Milk Transaction Effective Time, (after giving effect to the Milk Pre-Closing Restructuring and the Obagi Merger, as defined herein and as more fully described in the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus), among other things, (a) Holdco 1 will purchase from the Milk Members a percentage of the outstanding Milk Membership Units in exchange for (i) the Milk Cash Consideration (as defined herein) and (ii) a number of Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares equal to the Milk Equity Consideration (as defined herein) and (b) Waldencast LP will purchase from the Milk Members the remainder of the outstanding Milk Membership Units in exchange for the Milk Equity Consideration which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Milk of $340.0 million (the "Aggregate Milk Transaction Consideration"). All Milk Options (as defined herein) will be converted into Waldencast plc Options and all Milk UARs (as defined herein) will be converted into Waldencast plc SARs (as defined herein), in each case, subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Milk Options and Milk UARs, as applicable, immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time; provided that any Milk Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration (as defined herein), and any Milk UARs that have a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, will be cancelled without consideration. The foregoing determinations do not take into account any additional equity incentive compensation awards that may subsequently be granted or (i) any Milk Option with an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration (as defined herein) or (ii) any Milk UAR with a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, and also assume that all other outstanding Milk Options are exercised immediately before the Milk Transaction Effective Time for the net number of shares subject to the option after deduction of the applicable exercise price and that all Milk UARs are settled immediately before the Milk Transaction Effective Time for the number of shares subject to such Milk UARs. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement — Consideration."

At the Closing, subject to the assumptions below, we anticipate that: (1) the shareholders of Obagi (the "Obagi Shareholders") will hold an ownership interest of 18.3% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (2) the Milk Members will hold an ownership interest of 12.5% of the Waldencast LP Common Units, and such units will be exchangeable for up to 12.5% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (3) PIPE Investors will hold an ownership interest of 6.2% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (4) members of the Sponsor will hold an ownership interest of 18.3% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (5) the Investor Directors will hold an ownership interest of 0.1% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (6) Waldencast's public shareholders will retain an ownership interest of 30.8% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and (7) Beauty Ventures will hold an ownership interest of 13.7% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

These levels of ownership interest are based on Waldencast's capitalization as of September 30, 2021 and assume (i) that no public shareholders exercise their redemption rights in connection with the Business Combination, (ii) Waldencast sells and issues 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors pursuant to the PIPE Investment and (iii) Waldencast sells and issues 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, comprising of 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 warrants to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction. If the actual facts are different from these assumptions, the percentage ownership retained by the current Waldencast shareholders in Waldencast plc will be different. For instance, in accordance with the terms of the Obagi Merger Agreement and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, in the event that significant redemptions occur, the cash consideration payable in accordance with such agreements may be substituted for additional Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, which would have a potentially substantial dilutive effect on the percentage ownership retained by the current Waldencast shareholders in Waldencast plc. See the sections entitled "BCA Proposals — Potential Impact of Significant Redemptions on the Percentage Ownership of Waldencast plc Ordinary Shares by the Public Shareholders of Waldencast."

The Waldencast units, Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast warrants are currently listed on The Nasdaq Capital Market ("Nasdaq") under the symbols "WALDU," "WALD" and "WALDW," respectively. Waldencast will apply for listing, to be effective at the closing of the Business Combination, of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast plc warrants on Nasdaq under the proposed symbols "WALD" and "WALDW," respectively. It is a condition of the consummation of the Business Combination described above that Waldencast receives confirmation from Nasdaq that the securities have been conditionally approved for listing on Nasdaq, but there can be no assurance such listing conditions will be met or that Waldencast will obtain such confirmation from Nasdaq. If such listing conditions are not met or if such confirmation is not obtained, the Business Combination described above will not be consummated unless the Nasdaq condition set forth in each of the Transaction Agreements is waived by the applicable parties.

This proxy statement/prospectus provides shareholders of Waldencast with detailed information about the proposed Business Combination and other matters to be considered at the extraordinary general meeting of Waldencast. We encourage you to read this entire document, including the Annexes and other documents referred to herein, carefully and in their entirety. You should also carefully consider the risk factors described in the section entitled "Risk Factors" beginning on page 39 of this proxy statement/prospectus.

At the extraordinary general meeting, Waldencast shareholders will be asked to consider and vote upon proposals to approve and adopt (i) the Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of November 15, 2021, by and among Waldencast, Obagi Merger Sub, Inc., a Cayman Islands exempted company limited by shares (“Merger Sub”), and Obagi Global Holdings Limited, a Cayman Islands exempted company limited by shares (“Obagi”), a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A (as may be amended from time to time, the “Obagi Merger Agreement”) and (ii) the Equity Purchase Agreement, dated as of November 15, 2021, by and among Waldencast, Obagi Holdco 1 Limited, a limited company incorporated under the laws of Jersey (“Holdco 1”), Waldencast Partners LP, a Cayman Islands exempted limited partnership (“Waldencast LP” and together with Holdco 1, the “Milk Purchasers”), Milk Makeup LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (“Milk”), the members of Milk (the “Milk Members”) and Shareholder Representative Services, LLC, a Colorado limited liability company, solely in its capacity as representative, agent and attorney-in-fact of the Milk Members (the “Equityholder Representative”), a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex B (as may be amended from time to time, the “Milk Equity Purchase Agreement,” and together with the Obagi Merger Agreement, the “Transaction Agreements”). The Obagi Merger Agreement provides that, among other things, following the Domestication of Waldencast to Jersey as described below, for the merger of Merger Sub with and into Obagi (the “Obagi Merger”), with Obagi surviving the Obagi Merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of Obagi Holdco 2 Limited, a limited company incorporated under the laws of Jersey and an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Waldencast plc, in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Obagi Merger Agreement as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus. The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement provides that, among other things, following the Obagi Merger, for the purchase of all of the issued and outstanding membership interests of Milk by the Milk Purchasers (the “Milk Transaction,” and together with the Obagi Merger and the Domestication, the “Business Combination”), in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus.

As a condition to closing the Business Combination pursuant to the terms of the Transaction Agreements, (as defined herein) the board of directors of Waldencast has unanimously approved the Domestication. As described in this proxy statement/prospectus, you will be asked to consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the Domestication (the “Domestication Proposal”). In connection with the consummation of the Business Combination, Waldencast will change its name to “Waldencast plc.”

As a result of and upon the effective time of the Domestication, (1) each of the then issued and outstanding Class A ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, of Waldencast (the “Waldencast Class A ordinary shares”), will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into an ordinary share of a par value of $0.0001 per share of Waldencast plc (the “Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares”), (2) each of the then issued and outstanding Class B ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, of Waldencast (the “Waldencast Class B ordinary shares”), will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, (3) each then issued and outstanding warrant of Waldencast (the “Waldencast warrants”) will convert automatically into a warrant to acquire one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share (the “Waldencast plc warrants”) pursuant to the Warrant Agreement, dated March 15, 2021, between Waldencast and Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company (“Continental”), as warrant agent (the “Warrant Agent”) and (4) each of the then issued and outstanding units of Waldencast that have not been previously separated into the underlying Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and underlying Waldencast warrants upon the request of the holder thereof (the “Waldencast units”), will be cancelled and will entitle the holder thereof to one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share and one-third of one Waldencast plc warrant. As used herein, “public shares” means the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares (including those underlying the Waldencast units) that were registered pursuant to the Registration Statement on Form S-1 (333-253370) and the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares issued as a matter of law upon the conversion thereof on the effective date of the Domestication. For further details, see the section entitled “Domestication Proposal.”

You will also be asked to consider and vote upon (1) four separate proposals to approve material differences between Waldencast’s Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association (as may be amended from time to time, the “Cayman Constitutional Documents”) and the proposed memorandum and articles of association of Waldencast plc (collectively, the “Organizational Documents Proposals”), (2) a proposal to elect nine directors who, upon consummation of the Business Combination, will be the directors of Waldencast plc (the “Director Election Proposal”), (3) a proposal to approve, for purposes of complying with the applicable provisions of The Nasdaq Stock Market Listing Rule 5635, the issuance of (a) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors pursuant to the PIPE Investment and the Obagi Shareholders pursuant to the Obagi Merger Agreement and (b) Waldencast plc Units to each of Burwell Mountain Trust, Dynamo Master Fund and Beauty Ventures (the “Forward Purchasers”), pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction (with all of the foregoing capitalized terms defined herein) (the “Stock Issuance Proposal”), (4) a proposal to approve the issuance of the Class B ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, of Waldencast plc (the “Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares”) and the reservation for issue of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in exchange for Waldencast LP Common Units (as defined herein), in each case, to the Milk Members pursuant to the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement (the “Milk Issuance Proposal”), (5) a proposal to approve and adopt the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan, which is the omnibus equity incentive plan of Waldencast plc (the “Incentive Award Plan Proposal”) and (6) a proposal to approve the adjournment of the extraordinary general meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for the approval of one or more proposals at the extraordinary general meeting (the “Adjournment Proposal”). The Business Combination will be consummated only if the proposals to adopt the Obagi Merger Agreement (the “Obagi Merger Proposal”) and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement (the “Milk Transaction Proposal”, and together with the Obagi Merger Proposal, the “BCA Proposal”), the Domestication Proposal, the Organizational Documents Proposals, the Director Election Proposal, the Stock Issuance Proposal, the Milk Issuance Proposal and the Incentive Award Plan Proposal (collectively, the “Condition Precedent Proposals”) are approved at the extraordinary general meeting. Each of the Condition Precedent Proposals is cross-conditioned on the approval of each other. The Adjournment Proposal is not conditioned upon the approval of any other proposal. Each of these proposals is more fully described in this proxy statement/prospectus, which each shareholder is encouraged to read carefully and in its entirety.

At the the date and time the Obagi Merger becomes effective (the “Obagi Merger Effective Time”), (after giving effect to the Obagi Pre-Closing Restructuring, as defined herein and as more fully described in the Obagi Merger Agreement and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus), among other things, each outstanding share of the shares in the capital of Obagi of par value US $0.50 each per share (the “Obagi Common Stock”) as of immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time (other than in respect of excluded shares as described more fully in the Obagi Merger Agreement) will be cancelled and converted into the right to receive, (a) an amount in cash equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the Obagi Cash Consideration (as defined herein) by (ii) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares (as defined herein), and (b) a number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the Obagi Stock Consideration (as defined herein) by (ii) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares, which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Obagi of $655.0 million (the “Aggregate Obagi Merger Consideration”). At the Obagi Merger Effective Time, (i) all options to purchase Obagi Common Stock granted under the Obagi Stock Plan (“Obagi Options”) will be converted into options to purchase Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (“Waldencast plc Options”), subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Obagi Option immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time; provided that any Obagi Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Obagi Per Share Merger Consideration will be cancelled without consideration, and (ii) all restricted stock units issued in respect of Obagi Common Stock granted pursuant to the Obagi Stock Plan (“Obagi RSUs”) will be converted into a restricted stock unit with respect to Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (“Waldencast plc RSUs”), subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Obagi RSU immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time. The foregoing determinations do not take into account any additional equity incentive compensation awards that may subsequently be granted. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement — Consideration” in this proxy statement/prospectus.

At the Milk Transaction Effective Time, (after giving effect to the Milk Pre-Closing Restructuring and the Obagi Merger, as defined herein and as more fully described in the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus), among other things, (a) Holdco 1 will purchase from the Milk Members a percentage of the authorized issued and outstanding common units of Milk (the “Milk Common Units”) and the Milk Preferred Units (as defined herein, and together with the Milk Common Units, the “Milk Membership Units”) in exchange for (i) the Milk Cash Consideration (as defined herein) and (ii) a number of Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares equal to the Milk Equity Consideration (as defined herein) and (b) Waldencast LP will purchase from the Milk Members the remainder of the outstanding Milk Membership Units in exchange for the Milk Equity Consideration, which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Milk of $340.0 million (the “Aggregate Milk Transaction Consideration”). Following its acquisition of Milk Membership Units, Holdco 1 will contribute such units to Waldencast LP. All options to purchase Milk Common Units (“Milk Options”) will be converted into Waldencast plc Options and all unit appreciation rights in respect of Milk Common Units issued pursuant to the Milk Makeup LLC Appreciation Rights Plan (“Milk UARs”) will be converted into stock appreciation rights with respect to Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (“Waldencast plc SARs”), in each case, subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Milk Option and Milk UAR, as applicable, immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time; provided that any Milk Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration (as defined herein), and any Milk UARs that have a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, will be cancelled without consideration. The foregoing determinations do not take into account any additional equity incentive compensation awards that may subsequently be granted or (i) any Milk Option with an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration (as defined herein) or (ii) any Milk UAR with a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, and also assume that all other outstanding Milk Options are exercised immediately before the Milk Transaction Effective Time for the net number of shares subject to the option after deduction of the applicable exercise price and that all Milk UARs are settled immediately before the Milk Transaction Effective Time for the number of shares subject to such Milk UARs. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement — Consideration.”

In connection with the Business Combination, certain related agreements have been, or will be entered into on or prior to the date of the closing of the Business Combination, including (i) the Sponsor Support Agreements, (ii) the Stockholder Support Agreement, (iii) the Investor Rights Agreement, (iv) the Registration Rights Agreement, (v) the Subscription Agreements, (vi) the Lock-Up Agreements, (vii) the Distribution Agreements, (viii) the Transition Services Agreement, (ix) the IP License Agreement and (x) the Supply Agreement (each as defined herein). For additional information, see the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Related Agreements” in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, a holder of public shares (a “public shareholder”), which excludes shares held by the Sponsor, may request that Waldencast redeem all or a portion of such shareholder’s public shares for cash if the Business Combination is consummated. Holders of units must elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and warrants prior to exercising redemption rights with respect to the public shares. If holders hold their units in an account at a brokerage firm or bank, holders must notify their broker or bank that they elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and warrants, or if a holder holds units registered in its own name, the holder must contact the transfer agent directly and instruct it to do so. Public shareholders may elect to redeem their public shares even if they vote “for” the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal or any other Condition Precedent Proposal. If the Business Combination is not consummated, the public shares will be returned to the respective holder, broker or bank. If the Business Combination is consummated and if a public shareholder properly exercises its right to redeem all or a portion of the public shares that it holds and timely delivers its shares to Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, Waldencast plc will redeem such public shares for a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the pro rata portion of the trust account established at the consummation of our initial public offering (the “Trust Account”), calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination. For illustrative purposes, as of September 30, 2021, this would have amounted to approximately $10.00 per issued and outstanding public share. If a public shareholder exercises its redemption rights in full, then it will be electing to exchange its public shares for cash and will no longer own public shares. The redemption takes place following the Domestication and, accordingly, it is Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares that will be redeemed immediately after consummation of the Business Combination. See the section entitled “Extraordinary General Meeting of Waldencast — Redemption Rights” in this proxy statement/prospectus for a detailed description of the procedures to be followed if you wish to redeem your public shares for cash.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a public shareholder, together with any affiliate (as defined herein) of such public shareholder or any other person with whom such public shareholder is acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined in Section 13(d)(3) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (“Exchange Act”)), will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. Accordingly, if a public shareholder, alone or acting in concert or as a group, seeks to redeem more than 15% of the public shares, then any such shares in excess of that 15% limit would not be redeemed for cash.

Waldencast Long-Term Capital LLC (the “Sponsor”) and four directors of Waldencast (Ms. Brown, Ms. Hickman, Ms. Pattison and Mr. Werner (the “Investor Directors”)) have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of the Transaction Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, in each case, subject to the terms and conditions contemplated by the Obagi Sponsor Support Agreement and the Milk Sponsor Support Agreement, each dated as of November 15, 2021, a copy of which is attached as Annex C and Annex D, respectively, to this proxy statement/prospectus (collectively, the “Sponsor Support Agreements”) and waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any ordinary shares held by them as contemplated by the Letter Agreement. The ordinary shares held by the Sponsor will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors own 20% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares of Waldencast.

The (i) Obagi Merger Agreement provides that the obligations of Obagi to consummate the Obagi Merger is conditioned on, among other things that, as of the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Obagi Merger Agreement (the “Obagi Closing”), the Obagi Cash Consideration must equal or exceed $327.5 million minus the Obagi Transaction Expenses Overage (as defined herein) (the “Obagi Minimum Cash Consideration Condition”) and (ii) Milk Equity Purchase Agreement provides that the obligations of Milk to consummate the Milk Transaction is conditioned on, among other things, that as of the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement (the “Milk Closing, and together with the Obagi Closing, the “Closing”) the Milk Cash Consideration must equal or exceed $112.5 million (the “Milk Minimum Cash Consideration Condition”), and each of the Transaction Agreements provides that the obligations of Obagi and Milk, respectively, to consummate the Obagi Merger and Milk Transaction, respectively, are conditioned on, among other things, that after the completion of the transactions contemplated by such agreements, Waldencast plc will have an amount in cash equal to or greater than $50.0 million (the “Minimum Available Waldencast Cash Amount” and together with the Obagi Minimum Cash Consideration Condition and the Milk Minimum Cash Consideration Condition, the “Minimum Cash Conditions”). If there are significant redemptions by public shareholders, then one or more of the Minimum Cash Conditions may not be satisfied. In the event any of the Minimum Cash Conditions are not satisfied, the Business Combination could not be consummated unless Obagi and/or Milk, as applicable, waives the Minimum Cash Condition.

In addition, pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, in no event will Waldencast redeem public shares in an amount that would cause Waldencast plc’s net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount (each as defined herein) actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) to be less than $5,000,001.

The Obagi Merger Agreement is also subject to the satisfaction or waiver of certain other closing conditions as described in this proxy statement/prospectus (including the approval of the Obagi Merger Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby, by the affirmative vote or written consent of the holders of at least a majority of the voting power of the outstanding Obagi Common Stock (as defined herein)). There can be no assurance Obagi or Waldencast would waive any such provision of the Obagi Merger Agreement.

The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement is also subject to the satisfaction or waiver of certain other closing conditions as described in this proxy statement/prospectus. There can be no assurance Milk or Waldencast would waive any such provision of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement.

Waldencast is providing this proxy statement/prospectus and accompanying proxy card to Waldencast’s shareholders in connection with the solicitation of proxies to be voted at the extraordinary general meeting and at any adjournments of the extraordinary general meeting. Information about the extraordinary general meeting, the Business Combination and other related business to be considered by Waldencast's shareholders at the extraordinary general meeting is included in this proxy statement/prospectus. Whether or not you plan to attend the extraordinary general meeting, all of Waldencast's shareholders are urged to read this proxy statement/prospectus, including the Annexes and other documents referred to herein, carefully and in their entirety. You should also carefully consider the risk factors described in the section entitled "Risk Factors" beginning on page 39 of this proxy statement/prospectus.

After careful consideration, the board of directors of Waldencast has unanimously approved the Business Combination and unanimously recommends that shareholders vote "FOR" adoption of the Transaction Agreements, and approval of the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Business Combination, and "FOR" all other proposals presented to Waldencast's shareholders in this proxy statement/prospectus. When you consider the recommendation of these proposals by the board of directors of Waldencast, you should keep in mind that Waldencast's directors and officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast's Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination" in this proxy statement/prospectus for a further discussion of these considerations.

The approval of each of the Domestication Proposal and Organizational Documents Proposals A and D (each as defined herein) require the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The BCA Proposal, Organizational Proposals B and C (each as defined herein), the Stock Issuance Proposal, the Milk Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal require the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The Director Election Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.

Your vote is very important. Whether or not you plan to attend the extraordinary general meeting, please vote as soon as possible by following the instructions in this proxy statement/prospectus to make sure that your shares are represented at the extraordinary general meeting. If you hold your shares in "street name" through a bank, broker or other nominee, you will need to follow the instructions provided to you by your bank, broker or other nominee to ensure that your shares are represented and voted at the extraordinary general meeting. The transactions contemplated by the Transaction Agreements will be consummated only if the Condition Precedent Proposals are approved at the extraordinary general meeting. Each of the Condition Precedent Proposals is cross-conditioned on the approval of each other. The Adjournment Proposal is not conditioned upon the approval of any other proposal set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus.

If you sign, date and return your proxy card without indicating how you wish to vote, your proxy will be voted FOR each of the proposals presented at the extraordinary general meeting. If you fail to return your proxy card or fail to instruct your bank, broker or other nominee how to vote, and do not attend the extraordinary general meeting in person or virtually, the effect will be, among other things, that your shares will not be counted for purposes of determining whether a quorum is present at the extraordinary general meeting and will not be voted. An abstention or broker non-vote will be counted towards the quorum requirement but will not count as a vote cast at the extraordinary general meeting. If you are a shareholder of record and you attend the extraordinary general meeting and wish to vote in person or virtually, you may vote in person and your proxy will be revoked without further action being required.

Each of Proposals No. 1(a) through 10 is cross-conditioned on the approval of each other. The Adjournment Proposal is not conditioned upon the approval of any other proposal set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus.

These items of business are described in this proxy statement/prospectus, which we encourage you to read carefully and in its entirety before voting.

Only holders of record of ordinary shares at the close of business on _____, 2022 are entitled to notice of, and to vote and have their votes counted at, the extraordinary general meeting and any adjournment of the extraordinary general meeting.

This proxy statement/prospectus and accompanying proxy card is being provided to Waldencast’s shareholders in connection with the solicitation of proxies to be voted at the extraordinary general meeting and at any adjournment of the extraordinary general meeting. Whether or not you plan to attend the extraordinary general meeting, all of Waldencast’s shareholders are urged to read this proxy statement/prospectus, including the Annexes and the documents referred to herein, carefully and in their entirety. You should also carefully consider the risk factors described in the section entitled “Risk Factors” beginning on page 39 of this proxy statement/prospectus.

After careful consideration, the board of directors of Waldencast has unanimously approved the Business Combination and unanimously recommends that shareholders vote “FOR” adoption of the Obagi Merger Agreement and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement (together, the “Transaction Agreements”) and approval of the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Business Combination, and “FOR” all other proposals presented to Waldencast’s shareholders in this proxy statement/prospectus. When you consider the recommendation of these proposals by the board of directors of Waldencast, you should keep in mind that Waldencast’s directors and officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” in this proxy statement/prospectus for a further discussion of these considerations.

Pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, a public shareholder may request of Waldencast that Waldencast plc redeem all or a portion of its public shares for cash if the Business Combination is consummated. As a holder of public shares, you will be entitled to receive cash for any public shares to be redeemed only if you:

- (i) (a) hold public shares, or (b) if you hold public shares through units, you elect to separate your units into the underlying public shares and public warrants prior to exercising your redemption rights with respect to the public shares;
- (ii) submit a written request to Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company (“Continental”), Waldencast’s transfer agent, that Waldencast plc redeem all or a portion of your public shares for cash; and
- (iii) deliver your public shares to Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, physically or electronically through The Depository Trust Company (“DTC”).

Holders must complete the procedures for electing to redeem their public shares in the manner described above prior to 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on _____, 2022 (two business days before the extraordinary general meeting) in order for their shares to be redeemed.

Holders of units must elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and warrants prior to exercising redemption rights with respect to the public shares. If holders hold their units in an account at a brokerage firm or bank, holders must notify their broker or bank that they elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and warrants, or if a holder holds units registered in its own name, the holder must contact Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, directly and instruct them to do so. Public shareholders may elect to redeem public shares regardless of if or how they vote in respect of the BCA Proposal. If the Business Combination is not consummated, the public shares will be returned to the respective holder, broker or bank.

If the Business Combination is consummated, and if a public shareholder properly exercises its right to redeem all or a portion of the public shares that it holds and timely delivers its shares to Continental, Waldencast's transfer agent, Waldencast plc will redeem such public shares for a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the pro rata portion of the trust account established at the consummation of our initial public offering at J.P. Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. and maintained by Continental, acting as trustee, calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination. For illustrative purposes, as of September 30, 2021, this would have amounted to approximately $10.00 per issued and outstanding public share. If a public shareholder exercises its redemption rights in full, then it will be electing to exchange its public shares for cash and will no longer own public shares. The redemption takes place following the Domestication and, accordingly, it is Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares that will be redeemed promptly after consummation of the Business Combination. See the section entitled "Extraordinary General Meeting of Waldencast — Redemption Rights" in this proxy statement/prospectus for a detailed description of the procedures to be followed if you wish to redeem your public shares for cash.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a public shareholder, together with any affiliate of such public shareholder or any other person with whom such public shareholder is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined in Section 13(d)(3) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended ("Exchange Act")), will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. Accordingly, if a public shareholder, alone or acting in concert or as a group, seeks to redeem more than 15% of the public shares, then any such shares in excess of that 15% limit would not be redeemed for cash.

Waldencast Long-Term Capital LLC, a Cayman Islands limited liability company and shareholder of Waldencast (the "Sponsor"), and the Investor Directors have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of the Transaction Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, and to waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any ordinary shares held by them, in each case, subject to the terms and conditions contemplated by the Letter Agreement, the Obagi Sponsor Support Agreement and Milk Sponsor Support Agreement, each dated as of November 15, 2021, copies of which are attached to this proxy statement/prospectus statement as Annex C and Annex D, respectively (the "Sponsor Support Agreements"). The ordinary shares held by the Sponsor will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors own 20% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares.

The (i) Obagi Merger Agreement provides that the obligation of Obagi to consummate the Obagi Merger is conditioned on, among other things, that as of the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Obagi Merger Agreement, the Obagi Cash Consideration (as defined herein) must equal or exceed $327.5 million minus any amount of the Obagi Transaction Expenses (as defined herein) in excess of $26.0 million (the "Obagi Minimum Cash Consideration Condition"), (ii) Milk Equity Purchase Agreement provides that the obligation of Milk to consummate the Milk Transaction is conditioned on, among other things, that as of the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, the Milk Cash Consideration (as defined herein) must equal or exceed $112.5 million (the "Milk Minimum Cash Consideration Condition"), and each of Transaction Agreements provides that the obligations of Obagi and Milk, respectively, to consummate the Obagi Merger and Milk Transaction, respectively, are conditioned on, among other things, that after the completion of the transactions contemplated by such agreements, Waldencast plc will receive an amount in cash equal to or greater than $50.0 million (the "Minimum Available Waldencast Cash Amount" and together with the Obagi Minimum Cash Consideration Condition and the Milk Minimum Cash Consideration Condition, the "Minimum Cash Conditions"). If there are significant redemptions by public shareholders, then one or more of the Minimum Cash Conditions may not be satisfied. In the event any of the Minimum Cash Conditions are not satisfied, the Business Combination could not be consummated unless Obagi and/or Milk, as applicable, waives the Minimum Cash Condition.

In addition, pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, in no event will Waldencast redeem public shares in an amount that would cause Waldencast plc's net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount (each as defined herein) actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) to be less than $5,000,001.

The Obagi Merger Agreement and Milk Equity Purchase Agreement are also subject to the satisfaction or waiver of certain other closing conditions as described in this proxy statement/prospectus. There can be no assurance that Obagi, Milk or Waldencast would waive any such provisions of the Obagi Merger Agreement and Milk Equity Purchase Agreement if one of those conditions is not satisfied.

The approval of each of the Domestication Proposal and Organizational Documents Proposals A and D requires the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The BCA Proposal, Organizational Documents Proposals B and C, the Stock Issuance Proposal, the Milk Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal require the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The Director Election Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.

Your vote is very important. Whether or not you plan to attend in person or virtually the extraordinary general meeting, please vote as soon as possible by following the instructions in this proxy statement/prospectus to make sure that your shares are represented at the extraordinary general meeting. If you hold your shares in “street name” through a bank, broker or other nominee, you will need to follow the instructions provided to you by your bank, broker or other nominee to ensure that your shares are represented and voted at the extraordinary general meeting. The transactions contemplated by the Transaction Agreements will be consummated only if the Condition Precedent Proposals are approved at the extraordinary general meeting. Each of the Condition Precedent Proposals is cross-conditioned on the approval of each other. The Adjournment Proposal is not conditioned upon the approval of any other proposal set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus.

If you sign, date and return your proxy card without indicating how you wish to vote, your proxy will be voted FOR each of the proposals presented at the extraordinary general meeting. If you fail to return your proxy card or fail to instruct your bank, broker or other nominee how to vote, and do not attend the extraordinary general meeting in person or virtually, the effect will be, among other things, that your shares will not be counted for purposes of determining whether a quorum is present at the extraordinary general meeting and will not be voted. An abstention or broker non-vote will be counted towards the quorum requirement but will not count as a vote cast at the extraordinary general meeting. If you are a shareholder of record and you attend the extraordinary general meeting and wish to vote in person or virtually, you may vote in person and your proxy will be revoked without further action being required.

Your attention is directed to the remainder of the proxy statement/prospectus following this notice (including the Annexes and other documents referred to herein) for a more complete description of the proposed Business Combination and related transactions and each of the proposals. You are encouraged to read this proxy statement/prospectus carefully and in its entirety, including the Annexes and other documents referred to herein. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal" for more detail.

A copy of the Obagi Merger Agreement and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A and Annex B, respectively, and you are encouraged to read each in their entirety.

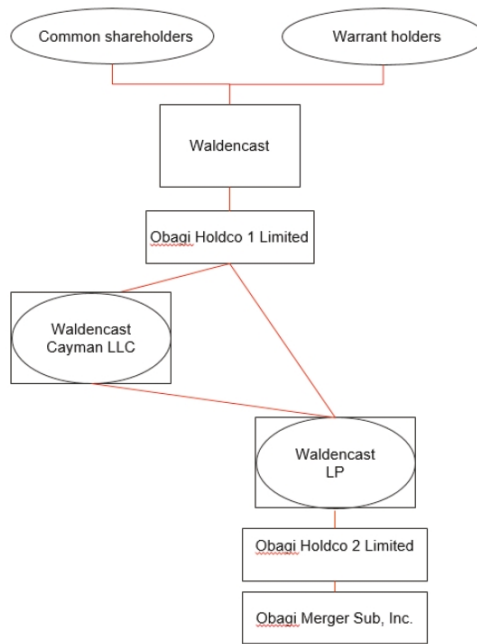

As a condition to closing the Business Combination pursuant to the terms of the Transaction Agreements, Waldencast will change its jurisdiction of incorporation by effecting a deregistration under Section 206 of the Cayman Islands Companies Act and a domestication by way of continuance under Part 18C of the Jersey Companies Law, pursuant to which Waldencast's jurisdiction of incorporation will be changed from the Cayman Islands to Jersey. As a result of and upon the effective time of the Domestication, (1) each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class A ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share; (2) each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class B ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share; (3) each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast warrants will convert automatically into a Waldencast plc warrant, pursuant to the Warrant Agreement, dated as of March 15, 2021, between Waldencast and Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company ("Continental") (such warrant agreement, the "Warrant Agreement"); and (4) each of the then issued and outstanding units of Waldencast that have not been previously separated into the underlying Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and underlying Waldencast warrants upon the request of the holder thereof will be cancelled and will entitle the holder thereof to one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share and one-third of one Waldencast plc warrant. See the section entitled "Domestication Proposal" for additional information.

The provisions of the Proposed Constitutional Document will differ materially from the Cayman Constitutional Documents. Please see the section entitled "What amendments will be made to the current constitutional documents of Waldencast?" below.

Q: What is the transaction structure?

A: The current organizational structure of Waldencast is as follows:

Pursuant to the Obagi Merger Agreement, Obagi will merge into Merger Sub, with Obagi surviving the merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of Holdco 2, and an indirect subsidiary of Waldencast plc. In exchange, Obagi Shareholders will receive a combination of cash and Class A ordinary shares in Waldencast plc.

The following is a diagram of the current structure of Obagi:

Prior to the date and time the Obagi Merger becomes effective (the “Obagi Merger Effective Time”), and pursuant to the Obagi Merger Agreement, Obagi will carve out its businesses located in China—Obagi Shanghai Cosmeceuticals Co. Ltd., Obagi Xi’an Pharmaceuticals Technology Co., Ltd. (collectively, the “Obagi Shanghai Entities”), and Obagi Hong Kong Limited—and transfer such business to Cedarwalk Skincare Ltd., a Cayman Islands exempted company limited by shares (“Cedarwalk”). Additionally, prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time, and conditioned upon receipt of the Clinactiv Consent (as defined herein), Obagi will distribute all of the outstanding equity interests of Clinactiv Technology Limited, a Cayman Islands exempted company limited by shares (“Clinactiv”), to Cedarwalk.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Pursuant to the Milk Transaction Agreement, (a) Holdco 1 will acquire from the Milk Members a portion of the outstanding Milk Membership Units from the Milk Members in exchange for cash and Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares; and (b) Waldencast Partners LP, a Cayman Islands exempted limited partnership (“Waldencast LP”) will acquire from the Milk Members the remaining Milk Membership Units in exchange for Waldencast LP Common Units. Following its acquisition of Milk Membership Units, Holdco 1 will contribute such units to Waldencast LP in exchange for Waldencast LP Common Units.

Waldencast’s corporate structure following consummation of the transactions contemplated by the Transaction Agreements is commonly referred to as an “Up-C,” which is often used by partnerships and limited liability companies undertaking an initial public offering. This organizational structure will allow the Milk Members to retain a direct equity ownership in Waldencast LP, an entity that is classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, in the form of limited partnership units of Waldencast LP that, in the case of such units issued as part of, or in respect of, the Milk Equity Consideration (as defined herein), are redeemable at the option of the holder of such units and, if such option is exercised, exchangeable at the option of Waldencast plc for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or cash in accordance with the terms of the Amended and Restated Waldencast Partners LP Agreement (such limited partnership units, the “Waldencast LP Common Units”).

The following is a diagram of the final structure of the proposed transaction:

Q: What proposals are shareholders of Waldencast being asked to vote upon?

A: At the extraordinary general meeting, Waldencast is asking holders of ordinary shares to consider and vote upon:

- proposals to approve by ordinary resolution and adopt the Transaction Agreements;
- a proposal to approve by special resolution the Domestication;

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- the following four separate proposals to approve by special resolution and ordinary resolution, as applicable and as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus, the following material differences between the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Proposed Constitutional Document:
  - to authorize the change in the authorized share capital of Waldencast from (i) 500,000,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares, 50,000,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares and 5,000,000 preferred shares, par value $0.0001 per share, to (ii) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares and shares of Waldencast plc preferred stock, respectively;
  - to provide that the Waldencast plc Board be divided into three classes, with each class made up of, as nearly as may be possible, one-third of the total number of directors constituting the entire Waldencast plc Board, with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class serving a three-year term;
  - to provide that certain provisions of the Proposed Constitutional Document will be subject to the Investor Rights Agreement, including provisions governing the appointment, removal and replacement of directors, with respect to which Cedarwalk will have certain rights pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement; and
  - to authorize all other changes in connection with the replacement of the Cayman Constitutional Documents with the Proposed Constitutional Document as part of the Domestication, including (1) changing the corporate name from “Waldencast Acquisition Corp.” to “Waldencast plc,” (2) making Waldencast plc’s existence for an unlimited duration and (3) removing certain provisions related to Waldencast’s status as a blank check company that will no longer be applicable upon consummation of the Business Combination, all of which Waldencast’s board of directors believes is necessary to adequately address the needs of Waldencast plc after the Business Combination;
- a proposal to approve by ordinary resolution of the holders of Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, the election of nine directors to serve staggered terms, who, upon consummation of the Business Combination, will be the directors of Waldencast plc;
- proposals to approve by ordinary resolution, for purposes of complying with applicable listing rules of Nasdaq, the issuance of (a) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors, pursuant to the PIPE Investment, and to the Obagi Shareholders, pursuant to the Obagi Merger Agreement and (b) Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction;
- a proposal to approve by ordinary resolution the issuance of Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares and the reservation for issue of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in exchange for Waldencast LP Common Units, in each case, to the Milk Members;
- a proposal to approve by ordinary resolution the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan; and
- a proposal to approve the adjournment of the extraordinary general meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for the approval of one or more proposals at the extraordinary general meeting.

If Waldencast’s shareholders do not approve each of the Condition Precedent Proposals (as defined herein), then unless certain conditions in the Transaction Agreements are waived by the applicable parties to the Transaction Agreements, the Transaction Agreements could terminate and the Business Combination may not be consummated. See the sections entitled “BCA Proposal,” “Domestication Proposal,” “Organizational Documents Proposals,” “Director Election Proposal,” “Stock Issuance Proposal,” “Milk Issuance Proposal,” “Incentive Award Plan Proposal” and “Adjournment Proposal.”

Waldencast will hold the extraordinary general meeting to consider and vote upon these proposals. This proxy statement/prospectus contains important information about the Business Combination and the other matters to be acted upon at the extraordinary general meeting. Shareholders of Waldencast should read it carefully.

After careful consideration, Waldencast’s board of directors has determined that the BCA Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, each of the Organizational Documents Proposals, the Director Election Proposal, the Stock Issuance Proposal, the Milk Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal are in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and unanimously recommends that you vote or give instruction to vote “FOR” each of those proposals.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for a further discussion of these considerations.

Q: Are the proposals conditioned on one another?

A: Yes. The Business Combination is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals at the extraordinary general meeting. Each of the Condition Precedent Proposals is cross-conditioned on the approval of each other. The Adjournment Proposal is not conditioned upon the approval of any other proposal.

Q: Why is Waldencast proposing the Business Combination?

A: Waldencast was organized to effect a merger, amalgamation, share exchange, asset acquisition, share purchase, reorganization or similar business combination, with one or more businesses or entities.

Obagi is a pioneer of the professional skincare category, and its products are rooted in science and skin biology. Obagi develops, markets and sells innovative skin health products in more than 60 countries around the world. Obagi’s collection of products includes the following brands, with more than 200 cosmetic, over-the-counter and prescription products and a device sold throughout the medical, spa and retail channels: Obagi Medical®, Obagi Clinical®, Obagi Professional™ and Skintrinsiq™ .

Milk is a leading, award-winning, clean prestige makeup brand with unique products, a dedicated following among Gen-Z consumers and an emerging global presence. Milk has achieved significant growth since inception and believes even more significant growth opportunities remain to increase their brand awareness, broaden their product portfolio, as well as to enter into new product categories, channels and regions.

Based on its due diligence investigations of Obagi, Milk and the industries in which they operate, including the financial and other information provided by Obagi and Milk in the course of Waldencast’s due diligence investigations, Waldencast’s board of directors believes that the Business Combination is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and presents an opportunity to increase shareholder value. However, there is no assurance of this. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Waldencast’s Board of Directors’ Reasons for the Business Combination” for additional information.

Although Waldencast’s board of directors believes that the Business Combination presents a unique business combination opportunity and is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders, the board of directors did consider certain potentially material negative factors in arriving at that conclusion. These factors are discussed in greater detail in the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Waldencast’s Board of Directors’ Reasons for the Business Combination” as well as in the sections entitled “Risk Factors — Risks Related to Obagi’s Business and Industry” and “Risk Factors — Risks Related to Milk’s Business and Industry.”

Q: What will Obagi Shareholders and Milk Members receive in return for Waldencast’s acquisition of all of the issued and outstanding equity interests of Obagi and Milk?

A: It is anticipated that, at the Obagi Merger Effective Time (after giving effect to the Obagi Pre-Closing Restructuring, as defined herein and as more fully described in the Obagi Merger Agreement and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus), among other things, the outstanding shares of Obagi Common Stock as of immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time (other than in respect of excluded shares as described more fully in the Obagi Merger Agreement) will be cancelled and converted into the right to receive, (a) an amount in cash equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the Obagi Cash Consideration by (ii) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares; and (b) a number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the Obagi Stock Consideration by (ii) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares, which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Obagi of $655.0 million. Subject to the assumptions below, at the Obagi Merger Effective Time (after giving effect to the Obagi Pre-Closing Restructuring) it is anticipated that, among other things, the outstanding shares of Obagi Common Stock as of immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time (other than in respect of excluded shares as described more fully in the Obagi Merger Agreement) will be cancelled and converted into the right to receive approximately (a) $380.0 million; and (b) 22,851,564 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Obagi of $655.0 million. The number of shares and amount of cash payable set forth above assumes that (a) none of Waldencast’s shareholders will elect to redeem their Class A ordinary shares for a pro rata portion of cash in the Trust Account, and thus the full amount of the approximately $345.0 million held in the Trust Account will be available to the combined company after the closing of the Business Combination, (b) Waldencast sells and issues (i) 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors pursuant to the PIPE Investment and (ii) 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, comprising of 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 warrants to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction, (c) Obagi will not issue any additional equity securities or convert any equity securities into Obagi Common Stock prior to the Business Combination, (d) the Obagi Transaction Expenses will not exceed $26.0 million and (e) all conditions to closing of the Business Combination will be satisfied and waived. If the actual facts differ from such assumptions, the number of shares and amount of cash payable set forth above will be different. The following table illustrates the number of shares and amount of cash payable to the Obagi Shareholders at different possible redemption levels:

Cash to Obagi Shareholders	$ 380.0	$ 380.0	$ 327.5	$ 282.2
Waldencast plc Class A Shares to Obagi Shareholders	22,851,564	22,851,564	28,101,564	32,634,659

(1) Assumes that 21,984,625 Class A ordinary shares are redeemed in connection with the Business Combination, which is the maximum number of shares that may be redeemed without causing the Minimum Cash Condition to the closing of the Business Combination to be unsatisfied.

Further, if the Obagi Transaction Expenses exceed $26.0 million, the amount of the cash consideration payable to the holders of the Obagi Common Stock immediately prior to the closing of the Business Combination shall be reduced by the amount of such excess and the aggregate number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares payable to such holders shall be increased by a number of shares equal to the dollar amount of such excess divided by $10.00.

At the Obagi Merger Effective Time, (i) all options to purchase Obagi Common Stock granted under the Obagi Stock Plan (“Obagi Options”) will be converted into an option to purchase Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (“Waldencast plc Options”), subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Obagi Options immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time; provided that any Obagi Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Obagi Per Share Merger Consideration will be cancelled without consideration, and (ii) all restricted stock units issued in respect of Obagi Common Stock granted pursuant to the Obagi Stock Plan (“Obagi RSUs”) will be converted into a restricted stock unit with respect to Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (“Waldencast plc RSUs”), subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Obagi RSU immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time. The foregoing determinations do not take into account any additional equity incentive compensation awards that may subsequently be granted. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal – Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement — Consideration.”

It is anticipated, at the Milk Transaction Effective Time, (after giving effect to the Milk Pre-Closing Restructuring and the Obagi Merger, and as more fully described in the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus), among other things, (a) Holdco 1 will purchase from the Milk Members a percentage of the outstanding Milk Membership Units in exchange for (i) the Milk Cash Consideration and (ii) a number of Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares equal to the Milk Equity Consideration and (b) Waldencast LP will purchase from the Milk Members the remainder of the outstanding

Membership Units in exchange for the Milk Equity Consideration, which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Milk of $340.0 million. Following its acquisition of Milk Membership Units, Holdco 1 will contribute such units to Waldencast LP. Subject to the assumptions below, at the Milk Transaction Effective Time (after giving effect to the Milk Pre-Closing Restructuring and the Obagi Merger), among other things, the outstanding shares of Milk Membership Units as of immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time will be exchanged for approximately (a) $140.0 million, (b) 18,343,883 Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares and (c) 18,343,883 Waldencast LP Common Units, which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Milk of $340.0 million. The number of shares and amounts of cash payable set forth above assumes that (a) none of Waldencast’s shareholders will elect to redeem their Waldencast Class A ordinary shares for a pro rata portion of cash in the Trust Account, and thus the full amount of the approximately $345.0 million held in the Trust Account will be available for the combined company after the closing of the Business Combination, (b) Waldencast sells and issues (i) 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors pursuant to the PIPE Investment and (ii) 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, comprising of 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 warrants to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction, (c) Milk will not issue any additional equity securities prior to the Business Combination or convert any equity securities into Milk Membership Units prior to the Business Combination, and (d) all conditions to closing of the Business Combination will be satisfied or waived. If the actual facts differ from our assumptions, the numbers of shares and amounts of cash payable set forth above will be different. The following table illustrates the number of shares and amount of cash payable to the Milk Members at different possible redemption levels:

Cash to Milk Members	$ 140.0	$ 140.0	$ 120.3	$ 82.8
Waldencast LP Common Units to Milk Members	18,343,883	18,343,883	20,314,508	24,068,228
Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares	18,343,883	18,343,883	20,314,508	24,068,228

All options to purchase Milk Common Units (“Milk Options”) will be converted into Waldencast plc Options and all unit appreciation rights in respect of Milk Common Units issued pursuant to the Milk Appreciation Rights Plan (“Milk UARs”) will be converted into stock appreciation right with respect to Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (“Waldencast plc SARs”), in each case, subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Milk Option and Milk UAR, as applicable immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time; provided that any Milk Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, and any Milk UARs that have a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, will be cancelled without consideration. The foregoing determinations do not take into account any additional equity incentive compensation awards that may subsequently be granted, or (i) any Milk Option with an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration or (ii) any Milk UAR with a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, and also assume that all other outstanding Milk Options are exercised immediately before the Milk Transaction Effective Time for the net number of shares subject to the option after deduction of the applicable exercise price and that all Milk UARs are settled immediately before the Milk Transaction Effective Time for the number of shares subject to such Milk UARs. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement — Consideration.”

Q: What equity stake will current Waldencast shareholders, Obagi Shareholders and Milk Members hold in Waldencast plc immediately after the consummation of the Business Combination?

A: As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, there are (i) 43,125,000 ordinary shares issued and outstanding, which includes the 8,545,000 founder shares held by the Sponsor, 80,000 founder shares held by the Investor Directors and the 34,500,000 public shares, and (ii) 17,433,333 warrants issued and outstanding, which includes the 5,933,333 private placement warrants held by the Sponsor and the 11,500,000 public warrants. Each whole warrant entitles the holder thereof to purchase one Waldencast Class A ordinary share and, following the Domestication, will entitle the holder thereof to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share. Therefore, as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus (without giving effect to the Business Combination), the Waldencast fully diluted share capital would be 60,558,333 common stock equivalents.

Upon completion of the Business Combination, the combined company will be organized in an “Up-C” structure, whereby the equity interests of Obagi and Milk will be held by Waldencast LP and Waldencast plc’s interests in Obagi and Milk will be held through its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Holdco 1 and Waldencast LP. The parties agreed to structure the Business Combination as an “Up-C” structure for tax and other business purposes, and Waldencast does not believe that the “Up-C” organizational structure will give rise to any significant business or strategic benefit or detriment.

We anticipate that: (1) the Obagi Shareholders are expected to hold an ownership interest of 18.3% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (2) the Milk Members are expected to hold an ownership interest of 12.5% of the Waldencast LP Common Units, such units will be exchangeable for up to 12.5% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (3) PIPE Investors are expected to hold an ownership interest of 6.2% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (4) members of the Sponsor and the Investor Directors are expected to hold an ownership interest of 18.4% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (5) Waldencast’s public shareholders will retain an ownership interest of 30.8% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and (6) Beauty Ventures is expected to hold an ownership interest of 13.7% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

These levels of ownership interest are based on Waldencast’s capitalization as of September 30, 2021 and assume (i) that no public shareholders exercise their redemption rights in connection with the Business Combination, (ii) Waldencast sells and issues 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors pursuant to the PIPE Investment and (iii) Waldencast sells and issues 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, comprising of 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 warrants to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction. If the actual facts are different from these assumptions, the percentage ownership retained by the current Waldencast shareholders in Waldencast plc will be different. For instance, in accordance with the terms of the Obagi Merger Agreement and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, in the event that significant redemptions occur, the cash consideration payable in accordance with such agreements may be substituted for additional Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares which would have a potentially substantial dilutive effect on the percentage ownership retained by the current Waldencast shareholders in Waldencast plc. See the sections entitled “BCA Proposals — Potential Impact of Significant Redemptions on the Percentage Ownership of Waldencast plc Ordinary Shares by the Public Shareholders of Waldencast.”

The following table illustrates varying ownership levels in Waldencast plc immediately following the consummation of the Business Combination based on the assumptions above.

1) Assumes that 21,984,625 Class A ordinary shares are redeemed in connection with the Business Combination which is the maximum number of shares that may be redeemed without causing the Minimum Cash Condition to the closing of the Business Combination to be unsatisfied. The net cash consideration payable to the existing Obagi owners would decrease from $380.0 million to $327.5 million and to the existing Milk owners from $140.0 million to $120.3 million, and the economic ownership and voting power via shares of the existing Obagi and Milk owners would increase proportionally following the Business Combination.

The above table sets out the number of shares and ownership percentages at different redemption levels (no redemptions, 30% redemptions, maximum redemptions and 90% redemptions). However, Waldencast cannot predict how many of its public shareholders will exercise their right to have their public shares redeemed for cash. As a result, the redemption amount and the number of Class A ordinary shares redeemed in connection with the Business Combination may differ from the amounts presented above. As such, the ownership percentages and voting power of Waldencast's shareholders may also differ from the presentation above if the actual redemptions are different from these assumptions. See "Risk Factors – Risks Related to the Business Combination and the Company - Based on recent market trends, in the event that Waldencast's stock price is at, around or below $10.00 per share during the redemption period, there may be significant redemptions by Waldencast's public shareholders in connection with the Business Combination, resulting in a greater risk that the Obagi Minimum Cash Conditions or Milk Minimum Cash Conditions will not be met, or that there will be a reduced amount of cash available to Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination and as a result, would likely require Waldencast plc to obtain additional financing in order to fund its planned operations to the point where Waldencast plc's business is generating positive cash flows."

2) 16,000,000 Class A ordinary shares acquired pursuant to the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement for an investment of $160.0 million by Burwell Mountain Trust and Dynamo Master Fund (members of our Sponsor) in exchange for a portion of the Forward Purchase Amount.

3) 17,300,000 Class A ordinary shares acquired pursuant to the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement for an investment of $173.0 million by the Beauty Ventures in exchange for a portion of the Forward Purchase Amount.

4) 8,625,000 Class A ordinary shares, including 80,000 shares held by the Investor Directors issued upon conversion of the existing Waldencast Class B ordinary shares. Waldencast Class A ordinary shares are issued upon the automatic conversion of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares concurrently with the consummation of the Business Combination.

5) Represents the private placement pursuant to which Waldencast entered into Subscription Agreements with certain PIPE Investors whereby such investors have agreed to subscribe for Class A ordinary shares at a purchase price of $10.00 per share. The PIPE Investors participating in the PIPE Investment, have agreed to purchase an aggregate of 10,500,000 Class A ordinary shares.

6) Represents Obagi owners' interest in 22,851,564 shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, which remain unchanged in the 30% scenario, increase in the Maximum Redemption scenario to 28,101,564 and to 32,634,659 in the 90% scenario due to the reduction in net cash consideration payable.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- 7) Represents the Milk Members' noncontrolling economic interest in Waldencast LP Common Units, which are redeemable at the option of the holder of such units, and if such option is exercised, are exchangeable, at the option of Waldencast plc, for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares on a 1-for-1 basis or cash (together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of voting, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares), and if exchanged for such Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, will increase in the Maximum Redemption scenario due to the reduction in net cash consideration payable.
- 8) Represents Class A ordinary shares that were converted from Milk Warrants at the Closing of the Business Combination.
- 9) Note, percentages totals may not foot due to rounding.

The following table illustrates varying ownership levels in Waldencast plc immediately following the consummation of the Business Combination on a fully dilutive basis:

The table below presents the trust value per share to a Waldencast shareholder that elects not to redeem across a range of varying redemption scenarios. The maximum redemption scenario represents the maximum redemptions that may occur but which would still provide for the satisfactions of the Minimum Cash Conditions in the Transaction Agreements. This trust value per share includes the per share cost of the deferred underwriting commission to be paid upon closing of the Business Combination as agreed between Waldencast and the underwriters at the time of our initial public offering.

Upon consummation of the Business Combination, the combined company will be organized in an “Up-C” structure. The equity interests of Obagi and Milk will be held by Waldencast LP. Waldencast plc’s interests in Obagi and Milk will be held through its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Holdco 1 and Waldencast LP, respectively

See the section entitled “Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information” for more information.

Q: What is the maximum number of shares that may be redeemed and still allow Waldencast to satisfy the Obagi Minimum Cash Consideration Condition and the Milk Minimum Cash Consideration Condition?

A: The maximum number of public shares that may be redeemed and still allow Waldencast to satisfy each of the Obagi Minimum Cash Consideration Condition and the Milk Minimum Cash Consideration Condition is 21,984,625 Class A ordinary shares for aggregate redemption payments of $219.9 million based on the estimated per share redemption value of $10.00. The Obagi Minimum Cash Consideration Condition and the Milk Cash Consideration Condition are waivable by Obagi and Milk pursuant to the respective Transaction Agreements, and if so waived, the maximum amount of redemptions could exceed the 21,984,625 public shares redemption scenario as presented in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Q: How has the announcement of the Business Combination affected the trading price of the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares?

A: On November 12, 2021, the trading date before the public announcement of the Business Combination, Waldencast's public units, Class A ordinary shares and warrants closed at $10.47, $10.00 and $1.45, respectively. On February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, Waldencast's public units, Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and warrants closed at $10.26, $10.00 and $0.80, respectively.

Q: Will Waldencast obtain new financing in connection with the Business Combination?

A: Yes. The respective PIPE Investors have agreed to purchase, in the aggregate, 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares at $10.00 per share for an aggregate commitment amount of $105.0 million. The PIPE Investment is contingent upon, among other things, the closing of the Business Combination. In the event the Minimum Cash Condition is not satisfied, the Business Combination would not be consummated unless Obagi or Milk, as applicable, waives the Minimum Cash Conditions. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction — PIPE Subscription Agreements."

Q: Why is Waldencast proposing the Domestication?

A: Our board of directors believes that there are significant advantages to us that will arise as a result of a change of Waldencast's domicile to Jersey. Furthermore, Waldencast's board of directors believes that any direct benefit that the Jersey Companies Law provides to a company also indirectly benefits its shareholders, who are the owners of the company. Waldencast's board of directors believes that there are several reasons why a continuation into Jersey is in the best interests of the Company and its shareholders, including, that Jersey Companies Law:

- is founded on the same underlying principles as English company law and, therefore, Jersey companies are very familiar to investors and counterparties who regularly deal with English companies;
- applies a flexible capital maintenance regime focused on cashflow-based solvency requirements for a variety of corporate actions (see below);
- preserves creditor protection in relation to distributions (dividends, etc.) the making of which is not dependent on any sort of distributable profits/distributable reserves concept, but is instead based on a requirement for the directors who authorize the distribution to make a 12-month, forward-looking, cashflow-based solvency statement in a statutorily prescribed form;
- does not impose any restrictions on financial assistance in connection with the acquisition of shares in the relevant company or on the ability of a Jersey company to pay commissions or give discounts in connection with the issue of its shares;
- permits what would be referred to in many civil law jurisdictions as 'capital contributions,' where contributions from shareholders can be credited to capital (share premium) without issuing shares; and
- allows Jersey companies to domesticate or migrate (that is, change jurisdiction of incorporation/corporate seat without breaking corporate existence) to another jurisdiction that permits the same and also allows for the tax residence of the company (via changes made to the location of board meetings and the place of central management of control) to change to reflect the needs of the business of the company.

Each of the foregoing are discussed in greater detail in the section entitled "Domestication Proposal — Reasons for the Domestication."

To effect the Domestication, Waldencast will file a notice of deregistration with the Cayman Islands Registrar of Companies, together with the necessary accompanying documents, and file a memorandum and articles of association with the Registrar of Jersey, under which Waldencast will be domesticated and continue as a Jersey public limited company.

The approval of the Domestication Proposal requires a special resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

Q: What amendments will be made to the current constitutional documents of Waldencast?

A: The Transaction Agreements contemplate, among other things, the Domestication. Accordingly, in addition to voting on the Business Combination, Waldencast’s shareholders are also being asked to consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the Domestication and replace Waldencast’s Cayman Constitutional Documents, in each case, under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, with the Proposed Constitutional Document, in each case, under the Jersey Companies Law, which differ materially from the Cayman Constitutional Documents in the following respects:

	Cayman Constitutional Documents	Proposed Constitutional Document
Authorized Shares (Organizational Documents Proposal A)	The Cayman Constitutional Documents authorize 555,000,000 shares, consisting of 500,000,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares, 50,000,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares and 5,000,000 preferred shares. See paragraph 5 of the Existing Memorandum.	The Proposed Constitutional Document authorizes        shares, consisting of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares,        Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares and shares of Waldencast plc preferred stock. See paragraph 5 of the Proposed Memorandum.
Classified Board (Organizational Documents Proposal B)	The Cayman Constitutional Documents provide that Waldencast’s board of directors shall be composed of one class. See Article 29 of the Existing Articles.	The Proposed Constitutional Document provides that the Waldencast plc Board be divided into three classes, with each class made up of, as nearly as may be possible, one-third of the total number of directors constituting the entire Waldencast plc Board, with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class serving a three-year term. See Article 29 of the Proposed Articles.
Changes Relating to the Investor Rights Agreement (Organizational Documents Proposal C)	The Cayman Constitutional Documents do not contain any provisions subject to any investor rights agreement.	The Proposed Constitutional Document provides that certain provisions will be subject to the Investor Rights Agreement, including provisions governing the appointment, removal and replacement of directors, with respect to which Cedarwalk will have certain rights pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement. See Article 29 of the Proposed Articles.
Corporate Name (Organizational Documents Proposal D)	The Cayman Constitutional Documents provide that the name of the company is “Waldencast Acquisition Corp.” See paragraph 1 of the Existing Memorandum.	The Proposed Constitutional Document provides that the name of the company will be “Waldencast plc.” See paragraph 1 of the Proposed Memorandum.

	Cayman Constitutional Documents	Proposed Constitutional Document
Existence for Unlimited Duration (Organizational Documents Proposal D)	The Cayman Constitutional Documents provide that if Waldencast does not consummate a business combination (as defined in the Cayman Constitutional Documents) by March 18, 2023, Waldencast will cease all operations except for the purposes of winding up and will redeem the public shares and liquidate Waldencast trust account.  See Article 49 of the Existing Articles.	The Proposed Constitutional Document provides that Waldencast plc is to have existence of unlimited duration.  See paragraph 3 of the Proposed Memorandum.
Provisions Related to Status as Blank Check Company (Organizational Documents Proposal D)	The Cayman Constitutional Documents include various provisions related to Waldencast’s status as a blank check company prior to the consummation of a business combination.  See Article 49 of the Existing Articles.	The Proposed Constitutional Document does not include such provisions related to Waldencast’s status as a blank check company, which no longer will apply upon consummation of the Business Combination, as Waldencast plc will cease to be a blank check company at such time.

Q: How will the Domestication affect my ordinary shares, warrants and units?

A: As a result of and upon the effective time of the Domestication, (1) each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class A ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, (2) each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class B ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, (3) each then issued and outstanding Waldencast warrant will convert automatically into a Waldencast plc warrant, pursuant to the Warrant Agreement and (4) each of the then issued and outstanding units of Waldencast that have not been previously separated into the underlying Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and underlying Waldencast warrants upon the request of the holder thereof will be cancelled and will entitle the holder thereof to one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share and one-third of one Waldencast plc warrant. See the section entitled “Domestication Proposal” for additional information.

Q: What are the U.S. federal income tax consequences of the Domestication?

A: As discussed more fully in “U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations—Effects of the Business Combination to U.S. Holders,” Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP has delivered an opinion that the Domestication will qualify as a “reorganization” within the meaning of Section 368(a)(1)(F) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”). Assuming that the Domestication so qualifies, U.S. Holders of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares will generally not recognize gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes on the Domestication. Please see the section entitled “U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations—Effects of the Business Combination to U.S. Holders” for additional information.

Q: Did the board of directors of Waldencast obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in determining whether or not to proceed with the Business Combination?

The Waldencast board of directors did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in connection with its determination to approve the Business Combination. Waldencast’s officers, directors and advisors have substantial experience in evaluating the operating and financial merits of companies from a wide range of industries and have concluded that their experience and backgrounds, together with the experience and sector expertise of Waldencast’s financial advisors, enabled them to make the necessary analyses and determinations regarding the Business Combination with Obagi and Milk. In addition, Waldencast’s officers, directors and advisors have substantial experience with mergers and acquisitions. Accordingly, investors will be relying solely on the judgment of Waldencast’s board of directors in valuing Obagi’s and Milk’s businesses, and assuming the risk that the board of directors may not have properly valued the Business Combination.

Q: Do I have redemption rights?

A: If you are a holder of public shares, you have the right to request that we redeem all or a portion of your public shares for cash provided that you follow the procedures and deadlines described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus. Public shareholders may elect to redeem all or a portion of the public shares held by them regardless of if or how they vote in respect of the BCA Proposal. If you wish to exercise your redemption rights, please see the answer to the next question: “How do I exercise my redemption rights?”

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a public shareholder, together with any affiliate (as defined herein) of such public shareholder or any other person with whom such public shareholder is acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined in Section 13(d)(3) of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. Accordingly, if a public shareholder, alone or acting in concert or as a group, seeks to redeem more than 15% of the public shares, then any such shares in excess of that 15% limit would not be redeemed for cash.

The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to waive their redemption rights with respect to all of the founder shares in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination. The founder shares will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price.

Holders of public warrants and holders of warrants through issued and outstanding units do not have redemption rights with respect to the warrants. Assuming the maximum redemptions, such warrants retained by redeeming stockholders would have an aggregate market value of approximately $5.8 million based upon the closing price of $0.80 per warrant as of February 10, 2022. Please see the section entitled “Risk Factors — Warrants will become exercisable for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, which would increase the number of shares eligible for future resale in the public market and result in dilution to our shareholders., including, after the Business Combination, our non-redeeming shareholders” for additional information.

Q: How do I exercise my redemption rights?

A: If you are a public shareholder and wish to exercise your right to redeem the public shares, you must:

- (a) hold public shares, or (b) if you hold public shares through units, you elect to separate your units into the underlying public shares and public warrants prior to exercising your redemption rights with respect to the public shares;
- submit a written request to Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, that Waldencast plc redeem all or a portion of your public shares for cash; and
- deliver your public shares to Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, physically or electronically through The Depository Trust Company (“DTC”).

Holders must complete the procedures for electing to redeem their public shares in the manner described above prior to 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on _____, 2022 (two business days before the extraordinary general meeting) in order for their shares to be redeemed.

The address of Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, is listed under the question “Who can help answer my questions?” below.

Holders of units must elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and public warrants prior to exercising redemption rights with respect to the public shares. If holders hold their units in an account at a brokerage firm or bank, holders must notify their broker or bank that they elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and public warrants, or if a holder holds units registered in its own name, the holder must contact Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, directly and instruct them to do so.

Public shareholders will be entitled to request that their public shares be redeemed for a pro rata portion of the amount then on deposit in the trust account calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination including interest earned on the funds held in the trust account and not previously released to us (net of taxes payable). For illustrative purposes, as of September 30, 2021, this would have amounted to approximately $10.00 per issued and outstanding public share. However, the proceeds deposited in the trust account could become subject to the claims of Waldencast's creditors, if any, which could have priority over the claims of the public shareholders, regardless of whether such public shareholder votes or, if they do vote, irrespective of if they vote for or against the BCA Proposal. Therefore, the per share distribution from the trust account in such a situation may be less than originally expected due to such claims. Whether you vote, and if you do vote, how you vote, on any proposal, including the BCA Proposal, will have no impact on the amount you will receive upon exercise of your redemption rights. It is expected that the funds to be distributed to public shareholders electing to redeem their public shares will be distributed promptly after the consummation of the Business Combination.

Any request for redemption, once made by a holder of public shares, may be withdrawn at any time up to the time the vote is taken with respect to the BCA Proposal at the extraordinary general meeting. If you deliver your shares for redemption to Continental, Waldencast's transfer agent, and later decide prior to the extraordinary general meeting not to elect redemption, you may request that Waldencast's transfer agent return the shares (physically or electronically) to you. You may make such request by contacting Continental, Waldencast's transfer agent, at the phone number or address listed at the end of this section.

Any corrected or changed written exercise of redemption rights must be received by Continental, Waldencast's transfer agent, prior to the vote taken on the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal at the extraordinary general meeting. No request for redemption will be honored unless the holder's public shares have been delivered (either physically or electronically) to Continental, Waldencast's transfer agent, at least two business days prior to the vote at the extraordinary general meeting.

If a holder of public shares properly makes a request for redemption and the public shares are delivered as described above, then, if the Business Combination is consummated, Waldencast plc will redeem the public shares for a pro rata portion of funds deposited in the trust account, calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination. The redemption will take place following the Domestication and, accordingly, it is Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares that will be redeemed immediately after consummation of the Business Combination.

If you are a holder of public shares and you exercise your redemption rights, such exercise will not result in the loss of any warrants that you may hold.

Q: If I am a holder of units, can I exercise redemption rights with respect to my units?

A: No. Holders of issued and outstanding units must elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and public warrants prior to exercising redemption rights with respect to the public shares. If you hold your units in an account at a brokerage firm or bank, you must notify your broker or bank that you elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and public warrants, or if you hold units registered in your own name, you must contact Continental, Waldencast's transfer agent, directly and instruct them to do so. You are requested to cause your public shares to be separated and delivered to Continental, Waldencast's transfer agent, by _____, Eastern Time, on _____, 2022 (two business days before the extraordinary general meeting) in order to exercise your redemption rights with respect to your public shares.

Q: What are the U.S. federal income tax consequences of exercising my redemption rights?

A: The receipt of cash by a U.S. holder of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares in redemption of such shares will be a taxable transaction for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Please see the section entitled "U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations—Effects to U.S. Holders of Exercising Redemption Rights" for additional information. You are urged to consult your tax advisors regarding the tax consequences of exercising your redemption rights.

Q: What happens to the funds deposited in the trust account after consummation of the Business Combination?

A: Following the closing of Waldencast's initial public offering, an amount equal to $345.0 million ($10.00 per unit) of the net proceeds from Waldencast's initial public offering and the sale of the private placement warrants (inclusive of the partial exercise by the underwriters of the over-allotment option) was placed in the trust account. As of September 30, 2021, funds in the trust account totaled $345.0 million and were comprised entirely of U.S. government treasury obligations with a maturity of 185 days or less or of money market funds meeting certain conditions under Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “Investment Company Act”), which invest only in direct U.S. government treasury obligations. These funds will remain in the trust account, except for the withdrawal of interest to pay taxes, if any, until the earliest of (1) the completion of a business combination (including the Closing), (2) the redemption of any public shares properly tendered in connection with a shareholder vote to amend the Cayman Constitutional Documents to modify the substance or timing of Waldencast’s obligation to redeem 100% of the public shares if it does not complete a business combination by March 18, 2023, or (3) the redemption of all of the public shares if Waldencast is unable to complete a business combination by March 18, 2023 (or if such date is further extended at a duly called extraordinary general meeting, such later date), subject to applicable law.

Upon consummation of the Business Combination, the funds deposited in the trust account will be released to pay holders of Waldencast public shares who properly exercise their redemption rights; to pay transaction fees and expenses associated with the Business Combination; and for working capital and general corporate purposes of Waldencast plc following the Business Combination. See the section entitled “Summary of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus — Sources and Uses of Funds for the Business Combination.”

Q: What happens if a substantial number of the public shareholders vote in favor of the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal and exercise their redemption rights?

A: Our public shareholders are not required to vote in respect of the Business Combination in order to exercise their redemption rights. Accordingly, the Business Combination may be consummated even though the funds available from the trust account and the number of public shareholders are reduced as a result of redemptions by public shareholders.

The (i) Obagi Merger Agreement provides that the obligation of Obagi to consummate the Obagi Merger is conditioned on, among other things, that as of the Closing, the Obagi Cash Consideration must equal or exceed $327.5 million minus the Obagi Transaction Expenses Overage (ii) Milk Equity Purchase Agreement provides that the obligation of Milk to consummate the Milk Transaction is conditioned on, among other things, that as of the Closing, the Milk Cash Consideration must equal or exceed $112.5 million, and each of the Transaction Agreements provides that the obligations of Obagi and Milk, respectively, to consummate the Obagi Merger and Milk Transaction, respectively, are conditioned on, among other things, that after the completion of the transactions contemplated by such agreements, Waldencast plc will have an amount in cash equal to or greater than $50.0 million. If there are significant redemptions by public shareholders, then one or more of the Minimum Cash Conditions may not be satisfied. In the event any of the Minimum Cash Conditions are not satisfied, the Business Combination could not be consummated unless Obagi and/or Milk, as applicable, waives the Minimum Cash Condition.

In addition, pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, in no event will we redeem public shares in an amount that would cause Waldencast’s net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) to be less than $5,000,001.

Q: What conditions must be satisfied to complete the Business Combination?

A: The Obagi Merger Agreement is subject to the satisfaction or waiver of certain customary closing conditions, including, among others, (i) approval of the Obagi Merger Agreement and related agreements and transactions by the respective shareholders of Waldencast and Obagi, (ii) effectiveness of the Registration Statement, (iii) expiration or termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act, (iv) receipt of approval for listing on Nasdaq of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to be issued in connection with the Obagi Merger, (v) that Waldencast have at least $5,000,001 of net tangible assets upon Closing (inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing), (vi) the absence of any injunctions or adoption of any laws prohibiting the Obagi Merger, (vii) the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement closing conditions being satisfied, (viii) the completion of the Obagi China Distribution, (ix) the completion of the Domestication, (x) that a material adverse effect on Obagi will not have occurred and (xi) customary bringdown of the representations, warranties and covenants of the parties therein.

The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement is subject to the satisfaction or waiver of certain customary closing conditions, including, among others, (i) approval of the Milk Transaction and related agreements and transactions by the respective shareholders of Waldencast, (ii) effectiveness of the Registration Statement, (iii) expiration or termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act, (iv) receipt of approval for listing on Nasdaq of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to be issued in connection with the Milk Transaction, (v) that Waldencast have at least $5,000,001 of net tangible assets upon Closing (inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing), (vi) the absence of any injunctions or adoption of any laws prohibiting the Milk Transaction, (vii) the Obagi Merger Agreement closing conditions being satisfied, (viii) the completion of the Domestication, (ix) that a material adverse effect on Milk will not have occurred and (x) customary bringdown of the representations, warranties and covenants of the parties therein.

The (i) Obagi Merger Agreement provides that the obligation of Obagi to consummate the Obagi Merger is conditioned on, among other things, that as of the Closing, the Obagi Cash Consideration must equal or exceed $327.5 million minus the Obagi Transaction Expenses Overage (ii) Milk Equity Purchase Agreement provides that the obligation of Milk to consummate the Milk Transaction is conditioned on, among other things, that as of the Closing, the Milk Cash Consideration must equal or exceed $112.5 million, and each of the Transaction Agreements provides that the obligations of Obagi and Milk, respectively, to consummate the Obagi Merger and Milk Transaction, respectively, are conditioned on, among other things, that after the completion of the transactions contemplated by such agreements, Waldencast plc will have an amount in cash equal to or greater than $50.0 million. If there are significant redemptions by public shareholders, then one or more of the Minimum Cash Conditions may not be satisfied. In the event any of the Minimum Cash Conditions are not satisfied, the Business Combination could not be consummated unless Obagi and/or Milk, as applicable, waives the Minimum Cash Condition.

In addition, pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, in no event will Waldencast redeem public shares in an amount that would cause Waldencast's net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) to be less than $5,000,001.

For more information about conditions to the consummation of the Business Combination, see the sections entitled "BCA Proposal — Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement" and "BCA Proposal — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement."

Q: When do you expect the Business Combination to be completed?

A: It is currently expected that the Business Combination will be consummated in the first half of 2022. This date depends, among other things, on the approval of the proposals to be put to Waldencast shareholders at the extraordinary general meeting. However, such meeting could be adjourned if the Adjournment Proposal is adopted by Waldencast's shareholders at the extraordinary general meeting and Waldencast elects to adjourn the extraordinary general meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for the approval of one or more proposals at the extraordinary general meeting. For a description of the conditions for the completion of the Business Combination, see the sections entitled "BCA Proposal — Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement" and "BCA Proposal — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement."

Q: What happens if the Business Combination is not consummated?

A: Waldencast will not complete the Domestication to Jersey unless all other conditions to the consummation of the Business Combination have been satisfied or waived by the parties in accordance with the terms of the Transaction Agreements. If Waldencast is not able to complete the Business Combination with Obagi and Milk by March 18, 2023, and is not able to complete another business combination by such date, in each case, as such date may be extended pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, Waldencast will: (1) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up; (2) as promptly as reasonably possible, but not more than 10 business days thereafter, redeem the public shares, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the trust account, including interest (less up to $0.1 million of interest to pay dissolution expenses and which interest shall be net of taxes payable), divided by the number of then issued and outstanding public shares, which redemption will completely extinguish public shareholders' rights as shareholders (including the right to receive further liquidating distributions, if any), subject to applicable law; and (3) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of our remaining shareholders and our board, dissolve and liquidate, subject in each case to its obligations under Cayman Islands law to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law.

Q: Do I have appraisal rights in connection with the proposed Business Combination and the proposed Domestication?

A: Neither Waldencast’s shareholders nor Waldencast’s warrant holders have appraisal rights in connection with the Business Combination or the Domestication under the Cayman Islands Companies Act or under the Jersey Companies Law. Under the Jersey Companies Law, dissenting shareholders of a Jersey company have no appraisal rights that would provide the right to receive payment in cash for the judicially determined fair value of the shares. However, under Jersey law, dissenting shareholders may, following the Domestication, object to the Royal Court of Jersey on the grounds they are unfairly prejudiced by the proposed Business Combination and the proposed Domestication.

Q: What do I need to do now?

A: Waldencast urges you to read this proxy statement/prospectus, including the Annexes and the documents referred to herein, carefully and in their entirety and to consider how the Business Combination will affect you as a shareholder or warrant holder. Waldencast’s shareholders should then vote as soon as possible in accordance with the instructions provided in this proxy statement/prospectus and on the enclosed proxy card.

Q: How do I vote?

A: If you are a holder of record of ordinary shares on the Record Date for the extraordinary general meeting, you may vote in person at the extraordinary general meeting or by submitting a proxy for the extraordinary general meeting. You may submit your proxy by completing, signing, dating and returning the enclosed proxy card in the accompanying pre-addressed postage-paid envelope. If you hold your shares in “street name,” which means your shares are held of record by a broker, bank or nominee, you should contact your broker, bank or nominee to ensure that votes related to the shares you beneficially own are properly counted. In this regard, you must provide the broker, bank or nominee with instructions on how to vote your shares or, if you wish to attend the extraordinary general meeting and vote in person, obtain a valid proxy from your broker, bank or nominee.

Q: If my shares are held in “street name,” will my broker, bank or nominee automatically vote my shares for me?

A: No. If your shares are held in a stock brokerage account or by a bank or other nominee, you are considered the “beneficial holder” of the shares held for you in what is known as “street name.” If this is the case, this proxy statement/prospectus may have been forwarded to you by your brokerage firm, bank or other nominee, or its agent, and you may need to obtain a proxy form from the institution that holds your shares and follow the instructions included on that form regarding how to instruct your broker, bank or nominee as to how to vote your shares. Under the rules of various national and regional securities exchanges, your broker, bank or nominee cannot vote your shares with respect to non-discretionary matters unless you provide instructions on how to vote in accordance with the information and procedures provided to you by your broker, bank or nominee. We believe all the proposals presented to the shareholders will be considered non-discretionary and therefore your broker, bank or nominee cannot vote your shares without your instruction. Your bank, broker, or other nominee can vote your shares only if you provide instructions on how to vote. As the beneficial holder, you have the right to direct your broker, bank or other nominee as to how to vote your shares and you should instruct your broker to vote your shares in accordance with directions you provide. If you do not provide voting instructions to your broker on a particular proposal on which your broker does not have discretionary authority to vote, your shares will not be voted on that proposal. This is called a “broker non-vote.” Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting, and otherwise will have no effect on a particular proposal.

Q: When and where will the extraordinary general meeting be held?

The extraordinary general meeting will be held at _____, Eastern Time, on _____, 2022, at the offices of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP located at One Manhattan West, New York, NY 10001, or virtually via live webcast at www.virtualshareholdermeeting/WALD2022SM, or such other date, time and place to which such meeting may be adjourned or postponed, to consider and vote upon the proposals.

Q: Who is entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting?

A: The Waldencast board of directors has fixed _____, 2022 as the Record Date for the extraordinary general meeting. If you were a shareholder of Waldencast at the close of business on the Record Date, you are entitled to vote on matters that come before the extraordinary general meeting. However, a shareholder may only vote his or her shares if he or she is present in person or is represented by proxy at the extraordinary general meeting.

Q: How many votes do I have?

A: Waldencast shareholders are entitled to one vote at the extraordinary general meeting for each ordinary share held of record as of the Record Date. As of the close of business on the Record Date for the extraordinary general meeting, there were _____ ordinary shares issued and outstanding, of which _____ were issued and outstanding public shares.

Q: What constitutes a quorum?

A: A quorum of Waldencast shareholders is necessary to hold a valid meeting. A quorum will be present at the extraordinary general meeting if the holders of a majority of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting are represented in person or by proxy. As of the Record Date for the extraordinary general meeting, 21,562,501 ordinary shares would be required to achieve a quorum.

Q: What vote is required to approve each proposal at the extraordinary general meeting?

A: The following votes are required for each proposal at the extraordinary general meeting:

- Obagi Merger Proposal: The approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Milk Transaction Proposal: The approval of the Milk Transaction Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Domestication Proposal: The approval of the Domestication Proposal requires a special resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Organizational Documents Proposals: The separate approval of each of the Organizational Documents Proposals A and D requires a special resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting and the separate approval of each of the Organizational Documents Proposals B and C requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Director Election Proposal: The approval of the Director Election Proposal requires an ordinary resolution of the holders of Waldencast Class B ordinary shares under the Cayman Constitutional Documents, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Stock Issuance Proposal: The approval of the Stock Issuance Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Milk Issuance Proposal: The approval of the Milk Issuance Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.

- Incentive Award Plan Proposal: The approval of the Incentive Award Plan Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Adjournment Proposal: The approval of the Adjournment Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.

Q: What are the recommendations of Waldencast’s board of directors?

A: Waldencast’s board of directors believes that the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the other proposals to be presented at the extraordinary general meeting are in the best interest of Waldencast’s shareholders and unanimously recommends that its shareholders and, in the case of the Director Election Proposal, its shareholders holding Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, vote “FOR” the Obagi Merger Proposal, “FOR” the Milk Transaction Proposal, “FOR” the Domestication Proposal, “FOR” each of the separate Organizational Documents Proposals, “FOR” the Director Election Proposal, “FOR” the Stock Issuance Proposal, “FOR” the Milk Issuance Proposal, “FOR” the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and “FOR” the Adjournment Proposal, in each case, if presented to the extraordinary general meeting.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for a further discussion of these considerations.

Q: How does the Sponsor intend to vote their shares?

A: The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how our public shareholders vote. Unlike some other blank check companies in which the initial shareholders agree to vote their shares in accordance with the majority of the votes cast by the public shareholders in connection with an initial business combination, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of the Transaction Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, in each case, subject to the terms and conditions contemplated by the Obagi Sponsor Support Agreement and the Milk Sponsor Support Agreement, and waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any ordinary shares held by them as contemplated by the Letter Agreement. The ordinary shares held by the Sponsor will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor and Investor Directors own 20% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares.

At any time at or prior to the Business Combination, subject to applicable securities laws (including with respect to material nonpublic information), the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors or respective affiliates may (i) purchase public shares from institutional and other investors who vote, or indicate an intention to vote, against any of the Condition Precedent Proposals, or elect to redeem, or indicate an intention to redeem, public shares, (ii) execute agreements to purchase such shares from such investors in the future or (iii) enter into transactions with such investors and others to provide them with incentives to acquire public shares, vote their public shares in favor of the Condition Precedent Proposals or not redeem their public shares. Such a purchase may include a contractual acknowledgement that such shareholder, although still the record holder of Waldencast’s shares, is no longer the beneficial owner thereof and therefore agrees not to exercise its redemption rights. In the event that the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors, or respective affiliates purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions from public shareholders who have already elected to exercise their redemption rights, such selling shareholders would be required to revoke their prior elections to redeem their shares. The purpose of such share purchases and other transactions would be to increase the likelihood of (1) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, Organizational Documents

Proposals B and C, the Stock Issuance Proposal, the Milk Issuance Proposal, Incentive Award Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal, (2) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Director Election Proposal, (3) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Domestication Proposal and each of the Organizational Documents Proposals A and D, (4) satisfaction of the Minimum Cash Conditions, (5) otherwise limiting the number of public shares electing to redeem and (6) Waldencast's net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) being at least $5,000,001.

Entering into any such arrangements may have a depressive effect on our ordinary shares (e.g., by giving an investor or holder the ability to effectively purchase shares at a price lower than market, such investor or holder may therefore become more likely to sell the shares he or she owns, either at or prior to the Business Combination). If such transactions are effected, the consequence could be to cause the Business Combination to be consummated in circumstances where such consummation could not otherwise occur. Purchases of shares by the persons described above would allow them to exert more influence over the approval of the proposals to be presented at the extraordinary general meeting and would likely increase the chances that such proposals would be approved. Waldencast will file or submit a Current Report on Form 6-K to disclose any material arrangements entered into or significant purchases made by any of the aforementioned persons that would affect the vote on the proposals to be put to the extraordinary general meeting or the redemption threshold. Any such report will include descriptions of any arrangements entered into or significant purchases by any of the aforementioned persons.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast's directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast's officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast's Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination" for a further discussion of these considerations.

Q: What happens if I sell my Waldencast ordinary shares before the extraordinary general meeting?

A: The Record Date for the extraordinary general meeting is earlier than the date of the extraordinary general meeting and earlier than the date that the Business Combination is expected to be completed. If you transfer your public shares after the applicable Record Date, but before the extraordinary general meeting, unless you grant a proxy to the transferee, you will retain your right to vote at such general meeting but the transferee, and not you, will have the ability to redeem such shares (if time permits).

Q: May I change my vote after I have mailed my signed proxy card?

A: Yes. Shareholders may send a later-dated, signed proxy card to Waldencast's Secretary at Waldencast's address set forth below so that it is received by Waldencast's Secretary prior to the vote at the extraordinary general meeting (which is scheduled to take place on _____, 2022) or attend the extraordinary general meeting in person and vote. Shareholders also may revoke their proxy by sending a notice of revocation to Waldencast's Secretary, which must be received by Waldencast's Secretary prior to the vote at the extraordinary general meeting. However, if your shares are held in "street name" by your broker, bank or another nominee, you must contact your broker, bank or other nominee to change your vote.

Q: What happens if I fail to take any action with respect to the extraordinary general meeting?

A: If you fail to take any action with respect to the extraordinary general meeting and the Business Combination is approved by shareholders and the Business Combination is consummated, you will become a shareholder or warrant holder of Waldencast plc. If you fail to take any action with respect to the extraordinary general meeting and the Business Combination is not approved, you will remain a shareholder or warrant holder of Waldencast. However, if you fail to vote with respect to the extraordinary general meeting, you will nonetheless be able to elect to redeem your public shares in connection with the Business Combination (if time permits).

Q: What should I do with my share certificates, warrant certificates or unit certificates?

A: Our shareholders who exercise their redemption rights must deliver (either physically or electronically) their share certificates to Continental, Waldencast's transfer agent, prior to the extraordinary general meeting.

Holders must complete the procedures for electing to redeem their public shares in the manner described above prior to 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on _____, 2022 (two business days before the extraordinary general meeting) in order for their shares to be redeemed.

Our warrant holders should not submit the certificates relating to their warrants. Public shareholders who do not elect to have their public shares redeemed for the pro rata share of the trust account should not submit the certificates relating to their public shares.

Upon the Domestication, holders of Waldencast units, Waldencast Class A ordinary shares, Waldencast Class B ordinary shares and Waldencast warrants will receive Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast plc warrants, as the case may be, without needing to take any action and, accordingly, such holders should not submit any certificates relating to their Waldencast units, Waldencast Class A ordinary shares (unless such holder elects to redeem the public shares in accordance with the procedures set forth above), Waldencast Class B ordinary shares or Waldencast warrants.

Q: What should I do if I receive more than one set of voting materials?

A: Shareholders may receive more than one set of voting materials, including multiple copies of this proxy statement/prospectus and multiple proxy cards or voting instruction cards. For example, if you hold your shares in more than one brokerage account, you will receive a separate voting instruction card for each brokerage account in which you hold shares. If you are a holder of record and your shares are registered in more than one name, you will receive more than one proxy card. Please complete, sign, date and return each proxy card and voting instruction card that you receive in order to cast a vote with respect to all of your ordinary shares.

Q: Who will solicit and pay the cost of soliciting proxies for the extraordinary general meeting?

A: Waldencast will pay the cost of soliciting proxies for the extraordinary general meeting. Waldencast has engaged Morrow to assist in the solicitation of proxies for the extraordinary general meeting. Waldencast has agreed to pay Morrow a fee of up to $ _____, plus disbursements (to be paid with non-trust account funds). Waldencast will also reimburse banks, brokers and other custodians, nominees and fiduciaries representing beneficial owners of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares for their expenses in forwarding soliciting materials to beneficial owners of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and in obtaining voting instructions from those owners. Waldencast's directors and officers may also solicit proxies by telephone, by facsimile, by mail, on the internet or in person. They will not be paid any additional amounts for soliciting proxies.

Q: Where can I find the voting results of the extraordinary general meeting?

A: The preliminary voting results will be expected to be announced at the extraordinary general meeting. Waldencast will publish final voting results of the extraordinary general meeting in a Current Report on Form 6-K within four business days after the extraordinary general meeting.

Q: Who can help answer my questions?

A: If you have questions about the Business Combination or if you need additional copies of the proxy statement/prospectus, any document incorporated by reference in this proxy statement/prospectus or the enclosed proxy card, you should contact:

Combined Business Summary

The Parties to the Business Combination

Waldencast

Waldencast is a blank check company incorporated on December 8, 2020 as a Cayman Islands exempted company and incorporated for the purpose of effecting a merger, amalgamation, share exchange, asset acquisition, share purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses or entities. Waldencast has neither engaged in any operations nor generated any revenue to date. Based on Waldencast’s business activities, it is a “shell company” as defined under the Exchange Act because it has no operations and nominal assets consisting almost entirely of cash.

On March 18, 2021, Waldencast consummated its initial public offering of its units, with each unit consisting of one Waldencast Class A ordinary share and one-third of one public warrant. Simultaneously with the closing of the initial public offering, Waldencast completed the private sale of 5,933,333 private placement warrants at a purchase price of $1.50 per private placement warrant to the Sponsor, generating gross proceeds to us of $8.9 million. The private placement warrants are identical to the warrants sold as part of the units in Waldencast’s initial public offering except that, so long as they are held by the Sponsor or its permitted transferees: (1) they will not be redeemable by Waldencast; (2) they (including the shares issuable upon exercise of these warrants) may not, subject to certain limited exceptions, be transferred, assigned or sold by the Sponsor until 30 days after the completion of Waldencast’s initial business combination; (3) they may be exercised by the holders on a cashless basis; and (4) they (including the shares issuable upon exercise of these warrants) are entitled to registration rights.

Following the closing of Waldencast’s initial public offering, a total of $345.0 million ($10.00 per unit) of the net proceeds from its initial public offering and the sale of the private placement warrants (inclusive of the partial exercise by the underwriters of the over-allotment option) was placed in the trust account. The proceeds held in the trust account may be invested by the trustee only in U.S. government treasury obligations with a maturity of 185 days or less or in money market funds meeting certain conditions under Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act, which invest only in direct U.S. government treasury obligations. As of September 30, 2021, funds in the trust account totaled $345.0 million. These funds will remain in the trust account, except for the withdrawal of interest to pay taxes, if any, until the earliest of (1) the completion of a business combination (including the closing of the Business Combination), (2) the redemption of any public shares properly tendered in connection with a shareholder vote to amend Waldencast’s Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association to modify the substance or timing of Waldencast’s obligation to redeem 100% of the public shares if it does not complete a business combination by March 18, 2023, or (3) the redemption of all of the public shares if Waldencast is unable to complete a business combination by March 18, 2023 (or if such date is further extended at a duly called extraordinary general meeting, such later date), subject to applicable law.

The Waldencast units, Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast warrants are currently listed on The Nasdaq Stock Market under the symbols “WALDU,” “WALD” and “WALDW,” respectively.

Waldencast’s principal executive office is located at 10 Bank Street, Suite 560, White Plains, NY 10606. Its telephone number is (917) 546-6828. Waldencast’s corporate website address is <https://www.waldencast.com/>.

Proposals to be Put to the Shareholders of Waldencast at the Extraordinary General Meeting

The following is a summary of the proposals to be put to the extraordinary general meeting of Waldencast and certain transactions contemplated by the Transaction Agreements. Each of the proposals below, except the Adjournment Proposal, is cross-conditioned on the approval of each other. The Adjournment Proposal is not conditioned upon the approval of any other proposal set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus. The transactions contemplated by the Transaction Agreements will be consummated only if the Condition Precedent Proposals are approved at the extraordinary general meeting.

Obagi Merger Proposal

Waldencast is asking its shareholders to approve by ordinary resolution and adopt the Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of November 15, 2021, by and among Waldencast, Merger Sub and Obagi, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A. The Obagi Merger Agreement provides, among other things, following the Domestication of Waldencast to Jersey as described below, for the merger of Merger Sub with and into Obagi, with Obagi surviving the merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of Holdco 2 and an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Waldencast plc, in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Obagi Merger Agreement as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus. After consideration of the factors identified and discussed in the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Waldencast’s Board of Directors’ Reasons for the Business Combination,” Waldencast’s board of directors concluded that the Obagi Merger met all of the requirements disclosed in the prospectus for Waldencast’s initial public offering, including that the business of Obagi and its subsidiaries had a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the net assets held in trust (net of amounts disbursed to management for working capital purposes and excluding the amount of any deferred underwriting discount held in trust). For more information about the transactions contemplated by the Obagi Merger Agreement, see the section entitled “Obagi Merger Proposal.”

Aggregate Obagi Merger Consideration

At the Obagi Merger Effective Time (after giving effect to the Obagi Pre-Closing Restructuring, as more fully described in the Obagi Merger Agreement and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus), among other things, each outstanding share of Obagi Common Stock as of immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time (other than in respect of excluded shares as described more fully in the Obagi Merger Agreement) will be cancelled and converted into the right to receive, (a) an amount in cash equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the Obagi Cash Consideration by (ii) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares ; and (b) a number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the Obagi Stock Consideration by (ii) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares that will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Obagi of $655.0 million (the “Aggregate Obagi Merger Consideration”). At the Obagi Merger Effective Time, (i) all Obagi Options will be converted into Waldencast plc Options, subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Obagi Options immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time; provided that any Obagi Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Obagi Per Share Merger Consideration will be cancelled without consideration, and (ii) all Obagi RSUs will be converted into Waldencast plc RSUs, subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Obagi RSUs immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time. The foregoing determinations do not take into account any additional equity incentive compensation awards that may subsequently be granted. See the section entitled “Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement — Consideration.”

Closing Conditions

The Obagi Merger Agreement is subject to the satisfaction or waiver of certain customary closing conditions, including, among others, (i) approval of the Obagi Merger Agreement and related agreements and transactions by the respective shareholders of Waldencast and Obagi, (ii) effectiveness of the registration statement of which this proxy statement/prospectus forms a part (the “Registration Statement”), (iii) expiration or termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act, (iv) receipt of approval for listing on Nasdaq of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to be issued in connection with the Obagi Merger, (v) that Waldencast have at least $5,000,001 of net tangible assets upon Closing (inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing), (vi) the absence of any injunctions or adoption of any laws prohibiting the Obagi Merger, (vii) the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement closing conditions being satisfied (viii) the completion of the Obagi China Distribution, (ix) the completion of the Domestication, (x) a material adverse effect on Obagi will not have occurred and (xi) customary bringdown of the representations, warranties and covenants of the parties therein.

The Obagi Merger Agreement provides that the obligation of Obagi to consummate the Obagi Merger is conditioned on, among other things, (i) that as of the Closing, the Obagi Cash Consideration must equal or exceed $327.5 million minus the Obagi Transaction Expenses Overage (the “Obagi Minimum Cash Consideration Condition”) and (ii) that after the completion of the transactions contemplated by such agreement, Waldencast plc will have an amount in cash equal to or greater than $50.0 million (together with the Obagi Minimum Cash Consideration Condition, the “Obagi Minimum Cash Conditions”). If there are significant redemptions by public shareholders, then one or more of the Obagi Minimum Cash Conditions may not be satisfied. In the event any of the Obagi Minimum Cash Conditions are not satisfied, the Obagi Merger could not be consummated unless Obagi waives the Obagi Minimum Cash Conditions. In addition, pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, in no event will Waldencast redeem public shares in an amount that would cause Waldencast plc’s net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount (each as defined herein) actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) to be less than $5,000,001.

For further details, see the sections entitled “BCA Proposal — Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement.”

Milk Transaction Proposal

Waldencast is asking its shareholders to approve by ordinary resolution and adopt the Equity Purchase Agreement, dated as of November 15, 2021, by and among Waldencast, Waldencast LP, Holdco 1, Milk, the members of Milk and Shareholder Representative Services LLC, a Colorado limited liability company, solely in its capacity as representative, agent and attorney-in-fact of the Milk Members. After consideration of the factors identified and discussed in the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Waldencast’s Board of Directors’ Reasons for the Business Combination,” Waldencast’s board of directors concluded that the Milk Transaction met all of the requirements disclosed in the prospectus for Waldencast’s initial public offering, including that the business of Milk and its subsidiaries had a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the net assets held in trust (net of amounts disbursed to management for working capital purposes and excluding the amount of any deferred underwriting discount held in trust). For more information about the transactions contemplated by the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, see the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement.”

Aggregate Milk Transaction Consideration

At the Milk Transaction Effective Time, (after giving effect to the Milk Pre-Closing Restructuring and the Obagi Merger, as more fully described in the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus), among other things, (a) Holdco 1 will purchase from the Milk Members a percentage of the outstanding Milk Membership Units in exchange for (i) the Milk Cash Consideration and (ii) a number of Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares equal to the Milk Equity Consideration and (b) Waldencast LP will purchase from the Milk Members the remainder of the outstanding Membership Units in exchange for the Milk Equity Consideration, which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Milk of $340.0 million (the “Aggregate Milk Transaction Consideration”). Following its acquisition of Milk Membership Units, Holdco 1 will contribute such units to Waldencast LP. All Milk Options will be converted into Waldencast plc Options and all Milk UARs will be converted into Waldencast plc SARs, in each case, subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Milk Option and Milk UAR, as applicable, immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time; provided that any Milk Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, and any Milk UARs that have a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, will be cancelled without consideration. The foregoing determinations do not take into account any additional equity incentive compensation awards that may subsequently be granted or (i) any Milk Option with an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration or (ii) any Milk UAR with a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, and also assume that all other outstanding Milk Options are exercised immediately before the Milk Transaction Effective Time for the net number of shares subject to the option after deduction of the applicable exercise price and that all Milk UARs are settled immediately before the Milk Transaction Effective Time for the number of shares subject to such Milk UARs. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement — Consideration.”

Closing Conditions

The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement is subject to the satisfaction or waiver of certain customary closing conditions, including, among others, (i) approval of the Milk Transaction and related agreements and transactions by the shareholders of Waldencast, (ii) effectiveness of the Registration Statement, (iii) expiration or termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act, (iv) receipt of approval for listing on Nasdaq of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to be issued in connection with the Obagi Merger, (v) that Waldencast have at least $5,000,001 of net tangible assets upon Closing (inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing), (vi) the absence of any injunctions or adoption of any laws prohibiting the Milk Transaction, (vii) the Obagi Merger Agreement closing conditions being satisfied, (viii) the completion of the Domestication, (ix) a material adverse effect on Milk will not have occurred and (x) customary bringdown of the representations, warranties and covenants of the parties therein.

The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement provides that the obligations of Milk to consummate the Milk Transaction is conditioned on, among other things, (i) that as of the Closing, the Milk Cash Consideration must equal or exceed $112.5 million (the “Milk Minimum Cash Consideration Condition”) and (ii) that after the completion of the transactions contemplated by such agreement, Waldencast plc will receive the Minimum Available Waldencast Cash Amount (together with the Milk Minimum Cash Consideration Condition, the “Milk Minimum Cash Conditions”). If there are significant redemptions by public shareholders, then one or more of the Milk Minimum Cash Conditions may not be satisfied. In the event any of the Milk Minimum Cash Conditions are not satisfied, the Milk Transaction could not be consummated unless Milk waives the Milk Minimum Cash Conditions. In addition, pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, in no event will Waldencast redeem public shares in an amount that would cause Waldencast plc’s net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g) (1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount (each as defined herein) actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) to be less than $5,000,001.

For further details, see the sections entitled “BCA Proposal — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement.”

Upon consummation of the Business Combination, the combined company will be organized in an “Up-C” structure. The equity interests of Obagi and Milk will be held by Waldencast LP. Waldencast plc’s interests in Obagi and Milk will be held through its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Holdco 1 and Waldencast LP.

Domestication Proposal

If the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal are approved, then Waldencast is asking its shareholders to approve by special resolution the Domestication Proposal. As a condition to closing the Business Combination pursuant to the terms of the Transaction Agreements, the board of directors of Waldencast has unanimously approved the Domestication Proposal. The Domestication Proposal, if approved, will authorize a change of Waldencast’s jurisdiction of incorporation from the Cayman Islands to Jersey. Accordingly, while Waldencast is currently governed by the Cayman Islands Companies Act, upon the Domestication, Waldencast plc will be governed by the Jersey Companies Law. There are differences between Cayman Islands corporate law and Jersey corporate law as well as the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Proposed Constitutional Document. Accordingly, Waldencast encourages shareholders to carefully review the information in the section entitled “Comparison of Corporate Governance and Shareholder Rights.”

As a result of and upon the effective time of the Domestication, (1) each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class A ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, (2) each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class B ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, (3) each then issued and outstanding Waldencast warrant will convert automatically into a Waldencast plc warrant, pursuant to the Warrant Agreement and (4) each Waldencast unit will be cancelled and will entitle the holder thereof to one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share and one-third of one Waldencast plc warrant. For further details, see the section entitled “Domestication Proposal.”

Organizational Documents Proposals

If the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the Domestication Proposal are approved, Waldencast will ask its shareholders to approve four separate proposals (collectively, the “Organizational Documents Proposals”), by special resolution in the case of Organizational Documents Proposal A and D and by ordinary resolution in the case of Organizational Documents Proposals B and C in connection with the replacement of the Cayman Constitutional Documents, under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, with the Proposed Constitutional Document, under the Jersey Companies Law. Waldencast’s board has unanimously approved each of the Organizational Documents Proposals and believes such proposals are necessary to adequately address the needs of Waldencast plc after the Business Combination. Approval of each of the Organizational Documents Proposals is a condition to the consummation of the Business Combination. A brief summary of each of the Organizational Documents Proposals is set forth below. These summaries are qualified in their entirety by reference to the complete text of the Proposed Constitutional Document.

- (A) Organizational Documents Proposal A — to authorize the change in the authorized share capital of Waldencast from 500,000,000 Class A ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, 50,000,000 Class B ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, and 5,000,000 preferred shares, par value $0.0001 per share (the “Waldencast preferred shares”), to Class A ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, of Waldencast plc, Class B ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, of Waldencast plc and preference shares of a par value of $0.0001 per share of Waldencast plc (“Organizational Documents Proposal A”);
- (B) Organizational Documents Proposal B — to provide that the Waldencast plc Board be divided into three classes, with each class made up of, as nearly as may be possible, one-third of the total number of directors constituting the entire Waldencast plc Board, with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class serving a three-year term (“Organizational Documents Proposal B”);
- (C) Organizational Documents Proposal C — to provide that certain provisions of the Proposed Constitutional Document will be subject to the Investor Rights Agreement, including provisions governing the appointment, removal and replacement of directors, with respect to which Cedarwalk will have certain rights pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement (“Organizational Documents Proposal C”);
- (D) Organizational Documents Proposal D — to authorize all other changes in connection with the replacement of Cayman Constitutional Documents with the Proposed Constitutional Document in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination (copies of which are attached to this proxy as Annex G), including (1) changing the corporate name from “Waldencast Acquisition Corp.” to “Waldencast plc,” (2) making Waldencast plc’s existence for an unlimited duration and (3) removing certain provisions related to Waldencast plc’s status as a blank check company that will no longer be applicable upon consummation of the Business Combination, all of which Waldencast’s board of directors believes is necessary to adequately address the needs of Waldencast plc after the Business Combination (“Organizational Documents Proposal D”);

The Proposed Constitutional Document differs in certain material respects from the Cayman Constitutional Documents and Waldencast encourages shareholders to carefully review the information set out in the section entitled “Organizational Documents Proposals” and the full text of the Proposed Constitutional Document of Waldencast plc.

Director Election Proposal

Assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal and each of the Organizational Documents Proposals are approved, Waldencast’s shareholders are also being asked to approve by ordinary resolution of the holders of Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, the Director Election Proposal. Upon the consummation of the Business Combination, the Board will consist of nine directors. For additional information on the proposed board of directors, see the section entitled “Director Election Proposal.”

Stock Issuance Proposal

Assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, each of the Organizational Documents Proposals and the Director Election Proposal are approved, Waldencast’s shareholders are also being asked to approve by ordinary resolution the Stock Issuance Proposal. For additional information, see the section entitled “Stock Issuance Proposal.”

Milk Issuance Proposal

Assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, each of the Organizational Documents Proposals, the Director Election Proposal and the Stock Issuance Proposal are approved, Waldencast’s shareholders are also being asked to approve by ordinary resolution the Milk Issuance Proposal. For additional information, see the section entitled “Milk Issuance Proposal.”

Incentive Award Plan Proposal

Assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, each of the Organizational Documents Proposals, the Director Election Proposal, the Stock Issuance Proposal and the Milk Issuance Proposal are approved, Waldencast’s shareholders are also being asked to approve by ordinary resolution the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan, in order to comply with The Nasdaq Stock Market Listing Rule 5635(c) and the Code. For additional information, see the section entitled “Incentive Award Plan Proposal.”

Adjournment Proposal

If, based on the tabulated vote, there are not sufficient votes at the time of the extraordinary general meeting to authorize Waldencast to consummate the Business Combination (because any of the Condition Precedent Proposals have not been approved, including as a result of the failure of any other cross-conditioned Condition Precedent Proposal to be approved), Waldencast’s board of directors may submit a proposal to adjourn the extraordinary general meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies. For additional information, see the section entitled “Adjournment Proposal.”

Waldencast’s Board of Directors’ Reasons for the Business Combination

Waldencast was organized for the purpose of effecting a merger, amalgamation, share exchange, asset acquisition, share purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses or entities.

In evaluating the Business Combination, the Waldencast board of directors consulted with Waldencast’s management and considered a number of factors. In particular, the Waldencast board of directors considered, among other things, the following factors, although not weighted or in any order of significance:

- Large and Resilient Addressable Market. The global skincare and color cosmetics markets were valued at approximately $155 billion and $66 billion, respectively, in 2020, accounting for approximately 30% and 13% of the global beauty, personal care and wellness market, according to industry sources. Going forward, these two markets are expected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (“CAGR”) of 7.9% and 7.0%, respectively, from 2021 to 2023. We believe the key drivers of growth include the shift in desire for quality over price, increased appetite for clean, natural, and higher-performance products, emerging market expansion, and adaptability to e-commerce channels, particularly by skincare and makeup consumers. The beauty, personal care and wellness market has proven to be resilient through economic cycles and, in particular, is expected to maintain strong momentum in its growth following the COVID-19 lockdowns, with estimated year-on-year growth of 8.4% in 2021, and 6.4% for 2022 and 2023, according to industry sources. The Waldencast board of directors believes that there are significant growth opportunities for Obagi in the global skincare market.
- Highly Fragmented Market with Growth Driven by Independent Brands. The top five brands in the global beauty, personal care and wellness market, being Colgate-Palmolive Company (“Colgate-Palmolive”), The Estée Lauder Companies Inc., Unilever PLC (“Unilever”), The Procter & Gamble Company (“P&G”) and L’Oréal S.A (“L’Oréal”), account for only 32% of the market share. Of these, Colgate-Palmolive, Unilever and P&G experienced reductions in their market shares over the period from 2015 to 2020, according to industry sources. New consumer trends and technology are driving the gain in market share of disruptor brands that account for the other 68% of the global beauty, personal care and wellness market. These emerging brands are driving sector growth and the Waldencast board of directors believes there is a clear opportunity to aggregate these brands under a new platform to accelerate growth and scale.

- Obagi is a Market Leader Within the Professional Skincare Market. Obagi is a market leader in the global professional skincare market, ranked first in independent brands in this market, and first, compared to brands (more generally) in this market, in product portfolio, innovation, and marketing based on perception and satisfaction among U.S. physicians, according to independent research conducted in 2020. It was second in sales in 2019 in this segment of U.S. professional skincare products companies. The skincare market is the fastest growing segment in the global beauty, personal care and wellness market, with the expectation for the global skincare market to grow in revenue from $62 billion in 2021 to $ 209 billion by 2025, according to industry sources. The Waldencast board of directors believes that Obagi has significant potential for expansion in this fast growing market.
- Obagi's Robust, Science-Based Product Portfolio. Obagi currently holds over 80 patents worldwide in respect of its products, which are developed by a world class research and development team, and undergo rigorous product efficacy testing from panels comprising leading dermatologists from universities and research organizations across the U.S. Over 90% of Obagi's sales are derived from medical grade skincare products, ranging in price from $22.00 to $471.00.
- Obagi's Experienced Management Team of Dermo-Cosmetics Experts. The Waldencast board of directors believes that Obagi's management team has extensive experience in key aspects of the beauty, personal care and wellness market, particularly the dermo-cosmetics sector. Obagi's management team is led by Jaime Castle, who serves as President and Chief Executive Officer, and executives with experience from leading companies such as Bausch Health Companies Inc. ("Bausch Health"), The Boeing Company ("Boeing"), Glo, Inc. ("Glo") and Neutrogena. We expect that Obagi executives will continue with the combined company following the Business Combination. For additional information regarding Obagi's executive officers, see the section entitled "Management of Waldencast plc Following the Business Combination — Executive Officers."
- Milk's Leading Clean Make-Up Brand. Milk is a leading clean make-up brand with a strong following among Gen-Z consumers, known for its cultural relevance and iconic products. The brand is anchored by this strong community following and the Waldencast board of directors believe there are significant growth opportunities.
- Milk's Strong Community Engagement and Portfolio of Innovative Products. We believe Milk has an exciting portfolio of innovative and iconic products and a strong community following attracted to its brand values of "good for you, good for the planet, and good for our community." As of November 22, 2021, Milk had approximately 1,900,000 Instagram followers, 8,600,000 likes and 122,000,000 hashtagged video views on TikTok, 653,000 monthly views on Pinterest, 99,000 Facebook followers, 89,000 YouTube subscribers and 62,000 Twitter followers. The Waldencast board of directors believes Milk has the potential to grow through innovation and launches from its current portfolio of cosmetic products to other segments of the beauty, personal care and wellness market, such as skincare, haircare, bath and shower, and fragrance.
- Milk's Strong Partnership with Sephora. Milk has an established presence in the U.S. and Canada through its partnership with Sephora, with Milk's products featured in all 1,335 physical Sephora retail stores in the U.S., and all 82 physical Sephora retail stores in Canada. However, milkmakeup.com currently only ships to the U.S. and the Waldencast board of directors believes there is an opportunity to increase Milk's presence in high-growth international markets, through increasing Milk's presence in Sephora's non-North American brick and mortar stores, as well as partnerships with other beauty retail stores worldwide.
- Milk's Experienced Management Team of Make-Up and Cosmetic Industry Experts. The Waldencast board of directors believes that Milk's management team has extensive experience in key aspects of the beauty, personal care and wellness sectors, particularly the make-up and cosmetics sectors. Milk's management team is led by Tim Coolican, who serves as Chief Executive Officer, and executives with experience from leading companies such as L'Oréal, Unilever, Bliss World Inc. ("Bliss") and Benefit Cosmetics LLC

(“Benefit”). We expect that Milk executives will continue with the combined company following the Business Combination. For additional information regarding Milk’s executive officers, see the section entitled “Management of Waldencast plc Following the Business Combination — Executive Officers.”

- Attractive Entry Valuations. The Waldencast board of directors determined that (a) the pro forma enterprise valuations of Obagi and Milk were reasonable in comparison to certain comparable, publicly traded companies and (b) Waldencast plc will have an anticipated initial pre-transaction enterprise value of $1,200 million, implying a 4.8x multiple of 2022 projected revenue.

The Waldencast board of directors also identified and considered the following factors and risks weighing negatively against pursuing the Business Combination, although not weighted or in any order of significance:

- Potential Inability to Complete the Obagi Merger and Milk Transaction. The Waldencast board of directors considered the possibility that the Obagi Merger and/or the Milk Transaction and, thereby, the Business Combination, may not be completed and the potential adverse consequences to Waldencast if the Business Combination is not completed, in particular the expenditure of time and resources in pursuit of the Business Combination and the loss of the opportunity to participate in the transaction. They considered the uncertainty related to the Closing, including due to closing conditions primarily outside of the control of the parties to the transaction (such as the need for shareholder and antitrust approval). The Transaction Agreements and the Sponsor Support Agreements also include exclusivity provisions that limit Waldencast, the Sponsor and certain of their respective affiliates from soliciting certain other business combination proposals on behalf of Waldencast, which limits Waldencast’s ability to consider certain other potential business combinations until the earlier of the termination of the Transaction Agreements or the consummation of the Business Combination.

The consummation of the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction are conditioned upon satisfaction of the Minimum Cash Conditions. Assuming redemptions do not exceed the maximum redemptions scenario described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus, Waldencast will be able to satisfy the Minimum Cash Conditions based on the proceeds it will receive from the PIPE Investment and the Forward Purchase Transaction, together with remaining funds left in Waldencast’s trust account after taking into account the redemptions and estimated transaction costs incurred by Waldencast in connection with the Business Combination of $63.2 million, including deferred underwriting commissions from Waldencast’s initial public offering of approximately $12.1 million. The maximum redemptions scenario assumes that 21,984,625 public shares of Waldencast’s Class A ordinary shares are redeemed for an aggregate payment of $219.9 million, which is derived in connection with the number of shares that could be redeemed based on an assumed redemption price of approximately $10.00 per share. Based on recent market trends, in the event that Waldencast’s stock price is at, around or below $10.00 per share during the redemption period, there may be significant redemptions in excess of the maximum redemptions scenario. The Waldencast board of directors considered the risk that a significant portion of the current public shareholders of Waldencast would redeem their public shares for cash in connection with consummation of the Business Combination, thereby reducing, in each case, the amount of cash available to Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination and potentially requiring Obagi, Milk and Waldencast to waive the Minimum Cash Conditions under the Transaction Agreements in order for the Business Combination to be consummated.

If there are significant redemptions by public shareholders, then the Minimum Cash Conditions may not be satisfied. In the event the Minimum Cash Conditions are not satisfied, the Business Combination could not be consummated unless Obagi, Milk and Waldencast waive the Minimum Cash Conditions.

- Obagi and Milk’s Business Risks. The Waldencast board of directors considered that Waldencast shareholders would be subject to the execution risks associated with Waldencast plc if they retained their public shares following the Closing, which were different from the risks related to holding public shares of Waldencast prior to the Closing. In this regard, the Waldencast board of directors considered that there were risks associated with successful implementation of Waldencast plc’s long-term business plan and strategy and Waldencast plc realizing the anticipated benefits of the Business Combination on the timeline expected or at all, including due to factors outside of the parties’ control such as the potential negative impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and related macroeconomic uncertainty. The Waldencast board of directors considered that the failure of any of these activities to be completed successfully may decrease the actual benefits of the Business Combination and that Waldencast shareholders may not fully realize the anticipated benefits to the extent that they expected to retain the public shares following the completion of the Business Combination.

- Implementation Complexities. Although a simultaneous business combination with two target entities is consistent with Waldencast’s objective of establishing a global, multi-brand beauty and wellness platform, the Waldencast board of directors considered the potential added complexity of implementation of the proposed Business Combination.
- Post-Business Combination Corporate Governance. The Waldencast board of directors considered the corporate governance provisions of the Transaction Agreements, the Investor Rights Agreement and the Proposed Constitutional Documents and the effect of those provisions on the governance of Waldencast plc following the Closing. Cedarwalk will have the right to designate one director to the Waldencast plc Board for as long as Cedarwalk owns 5% of the then outstanding Waldencast plc common stock. The Waldencast board of directors was aware that this right is not generally available to shareholders of Waldencast, including shareholders that may hold a large number of shares.
- No Survival of Remedies for Breach of Representations, Warranties or Covenants of Obagi or Milk. The Waldencast board of directors considered that the terms of the Transaction Agreements provide that Waldencast will not have any surviving remedies against Obagi, Milk or their stockholders after the Closing to recover for losses as a result of any inaccuracies or breaches of the Obagi and Milk representations, warranties or covenants set forth in the Transaction Agreements. The Waldencast board of directors determined that this structure was appropriate and customary in light of the fact that several similar transactions include similar terms and the current stockholders of Obagi and Milk will be stockholders in Waldencast plc.
- Litigation. The Waldencast board of directors considered the possibility of litigation challenging the Business Combination or that an adverse judgment granting permanent injunctive relief could enjoin consummation of the Business Combination. The Waldencast board of directors also considered the lawsuit was commenced in New York state court on October 6, 2016, captioned Joseph v. Rassi, et al., Case No. 510914/2016 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. Oct. 6, 2016) in which the plaintiff has asserted claims against founders Mazdack Rassi, Erez Shternlicht and Moishe Mana, as well as against Legs Media LLC, Milk Agency, LLC, Milk Makeup Holdings, LLC, Milk Makeup Management, LLC, Milk Studios, LLC, Milk and Scott Sassa. Plaintiff alleges that Rassi, Shternlicht, and Mana breached the duty they owed to Legs Media by misappropriating its “corporate opportunity” related to the Milk Makeup concept for their own benefit. There is a parallel proceeding in Delaware Court of Chancery, captioned Mana v. Joseph, Civil Action No. 12715 (Del. Ch. Sept. 2, 2016) in which Rassi, Mana, Shternlicht, Legs Media, LLC, Milk Studios, LLC, Milk, and Milk Agency, LLC have asserted various claims against Joseph and, among other things, are seeking declaratory judgment that Joseph has no ownership interest in Milk Studios, LLC or Milk. Additionally, certain founders of Milk have agreed, pursuant to an amended and restated founder support and indemnification agreement, dated January 24, 2019, subject to the terms and conditions thereto, to provide indemnification to Milk and its representatives for losses that arise from (i) any claims brought by or on behalf of any purported current or former holder of equity or rights in Milk or its affiliates arising out of facts and circumstances in existence prior to December 23, 2016, (ii) any claims against Milk by or on behalf of any Milk affiliates arising out of facts and circumstances in existence prior to December 23, 2016, and (iii) Milk’s maintenance and administration of benefit plans. The indemnification agreement would cover potential losses related to the previously disclosed outstanding litigation related to “corporate opportunity.” For further details, see the section entitled “Risk Factors — Risks Related to Milk — Risks Related to Legal and Regulatory Proceedings — We are involved, and may become involved in the future, in disputes and other legal or regulatory proceedings, including an ongoing legal proceeding involving our founders, that, if adversely decided or settled, could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.”
- Fees and Expenses. The Waldencast board of directors considered the fees and expenses associated with completing the Business Combination.

- Diversion of Management. The Waldencast board of directors considered the potential for diversion of management and employee attention during the period prior to the completion of the Business Combination, and the potential negative effects on Obagi and Milk’s businesses.

In addition to considering the factors described above, the Waldencast board of directors also considered that:

- Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers. Waldencast’s directors and executive officers may have interests in the Business Combination as individuals that are in addition to, and may be different from, the interests of Waldencast’s shareholders, as described in the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination.” However, Waldencast’s board of directors concluded that the potentially disparate interests would be mitigated because (i) these interests were disclosed in the prospectus for Waldencast’s initial public offering and are included in this proxy statement/prospectus, (ii) most of these disparate interests would exist with respect to a business combination by Waldencast with any other target business or businesses, and (iii) Waldencast’s directors and executive officers hold equity interests in Waldencast with value that, after the Closing, will be based on the future performance of Waldencast plc’s common stock. In addition, Waldencast’s independent directors reviewed and considered these interests during their evaluation of the Business Combination and in unanimously approving, as members of the Waldencast board of directors, the Transaction Agreements and the related agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Business Combination.

For a more complete description of the Waldencast board of directors’ reasons for approving the Business Combination, including other factors and risks considered by the Waldencast board of directors, see the sections entitled “BCA Proposal — Waldencast’s Board of Directors’ Reasons for the Business Combination.”

In connection with the execution of the Transaction Agreements, Waldencast entered into certain subscription agreements, executed on or prior to November 14, 2021, pursuant to which the Initial PIPE Investment will be consummated (the “Initial Subscription Agreements”), pursuant to which the respective PIPE Investors agreed to purchase, in the aggregate, 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares at $10.00 per share for an aggregate commitment amount of $105.0 million. Under the Transaction Agreements, Waldencast may enter into additional subscription agreements with certain investors in the PIPE Investment after November 15, 2021 but prior to the Closing Date (“Subsequent Subscription Agreements” and, together with the Initial Subscription Agreements, the “Subscription Agreements”). The obligation of the parties to consummate the purchase and sale of the shares covered by the Subscription Agreements is conditioned upon, among other customary closing conditions, the conditions to the closing of the Business Combination having been satisfied or waived. In the event the Minimum Cash Condition is not satisfied, the Business Combination would not be consummated unless Obagi and/or Milk, as applicable, waives the Minimum Cash Condition. The closings under the Subscription Agreements will occur substantially concurrently with the Closing. For additional information, see the sections entitled “BCA Proposal — Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction — PIPE Subscription Agreements.”

Ownership of Waldencast plc following the Business Combination

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, there are (i) 43,125,000 ordinary shares issued and outstanding, which includes the 8,545,000 founder shares held by the Sponsor, 80,000 founder shares held by the Investor Directors and the 34,500,000 public shares, and (ii) 17,433,333 warrants issued and outstanding, which includes the 5,933,333 private placement warrants held by the Sponsor and the 11,500,000 public warrants. Each whole warrant entitles the holder thereof to purchase one Waldencast Class A ordinary share and, following the Domestication, will entitle the holder thereof to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share. Therefore, as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus (without giving effect to the Business Combination), the Waldencast fully diluted share capital would be 60,558,333 common stock equivalents.

Upon completion of the Business Combination, we anticipate that: (1) the Obagi Shareholders are expected to hold an ownership interest of 18.3% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (2) the Milk Members are expected to hold an ownership interest of 12.5% of the Waldencast LP Common Units, such units will be exchangeable for up to 12.5% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (3) PIPE Investors are expected to hold an ownership interest of 6.2% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (4) members of the Sponsor and the Investor Directors are collectively expected to hold an ownership interest of 18.4% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (5) Waldencast’s public shareholders will retain an ownership interest of 30.8% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, and (6) the Beauty Ventures is expected to hold an ownership interest of 13.7% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

These levels of ownership interest are based on Waldencast’s capitalization as of September 30, 2021 and assume (i) no additional issuance of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares from the continued funding by Obagi or Milk Options exercises, (ii) that no public shareholders exercise their redemption rights in connection with the Business Combination, (iii) Waldencast sells and issues 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors pursuant to the PIPE Investment and (iv) Waldencast sells and issues 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, comprising of 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 warrants to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction. If the actual facts are different from these assumptions, the percentage ownership retained by the current Waldencast shareholders in Waldencast plc will be different.

The following table illustrates varying ownership levels in Waldencast plc immediately following the consummation of the Business Combination based on the assumptions above.

1) Assumes that 21,984,625 Class A ordinary shares are redeemed in connection with the Business Combination which is the maximum number of shares that may be redeemed without causing the Minimum Cash Condition to the closing of the Business Combination to be unsatisfied. The net cash consideration payable to the existing Obagi owners would decrease from $380.0 million to $327.5 million and to the existing Milk owners from $140.0 million to $120.3 million, and the economic ownership and voting power via shares of the existing Obagi and Milk owners would increase proportionally following the Business Combination.

The above table sets out the number of shares and ownership percentages at different redemption levels (no redemptions, 30% redemptions, maximum redemptions and 90% redemptions). However, Waldencast cannot predict how many of its public shareholders will exercise their right to have their public shares redeemed for cash. As a result, the redemption amount and the number of Class A ordinary shares redeemed in connection with the Business Combination may differ from the amounts presented above. As such, the ownership percentages and voting power of Waldencast’s shareholders may also differ from the presentation above if the actual redemptions are different from these assumptions. See “Risk Factors – Risks Related to the Business Combination and the Company - Based on recent market trends, in the event that Waldencast’s stock price is at, around or below $10.00 per share during the redemption period, there may be significant redemptions by Waldencast’s public shareholders in connection with the Business Combination, resulting in a greater risk that the Obagi Minimum Cash Conditions or Milk Minimum Cash Conditions will not be met, or that there will be a reduced amount of cash available to Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination and as a result, would likely require Waldencast plc to obtain additional financing in order to fund its planned operations to the point where Waldencast plc’s business is generating positive cash flows.”

- 2) 16,000,000 Class A ordinary shares acquired pursuant to the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement for an investment of $160.0 million by Burwell Mountain Trust and Dynamo Master Fund (members of our Sponsor) in exchange for a portion of the Forward Purchase Amount.
- 3) 17,300,000 Class A ordinary shares acquired pursuant to the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement for an investment of $173.0 million by the Beauty Ventures in exchange for a portion of the Forward Purchase Amount.
- 4) 8,625,000 Class A ordinary shares, including 80,000 shares held by the Investor issued upon conversion of the existing Waldencast Class B ordinary shares. Waldencast Class A ordinary shares are issued upon the automatic conversion of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares concurrently with the consummation of the Business Combination.
- 5) Represents the private placement pursuant to which Waldencast entered into Subscription Agreements with certain PIPE Investors whereby such investors have agreed to subscribe for Class A ordinary shares at a purchase price of $10.00 per share. The PIPE Investors participating in the PIPE Investment, have agreed to purchase an aggregate of 10,500,000 Class A ordinary shares.
- 6) Represents Obagi owners’ interest in 22,851,564 shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, which remain unchanged in the 30% scenario, increase in the Maximum Redemption scenario to 28,101,564 and to 32,634,659 in the 90% scenario due to the reduction in net cash consideration payable.
- 7) Represents the Milk Members’ noncontrolling economic interest in Waldencast LP Common Units, which are redeemable at the option of the holder of such units, and if such option is exercised, are exchangeable, at the option of Waldencast plc, for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares on a 1-for-1 basis or cash (together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of voting, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares), and if exchanged for such Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, will increase in the Maximum Redemption scenario due to the reduction in net cash consideration payable.
- 8) Represents Class A ordinary shares that were converted from Milk Warrants at the closing of the Business Combination.
- 9) Note, percentages totals may not foot due to rounding.

The table below presents the trust value per share to a Waldencast shareholder that elects not to redeem across a range of varying redemption scenarios. The maximum redemption scenario represents the maximum redemptions that may occur but which would still provide for the satisfactions of the Minimum Cash Conditions in the Transaction Agreements. This trust value per share includes the per share cost of the deferred underwriting commission to be paid upon closing of the Business Combination as agreed between Waldencast and the underwriters at the time of our initial public offering.

Public shareholders who purchased units as part of our Initial Public Offering for $10.00 may experience dilution if they elect not to redeem in connection with the Business Combination.

The Initial PIPE Investors have collectively subscribed for 10,500,000 shares of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares for an aggregate purchase price equal to $105.0 million. These securities are dilutive to our Initial Public Offering investors only to the extent that Waldencast’s share price exceeds $10.00. Waldencast also has public and private warrants outstanding. While these securities may be dilutive to our public shareholders in the future, they have an exercise price of $11.50, meaning that they are not dilutive to our Initial Public Offering investors until the stock price exceeds $11.50.

Our Initial Public Offering investors will also face dilution from the founder shares, which will automatically convert into shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares upon consummation of the Business Combination on a one-for-one basis, resulting in the issuance of 8,625,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in the aggregate.

The tables above discussing the ownership shares of our shareholders following the consummation of the Business Combination show possible sources of dilution and the extent of such dilution that non-redeeming public shareholders could experience in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination.

Additionally, upon consummation of the Business Combination, the combined company will be organized in an “Up-C” structure. The equity interests of Obagi and Milk will be held by Waldencast LP. Waldencast plc’s interests in Obagi and Milk will be held through its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Holdco 1 and Waldencast LP, respectively.

See the section entitled “Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information” for more information.

Date, Time and Place of Extraordinary General Meeting of Waldencast’s Shareholders

The extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of Waldencast will be held at _____, Eastern Time, on _____, 2022, at the offices of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP located at One Manhattan West, New York, NY 10001, or virtually via live webcast at www.virtualshareholdermeeting/WALD2022SM, to consider and vote upon the proposals to be put to the extraordinary general meeting, including if necessary, the Adjournment Proposal, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies if, based upon the tabulated vote at the time of the extraordinary general meeting, each of the Condition Precedent Proposals have not been approved.

Voting Power; Record Date

Waldencast shareholders will be entitled to vote or direct votes to be cast at the extraordinary general meeting if they owned ordinary shares at the close of business on _____, 2022, which is the Record Date for the extraordinary general meeting. Shareholders will have one vote for each ordinary share owned at the close of business on the Record Date. If your shares are held in “street name” or are in a margin or similar account, you should contact your broker to ensure that votes related to the shares you beneficially own are properly counted. Waldencast warrants do not have voting rights. As of the close of business on the Record Date, there were _____ ordinary shares issued and outstanding, of which _____ were issued and outstanding public shares.

Quorum and Vote of Waldencast Shareholders

A quorum of Waldencast shareholders is necessary to hold a valid meeting. A quorum will be present at the Waldencast extraordinary general meeting if a majority of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting are represented in person or by proxy. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting. As of the Record Date for the extraordinary general meeting, 21,562,501 ordinary shares would be required to achieve a quorum.

The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to vote all of their ordinary shares in favor of the proposals being presented at the extraordinary general meeting. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor own and the Investor Directors own 20% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares.

The proposals presented at the extraordinary general meeting require the following votes:

- Obagi Merger Proposal: The approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Waldencast's amended and restated memorandum and articles of association (as the same may be amended from time to time as permitted hereby prior to the Domestication) (the "Cayman Constitutional Documents"), being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Milk Transaction Proposal: The approval of the Milk Transaction Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Constitutional Documents, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Domestication Proposal: The approval of the Domestication Proposal requires a special resolution under Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Organizational Documents Proposals: The separate approval of each of the Organizational Documents Proposals A and D requires a special resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting and the separate approval of each of the Organizational Documents Proposals B and C requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Director Election Proposal: The approval of the Director Election Proposal requires an ordinary resolution of the holders of Waldencast Class B ordinary shares under Cayman Constitutional Documents, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Stock Issuance Proposal: The approval of the Stock Issuance Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Milk Issuance Proposal: The approval of the Milk Issuance Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.
- Incentive Award Plan Proposal: The approval of the Incentive Award Plan Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.

- Adjournment Proposal: The approval of the Adjournment Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting.

Redemption Rights

Pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, a public shareholder may request of Waldencast that Waldencast plc redeem all or a portion of its public shares for cash if the Business Combination is consummated. As a holder of public shares, you will be entitled to receive cash for any public shares to be redeemed only if you:

- (i) hold public shares or (ii) if you hold public shares through units, you elect to separate your units into the underlying public shares and public warrants prior to exercising your redemption rights with respect to the public shares;
- submit a written request to Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, that Waldencast plc redeem all or a portion of your public shares for cash; and
- deliver your public shares to Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, physically or electronically through DTC.

Holders must complete the procedures for electing to redeem their public shares in the manner described above prior to 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on _____, 2022 (two business days before the extraordinary general meeting) in order for their shares to be redeemed.

Holders of units must elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and public warrants prior to exercising redemption rights with respect to the public shares. If holders hold their units in an account at a brokerage firm or bank, such holders must notify their broker or bank that they elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and public warrants, or if a holder holds units registered in its own name, the holder must contact Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, directly and instruct them to do so. Public shareholders may elect to redeem all or a portion of the public shares held by them regardless of if or how they vote in respect of the BCA Proposal. If the Business Combination is not consummated, the public shares will be returned to the respective holder, broker or bank. If the Business Combination is consummated, and if a public shareholder properly exercises its right to redeem all or a portion of the public shares that it holds and timely delivers its shares to Continental, Waldencast plc will redeem such public shares for a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the pro rata portion of the trust account, calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination. For illustrative purposes, as of September 30, 2021, this would have amounted to approximately $10.00 per issued and outstanding public share. If a public shareholder exercises its redemption rights in full, then it will be electing to exchange its public shares for cash and will no longer own public shares. The redemption takes place following the Domestication and, accordingly, it is Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares that will be redeemed immediately after consummation of the Business Combination. See the section entitled “Extraordinary General Meeting of Waldencast — Redemption Rights” in this proxy statement/prospectus for a detailed description of the procedures to be followed if you wish to redeem your public shares for cash.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a public shareholder, together with any affiliate of such public shareholder or any other person with whom such public shareholder is acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined in Section 13(d) (3) of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. Accordingly, if a public shareholder, alone or acting in concert or as a group, seeks to redeem more than 15% of the public shares, then any such shares in excess of that 15% limit would not be redeemed for cash.

The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how our public shareholders vote. Unlike some other blank check companies in which the initial shareholders agree to vote their shares in accordance with the majority of the votes cast by the public shareholders in connection with an initial business combination, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of the Transaction Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, in each case, subject to the terms and conditions contemplated by the Obagi Sponsor Support Agreement and the Milk Sponsor Support Agreement, and waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any ordinary shares held by them as contemplated by the Letter Agreement. The ordinary shares held by the Sponsor will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor and Investor Directors own 20% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares.

Holders of the warrants will not have redemption rights with respect to the warrants.

Appraisal Rights

Neither Waldencast's shareholders nor Waldencast's warrant holders have appraisal rights in connection with the Business Combination or the Domestication under the Cayman Islands Companies Act or under the Jersey Companies Law. Under the Jersey Companies Law, dissenting shareholders of a Jersey company have no appraisal rights that would provide the right to receive payment in cash for the judicially determined fair value of the shares. However, under Jersey law, dissenting shareholders may, following the Domestication, object to the Royal Court of Jersey on the grounds they are unfairly prejudiced by the proposed Business Combination and the proposed Domestication.

Proxy Solicitation

Proxies may be solicited by mail, telephone or in person. Waldencast has engaged Morrow to assist in the solicitation of proxies.

If a shareholder grants a proxy, it may still vote its shares in person, in which case the proxy will be revoked without further action being required. A shareholder also may change its vote by submitting a later-dated proxy as described in the section entitled "Extraordinary General Meeting of Waldencast — Revoking Your Proxy."

Interests of Waldencast's Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination

When you consider the recommendation of Waldencast's board of directors in favor of approval of the BCA Proposal, you should keep in mind that the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and executive officers have interests in such proposal that are different from, or in addition to, those of Waldencast shareholders and warrant holders generally. As more fully described below, the Sponsor, among other things, (1) will only be able to realize a return on its equity in Waldencast (which may be materially higher than those realized by public Waldencast shareholders and warrant holders) if Waldencast completes a business combination within the required period, and (2) has advanced funds to Waldencast to cover transaction expenses, for which it will only be reimbursed if Waldencast completes a business combination within the required period. Further, certain of Waldencast's officers and directors, and their affiliates, are entitled to receive distributions of the assets of the Sponsor and therefore will benefit when Waldencast completes a business combination within the required period. More specifically, the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors' and executive officers' interests include, among other things, the interests listed below:

- The 8,545,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares owned by Sponsor, if valued based on the closing price of $10.00 per public share on the Nasdaq on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, and if unrestricted and freely tradable, would have an aggregate market value of $85.5 million (after giving effect to the conversion of such Waldencast Class B ordinary shares into Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in connection with the Obagi Merger and Milk Transaction, including after giving effect to the Domestication). In January 2021, the Sponsor purchased such 7,187,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares for an aggregate purchase price of $0.025 million prior to Waldencast's initial public offering. The Sponsor transferred 20,000 Class B ordinary shares to each of the Investor Directors, resulting in the Sponsor holding 7,107,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares. In March 2021, Waldencast effected a share capitalization resulting in the Sponsor holding an aggregate of 8,545,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares. If Waldencast does not consummate a business combination by March 18, 2023 (or if such date is extended at a duly called extraordinary general meeting, such later date), it would cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeeming all of the outstanding public shares for cash and, subject to the approval of its remaining shareholders and its board of directors, dissolving and liquidating, subject in each case to its obligations under the Cayman Islands Companies Act to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law. In such event, the 8,625,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares owned by the Sponsor and the Investor Directors would be worthless because following the redemption of the public shares, Waldencast would likely have few, if any, net assets and because the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and officers have agreed to waive their respective rights to liquidating distributions from the trust account in respect of any Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast Class B ordinary shares held by it or them, as applicable, if Waldencast fails to complete a business combination within the required period.

- The Sponsor purchased an aggregate of 5,933,333 private placement warrants from Waldencast simultaneously with the consummation of Waldencast's initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $8.9 million, which will automatically convert into 5,933,333 Waldencast plc warrants in connection with the Business Combination (including after giving effect to the Domestication). The 5,933,333 private placement warrants, if valued based on the closing price of $0.80 per public warrant on the Nasdaq on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, and if unrestricted and freely tradable, would have an aggregate market value of $4.7 million, but may expire and become worthless if Waldencast fails to complete a business combination by March 18, 2023. As a result of Sponsor's interest in the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares and private placement warrants, Sponsor and its affiliates have an incentive to complete an initial business combination and may have a conflict of interest in the transaction, including without limitation, in determining whether a particular business is an appropriate business with which to effect Waldencast's initial business combination.
- Waldencast entered into the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement with the Beauty Ventures. The Sponsor is the managing member of Beauty Ventures. Members of the Sponsor or their affiliates will begin to receive a twenty percent (20%) performance fee allocation on the return of the forward purchase securities in excess of the hurdle rate, calculated on the total return generated from forward purchase securities (whether by dividend, transfer or increase in value as measured from date of issuance), when the return of such securities (less the expenses of the Beauty Ventures) underlying the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement exceeds a hurdle rate of five percent (5%) accrued annually until the fifth anniversary of the issuance of such securities. In the event of a transfer and subsequent sale of any forward purchase securities prior to such fifth anniversary, the performance fee for the period between such transfer and such fifth anniversary will be calculated based on the proceeds generated by such sale.
- The Initial PIPE Investors have subscribed for $105.0 million of the PIPE Investment, for which they will receive up to 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. The 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares which the Initial PIPE Investors have subscribed for in the Initial PIPE Investment, if unrestricted and freely tradable, would have had an aggregate market value of $105.0 million based upon the closing price of $10.00 per public share on Nasdaq on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. See the section entitled "Certain Relationships and Related Person Transactions — Waldencast Acquisition Corp. — PIPE Subscription Agreements."
- In the event that Waldencast fails to consummate a business combination within the prescribed time frame (pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents), or upon the exercise of a redemption right in connection with the Business Combination, Waldencast will be required to provide for payment of claims of creditors that were not waived that may be brought against Waldencast within the ten years following such redemption. In order to protect the amounts held in Waldencast's trust account, the Sponsor has agreed that it will be liable to Waldencast if and to the extent any claims by a third party (other than Waldencast's independent auditors) for services rendered or products sold to Waldencast, or a prospective target business with which Waldencast has discussed entering into a transaction agreement, reduce the amount of funds in the trust account to below (i) $10.00 per public share or (ii) such lesser amount per public share held in the trust account as of the date of the liquidation of the trust account, due to reductions in value of the trust assets, in each case, net of the amount of interest which may be withdrawn to pay taxes, except as to any claims by a third party who executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the trust account and except as to any claims under the indemnity of the underwriters of Waldencast's initial public offering against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act.
- Waldencast's officers and directors, and their affiliates are entitled to reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses incurred by them in connection with certain activities on Waldencast's behalf, such as identifying and investigating possible business targets and business combinations, as well as repayment of working capital advances. However, if Waldencast fails to consummate a business combination by March 18, 2023, they will not have any claim against the trust account for reimbursement or repayment. Accordingly,

Waldencast may not be able to reimburse such expenses or repay such advances if the Business Combination or another business combination, is not completed by such date. As of December 31, 2021, Waldencast's officers and directors and their affiliates are entitled to approximately $1.5 million in reimbursable out-of-pocket expenses including repayment of amounts pursuant to Working Capital Loans.

- As noted above, the Sponsor purchased 7,187,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, 80,000 of which were transferred to the Investor Directors, for an aggregate purchase price of $0.025 million, or approximately $0.003 per share (after taking into account the forfeiture by Sponsor of 937,500 founder shares, as a result of the underwriters' exercise of the over-allotment option). As a result, Sponsor and the Investor Directors will have a rate of return on its investment that differs from the rate of return of Waldencast shareholders who purchased Waldencast shares at various other prices, including Waldencast shares included in Waldencast units that were sold at $10.00 per unit in Waldencast's initial public offering. The closing price of Waldencast public shares on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, was $10.00. As a result of and upon the effective time of the Domestication, among other things, each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class B ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share. In the event the stock price of the post-combination company falls below the price paid by a Waldencast shareholder at the time of purchase of the Waldencast shares by such shareholder, a situation may arise in which Sponsor maintains a positive rate of return while such Waldencast shareholder does not.
- The Sponsor (including its representatives and affiliates) and Waldencast's directors and officers may in the future become affiliated with entities that are engaged in a similar business to Waldencast. The Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and officers are not prohibited from sponsoring, or otherwise becoming involved with, any other blank check companies prior to Waldencast completing its initial business combination. Waldencast's directors and officers also may become aware of business opportunities that may be appropriate for presentation to Waldencast, and the other entities to which they owe certain fiduciary or contractual duties. Accordingly, they may have had conflicts of interest in determining to which entity a particular business opportunity should be presented. These conflicts may not be resolved in Waldencast's favor and such potential business opportunities may be presented to other entities prior to their presentation to Waldencast, subject to applicable fiduciary duties under Cayman Islands Companies Act. Waldencast's Cayman Constitutional Documents provide that Waldencast renounces any interest or expectancy in, or in being offered an opportunity to participate in, any potential transaction or matter that may be a corporate opportunity for Waldencast, on the one hand, and one of its officers or directors, on the other. Waldencast does not believe, however, that the fiduciary duties or contractual obligations of its officers or directors or waiver of corporate opportunity materially affected its search for an acquisition target or will materially impact its ability to complete the Business Combination. No opportunity was presented to Waldencast that was also presented to Waldencast Ventures LP and its subsidiaries, related businesses and investments ("Waldencast Ventures") or any Affiliate of Waldencast. In addition, no opportunity that would have been appropriate for presentation to Waldencast was also presented to Waldencast Ventures LP and its subsidiaries, related businesses and investments. There have been no new investments by Waldencast Ventures since Waldencast's initial public offering.
- Waldencast's existing directors and officers will be eligible for continued indemnification and continued coverage under Waldencast's directors' and officers' liability insurance after the Obagi Merger and Milk Transaction and pursuant to the Transaction Agreements.
- Pursuant to the Registration Rights Agreement, the Sponsor, certain stockholders of Waldencast, Obagi and Milk and certain of their respective affiliates will have customary registration rights, including demand and piggy-back rights, subject to cooperation and cut-back provisions with respect to the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and warrants held by such parties following the consummation of the Business Combination.

The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how our public shareholders vote. Unlike some other blank check companies in which the initial shareholders agree to vote their shares in accordance with the majority of the votes cast by the public shareholders in connection with an initial business combination, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of the Transaction Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, in each case, subject to the terms and conditions contemplated by the Obagi Sponsor Support Agreement and the Milk Sponsor Support Agreement, and waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any ordinary shares held by them as contemplated by the Letter Agreement. The ordinary shares held by the Sponsor will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor and Investor Directors own 20% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares.

At any time at or prior to the Business Combination, subject to applicable securities laws (including with respect to material nonpublic information), the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors or respective affiliates may (i) purchase public shares from institutional and other investors who vote, or indicate an intention to vote, against any of the Condition Precedent Proposals, or elect to redeem, or indicate an intention to redeem, public shares, (ii) execute agreements to purchase such shares from such investors in the future, or (iii) enter into transactions with such investors and others to provide them with incentives to acquire public shares, vote their public shares in favor of the Condition Precedent Proposals or not redeem their public shares. Such a purchase may include a contractual acknowledgement that such shareholder, although still the record holder of Waldencast's shares, is no longer the beneficial owner thereof and therefore agrees not to exercise its redemption rights. In the event that the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors, or respective affiliates purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions from public shareholders who have already elected to exercise their redemption rights, such selling shareholders would be required to revoke their prior elections to redeem their shares. The purpose of such share purchases and other transactions would be to increase the likelihood of (1) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, Organizational Documents Proposals B and C, the Stock Issuance Proposal, the Milk Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal, (2) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Director Election Proposal, (3) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Domestication Proposal and each of the Organizational Documents Proposals A and D, (4) satisfaction of the Minimum Cash Conditions, (5) otherwise limiting the number of public shares electing to redeem and (6) Waldencast's net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) being at least $5,000,001.

Entering into any such arrangements may have a depressive effect on the ordinary shares (e.g., by giving an investor or holder the ability to effectively purchase shares at a price lower than market, such investor or holder may therefore become more likely to sell the shares he or she owns, either at or prior to the Business Combination). If such transactions are effected, the consequence could be to cause the Business Combination to be consummated in circumstances where such consummation could not otherwise occur. Purchases of shares by the persons described above would allow them to exert more influence over the approval of the proposals to be presented at the extraordinary general meeting and would likely increase the chances that such proposals would be approved. Waldencast will file or submit a Current Report on Form 6-K to disclose any material arrangements entered into or significant purchases made by any of the aforementioned persons that would affect the vote on the proposals to be put to the extraordinary general meeting or the redemption threshold. Any such report will include descriptions of any arrangements entered into or significant purchases by any of the aforementioned persons.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast's directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast's officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the sections entitled "BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast's Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination" for a further discussion of these considerations.

Interests of the Underwriters in the Business Combination

The deferred underwriting commission of approximately $12.1 million owed to the underwriters of our initial public offering, which commission was agreed at the time of our initial public offering, will be released to the underwriters only upon completion of an initial business combination. The deferred underwriting commission is payable if an initial business combination is consummated without regard to the number of public shares redeemed by holders in connection with such initial business combination.

Interests of Obagi’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination

Simon Dai, a current director of Obagi, Obagi Holdco and Obagi Hong Kong, is expected to be a director of the Company after the consummation of the Business Combination, pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement. As such, in the future he will receive any cash fees, stock options, stock awards or other remuneration that the Waldencast plc Board determines to pay to him and any applicable compensation.

Interests of Milk’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination

One of Milk’s directors will be paid a transaction bonus at the Milk Closing in an aggregate amount of $2.5 million, which amount will be payable out of the Milk Cash Consideration.

Recommendation to Shareholders of Waldencast

Waldencast’s board of directors believes that the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the other proposals to be presented at the extraordinary general meeting are in the best interest of Waldencast’s shareholders and unanimously recommends that its shareholders and, in the case of the Director Election Proposal, its shareholders holding Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, vote “FOR” the Obagi Merger Proposal, “FOR” the Milk Transaction Proposal, “FOR” the Domestication Proposal, “FOR” each of the separate Organizational Documents Proposals, “FOR” the Director Election Proposal, “FOR” the Stock Issuance Proposal, “FOR” the Milk Issuance Proposal, “FOR” the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and “FOR” the Adjournment Proposal, in each case, if presented to the extraordinary general meeting.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for a further discussion of these considerations.

Sources and Uses of Funds for the Business Combination

The following table summarizes the sources and uses for funding the Business Combination. These figures assume (i) that no public shareholders exercise their redemption rights in connection with the Business Combination (ii) Waldencast sells and issues 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors pursuant to the PIPE Investment, (iii) Waldencast sells and issues 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, comprising of 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 warrants to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction, and (iv) that Waldencast plc issues or reserves for issuance 36,813,735 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the Obagi Shareholders and Milk Members and reserves 10,686,265 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares for potential future issuance upon the exercise of Waldencast plc Options as part of the transaction consideration pursuant to the Transaction Agreements.

- (2) Any cash to the balance sheet is intended to be utilized for the further development of Obagi and Milk, future acquisitions and other purposes in line with the best interests of the combined company.

- (3) Reflects the cash disbursement for the preliminary estimated direct and incremental transaction costs of $63.2 million incurred by Waldencast, Obagi and Milk prior to, or concurrent with, the Closing, including deferred underwriting commission of approximately $12.1 million to be paid pursuant to the underwriting agreement entered into in connection with Waldencast's initial public offering upon consummation of the business combination.

Waldencast cannot predict how many of its public shareholders will exercise their right to have their public shares redeemed for cash. As result, if the actual facts are different from the assumptions set out above, then the amounts set forth in the amounts of such sources and uses for funding after the Closing will be different. For instance, the following table summarizes the sources and uses for funding the Business Combination in a scenario where 30% of the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares issued and outstanding are redeemed by the public shareholder:

Sources			Uses
($ in millions)
IPO cash proceeds, net of redemptions	$ 241.5	Cash to balance sheet <sup>(2)</sup>	$ 98.6
PIPE cash proceeds	105.0	Cash to sellers	520.0
Founder FPA proceeds	160.0	Cash to Obagi sellers	380.0
Beauty FPA proceeds	173.0	Cash to Milk sellers	140.0

Other <sup>(1)</sup>	2.3	Seller rollover equity	518.8
Total sources	$1,200.6	Total uses	$1,200.6

- (1) Represents cash from the settlement of amounts due from officers of $0.8 million and cash drawn from the Working Capital Loan of $1.5 million.
- (2) Any cash to the balance sheet is intended to be utilized for the further development of Obagi and Milk, future acquisitions and other purposes in line with the best interests of the combined company.
- (3) Reflects the cash disbursement for the preliminary estimated direct and incremental transaction costs of $63.2 million incurred by Waldencast, Obagi and Milk prior to, or concurrent with, the Closing, including deferred underwriting commission of approximately $12.1 million to be paid pursuant to the underwriting agreement entered into in connection with Waldencast's initial public offering upon consummation of the business combination.

The following table summarizes the sources and uses for funding the Business Combination in the maximum redemption scenario:

Sources			Uses
($ in millions)
IPO cash proceeds, net of redemptions	$ 125.2	Cash to balance sheet <sup>(2)</sup>	$ 54.4

Total sources	$1,156.5	Total uses	$1,156.5

- (1) Represents cash from the settlement of amounts due from officers of $0.8 million and cash drawn from the Working Capital Loan of $1.5 million.
- (2) Any cash to the balance sheet is intended to be utilized for the further development of Obagi and Milk, future acquisitions and other purposes in line with the best interests of the combined company.

The following table summarizes the sources and uses for funding the Business Combination in a scenario where 90% of the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares issued and outstanding are redeemed by the public shareholders:

Sources	($ in millions)		Uses
IPO cash proceeds, net of redemptions	$ 34.5	Cash to balance sheet <sup>(1)</sup>	$ 46.6
PIPE cash proceeds	105.0	Cash to sellers	364.9

- (1) Represents cash from the settlement of amounts due from officers of $0.8 million and cash drawn from the Working Capital Loan of $1.5 million.
- (2) Any cash to the balance sheet is intended to be utilized for the further development of Obagi and Milk, future acquisitions and other purposes in line with the best interests of the combined company.
- (3) Reflects the cash disbursement for the preliminary estimated direct and incremental transaction costs of $63.2 million incurred by Waldencast, Obagi and Milk prior to, or concurrent with, the Closing, including deferred underwriting commission of approximately $12.1 million to be paid pursuant to the underwriting agreement entered into in connection with Waldencast’s initial public offering upon consummation of the business combination.

If public shareholders redeem Waldencast Class A ordinary shares in excess of the maximum redemption scenario then there may not be adequate funds remaining in the trust account to meet the Obagi Minimum Cash Conditions and/or the Milk Minimum Cash Conditions. If the Obagi Minimum Cash Condition is not met, the Business Combination may not be consummated unless Obagi agree to waive this condition. Even if these conditions are satisfied or waived, if there are significant redemptions by the public shareholders, following the Closing, Waldencast plc may need to obtain additional financing through public or private equity, debt financings or other sources, in addition to the net proceeds from the Business Combination, the PIPE Investment and pursuant to the Forward Purchase Agreements, in order to fund its planned operations to the point where Waldencast plc’s business is generating positive cash flows.

On October 20, 2021, pursuant to the terms of the Forward Purchase Agreements, the Company received (i) an allocation notice from the Sponsor and Dynamo Master Fund committing to purchase 16,000,000 units, with each unit consisting of one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, for an aggregate purchase price of $160.0 million, or $10.00 per unit and (ii) an allocation notice from Beauty Ventures committing to purchase 17,300,000 units, with each unit consisting of one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, for an aggregate purchase price of $173.0 million, or $10.00 per unit.

U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations

As discussed more fully in “U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations — Effects of the Business Combination to U.S. Holders,” Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP has delivered an opinion that the Domestication will qualify as a “reorganization” within the meaning of Section 368(a)(1)(F) of the Code. Assuming that the Domestication so qualifies, U.S. Holders (as defined in “U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations”) of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares will generally not recognize gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes on the Domestication. See the section titled “U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations — Effects of the Business Combination to U.S. Holders.”

In the event that a U.S. Holder elects to redeem its Waldencast Class A ordinary shares for cash, the treatment of the transaction for U.S. federal income tax purposes will depend on the specific facts and circumstances of such U.S. Holder and its redemption. See the section titled “U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations — Effects to U.S. Holders of Exercising Redemption Rights.”

Jersey Tax Considerations

For a description of material Jersey tax considerations including in connection with the ownership and disposition of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, please see the information set forth in “Jersey Tax Considerations.”

Expected Accounting Treatment

The Domestication

There will be no accounting effect or change in the carrying amount of the consolidated assets and liabilities of Waldencast as a result of the Domestication. The business, capitalization, assets and liabilities and financial statements of Waldencast plc immediately following the Domestication will be the same as those of Waldencast immediately prior to the Domestication.

The Business Combination

The Business Combination is expected to be accounted using the acquisition method of accounting under the provisions of Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) Topic 805, Business Combinations (“ASC 805”) on the basis of Waldencast as the accounting acquirer and Obagi and Milk as the accounting acquirees. The ultimate determination of the accounting acquirer is a qualitative and quantitative assessment that requires careful consideration, of which the final determination will occur after the consummation of the Business Combination. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Expected Accounting Treatment of the Business Combination.”

Regulatory Matters

None of Waldencast, Obagi or Milk are aware of any material regulatory approvals or actions that are required for completion of the Business Combination other than the expiration or early termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act. It is presently contemplated that if any such additional regulatory approvals or actions are required, those approvals or actions will be sought. There can be no assurance, however, that any additional approvals or actions will be obtained.

HSR Act

Under the HSR Act, certain transactions may not be consummated unless information has been furnished to the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice (“Antitrust Division”) and the Federal Trade Commission (“FTC”) and certain waiting period requirements have been satisfied. The Business Combination is subject to these requirements and may not be completed until the expiration of the waiting periods for each of the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction following the filings of the required Notification and Report Forms with the Antitrust Division and the FTC. On November 30, 2021, Waldencast, Obagi and Milk filed the required forms under the HSR Act with respect to the Business Combination with the Antitrust Division and the FTC and requested early termination of the waiting period. The waiting periods for the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction will expire on December 30, 2021, unless shortened by a grant of early termination or extended by a formal request for additional information or documentary material.

At any time before or after consummation of the Business Combination, notwithstanding termination of the respective waiting periods under the HSR Act, the Antitrust Division or the FTC, or any state or foreign Governmental Authority could take such action under applicable antitrust laws as such authority deems necessary or desirable, including seeking to enjoin the consummation of the Business Combination, conditionally approving the Business Combination upon divestiture of assets, subjecting the completion of the Business Combination to regulatory conditions or seeking other remedies. Private parties may also seek to take legal action under the antitrust laws under certain circumstances. Waldencast cannot assure you that the Antitrust Division, the FTC, any state attorney general or any other Governmental Authority will not attempt to challenge the Business Combination on antitrust grounds, and, if such a challenge is made, Waldencast cannot assure you as to its result.

Emerging Growth Company

Waldencast is an “emerging growth company,” as defined in Section 2(a) of the Securities Act, as modified by the JOBS Act, and it may take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not emerging growth companies, including, but not limited to, not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in Waldencast’s periodic reports and proxy statements, and exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and stockholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved.

Further, Section 102(b)(1) of the JOBS Act exempts emerging growth companies from being required to comply with new or revised financial accounting standards until private companies (that is, those that have not had a Securities Act registration statement declared effective or do not have a class of securities registered under the Exchange Act) are required to comply with the new or revised financial accounting standards. The JOBS Act provides that a company can elect to opt out of the extended transition period and comply with the requirements that apply to non-emerging growth companies but any such election to opt out is irrevocable. Waldencast has elected not to opt out of such extended transition period, which means that when a standard is issued or revised and it has different application dates for public or private companies, Waldencast, as an emerging growth company, can adopt the new or revised standard at the time private companies adopt the new or revised standard. This may make comparison of Waldencast's financial statements with certain other public companies difficult or impossible because of the potential differences in accounting standards used.

Waldencast will remain an emerging growth company until the earlier of: (1) the last day of the fiscal year (a) following the fifth anniversary of the closing of Waldencast's initial public offering, (b) in which Waldencast has total annual gross revenue of at least $1,070,000,000 or (c) in which Waldencast is deemed to be a large accelerated filer, which means the market value of its common equity that is held by non-affiliates exceeds $700.0 million as of the end of the prior fiscal year's second fiscal quarter; and (2) the date on which Waldencast has issued more than $1 billion in non-convertible debt securities during the prior three-year period. References herein to "emerging growth company" shall have the meaning associated with it in the JOBS Act.

Foreign Private Issuer

Waldencast plc is a "foreign private issuer" under SEC rules and will report under the Exchange Act as a non-U.S. company with "foreign private issuer" status and will be subject to the reporting requirements under the Exchange Act applicable to foreign private issuers. This means that, even after Waldencast plc no longer qualifies as an "emerging growth company," as long as it qualifies as a "foreign private issuer" under the Exchange Act, it will be exempt from certain provisions of and intends to take advantage of certain exemptions from the Exchange Act that are applicable to U.S. public companies. Such exemptions include the sections of the Exchange Act regulating the solicitation of proxies, consents or authorizations in respect of a security registered under the Exchange Act and the sections of the Exchange Act requiring insiders to file public reports of their stock ownership.

Additionally, Waldencast plc will not be required to file its annual report on Form 20-F until 120 days after the end of each fiscal year and Waldencast plc will furnish reports on Form 6-K to the SEC regarding certain information required to be publicly disclosed by Waldencast plc in Jersey or that is distributed or required to be distributed by Waldencast plc to its shareholders. Further, based on its foreign private issuer status, Waldencast plc will not be required to file periodic reports and financial statements with the SEC as frequently or as promptly as a U.S. company whose securities are registered under the Exchange Act. Waldencast plc will also not be required to comply with Regulation FD, which addresses certain restrictions on the selective disclosure of material information. In addition, among other matters, Waldencast plc officers, directors and principal shareholders will be exempt from the reporting and "short-swing" profit recovery provisions of Section 16 of the Exchange Act and the rules under the Exchange Act with respect to their purchases and sales of Waldencast plc ordinary shares.

Waldencast plc may take advantage of these reporting exemptions until such time as it is no longer a "foreign private issuer." Waldencast plc could lose its status as a "foreign private issuer" under current SEC rules and regulations if more than 50% of Waldencast's outstanding voting securities become directly or indirectly held of record by U.S. holders and any one of the following is true: (i) the majority of Waldencast plc's directors or executive officers are U.S. citizens or residents; (ii) more than 50% of Waldencast plc's assets are located in the U.S.; or (iii) Waldencast plc's business is administered principally in the U.S.

Waldencast plc may choose to take advantage of some but not all of these reduced burdens. Waldencast plc has taken advantage of reduced reporting requirements in this proxy statement/prospectus. Accordingly, the information contained in this proxy statement/prospectus may be different from the information you receive from Waldencast plc's competitors that are public companies, or other public companies in which you have made an investment.

Risk Factors

In evaluating the proposals to be presented at Waldencast’s extraordinary general meeting, a shareholder should carefully read this proxy statement/prospectus and especially consider the factors discussed in the section entitled “Risk Factors,” which includes, among others, the risk factors listed below:

Risks Related to Obagi

Unless the context otherwise requires, all references in this subsection to “we,” “us” or “our” refer to the business of Obagi and its subsidiaries prior to the consummation of the Business Combination, which will be a business indirectly owned by Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination.

- Our sales and profitability may suffer if ongoing economic uncertainties in any of our major markets inhibit people from spending their disposable income on aesthetic and skin health products.
- The loss of a significant customer could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- We face intense competition, in some cases from companies that have significantly greater resources than we do, which could limit our ability to generate sales and/or render our products obsolete.
- Our revenues and financial results depend significantly on sales of our Obagi Nu-Derm products. If we are unable to manufacture or sell the Nu-Derm products in sufficient quantities and in a timely manner, or maintain physician and/or patient acceptance of Nu-Derm products, our business will be materially and adversely impacted.
- We are dependent on third parties that we enter into agreements with to manufacture and distribute products for us and for other essential services and to whom we license our intellectual property rights.
- Our inability to anticipate and respond to market trends and changes in consumer preferences could adversely affect our financial results.
- Any damage to our reputation or brands may materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- The drug regulatory approval processes of the FDA and comparable foreign authorities are lengthy, time-consuming and inherently unpredictable, and if we are required to seek and obtain any regulatory approvals that may be required for our products, we may be unable to obtain or maintain such regulatory approvals, which would substantially harm our business.
- Our products containing the active ingredient, hydroquinone are marketed as prescription-use only drugs but have not received marketing authorization from the FDA or other regulatory authorities, and the FDA could require us to obtain an NDA for these products, which would require a significant investment of time and money, and could prohibit us from continuing to sell such products until the NDA is approved.
- Our products may cause adverse events or side effects, or could be associated with safety issues, that could result in recalls, withdrawals, or regulatory enforcement action.
- Failure to obtain regulatory approvals in foreign jurisdictions would prevent us from marketing our products internationally.
- We are dependent on information technology systems and infrastructure; failure to protect sensitive information of our consumers and information technology systems against security breaches could damage our reputation and brand and substantially harm our business.
- Our business is subject to complex and evolving U.S. and foreign laws and regulations regarding privacy and data protection. Many of these laws and regulations are subject to change and uncertain interpretation, and any failure or perceived failure to comply could result in claims, changes to our business practices, monetary penalties or increased costs of operations, or otherwise could harm our business.
- If we are unable to protect our proprietary rights, we may not be able to compete effectively.
- We and our manufacturers and suppliers license certain product and device technologies from third parties. If these licenses are breached, terminated or disputed, our ability to commercialize products dependent on these technologies and patents may be compromised.

- To grow, we will need to increase the size of our organization, and we may encounter difficulties managing our growth, which could adversely affect our results of operations.

Risks Related to Milk

Unless the context otherwise requires, all references in this subsection to “we,” “us” or “our” refer to the business of Milk and its subsidiaries prior to the consummation of the Business Combination, which will be a business indirectly owned by Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination.

- The cosmetics industry is highly competitive, and if we are unable to compete effectively, our results will suffer.
- Any damage to our reputation or brand or dilution of our brand uniqueness may materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- We may be unable to grow our business effectively or efficiently, which would harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- We rely on a number of third-party suppliers, distributors and other vendors, and they may not continue to produce products or provide services that are consistent with our standards or applicable regulatory requirements, which could harm our brand, cause consumer dissatisfaction and require us to find alternative suppliers of our products.
- We maintain single supply relationships for certain key components, and our business and operating results could be harmed if supply is restricted or ends, or the price of raw materials used in our manufacturing process increases.
- The loss of a significant reseller could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- A negative reputation event to any of our retail partners could cause a decline in our net revenues or a reduction in our earnings.
- We have growing operations in China, which exposes us to risks inherent in doing business in that country.
- New laws, regulations, enforcement trends or changes in existing regulations governing the introduction, marketing and sale of our products to consumers could harm our business.
- We are involved, and may become involved in the future, in disputes and other legal or regulatory proceedings, including an ongoing legal proceeding involving our founders, that, if adversely decided or settled, could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- Use of social media may materially and adversely affect our reputation or subject us to fines or other penalties.
- Our business could be negatively impacted by reputational attacks on our brand, founders or employees, whether founded or unfounded.

Risks Related to Waldencast and Waldencast plc

Unless the context otherwise requires, all references in this subsection to the “Company,” “we,” “us” or “our” refer to Waldencast prior to the consummation of the Business Combination or Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination.

- Based on recent market trends, in the event that Waldencast’s stock price is at, around or below $10.00 per share during the redemption period, there will likely be significant redemptions by Waldencast’s public shareholders in connection with the Business Combination, resulting in a greater risk that the Obagi Minimum Cash Conditions or Milk Minimum Cash Conditions will not be met, or that there will be a reduced amount of cash available to Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination and as a result, would likely require Waldencast plc to obtain additional financing in order to fund its planned operations to the point where Waldencast plc’s business is generating positive cash flows.
- The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how Waldencast’s public shareholders vote.

- We may be forced to close the Business Combination even if we determine it is no longer in our shareholders' best interest.
- Since the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and executive officers have interests that are different, or in addition to (and which may conflict with), the interests of our shareholders, a conflict of interest may have existed in determining whether the Business Combination with Obagi and Milk is appropriate as our initial business combination. Such interests include that the Sponsor will lose its entire investment in us if the Business Combination is not completed.
- The exercise of Waldencast's directors' and executive officers' discretion in agreeing to changes or waivers in the terms of the Business Combination may result in a conflict of interest when determining whether such changes to the terms of the Business Combination or waivers of conditions are appropriate and in Waldencast's shareholders' best interest.
- We, Obagi and Milk will incur significant transaction and transition costs in connection with the Business Combination.
- The Transactions may be completed even though material adverse effects may result from the announcement of the Transactions, industry-wide changes and other causes.
- If the benefits of the Business Combination do not meet the expectations of investors or securities analysts, the market price of, prior to the Business Combination, Waldencast's securities or, following the Business Combination, Waldencast plc's securities, may decline.
- The announcement of the proposed Business Combination could disrupt Obagi's, Milk's and/or Waldencast plc's relationships with its customers, suppliers, business partners and others, as well as its operating results and business generally.
- We may make investments into or acquire other companies, which could divert our management's attention, result in dilution to our shareholders and otherwise disrupt our operations, and we may have difficulty integrating any such acquisitions successfully or realizing the anticipated benefits therefrom, any of which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- We may face risks related to companies in the beauty and skincare industries.
- Delays in completing the Transactions may substantially reduce the expected benefits of the Transactions.
- We are subject to risks related to our dependency on our directors and officers and, following the consummation of the Business Combination, will be subject to risks related to our dependency on key personnel, employees and independent contractors of Obagi and Milk, including highly skilled technical experts, as well as risks related to attracting, retaining and developing human capital in a highly competitive market.
- We will incur increased costs as a result of becoming a public company.
- Subsequent to consummation of the Business Combination, we may be exposed to unknown or contingent liabilities and may be required to subsequently take write-downs or write-offs, restructuring and impairment or other charges that could have a significant negative effect on our financial condition, results of operations and the price of our securities, which could cause you to lose some or all of your investment.
- Investors may not have the same benefits as an investor in an underwritten public offering.
- The board of directors of Waldencast did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in determining whether or not to proceed with the Business Combination.
- The historical financial results of Obagi and Milk and unaudited pro forma financial information included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus may not be indicative of what Waldencast plc's actual financial position or results of operations would have been.
- Following the consummation of the Business Combination, our only significant asset will be our ownership interest in Obagi and Milk and such ownership may not be sufficient to pay dividends or make distributions or loans to enable us to pay any dividends on Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or satisfy our other financial obligations.

- The Sponsor may elect to purchase shares or warrants from public shareholders prior to the consummation of the Business Combination, which may influence the vote on the Business Combination and reduce the public “float” of our securities.
- If third parties bring claims against us, the proceeds held in the trust account could be reduced and the per-share redemption amount received by shareholders may be less than $10.00 per share (which was the offering price per unit in our initial public offering).
- If, after we distribute the proceeds in the trust account to our public shareholders, Waldencast files a winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition or an involuntary winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, a bankruptcy court may seek to recover such proceeds, and the members of our board of directors may be viewed as having breached their fiduciary duties, thereby exposing the members of our board of directors and us to claims of damages.
- If, before distributing the proceeds in the trust account to our public shareholders, we file a winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition or an involuntary winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, the claims of creditors in such proceeding may have priority over the claims of our shareholders and the per-share amount that would otherwise be received by our shareholders in connection with our liquidation may be reduced.
- Our shareholders may be held liable for claims by third parties against us to the extent of distributions received by them upon redemption of their shares.
- The public shareholders will experience immediate dilution as a consequence of the issuance of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares as consideration in the Business Combination, the PIPE Investment and the Forward Purchase Transaction and due to future issuances pursuant to the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan and, potentially, the Promissory Note. Having a minority share position may reduce the influence that our current stockholders have on the management of Waldencast plc.
- Warrants will become exercisable for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, which would increase the number of shares eligible for future resale in the public market and result in dilution to our shareholders.
- Even if the Business Combination is consummated, we may amend the terms of the warrants in a manner that may be adverse to holders with the approval by the holders of at least 65% of the then outstanding public warrants.
- We may redeem your unexpired warrants prior to their exercise at a time that is disadvantageous to you, thereby making your warrants worthless.
- Nasdaq may not list Waldencast plc’s securities on its exchange, which could limit investors’ ability to make transactions in Waldencast plc’s securities and subject Waldencast plc to additional trading restrictions.
- Waldencast’s, Obagi’s and Milk’s ability to consummate the Business Combination, and the operations of Waldencast plc following the Business Combination, may be materially adversely affected by the COVID-19 pandemic and other events.
- Waldencast has identified material weaknesses in its internal control over financial reporting as of September 30, 2021. If Waldencast is unable to develop and maintain an effective system of internal control over financial reporting, Waldencast may not be able to accurately report its financial results in a timely manner, which may adversely affect investor confidence in Waldencast and materially and adversely affect Waldencast’s business and operating results.
- Waldencast and, following the Business Combination, Obagi and Milk, may face litigation and other risks as a result of the material weaknesses in Waldencast’s internal control over financial reporting.
- Waldencast’s warrants are accounted for as derivative liabilities with changes in fair value each period included in earnings, which may have an adverse effect on the market price of our securities.
- Foreign currency exchange rate fluctuations and restrictions on the repatriation of cash could adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

- Following the Business Combination, Waldencast plc will be subject to the U.K. Bribery Act, the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and other anti-corruption laws and anti-money laundering laws. Failure to comply with these laws could subject us to penalties and other adverse consequence.
- Your rights and responsibilities as a shareholder will be governed by Jersey law, which differs in some material respects with respect to the rights and responsibilities of shareholders of U.S. companies.
- It may be difficult to enforce a U.S. judgment against us or our directors and officers outside the U.S., or to assert U.S. securities law claims outside the U.S.
- Waldencast plc's only material asset will be its indirect interest in Waldencast LP, and Waldencast plc will be accordingly dependent upon distributions from Waldencast LP to pay dividends, taxes and other expenses.
- Any disparity between the U.S. corporate tax rate and the U.S. tax rate applicable to non-corporate Members of Waldencast LP may complicate Waldencast plc's ability to maintain its intended capital structure, which could impose transaction costs on it and require management attention.
- The price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and warrants may be volatile.
- If analysts do not publish research about Waldencast plc's business or if they publish inaccurate or unfavorable research, Waldencast plc's stock price and trading volume could decline.
- A market for our securities may not develop or be sustained, which would adversely affect the liquidity and price of our securities.
- Any legal proceedings, investigations or claims against us could be costly and time-consuming to defend and could harm our reputation regardless of the outcome. In addition, our business and operations could be negatively affected if they become subject to any securities litigation or shareholder activism, which could cause us to incur significant expense, hinder execution of business and growth strategy and impact our share price.
- Future resales of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares after the consummation of the Business Combination may cause the market price of Waldencast plc's securities to drop significantly, even if Waldencast plc's business is doing well.
- The obligations associated with being the publicly traded entity in the "Up-C" structure will involve significant expenses and will require significant resources and management attention, which may divert from Waldencast plc's business operations.
- Compliance obligations under the Sarbanes-Oxley Act may make it more difficult for us to effectuate the Business Combination, require substantial financial and management resources and increase the time and costs of completing a business combination.
- We are currently an emerging growth company within the meaning of the Securities Act, and to the extent we have taken advantage of certain exemptions from disclosure requirements available to emerging growth companies, this could make our securities less attractive to investors and may make it more difficult to compare our performance with other public companies.
- As a foreign private issuer, we are exempt from a number of rules under the U.S. securities laws and are permitted to file less information with the SEC than a U.S. company. This may limit the information available to holders of the ordinary shares.
- As a foreign private issuer, we are permitted to rely on exemptions from certain stock exchange corporate governance standards. As a result, our shareholders may be afforded less protection than shareholders of companies that are subject to all corporate governance requirements of the Exchange Act and U.S. stock exchanges.
- We may lose our foreign private issuer status in the future, which could result in significant additional cost and expense.

SELECTED UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL INFORMATION

The following summary unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial data (the “summary pro forma data”) gives effect to the Business Combination contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement described in the section entitled “Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information.”

The summary unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet data as of September 30, 2021 gives pro forma effect to the Business Combination as if it had occurred on September 30, 2021. The summary unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations data for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 and for the year ended December 31, 2020 give pro forma effect to the Business Combination as if it had occurred on January 1, 2020.

The summary pro forma data have been derived from, and should be read in conjunction with, the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information of the combined company appearing elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus and the accompanying notes. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information is based upon, and should be read in conjunction with, the historical consolidated financial statements of Waldencast, Obagi and Milk and related notes included in this proxy statement/ prospectus. The summary pro forma data have been presented for informational purposes only and are not necessarily indicative of what the combined company’s financial position or results of operations actually would have been had the Business Combination been completed as of the dates indicated. In addition, the summary pro forma data do not purport to project the future financial position or operating results of the combined company.

The following table presents summary pro forma data after giving effect to the Business Combination, assuming two redemption scenarios as follows:

- Assuming No Redemptions: This scenario assumes that none of Waldencast’s shareholders elect to redeem their Class A ordinary shares for a pro rata portion of cash in the Trust Account, and thus the full amount of the approximately $345.0 million held in the Trust Account is available for the Business Combination.
- Assuming Maximum Redemptions: There is no specified Maximum Redemptions threshold; however, the Closing is conditioned upon minimum closing available cash of $565.0 million (calculated as the cash in the trust account after giving effect to redemptions, plus the PIPE Investment, the FPA proceeds and the cash and cash equivalents of Waldencast prior to closing) which does not result in 100% redemptions. Hence, this scenario assumes that Waldencast’s shareholders will redeem 21,984,625 shares of Class A ordinary shares for aggregate redemption payments of $219.9 million. The number of public redemption shares of 21,984,625 shares was calculated based on the estimated per share redemption value of $10.00 ($345.0 million of cash from trust account divided at September 30, 2021 by 34,500,000 outstanding Waldencast public shares).

RISK FACTORS

In addition to the other information contained in this proxy statement/prospectus, including the matters addressed under the heading “Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements,” you should carefully consider the following risk factors in deciding how to vote on the proposals presented in this proxy statement/prospectus. The risk factors described below disclose both material and other risks, and are not intended to be exhaustive and are not the only risks facing us. Additional risks not currently known to us or that we currently deem to be immaterial, or which are not identified because they are generally common to businesses, also may materially adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows in future periods. You are encouraged to perform your own investigation with respect to our business, financial condition and prospects.

Risks Related to Obagi

Unless the context otherwise requires, all references in this subsection to “we,” “us” or “our” refer to the business of Obagi and its subsidiaries prior to the consummation of the Business Combination, which will be a business indirectly owned by Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination. The occurrence of one or more of the events or circumstances described in these risk factors, alone or in combination with other events or circumstances, may have a material adverse effect on the business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and future prospects of Waldencast plc, in which event the market price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares could decline, and you could lose part or all of your investment.

Risks Related to Obagi’s Business and Industry

Public health emergencies, epidemics or pandemics, such as COVID-19, have had, and could in the future have, an adverse impact on our operations and financial condition.

Public health emergencies, epidemics or pandemics have had, and could in the future have, an adverse impact on Obagi’s operations and financial condition. The continuing pandemic caused by COVID-19 has caused many countries, including the U.S., to declare national emergencies and implement preventive measures such as travel bans and shelter in place or total lock-down orders. Our net revenue was materially and adversely affected in the first two quarters of 2020, as many of our physician customers were required to close their practices for several weeks, which greatly diminished demand for our products. Although some of these customers have now established websites to be able to provide products to their patients through online sales, any re-implementation of similar restrictions could have a material impact on our future net revenue.

In addition, the COVID-19 pandemic has caused us to modify our business practices, including accelerating the launch of a redesigned website to enable us to sell our own products online, creating an e-commerce platform to enable our physician customers to sell Obagi products online to their patients, designing a Door-Step Delivery Program for our customers’ patients, and investing in our Helping Hands program to provide free hand sanitizer to healthcare professionals. Obagi may take further actions as may be required by government authorities or as we determine are in the best interests of our employees, customers and their patients, any of which may require unanticipated investments in management time and money.

While the impact of COVID-19 on Obagi’s manufacturing and supply chain, sales and marketing, and commercial and clinical trial operations, to date has not been material, the impact of COVID-19 on Obagi over the long term is uncertain and cannot be predicted with confidence. The extent of the adverse impact of COVID-19 on our operations will depend on the extent and severity of the continued spread of COVID-19 globally, the timing and nature of actions taken to respond to COVID-19 and the resulting economic consequences.

Our sales and profitability may suffer if ongoing economic uncertainties in any of our major markets inhibit people from spending their disposable income on aesthetic and skin health products.

Virtually all of our products are purchased based on consumer choice due to the fact that our products are generally considered cosmetic in nature and not covered by health insurance policies. As a result, they are typically paid for directly by the customer out of disposable income and are not subject to reimbursement by third-party payors such as health insurers. Adverse changes in the economy, such as the recent recession or ongoing economic uncertainties, could accordingly have a significant negative effect on consumer spending for these products. If consumers reassess their spending choices, the demand for these products could decline significantly. If demand declines significantly in our major markets, such as North America, Asia and the Middle East, it would have a material adverse effect on our sales and profitability.

The loss of a significant customer could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We sell our products in the U.S. to healthcare professionals through an authorized wholesale distributor, Boxout Health. Under this model, we sell the products to Boxout Health, which then sells the products through to our physician customers when they order them. As a result, Boxout Health accounted for approximately 34.4% of our net revenue in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, and 54.1% and 61.0% of our net revenue during the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. Our agreement with Boxout Health does not contain any minimum purchase requirements on its part. Accordingly, we do not have any guarantees regarding the quantity of each of our products that Boxout Health will order each quarter. We provide Boxout Health with forecasts of demand for our products from our physician customers, however, our forecasts may not always accurately assess demand for one or more products during any given quarter, which may affect subsequent orders for the affected products from them. Our e-commerce partners and international distributors purchase our products directly from us. One of our distributors in Southeast Asia, Gevie, Inc. together with its affiliate, Lemed, Inc. (collectively, the “SA Distributor”), accounted for approximately 27.7% of our net revenue in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, and 8.1% and 9.9% of our net revenue during the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. Our agreement with the SA Distributor grants the SA Distributor the exclusive right to distribute our products in Vietnam and South Korea, contains minimum purchase requirements and has a term that expires on December 31, 2026. In January 2022, we executed an amendment with the SA Distributor to expand the countries within Southeast Asia in which it may distribute our products. Accordingly, our sales to such distributor may comprise an even greater proportion of our net revenue in the future. We are currently in discussions with the SA Distributor to expand the countries in Southeast Asia in which it may distribute our products. In the event that we do grant the SA Distributor the right to distribute products in additional countries, our sales to such distributor may comprise an even greater proportion of our net revenue in the future.

We face intense competition, in some cases from companies that have significantly greater resources than we do, which could limit our ability to generate sales and/or render our products obsolete.

The market for aesthetic and therapeutic skin health products is highly competitive and we expect the intensity of competition to increase in the future. We also expect to encounter increased competition as we enter new markets and/or distribution channels, attempt to penetrate existing markets with new products and expand into new distribution channels. We may not be able to compete effectively in these markets, may face significant pricing pressure from our competitors and may lose market share to our competitors. Our principal competitors are large, well-established companies in the fields of pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, medical devices and health care. Our largest direct competitors include SkinCeuticals, a division of L’Oreal S.A., SkinMedica, Inc., a division of Allergan, Inc., ZO Skin Health, a majority of which is owned by Blackstone Tactical Opportunities, and PCA Skin and EltaMD, each a division of Colgate-Palmolive.

Our indirect competitors for Obagi Medical® products and direct competitors for our Obagi Clinical products sell skincare products directly to consumers, and generally consist of large well known cosmetic companies, including, but not limited to, La Roche-Posay Laboratoire Dermatologique SAS, Dermalogica, Inc., Murad Inc. and dermatologist backed brands, such as Dr. Dennis Gross Skincare, LLC. We also face competition from medical device companies offering products to physicians that are used to enhance the skin’s appearance.

Many of these competitors have significantly greater resources than we have. This enables them, among other things, to make greater research and development investments and spread their research and development costs, as well as their marketing and promotional costs, over a broader revenue base. It is also possible that developments by our competitors could make our products or technologies less competitive or obsolete. The treatment of skin conditions and the enhancement of the appearance of skin are the subjects of active research and development by many potential competitors, including major pharmaceutical companies and specialized biotechnology firms, such as those listed above, as well as universities and other research institutions. Competitive advances may also include the potential development of new laser or radio frequency therapies to treat hyperpigmentation and photodamaged skin. While we intend to expand our technological capabilities to remain competitive, research and development by others may result in the introduction of new products by competitors that represent substantial improvements over our existing products. If that occurs, sales of our existing products could decline rapidly. Similarly, if we fail to make sufficient investments in research and development programs, our current and planned products could be surpassed by more effective or advanced products developed by our competitors.

Our revenues and financial results depend significantly on sales of our Obagi Nu-Derm products. If we are unable to manufacture or sell the Nu-Derm products in sufficient quantities and in a timely manner, or maintain physician and/or patient acceptance of Nu-Derm products, our business will be materially and adversely impacted.

To date, a substantial portion of our revenues have resulted from sales of our principal product line, the Obagi Nu-Derm System and related products. Nu-Derm products accounted for approximately 28.0% of net revenue for the nine months ended September 30, 2021. Such products represented 32.6% and 37.1% of our net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. Although we currently offer other products such as Obagi-C Rx, Professional-C, ELASTIderm, CLENZIderm, Blue Peel products and our Obagi Clinical line, and intend to introduce additional new products, we still expect sales of our Obagi Nu-Derm System and related products to account for a substantial portion of our sales for the foreseeable future. Because our business is highly dependent on Nu-Derm products, factors adversely affecting the pricing of, or demand for, these products could have a material and adverse effect on our business.

Sales of our Obagi Nu-Derm products also experience seasonality. We believe this is due to variability in patient compliance that relates to several factors such as a tendency to travel and/or engage in other disruptive activities during the summer months. Additionally, our commercial success depends in large part on our ability to sustain market acceptance of the Nu-Derm System. If existing users of our products determine that our products do not satisfy their requirements, if our competitors develop a product that is perceived by patients or physicians to better satisfy their respective requirements, or if state or federal regulations or enforcement actions prohibit sales of the Nu-Derm System, individual products within the system, or any related products, sales of these products may decline, and our total net revenue may correspondingly decline. We cannot assure you that we will be able to continue to manufacture these products in commercial quantities at acceptable costs. Our inability to do so would adversely affect our operating results and cause our business to suffer.

We are dependent on third parties that we enter into agreements with to manufacture and distribute products for us and for other essential services and to whom we license our intellectual property rights.

We currently outsource all our product manufacturing to third-party contract manufacturers. We have two or more qualified manufacturers for some of our key products, however, certain products, including some of our sun protection products, are currently supplied by a single source. In the event that such a sole source supplier or any of our other third-party manufacturers terminates its supply arrangement with us, experiences financial difficulties, encounters regulatory or quality assurance issues, experiences a significant disruption in supply of raw materials or components for our products or suffers any damage to its facilities, we may experience delays in securing sufficient amounts of our products, which could harm our business, reputation and relationships with customers.

Bausch Health, which formerly owned the business of Obagi, is our only supplier and manufacturer of tretinoin. We have a contract with Bausch Health that has an initial termination date in 2027. While there are several other manufacturers of generic tretinoin, the termination of this agreement or any loss of services under the agreement could be difficult for us to replace upon the same favorable terms.

We expect to continue to rely on third parties to produce materials required for clinical trials and for the commercial production of our products. However, there are a limited number of third-party manufacturers that operate under the FDA's current Good Manufacturing Practices ("cGMPs") regulations and that have the necessary expertise and capacity to manufacture our products. As a result, in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, we purchased approximately 50% and 6% of our products from G.S. Cosmeceutical USA Inc. ("G.S. Cosmeceutical") and Swiss America CDMO LLC ("Swiss"), respectively. In the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, we purchased approximately 50% and 49% of our product inventory from G.S. Cosmeceuticals, respectively, and approximately 12% and 11% from Swiss, respectively. In the event one of these suppliers terminates its arrangement with us, it may be difficult for us to locate alternate manufacturers for our anticipated future needs. If we are unable to arrange for third-party manufacturing of our products, or to do so on commercially reasonable terms, we may not be able to complete development of, market and sell our new products.

Reliance on third-party manufacturers entails risks to which we would not be subject if we manufactured products ourselves, including reliance on the third party for regulatory compliance and quality assurance. To the extent that any of our third-party manufacturers fails to comply with regulatory requirements or encounters quality assurance issues, we may experience an interruption in the supply of products, which could impair our customer relationships and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, reliance on third-party manufacturers subjects us to the possibility of breach of the manufacturing agreement by the third party, and the possibility of termination or non-renewal of the agreement by the third party. Dependence upon third parties for the manufacture of our products may also reduce our profit margins or the sale of our products, and may limit our ability to develop and deliver products on a timely and competitive basis.

We have also outsourced the distribution of our products to Boxout Health for our physician-dispensed sales as well as to third-party logistics providers, who store and distribute our products to our international distributors and retail and spa customers. The failure of one or more of these entities to provide the expected services on a timely basis, or at all, or at the prices we expect, or the costs and disruption incurred in changing these outsourced functions to being performed under our management and direct control or that of a third party, may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. We are not party to long-term contracts with any of these parties, and upon expiration of these existing agreements, we may not be able to renegotiate the terms on a commercially reasonable basis, or at all.

Further, our third-party manufacturers and other third-party service providers may:

- have economic or business interests or goals that are inconsistent with ours;
- take actions contrary to our instructions, requests, policies or objectives;
- be unable or unwilling to fulfill their obligations to comply with applicable regulations, including those regarding the safety and quality of products and ingredients and good manufacturing practices;
- have financial difficulties;
- encounter raw material or labor shortages;
- encounter increases in raw material or labor costs that may affect our procurement costs;
- disclose our confidential information or intellectual property to competitors or third parties;
- engage in activities or employ practices that may harm our reputation; and
- work with, be acquired by, or come under control of, our competitors.

The occurrence of any of these events, alone or together, could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, such problems may require us to find new manufacturers or other third-party service providers, and there can be no assurance that we would be successful in finding third-party suppliers, manufacturers or distributors meeting our standards of innovation and quality.

The management and oversight of the engagement and activities of our manufacturers and other third-party service providers require substantial time and effort from our employees, and we may be unable to successfully manage and oversee such activities.

In connection with the Obagi China Distribution, we will license our trademarks and product formulas to Obagi Hong Kong for commercialization in the China Region. The failure of Obagi Hong Kong, or any other third-party manufacturer, service provider or other entity that licenses our product formulas, to comply with our quality standards and other controls, could materially and adversely affect our financial condition and operating results. Our licensees or others may dispute the scope of their rights under any of these licenses. Our licensees under these licenses may breach the terms of their respective agreements. Loss or breach of any of these licenses for any reason could materially and adversely affect our financial condition and operating results. Any dispute with a licensee could be complex, expensive and time-consuming, and an outcome adverse to us could materially and adversely affect our business and impair our ability to commercialize our licensed products.

If we fail to manage our inventory effectively, our results of operations, financial condition and liquidity may be materially and adversely affected.

Our business requires us to manage a large volume of inventory effectively. We depend on our forecasts of demand for, and popularity of, various products to make purchase decisions and to manage our inventory of stock-keeping units. Demand for products, however, can change significantly between the time inventory or components are ordered and the date of sale. Demand may be affected by new product launches, changes in customer and consumer preferences or spending patterns, changes in product cycles and pricing, product defects and promotions, and our customers may not purchase products in the quantities that we expect. It may be difficult to accurately forecast demand and determine appropriate levels of product or components.

If we overestimate demand, we may be required to write-off inventories and increase our reserves for product returns. If we underestimate demand, we may not have sufficient inventory of products to ship to our customers. Our products have expiration dates that generally range from 24 to 36 months from the date of manufacture. We establish reserves for potentially excess, dated or otherwise impaired inventories. However, we may not be able to accurately estimate the reserve requirement that will be needed in the future. Although our estimates are reviewed quarterly for reasonableness, our product return activity could differ significantly from our estimates. Judgment is required in estimating these reserves and we rely on data from third parties, including, but not limited to, distributor forecasts and independent market research reports. The actual amounts could be different from our estimates, and differences are accounted for in the period in which they become known. If we determine that the actual amounts exceed our reserve amounts, we will record a charge to earnings to approximate the difference. A material reduction in earnings resulting from a charge would have a material adverse effect on our net income, results of operations and financial condition.

Our inability to anticipate and respond to market trends and changes in consumer preferences could adversely affect our financial results.

Our continued success depends on our ability to anticipate and react in a timely and cost-effective manner to changes in consumer preferences for skincare products. We must continually work to develop, manufacture and market new products and create product line extensions for existing and emerging or new distribution channels. The development of new products and line extensions requires significant commitments of personnel and financial resources, and we cannot assure you that these products will be commercially successful. We reevaluate our development efforts regularly to assess whether our efforts to develop a particular new product or technology are progressing at a rate that justifies our continued expenditures. On the basis of these reevaluations, we have abandoned in the past, and may abandon in the future, our efforts on a particular product or technology. If we fail to take any product or technology from the development stage to market on a timely basis or fail to gain successful market adoption of such product, we may incur significant expenses without a near-term or any financial return.

In addition, we must continually monitor attitudes toward our industry and product lines, as well as where and how consumers shop to satisfy changing consumer preferences. To remain competitive, we must maintain and enhance the recognition of our brands in existing and new distribution channels, achieve a favorable mix of products among these channels, successfully manage our inventories, and modernize and refine our approach as to how and where we market and sell our products. We recognize that consumer preferences cannot be predicted with certainty and can change rapidly, driven by the use of digital and social media by consumers and the speed by which information and opinions are shared. If we are unable to anticipate and respond to sudden challenges that we may face in the marketplace, trends in the market for our products and changing consumer demands and sentiment, our financial results will suffer. In addition, from time to time, sales growth or profitability may be concentrated in a relatively small number of products, channels or countries. If such a situation persists or a number of our products, channels or countries fail to perform as expected, there could be a material adverse effect on our business.

In key markets, such as the U.S., we have seen a shift in consumer preference to the online channel, which accelerated in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. During this time, we saw our sales becoming increasingly dependent on key e-commerce retailers, which could result in an increased risk related to the concentration of our customers. A severe, adverse impact on the business operations of our customers could have a corresponding material adverse effect on us.

Our new product introductions may not be as successful as we anticipate.

We have an established process for the development, evaluation and validation of our new product concepts. Nonetheless, each new product launch involves risks, as well as the possibility of unexpected consequences. For example, the acceptance of new product launches and sales to our customers may not be as high as we anticipate, due to lack of acceptance of the products themselves or their price, or limited effectiveness of our marketing strategies. In addition, our ability to launch new products may be limited by delays or difficulties affecting the ability of our suppliers or manufacturers to timely manufacture, distribute and ship new products or displays for new products. Sales of new products may be affected by inventory management by our customers, and we may experience product shortages. We may also experience a decrease in sales of certain existing products as a result of newly launched products. Any of these occurrences could delay or impede our ability to achieve our sales objectives, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

As part of our ongoing business strategy, we expect we will continue to develop new products, potentially in new categories, expand our brand further into the consumer and spa channels, build and execute a global e-commerce platform and expand our presence in key large international markets. Any expansion into new product categories, channels or markets may prove to be an operational and financial constraint that inhibits our ability to successfully accomplish such expansion. Our inability to introduce successful products in our traditional categories or in adjacent categories and channels could limit our future growth and have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Any damage to our reputation or brands may materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We believe that developing and maintaining our brands is critical and that our financial success is directly dependent on consumer perception of our brands. Furthermore, the importance of brand recognition may become even greater as competitors offer more products similar to ours.

Many factors, some of which are beyond our control, are important to maintaining our reputation and brands. These factors include our ability to comply with ethical, social, product, labor and environmental standards. Any actual or perceived failure in compliance with such standards could damage our reputation and brands. The growth of our brands depends largely on our ability to provide a high-quality consumer experience, which in turn depends on our ability to bring innovative, effective products to the market at competitive prices that respond to consumer demands and preferences. If we are unable to preserve our reputation, enhance our brand recognition or increase positive awareness of our products, it may be difficult for us to maintain and grow our consumer base, and our business, financial condition and results of operations may be materially and adversely affected.

The success of our brands may also suffer if our marketing plans or product initiatives do not have the desired impact on our brands' image or our ability to attract consumers. Further, our brand value could diminish significantly due to a number of factors, including consumer perception that we have acted in an irresponsible manner, adverse publicity about our products, our failure to maintain the quality of our products, product contamination, the failure of our products to deliver consistently positive consumer experiences, or the products becoming unavailable to consumers.

Our failure to successfully in-license or acquire additional products and technologies would impair our ability to grow.

We intend to in-license, acquire, develop and market new products and technologies. Because we have limited internal research capabilities, our business model depends in part on our ability to license patents, products and/or technologies from third parties. The success of this strategy also depends upon our ability and the ability of our third-party formulators to formulate products under such licenses, as well as our ability to manufacture, market and sell such licensed products.

We may not be able to successfully identify any new products to in-license, acquire or internally develop. Moreover, negotiating and implementing an economically viable acquisition is a lengthy and complex process. Other companies, including those with substantially greater financial, marketing and sales resources, may compete with us for the acquisition of products. We may not be able to acquire or in-license the rights to such products on terms that we find acceptable, or at all. As a result, our ability to grow our business or increase our profits could be adversely impacted.

Risks Related to International Business and Business Combinations

We are subject to risks associated with doing business internationally.

Our international sales currently depend upon the marketing efforts of and sales by certain distributors and licensees, particularly Rohto Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd. ("Rohto"), a licensee of certain trademarks for the retail drug store channel in Japan, from whom we receive royalties that accounted for approximately 3.1% of our net revenue for the nine months ended September 30, 2021. Royalties from Rohto accounted for 7.0% and 5.4% of net revenue during the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and 9.2% and 7.0% of our gross margin for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. Because incremental costs associated with this agreement are minimal, a material decline in licensing revenues from or termination of this agreement would have a material adverse effect on our net income. In addition, one of our international distributors in Southeast Asia accounted for approximately 27.7% of our net revenue in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, and 8.1% and 9.9% of our net revenue during the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. The loss of this distributor could have a material adverse impact on our net income.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

In addition, our future growth is dependent on our ability to continue to expand our presence in international markets and our business is and may increasingly be subject to certain risks inherent in international business, many of which are beyond our control. These risks include:

- adverse changes in tariff and trade protection measures;
- unexpected changes or differences in foreign regulatory requirements;
- potentially negative consequences from changes in tax laws;
- the potential business failure of one or more of our distribution partners;
- changing economic conditions in countries where our products are sold or manufactured;
- exchange rate risks;
- potential political unrest and hostilities;
- potential natural disasters in countries where our products are sold;
- differing degrees of protection for intellectual property; and
- difficulties in coordinating foreign distribution.

Any of these factors could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. We cannot assure you that we can successfully manage these risks or avoid their effects.

Potential business combinations could require significant management attention and prove difficult to integrate with our business, which could distract our management, disrupt our business and adversely affect our operating results.

If we become aware of potential business combination candidates that are complementary to our business, we may decide to combine with such businesses or acquire their assets in the future.

Business combinations generally involve a number of additional difficulties and risks to our business, including:

- failure to integrate management information systems, personnel, research and development and marketing, operations, sales and support;
- disruption of our ongoing business and diversion of management's attention from other business matters;
- potential loss of the acquired company's customers;
- failure to develop further the acquired company's technology;
- unanticipated costs and liabilities; and
- other accounting consequences.

In addition, we may not realize benefits from any business combination that we undertake in the future. If we fail to successfully integrate such businesses, or the technologies associated with such business combinations into our company, the revenue and operating results of the combined company could be adversely affected. Any integration process would require significant time and resources, and we may not be able to manage the process successfully. If our customers are uncertain about our ability to operate on a combined basis, they could delay or cancel orders for our products. We may not successfully evaluate or utilize the acquired technology or accurately forecast the financial impact of a combination, including accounting charges or volatility in the stock price of the combined entity. If we fail to successfully integrate other companies with which we may combine, our business could be adversely affected.

Risks Related to Legal and Regulatory Matters

Laws, regulations, enforcement trends or changes in existing regulations governing the introduction, marketing and sale of our over-the-counter ("OTC") drug and cosmetic products to consumers could harm our business.

Our products are subject to regulation by the FDA, the Federal Trade Commission (the "FTC") and comparable state, local and foreign regulatory authorities, and over time, the regulatory landscape for our products has become more complex with increasingly strict requirements. If the laws and regulations governing our products continue to change, we may find it necessary to alter some of the ways we have traditionally marketed our products to stay in compliance with applicable regulations, and this could add to the costs of our operations and have a material adverse effect on our business. To the extent federal, state, local or foreign regulatory requirements regarding consumer protection, or the ingredients, claims or safety of our products continue to change in the future, such changes could require us to reformulate or discontinue certain products, revise the product packaging or labeling, or adjust operations and systems, any of which could result in, among other things, increased costs, delays in product launches, product returns or recalls and lower net sales, and therefore could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Noncompliance with applicable regulations could result in enforcement action by the FDA or other regulatory authorities within or outside the U.S., including, but not limited to, product seizures, injunctions, product recalls, and criminal or civil monetary penalties, all of which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

In the U.S., with the exception of color additives, the FDA does not currently require premarket approval for or premarket review of products intended to be sold as cosmetics. However, the FDA may in the future require premarket approval, clearance or registration/notification of cosmetic products, establishments or manufacturing facilities. The statutory and regulatory requirements applicable to drugs are extensive and require significant resources and time to ensure compliance. The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (“FDCA”) defines cosmetics, in relevant part, as “articles intended to be rubbed, poured, sprinkled, or sprayed on, introduced into, or otherwise applied to the human body . . . for cleansing, beautifying, promoting attractiveness, or altering the appearance.” The term “drug,” in contrast, is defined by reference to its intended use, as “articles intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease” and “articles (other than food) intended to affect the structure or any function of the body of man or other animals.” Therefore, almost any ingested or topical or injectable product that, through its label or labeling (including Internet websites, promotional pamphlets, and other marketing material), is claimed to be beneficial for such uses will be regulated by the FDA as a drug. This definition also includes components of drugs, such as active pharmaceutical ingredients. Drug products must generally either receive premarket approval from the FDA or conform to a “monograph” for a particular drug category, as established by the FDA’s OTC Drug Review process, which has been subject to recent reforms pursuant to the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (“CARES Act”).

In the European Union (the “EU”), cosmetics are subject to notification through the Cosmetic Products Notification Portal by the company responsible for placing them on the EU market. A cosmetic is defined as “any substance or mixture intended to be placed in contact with the external parts of the human body (epidermis, hair, nails, lips and external genital organs) or with the teeth and the mucous membranes of the oral cavity with a view exclusively or mainly to cleaning them, perfuming them, changing their appearance, protecting them, keeping them in good condition or correcting body odours.” Consequently, a product is notably considered to be a cosmetic if it is presented as protecting the skin, maintaining the skin in good condition or improving the appearance of the skin, provided that it is not a medicinal product due to its composition or intended use. In the EU, the composition of a cosmetic may not be such that it has a significant effect on the body through a pharmacological, immunological or metabolic mode of action. No test has been determined yet for the significance of the effect. Indeed, by contrast, a medicinal product is defined as “any substance or combination of substances presented as having properties for treating or preventing disease in human beings; or any substance or combination of substances which may be used in or administered to human beings either with a view to restoring, correcting or modifying physiological functions by exerting a pharmacological, immunological or metabolic action, or to making a medical diagnosis.”

We market certain products, such as eyelash serums and chemical peels, as cosmetics (i.e., not pursuant to an FDA approval or OTC monograph), but the FDA may disagree with our determination that these products do not require FDA premarket review and approval. Similar risks may apply in foreign jurisdictions. If any of our products we intend to sell as cosmetics were to be regulated as drugs, we might be required to conduct, among other things, clinical trials to demonstrate the safety and efficacy of these products. We may not have sufficient resources to conduct any required clinical trials or to ensure compliance with the manufacturing requirements applicable to drugs. If the FDA or any other regulatory authorities determine that any of our products intended to be sold as cosmetics should be classified and regulated as drug products and we are unable to comply with applicable requirements for those products, we may be unable to continue to market those products and may be subject to enforcement action.

Any inquiry into the regulatory status of our cosmetics and any related interruption in the marketing and sale of these products could damage our reputation and image in the marketplace. In recent years, the FDA has issued warning letters to several cosmetic companies alleging improper claims regarding their cosmetic products. If the FDA or any other regulatory authorities determine that we have made inappropriate drug claims regarding our products intended to be sold as cosmetics, we could receive a warning or untitled letter, be required to modify our product claims or take other actions to satisfy the FDA or any other regulatory authorities. In addition, plaintiffs' lawyers have filed class action lawsuits against cosmetic companies after receipt of these types of FDA warning letters. There can be no assurance that we will not be subject to state, federal or foreign government actions or class action lawsuits, which could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

In addition, we sell products, such as sunscreens, that are subject to the FDA's OTC drug monograph regulatory requirements. The FDA regulates the formulation, manufacturing, packaging and labeling of OTC drug products. Certain of our products, such as some of our sunscreen and acne drug products, are regulated pursuant to the FDA's OTC drug monographs that specify acceptable active drug ingredients and acceptable product claims that are generally recognized as safe and effective for particular uses. If any of these products that are marketed as OTC drugs pursuant to an OTC monograph are not in compliance with the applicable FDA monograph, we may be required to reformulate the product, stop making claims relating to such product or stop selling the product until we are able to obtain costly and time-consuming FDA approvals. We are also required to submit adverse event reports to the FDA for our OTC drug products, and failure to comply with this requirement may subject us to FDA regulatory action. Moreover, the FDA's process for establishing, amending, and finalizing monographs has recently been reformed pursuant to the CARES Act. If these reforms affect the regulatory requirements to which we or our products are subject, or if we do not comply, we could be subject to enforcement action, which could materially adversely affect our business.

The drug regulatory approval processes of the FDA and comparable foreign authorities are lengthy, time-consuming and inherently unpredictable, and if we are required to seek and obtain any regulatory approvals that may be required for our products, we may be unable to obtain or maintain such regulatory approvals, which would substantially harm our business.

Any products that are regulated by the FDA as drugs must generally obtain premarket approval from the FDA, unless subject to the OTC monograph process or subject to other limited exceptions. The FDA approves new drugs through the New Drug Application ("NDA") or Abbreviated New Drug Application ("ANDA") processes before they may be legally marketed in the U.S. In the NDA process, an applicant must generally demonstrate through well-controlled clinical trials that a drug is safe and effective for its intended uses. The Hatch-Waxman Act established the ANDA process, which is an abbreviated FDA approval procedure for drugs that are shown to be bioequivalent to proprietary drugs previously approved by the FDA through its NDA process. Premarket applications for generic drugs are termed "abbreviated" because such applications generally do not include preclinical and clinical data to demonstrate safety and effectiveness. Instead, an ANDA applicant must demonstrate that its product is bioequivalent to the innovator drug. In certain situations, an applicant may obtain ANDA approval of a generic drug with a strength or dosage form that differs from a referenced innovator drug pursuant to the filing and approval of an ANDA Suitability Petition. Similar requirements apply in foreign jurisdictions.

Certain of our products, including our tretinoin-based products, are marketed pursuant to an ANDA held by Bausch Health or dispensed under the category of unlicensed medicines in the United Kingdom (the "UK"). However, we have not sought or obtained FDA premarket approval or foreign regulatory authorities' authorization for any of our products. The time required to obtain approval by the FDA and comparable foreign authorities is unpredictable but typically takes many years following the commencement of clinical trials and depends upon numerous factors, including the substantial discretion of the regulatory authorities. In addition, approval policies, regulations or the type and amount of clinical data necessary to gain approval may change during the course of a product candidate's clinical development and may vary among jurisdictions.

The FDA or any foreign regulatory authorities can delay, limit or deny approval or require us to conduct additional nonclinical or clinical testing or abandon a program for, among others, the following reasons:

- the FDA or comparable foreign regulatory authorities may disagree with the design or implementation of any clinical trials we may be required to conduct;
- we may be unable to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the FDA or comparable foreign regulatory authorities that a product is safe and effective for its proposed indication or bioequivalent to a listed drug;
- the results of clinical trials may not meet the level of statistical significance required by the FDA or comparable foreign regulatory authorities for approval;

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- serious and unexpected drug-related side effects experienced by participants in our clinical trials or by individuals using drugs similar to our products;
- we may be unable to demonstrate that a product's clinical and other benefits outweigh its safety risks;
- the FDA or comparable foreign regulatory authorities may disagree with our interpretation of data from preclinical studies or clinical trials;
- the data collected from clinical trials may not be acceptable or sufficient to support the submission of an NDA, ANDA or other submission or to obtain regulatory approval in the U.S. or elsewhere, and we may be required to conduct additional clinical studies;
- the FDA's or the applicable foreign regulatory authority may disagree regarding the formulation, labeling and/or the specifications of our products;
- the FDA or comparable foreign regulatory authorities may fail to approve the manufacturing processes or facilities of third-party manufacturers with which we contract for clinical and commercial supplies; and
- the approval policies or regulations of the FDA or comparable foreign regulatory authorities may significantly change in a manner rendering our clinical data insufficient for any approvals.

The lengthy approval process as well as the unpredictability of future clinical trial results may result in our failing to obtain regulatory approvals to market our products, which could significantly harm our business, results of operations and prospects.

Our products containing the active ingredient, hydroquinone ("HQ"), are marketed as prescription-use only drugs but have not received marketing authorization from the FDA or other regulatory authorities, and we could be found to be marketing and selling these products in violation of the law.

We market our products that contain HQ on a prescription-only (i.e., non-OTC) basis, and we have not sought nor obtained premarket approval from the FDA to market these products in the U.S., nor have we sought marketing authorizations in other jurisdictions. Although, to date, neither the FDA nor any other regulators have taken action against us for selling our prescription HQ products in the U.S. and in other jurisdictions without marketing approval, there can be no assurance the FDA or any other regulatory authorities will not take enforcement action against us, or otherwise require us to obtain premarket approval or similar authorization of our prescription HQ products, and we may be required to suspend marketing of our prescription HQ products unless and until such products are approved.

Based on the historical evolution of the legal and regulatory framework applicable to drugs in the U.S., the FDA acknowledges that there are some drugs on the market that lack required FDA approval for marketing. The FDA has historically utilized a risk-based enforcement approach with respect to drugs marketed without required approvals. In 2003, the FDA issued a Compliance Policy Guide (a "CPG"), which was finalized in 2006 and subsequently amended in 2011, in which it announced a drug safety initiative to remove unapproved drugs from the market and established enforcement priorities and a policy of enforcement discretion with respect to marketed unapproved products. Under this policy, the FDA indicated that it intended to give higher priority to enforcement actions involving unapproved drug products in certain categories, including drugs with potential safety risks and ineffective drugs that could be used in lieu of effective treatments. Although this CPG was withdrawn and the drug safety initiative was terminated on the basis of a Federal Register notice in 2020, a subsequent Federal Register notice in May 2021 withdrew the prior notice terminating the program and the CPG, and the FDA indicated that it plans to continue to prioritize enforcement based on its existing general approach, which involves risk-based prioritization in light of all the facts of a given circumstance, and issue new guidance on this topic.

We believe our prescription-only HQ products do not fall within the previously established categories of unapproved drugs for which the FDA has indicated it prioritizes enforcement. However, the FDA may disagree and determine that our HQ products should be removed from the market until we obtain approval of an NDA. For example, although our prescription-only HQ products are made with 4% HQ, the FDA has expressed concerns regarding the safety of 2% HQ products marketed OTC. See the section entitled "— Risks Related to Legal and Regulatory Matters — Our products may cause adverse events or side effects, or could be associated with safety issues, that could result in recalls, withdrawals, or regulatory enforcement action." If the FDA determines that our prescription-only HQ products present the same concerns as OTC 2% HQ products, the FDA could determine that our HQ products are high priority for enforcement of the requirements for an NDA.

If we are required to seek FDA approval or foreign authorities' authorization of these products, our attention and resources will be dedicated to the clinical development and regulatory approval processes, which will be time-consuming and very expensive. We may also not successfully obtain such approvals or may be delayed in obtaining such approvals if one of our competitors obtains approval and non-patent marketing exclusivity for the same uses for which we intend to seek approvals. In addition, if we are determined to be marketing our prescription HQ products unlawfully, or if patients experience adverse events from using our prescription HQ products, we may be required to recall or cease distribution of these products and may be subject to product liability claims or enforcement action. If we are required to suspend or cease marketing of our prescription HQ products for any reason, our business would be materially adversely affected.

In addition, even if we obtain regulatory approvals for any of our prescription HQ products, such approvals will require the submission of reports to regulatory authorities and surveillance to monitor the safety and efficacy of the product, may contain significant limitations related to use restrictions for specified age groups, warnings, precautions or contraindications, and may include burdensome post-approval study or risk management requirements. In addition, if the FDA or foreign regulatory authorities approve our products, the manufacturing processes, labeling, packaging, distribution, adverse event reporting, storage, advertising, promotion, import, export and recordkeeping for our product candidates will be subject to extensive and ongoing regulatory requirements, any of which may materially increase our costs and limit our ability to maintain profitability.

Our products may cause adverse events or side effects, or could be associated with safety issues, that could result in recalls, withdrawals, or regulatory enforcement action.

Adverse events or other undesirable side effects caused by our products could cause us or regulatory authorities to issue warnings about our products or could lead to recalls or regulatory enforcement action. For example, our HQ products could be subject to enforcement action and/or recalls based on the FDA's concerns regarding OTC HQ-based products. Specifically, in August 2006, the FDA issued a proposed rule that cited certain preclinical evidence suggesting that HQ may be a carcinogen, if orally administered, may present fertility risks and may be related to a skin condition called ochronosis, which results in the darkening and thickening of the skin and the appearance of small bumps and grayish-brown spots, after use of concentrations as low as 1 to 2 percent. The FDA also concluded that it could not rule out the potential carcinogenic risk from topically applied HQ. Accordingly, the FDA recommended that additional studies be conducted to determine if there is a risk to humans from the use of HQ. The FDA nominated HQ for further study by the National Toxicology Program (the "NTP"), and in December 2009, the NTP Board of Scientific Counselors approved the nomination. As a result, the following three NTP studies will be conducted:

- Comparative metabolism studies in rats and mice by oral and dermal routes;
- Reproductive toxicity study in rats and mice by oral route; and
- Dermal carcinogenicity studies of HQ in mice and rats.

Our Obagi Nu-Derm Clear, Blender and Sunfader products, and our Obagi-C Rx C-Clarifying Serum and Obagi-C Rx C-Night Therapy Cream products, which are part of our Obagi-C Rx Systems, contain HQ at 4% concentration. Until the completion of the NTP studies, the FDA recommended classifying OTC skin-bleaching drug products, including HQ, as not generally recognized as safe and effective ("GRASE"), as misbranded, and as new drugs within the meaning of the FDCA, meaning that such products would need to be approved through the NDA process in order to be legally marketed in the U.S.

Although this proposed rule was never finalized, in March 2020, Congress passed the CARES Act, which among other things, amended the FDCA to incorporate FDA's proposed rulemaking with respect to OTC drugs into final OTC monograph determinations. In particular, the CARES Act deemed any OTC drugs that were identified as not GRASE in the FDA's most recent proposed rulemaking for such OTC drugs to be "new drugs" and misbranded within the meaning of the FDCA, meaning that as of September 23, 2020, such drugs required an approved drug application before they could be lawfully marketed. As a result, products containing HQ were prohibited from being marketed in the U.S. as OTC drug products without an approved NDA.

While the legal framework with respect to HQ products marketed OTC does not directly affect the regulatory status of our prescription-only HQ products, the FDA's cited concerns regarding the safety of HQ in OTC products at concentrations as low as 1% or 2% could nevertheless trigger regulatory scrutiny of our prescription-only HQ products. To the extent that the FDA were to determine that our prescription-use only HQ products present safety concerns, the FDA could determine that the products should be recalled, and such determination could trigger the FDA to require marketing authorization for these products based on the FDA's established enforcement priorities for drugs marketed without an approved NDA. See the section entitled "— Risks Related to Legal and Regulatory Matters — Our products containing the active ingredient, hydroquinone ("HQ"), are marketed as prescription-use only drugs but have not received marketing authorization from the FDA or other regulatory authorities, and we could be found to be marketing and selling these products in violation of the law."

If our products are associated with undesirable side effects or adverse events, a number of potentially significant negative consequences could result, including, but not limited to:

- regulatory authorities may suspend, limit or withdraw approvals of such product (to the extent subject to such approvals), or seek an injunction against its manufacture or distribution;
- regulatory authorities may require warnings or issue safety alerts, Dear Healthcare Provider letters, press releases or other communications containing warnings or other safety information about the product;
- we may be required to change the way the product is administered or conduct clinical trials;
- we may be subject to fines, injunctions or the imposition of criminal penalties;
- we could be sued and held liable for harm caused to patients; and
- our reputation may suffer.

Any of these events could seriously harm our business.

Regulations could prohibit physicians from dispensing our prescription only products directly or through their e-commerce websites.

In our primary market, the U.S., we market our prescription only products and systems directly to physicians to dispense in their offices. All such products and systems we sell are dispensed by physicians directly to their patients in their offices. Although several of our systems contain prescription-strength HQ products and we sell different strengths of tretinoin, all of which require a prescription, our products are not currently available in pharmacies. Certain states, including California, Massachusetts, Montana, New Hampshire, New York and Texas, prohibit physicians from dispensing prescription products without a pharmacy or other license or authorization unless certain conditions are met. We are aware of the State of Texas and Puerto Rico, as well as certain credit card authorization vendors, that have taken action against physician customers who sell our prescription products to patients over the Internet, questioning whether these practices are consistent with such states' pharmacy licensure and physician dispensing rules and requiring them to either obtain the proper licenses or to cease selling our prescription products through their e-commerce sites. There may be additional states that have taken or may likely take similar enforcement actions against our customers. In the event that occurs, affected customers may be unable to continue selling our prescription strength products over the Internet or at all, or be required to incur additional costs to obtain the required licensure to be able to dispense these products, which may discourage such customers from continuing to purchase them. Moreover, in the event state regulations change or the interpretation of existing regulations change that limit or prohibit the ability of physicians to dispense prescription products directly to patients in their offices, or limit or prevent our ability to distribute products directly through physicians, patients may be unable to obtain many of our products, as they are not currently available in pharmacies, which would have a material effect on our business and on both customers' and patients' ability to purchase HQ products.

Our ability to commercially distribute our products and our business may be significantly harmed if we or our contract manufacturers fail to comply with applicable laws and regulations.

We do not currently have the infrastructure or internal capability to manufacture our products. We rely, and expect to continue to rely, on third-party manufacturers for the production of our products. The facilities used by our contract manufacturers are generally subject to regulation under the FDCA and FDA implementing regulations, and comparable regulatory frameworks in foreign markets. The FDA and foreign authorities may inspect the facilities of our third-party manufacturers periodically to determine if we and our third-party manufacturers are complying with applicable provisions of the FDCA, FDA and foreign regulations.

Manufacturing facilities for drug products are required to comply with the FDA's cGMPs and with similar requirements outside the U.S., which require manufacturers to maintain, among other things, stringent vendor qualifications, ingredient identification procedures, manufacturing controls and record keeping processes. With respect to cosmetic products, the FDA has not promulgated mandatory cGMP regulations. However, adherence to recommended cGMPs can reduce the risk that the FDA finds such products have been rendered adulterated or misbranded in violation of applicable law. The FDA's draft guidance on cosmetic cGMPs, most recently updated in June 2013, provides recommendations related to process documentation, recordkeeping, building and facility design, equipment maintenance and personnel. The FDA also recommends that manufacturers maintain product complaint and recall files and voluntarily report adverse events to the agency. In addition, FDA regulations prohibit or otherwise restrict the use of certain ingredients in cosmetic products. Similar or stricter requirements may apply in foreign jurisdictions. For instance, in the EU, cosmetic products must be manufactured in compliance with good manufacturing practice and EU regulations equally prohibit or otherwise restrict the use of certain ingredients in cosmetic products, including tretinoin.

We rely on third parties to manufacture our products in accordance with our specifications and in compliance with applicable laws and regulations, including the cosmetic cGMP guidelines in the FDA's draft guidance and applicable cGMP or similar requirements for drug products. Compliance with these standards can increase the cost of manufacturing our products as we work with our vendors to assure they are qualified and in compliance. For our tretinoin-based products, which we distribute pursuant to an ANDA held by Bausch Health or which we dispense under the category of unlicensed medicines in the United Kingdom, we also rely on our contract manufacturers to maintain appropriate regulatory clearances or approvals, or otherwise qualify for exemptions from FDA premarket review requirements for such products.

We do not have complete control over all aspects of the manufacturing process of, and are dependent on, our contract manufacturing partners for compliance with cGMP and similar regulations. Our contract manufacturing partners may be found in violation of applicable requirements, which could have a material adverse effect on us and our business. For example, G.S. Cosmeceutical, which manufactures our prescription HQ products, has been subject to a number of FDA inspections in recent years in which the FDA identified a number of violations, including most recently following an inspection ended in August 2019. Although we believe G.S. Cosmeceutical has resolved the observations identified by the FDA during the August 2019 inspection, there is no assurance that the FDA will not identify further deficiencies in future inspections. If we or our contract manufacturers fail to comply with these applicable standards, laws, and regulations, it could lead to customer complaints, adverse events, product withdrawal or recall, or increase the likelihood that our products are rendered adulterated or misbranded, any of which could result in negative publicity, remedial costs, or regulatory enforcement that could impact our ability to continue selling certain products. In addition, reliance on third-party manufacturers entails additional risks, including:

- the failure of the third party to manufacture our products on schedule, or at all, including if our third-party contractors give greater priority to the supply of other products over our products or otherwise do not satisfactorily perform according to the terms of the agreements between us and them;
- the reduction or termination of production or deliveries by suppliers, or the raising of prices or renegotiation of terms;
- the termination or nonrenewal of arrangements or agreements by our third-party contractors at a time that is costly or inconvenient for us;
- the breach by the third-party contractors of our agreements with them;
- the failure of third-party contractors to comply with applicable regulatory requirements; and
- the failure of the third party to manufacture our products according to our specifications.

Our failure, or the failure of our third-party manufacturers, to comply with applicable regulations could result in sanctions being imposed on us, including fines, injunctions, civil penalties, delays, suspension or withdrawal of approvals, license revocation, seizures or recalls of product candidates or drugs, operating restrictions and criminal prosecutions, any of which could significantly and adversely affect supplies of our product candidates or drugs and harm our business and results of operations.

Product liability lawsuits could divert our resources, result in substantial liabilities and reduce the commercial potential of our products.

Our business exposes us to the risk of product liability claims that are inherent to the development, clinical testing and marketing of aesthetic and skin health products. These lawsuits may divert our management from pursuing our business strategy and may be costly to defend. In addition, if we are held liable in any of these lawsuits, we may incur substantial liabilities and may be forced to limit or forgo further commercialization of those products. Although we maintain general liability and product liability insurance in amounts that we believe are reasonably adequate to insulate us from potential claims, the scope and limits of such insurance may not be sufficient to cover the types or extent of liability claims or loss, including, without limitation, liability claims or loss relating to product liability that may be incurred or received. There also may be product liability risks for which we do not maintain or procure insurance coverage or for which the insurance coverage may not respond. If we incur any product liability loss that is not covered by our general liability or product liability insurance policies, or any net insurance recovery is less than our actual loss, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected. In addition, our inability to obtain or maintain sufficient insurance coverage at an acceptable cost or to otherwise protect against potential product liability claims could prevent or inhibit the commercial production and sale of our products, which would adversely affect our business.

Failure to obtain regulatory approvals in foreign jurisdictions would prevent us from marketing our products internationally.

We market our products outside of the U.S. To market our products in many non-U.S. jurisdictions, we must obtain separate regulatory approvals and comply with numerous and varying regulatory requirements. In some countries, we do not have to obtain prior regulatory approval but do have to comply with other regulatory restrictions on the manufacture, importation, distribution, marketing and sale of our products. We may be unable to file for regulatory approvals and may not receive necessary approvals to commercialize our products in any market. The approval procedure varies among countries and can involve additional testing and data review. The time required to obtain approval in non-U.S. jurisdictions may differ from that required to obtain FDA approval. The foreign regulatory approval process may include all of the risks associated with obtaining FDA approval. In addition, many countries from time to time evaluate the regulatory status of various products and ingredients. We may not obtain foreign regulatory approvals on a timely basis, if at all, or may choose not to implement a country's labeling requirements if to do so would have a negative impact on our international or domestic operations. If any of our products receives FDA approval, such approvals do not ensure approval by regulatory agencies in other countries, and approval by one foreign regulatory authority does not ensure approval by regulatory agencies in other foreign countries or by the FDA. The failure to obtain any required approvals could materially harm our business.

In the United Kingdom, certain of our products may be deemed medicinal products and therefore subject to regulation by the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency ("MHRA") under the medicines regime. We have not obtained a marketing authorization for such products in the United Kingdom, however the UK's Human Medicines Regulations 2012 allow for supply of medicinal products which have not been authorized for marketing to patients with special needs at the request of the healthcare professional responsible for the treatment of individual patients. Our tretinoin-based products are currently supplied in the United Kingdom under the category of an unlicensed medicine or "special." Unlicensed medicines should not, however, be supplied where an equivalent licensed medicinal product can meet special needs of the patient. The responsibility for deciding whether an individual patient has "special needs," which a licensed product cannot meet, is a matter for the healthcare professional. Examples of "special needs" include an intolerance or allergy to a particular ingredient, or an inability to ingest solid oral dosage forms. The MHRA has a wide range of enforcement powers and failure to comply with regulatory restrictions or obtain regulatory approvals if required could harm our business. If the MHRA were to decide that our products do not meet the "specials" requirements, we may need to cease supply of these products and obtain a marketing authorization in the United Kingdom.

If we fail to comply with governmental regulations, we could face substantial penalties and our business, financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected.

The healthcare industry in and outside the U.S. is heavily regulated and closely scrutinized by federal, state, local and foreign authorities. Although our offerings are not currently covered by any commercial third-party payor or government healthcare program, our business activities may nonetheless be subject to regulation and enforcement by the U.S. Department of Justice, the Department of Health and Human Services and other federal, state and foreign governmental authorities. Federal, state and foreign laws and regulations that may affect our ability to conduct business include, without limitation:

- the federal Anti-Kickback Statute, which prohibits, among other things, persons or entities from knowingly and willfully soliciting, offering, receiving or paying any remuneration, directly or indirectly, overtly or covertly, in cash or in kind, to induce or reward either the referral of an individual for, or the purchase, lease, order, or arranging for or recommending the purchase, lease or order of, any item or service, for which payment may be made, in whole or in part, under federal healthcare programs such as Medicare and Medicaid. A person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of the statute or specific intent to violate it in order to have committed a violation;

- the federal civil false claims laws, including, without limitation, the federal False Claims Act, which can be enforced through “qui tam,” or whistleblower actions, by private citizens, on behalf of the federal government, and civil monetary penalties laws, which prohibit, among other things, individuals or entities from knowingly presenting, or causing to be presented, false or fraudulent claims for payment of government funds, or knowingly making or using or causing to be made or used, a false record or statement material to an obligation to pay money to the government or knowingly and improperly avoiding, decreasing or concealing an obligation to pay money to the federal government. In addition, the government may assert that a claim including items and services resulting from a violation of the federal Anti-Kickback Statute constitutes a false or fraudulent claim for purposes of the civil False Claims Act;
- the Civil Monetary Penalties Law, which prohibits, among other things, an individual or entity from offering remuneration to a federal healthcare program beneficiary that the individual or entity knows or should know is likely to influence the beneficiary to order or receive healthcare items or services from a particular provider any item or service for which payment may be made by the federal healthcare program;
- the criminal healthcare fraud provisions of HIPAA and related rules that prohibit knowingly and willfully executing a scheme or artifice to defraud any healthcare benefit program or falsifying, concealing or covering up a material fact or making any material false, fictitious or fraudulent statement in connection with the delivery of or payment for healthcare benefits, items or services. Similar to the federal Anti-Kickback Statute, a person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of the statute or specific intent to violate it to have committed a violation;
- the federal Physician Payment Sunshine Act, which requires certain manufacturers of drugs, devices, biologicals, and medical supplies for which payment is available under Medicare, Medicaid or the Children’s Health Insurance Program to report annually to the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services under the Open Payments Program, information related to payments or other transfers of value made to teaching hospitals, physicians (as defined by statute) and certain non-physician practitioners including physician assistants and nurse practitioners, as well as ownership and investment interests held by physicians and their immediate family members;
- federal consumer protection and unfair competition laws, which broadly regulate platform activities and activities that potentially harm consumers; and
- state and foreign law equivalents of each of the above federal laws, such as anti-kickback, self-referral and false claims laws which may apply to items or services reimbursed by any third-party payor, including commercial insurers, and self-pay patients.

Because of the breadth of these laws and the narrowness of the statutory exceptions and safe harbors available, it is possible that some of our business activities could be subject to challenge under one or more of such laws. Achieving and sustaining compliance with these laws may prove costly. The risk of our being found in violation of these laws and regulations is increased by the fact that many of them have not been fully interpreted by regulatory authorities or the courts, and their provisions are sometimes complex and open to a variety of interpretations. Failure to comply with these laws and other laws can result in significant penalties, including, without limitation, administrative, civil and criminal penalties, damages, fines, disgorgement, the curtailment or restructuring of operations, integrity oversight and reporting obligations and exclusion from participation in federal, state and foreign healthcare programs and imprisonment. Our failure to accurately anticipate the application of these laws and regulations to our business or any other failure to comply with regulatory requirements could create liability for us and negatively affect our business. In addition, any action against us for violation of these laws or regulations, even if we successfully defend against it, could cause us to incur significant legal expenses, divert our management’s attention from the operation of our business and result in adverse publicity, or otherwise result in a material adverse impact on our business, results of operations, financial condition, cash flows and/or reputation.

We are subject to the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and other anti-corruption laws and anti-money laundering laws. Failure to comply with these laws could subject us to penalties and other adverse consequences.

We are subject to anti-corruption laws, including the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (the “FCPA”), the U.S. domestic bribery statute contained in 18 U.S.C. § 201, the U.S. Travel Act and other anti-corruption and anti-money laundering laws that apply in countries where we conduct activities. The FCPA and these anti-corruption laws generally prohibit us and our employees, agents, representatives, business partners, and third-party intermediaries from authorizing, promising, offering, or providing, directly or indirectly, improper or prohibited payments, or anything else of value, to recipients in the public or private sector in order to obtain or retain business or gain some other business advantage. These laws have been enforced aggressively in recent years and are interpreted broadly. We are also required to comply with all applicable economic and financial sanctions, trade embargoes and export/import control laws.

We sell our products in several countries outside of the U.S. As we increase our international sales, we may engage with business partners and third-party intermediaries to sell our products and conduct our business abroad. In addition, we or our third-party intermediaries may have direct or indirect interactions with officials and employees of government agencies or state-owned or -affiliated entities. We can be held liable for the corrupt or other illegal activities of these third-party intermediaries, our employees, representatives, contractors, partners and agents, even if we do not explicitly authorize such activities. While we have mechanisms to identify high-risk individuals and entities before contracting with them, we will be operating in a number of jurisdictions that pose a high risk of potential FCPA violations. We cannot assure you that all of our employees, agents, representatives, business partners or third-party intermediaries will not take actions that violate applicable law, for which we may be ultimately held responsible. As we increase our international sales and business, our risks under these laws may increase.

Some of these anti-corruption laws also require that we keep accurate books and records and maintain internal controls and compliance procedures reasonably designed to prevent any corrupt conduct. While we have policies and procedures to address compliance with those laws, we cannot assure you that none of our employees, agents, representatives, business partners or third-party intermediaries will take actions that violate our policies and applicable law, for which we may be ultimately held responsible. In addition, we cannot predict the nature, scope or effect of future regulatory requirements to which our international operations might be subject or the manner in which existing laws might be administered or interpreted.

Any violations of these anti-corruption laws, or even allegations of such violations, can lead to an investigation and/or enforcement action, which could disrupt our operations, involve significant management distraction, and lead to significant costs and expenses, including legal fees. If we, or our employees or agents acting on our behalf, are found to have engaged in practices that violate these laws and regulations, we could suffer severe fines and penalties, profit disgorgement, injunctions on future conduct, securities litigation, bans on transacting government business, delisting from securities exchanges and other consequences that may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, our brand and reputation, our sales activities and/or our stock price could be adversely affected if we become the subject of any negative publicity related to actual or potential violations of anti-corruption, anti-bribery or trade control laws and regulations.

Failure to comply with governmental laws and regulations could harm our business.

Our business is subject to regulation by various federal, state, local and foreign governments. In certain jurisdictions, these regulatory requirements may be more stringent than those in the U.S. Noncompliance with applicable regulations or requirements could subject us to investigations, sanctions, enforcement actions, disgorgement of profits, fines, damages, civil and criminal penalties, injunctions or other collateral consequences. If any governmental sanctions are imposed, or if we do not prevail in any possible civil or criminal litigation, our business, operating results, and financial condition could be materially adversely affected. In addition, responding to any action will likely result in a significant diversion of management’s attention and resources and an increase in professional fees. Enforcement actions and sanctions could harm our business, reputation, operating results and financial condition.

Further, we use a number of third parties to perform services or act on our behalf. It may be the case that one or more of those third parties may violate applicable federal, state, local, and international laws, including, but not limited to, those related to corruption, bribery, economic and financial sanctions and trade embargoes and export/import controls. Despite the significant challenges in asserting and maintaining control and compliance by these third parties, we may be held fully liable for third parties’ actions as fully as if they were a direct employee of ours. Such liabilities may create harm to our reputation, inhibit our plans for expansion, or lead to extensive liability either to private parties or government regulators, which could adversely impact our business, results of operations, and financial condition.

Risks Related to Obagi’s Technology and Cyber Security

We are dependent on information technology systems and infrastructure; failure to protect sensitive information of our consumers and information technology systems against security breaches could damage our reputation and brand and substantially harm our business.

We rely to a large extent on our information technology systems and infrastructure, which may be the subject of breakdowns, malicious intrusion and attacks. We collect, maintain, transmit and store data about our consumers, suppliers and others, including personal data, financial information, including consumer payment information, as well as other confidential and proprietary information important to our business. We also employ third-party service providers that collect, store, process and transmit personal data, and confidential, proprietary and financial information on our behalf, and as a result a number of third-party vendors may or could have access to our confidential information. If our third-party service providers fail to protect their information technology systems and our confidential and proprietary information, we may be vulnerable to disruptions in service and unauthorized access to our confidential or proprietary information and we could incur liability and reputational damage. We have in place certain technical and organizational measures to maintain the security and safety of critical proprietary, personal, employee, customer and financial data that we continue to maintain and upgrade to industry standards. However, advances in technology, the increasing ingenuity of criminals, new exposures via cryptography, acts or omissions by our employees, contractors or service providers or other events or developments could result in a compromise or breach in the security of confidential or personal data. Further, attacks upon information technology systems are increasing in their frequency, levels of persistence, sophistication and intensity, and are being conducted by sophisticated and organized groups and individuals with a wide range of motives and expertise. As a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, we may also face increased cybersecurity risks due to our reliance on Internet technology and the number of our employees who are working remotely, which may create additional opportunities for cybercriminals to exploit vulnerabilities. Furthermore, because the techniques used to obtain unauthorized access to, or to sabotage, systems change frequently and often are not recognized until launched against a target, we may be unable to anticipate these techniques or implement adequate preventative measures. We may also experience security breaches that may remain undetected for an extended period.

We and our service providers may not be able to prevent third parties, including criminals, competitors or others, from breaking into or altering our systems, disrupting business operations or communications infrastructure through denial-of-service attacks, attempting to gain access to our systems, information or monetary funds through phishing or social engineering campaigns, installing viruses or malicious software on our e-commerce websites or mobile applications or devices used by our employees or contractors, or carrying out other activity intended to disrupt our systems or gain access to confidential or sensitive information in our or our service providers’ systems. Actual or anticipated attacks may cause us to incur increasing costs, including costs to deploy additional personnel and protection technologies, train employees and engage third-party experts and consultants. If a material security breach were to occur, our reputation and brands could be damaged, and we could be required to expend significant capital and other resources to alleviate problems caused by such breaches, including exposure of litigation or regulatory action and a risk of loss and possible liability.

Payment methods used on our e-commerce websites subject us to third-party payment processing-related risks.

We accept payments from our consumers using a variety of methods, including online payments with credit cards and debit cards issued by major banks, payments made with gift cards processed by third-party providers and payment through third-party online payment platforms such as Afterpay. We also rely on third parties to provide payment processing services. For certain payment methods, including credit and debit cards, we pay interchange and other fees, which may increase over time and raise our operating costs and lower our profit margins. We may also be subject to fraud and other illegal activities in connection with the various payment methods we offer, including online payment options and gift cards. Transactions on our e-commerce websites and mobile applications are card-not-present transactions, so they present a greater risk of fraud. Criminals are using increasingly sophisticated methods to engage in illegal activities such as unauthorized use of credit or debit cards and bank account information. Requirements relating to consumer authentication and fraud detection with respect to online sales are complex. We may ultimately be held liable for the unauthorized use of a cardholder’s card number in an illegal activity and be required by card issuers to pay charge-back fees. Charge-backs result not only in our loss of fees earned with respect to the payment, but also leave us liable for the underlying money transfer amount. If our charge-back rate becomes excessive, card associations also may require us to pay fines or refuse to process our transactions. In addition, we may be subject to additional fraud risk if third-party service providers or our employees fraudulently use consumer information for their own gain or facilitate the fraudulent use of such information. Overall, we may have little recourse if we process a criminally fraudulent transaction.

Our business is subject to complex and evolving U.S. and foreign laws and regulations regarding privacy and data protection. Many of these laws and regulations are subject to change and uncertain interpretation, and any failure or perceived failure to comply could result in claims, changes to our business practices, monetary penalties or increased costs of operations, or otherwise could harm our business.

We are subject to a variety of laws and regulations in the U.S. and abroad regarding privacy and data protection, some of which can be enforced by private parties or government entities and some of which provide for significant penalties for noncompliance. Such laws and regulations govern the collection, use, disclosure, retention, and security of personal information, such as information that we may collect in connection with clinical trials. Implementation standards, interpretations and enforcement practices are likely to remain uncertain for the foreseeable future, and we cannot yet determine the impact future laws, regulations, standards, or perception of their requirements may have on our business. This evolution may create uncertainty in our business, affect our ability to operate in certain jurisdictions or to collect, store, transfer, use and share personal information, necessitate the acceptance of more onerous obligations in our contracts, result in liability or impose additional costs on us. The cost of compliance with these laws, regulations and standards is high and is likely to increase in the future. Any failure or perceived failure by us to comply with federal, state or foreign laws or regulation, our internal policies and procedures or our contracts governing our processing of personal information could result in negative publicity, claims by third parties, government investigations and enforcement actions, including injunctions, fines and/or criminal penalties if we knowingly obtain or disclose individually identifiable health information from a covered entity in a manner that is not authorized or permitted by HIPAA or applicable state laws, any of which could have a material adverse effect on our operations, financial performance and business.

In the U.S., numerous federal and state laws and regulations, including federal and state health information privacy laws, state data breach notification laws, and federal and state consumer protection laws (e.g., Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act), that govern the collection, use, disclosure and protection of health-related and other personal information could apply to our operations or the operations of our collaborators and third-party providers. For example, the California Consumer Privacy Act (the “CCPA”), which went into effect on January 1, 2020, creates individual privacy rights for California consumers, including the right to opt out of certain disclosures of personal information, increases the privacy and security obligations of entities handling certain personal information, and also establishes significant penalties for noncompliance. The CCPA also provides for a private right of action for data breaches, which is expected to increase data breach litigation. The CCPA may increase our compliance costs and potential liability. Additionally, in November 2020, California voters passed the California Privacy Rights Act (the “CPRA”). The CPRA, which is expected to take effect on January 1, 2023, significantly expands the CCPA, including by introducing additional obligations such as data minimization and storage limitations, granting additional rights to consumers such as correction of personal information and additional opt-out rights and creating a new entity, the California Privacy Protection Agency, to implement and enforce the law. The CPRA may require us to modify our data collection or processing practices and policies, cause us to incur substantial costs and expenses to comply, and increase our potential exposure to regulatory enforcement and/or litigation.

Other U.S. states have also enacted or are considering enacting stricter data privacy laws. For example, on March 2, 2021, Virginia enacted the Virginia Consumer Data Protection Act, a comprehensive privacy statute that is similar to the CCPA and CPRA.

Further, the FTC and many state Attorneys General continue to enforce federal and state consumer protection laws against companies for online collection, use, dissemination and security practices that appear to be unfair or deceptive. For example, according to the FTC, violating consumers’ privacy rights or failing to take appropriate steps to keep consumers’ personal information secure can constitute unfair acts or practices in or affecting commerce in violation of Section 5(a) of the Federal Trade Commission Act. The FTC expects a company’s data security measures to be reasonable and appropriate in light of the sensitivity and volume of consumer information it holds, the size and complexity of its business, and the cost of available tools to improve security and reduce vulnerabilities.

We are also or may become subject to rapidly evolving data protection laws, rules and regulations in foreign jurisdictions. For example, the EU’s General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679 (the “GDPR”) governs certain collection and other processing activities involving personal data about data subjects in the European Economic Area (“EEA”). Among other things, the GDPR imposes requirements regarding the security of personal data and the rights of data subjects to access and delete personal data, requires having lawful bases on which personal data can be processed, includes requirements relating to the consent of individuals to whom the personal data relates, requires detailed notices for clinical trial participants and investigators and regulates transfers of personal data from the EEA to third countries that have not been found to provide adequate protection to such personal data, including the U.S. In addition, the GDPR imposes substantial administrative fines for breaches and violations ranging from €10.0 million to €20.0 million or 2% to 4% of our annual global revenue, whichever is higher. The GDPR also confers a private right of action on data subjects to lodge complaints with supervisory authorities, seek judicial remedies (including data subject-led class actions and injunctions) and obtain compensation for damages resulting from violations of the GDPR. Further, following the UK’s withdrawal from the EU on January 31, 2021 (“Brexit”), organizations have been subject to the UK General Data Protection Regulation (“UK GDPR”), which, together with the amended UK Data Protection Act 2018, transposed the GDPR in UK national law. The UK GDPR imposes separate and additional fines to the GDPR, ranging from £8,700,000 to £17.5 million or 2% to 4% of total worldwide annual revenue, whichever is higher.

We are also subject to EU and UK rules with respect to cross-border transfers of personal data out of the EEA and the UK to third countries. Recent legal developments in the EU and the UK have created complexity and uncertainty regarding transfers of personal data. In July 2020, the Court of Justice of the European Union (“CJEU”) in Schrems II invalidated the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield Framework, a mechanism for the transfer of personal data from the EEA to the U.S., and made clear that reliance on standard contractual clauses may not be sufficient in all circumstances, in which organizations may be required to take supplementary measures. On June 4, 2021, the European Commission published a new set of modular standard contractual clauses which are designed to take into account the CJEU’s judgement in Schrems II and must be used for all new contracts entered into, and new processing operations undertaken, as of September 2021. The new standard contractual clauses only apply to the transfer of personal data outside of the EEA and not the UK. Although the European Commission adopted an adequacy decision with respect to the UK in June 2021, allowing the flow of personal data from the EEA to the UK to continue, this decision will be regularly reviewed and may be revoked if the UK diverges from its current adequate data protection laws following Brexit. Furthermore, the UK Information Commissioner’s Office has consulted on, and is developing, its own international data transfer requirements, including its own specific international data transfer agreement and a UK addendum to the standard contractual clauses. We are accordingly monitoring these developments, but we may, in addition to other impacts, experience additional costs associated with increased compliance burdens and be required to engage in new contract negotiations with third parties that aid in processing personal data on our behalf. As supervisory authorities issue further guidance on personal data export mechanisms, including circumstances where the standard contractual clauses cannot be used, and/or start taking enforcement action, we could suffer additional costs, complaints and/or regulatory investigations or fines, and/or if we are otherwise unable to transfer personal data between and among countries and regions in which we operate, it could affect the manner in which we operate our business and could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations. The relationship between the UK and the EU in relation to certain aspects of data protection laws remains unclear and it is unclear how UK data protection laws and regulations will develop in the medium to longer term.

Regulators in the EEA and the UK are increasingly focusing on compliance with requirements in the online behavioral advertising ecosystem. National laws in the EEA that implement the ePrivacy Directive are likely to be replaced by the ePrivacy Regulation, which will significantly increase fines for noncompliance, although it will not have effect in the UK as a result of Brexit. This again introduces the possibility that we will be subject to separate and additional legal regimes with respect to eprivacy, which may result in further costs and may necessitate changes to our business practices. The GDPR and UK GDPR requires opt-in, informed consent for the placement of cookies on a customer’s device, and imposes conditions on obtaining valid consent (e.g., a prohibition on prechecked consents). Increased regulation of cookies may lead to broader restrictions and impairments on our online activities and may negatively impact our efforts to understand our customers, and there has been a notable rise in enforcement activity from supervisory authorities across the EEA in relation to cookies-related violations.

Compliance with existing, not yet effective, and proposed privacy and data protection laws and regulations can be costly and can delay or impede our ability to market and sell our products, affect our ability to conduct business through websites and mobile applications we and our partners may operate, require us to modify or amend our information practices and policies, change and limit the way we use consumer information in operating our business, increase our operating costs, or require significant management time and attention. Failure to comply could result in negative publicity or subject us to inquiries or investigations, claims or other remedies, including significant fines and penalties, or demands that we modify or cease existing business practices. We may also face civil claims, including representative actions and other class action type litigation (where individuals have suffered harm), potentially amounting to significant compensation or damages liabilities, as well as associated costs, and diversion of internal resources. Any of the foregoing could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Risks Related to Obagi's Intellectual Property

If we are unable to protect our proprietary rights, we may not be able to compete effectively.

Our success depends significantly on our ability to protect our proprietary rights to the formulas and technologies used for our products. We rely primarily on maintaining the confidentiality of our trade secrets and the protection of trade secret laws, as well as a combination of patent, copyright, trademark and trade dress (including common law trademark and trade dress) laws, and nondisclosure, confidentiality and other contractual restrictions, to protect our proprietary formulas and technologies. However, these legal means afford only limited protection and may not adequately protect our rights or permit us to gain or keep any competitive advantage. For example, our trade secrets may be misappropriated by current or former employees, contractors or parties with whom we partner, or may be inadvertently disclosed or obtained by breach of a confidentiality agreement or other confidentiality obligation. Although we have taken steps to protect our intellectual property and proprietary formulas and technologies, including entering into confidentiality agreements and intellectual property assignment agreements with our employees, consultants and advisors, such agreements may not be enforceable or may not provide meaningful protection for our trade secrets or other proprietary information in the event of unauthorized use or disclosure or other breaches of the agreements. Further, the parties with whom we enter into confidentiality and intellectual property assignment agreements could dispute the ownership of intellectual property developed under these agreements. In addition, the laws of some foreign countries may not protect our intellectual property rights to the same extent as the laws of the U.S.

If we are involved in intellectual property claims and litigation, the proceedings may divert our resources and subject us to significant liability for damages, substantial litigation expense and the loss of our proprietary rights.

In order to protect or enforce our intellectual property rights, we may initiate litigation. In addition, others may initiate litigation related to intellectual property against us. Companies against whom we might initiate litigation or who might initiate litigation against us may be better able to sustain the costs of litigation because they have substantially greater resources. We may become subject to interference proceedings conducted in patent and trademark offices to determine the priority of inventions or uses. There are numerous issued and pending patents in the skincare product field. The validity and breadth of such patents may involve complex legal and factual questions for which important legal principles may remain unresolved. If third parties file oppositions to our patent applications in foreign countries, we may also have to participate in opposition proceedings in foreign tribunals to defend the patentability of our filed foreign patent applications. We also have worked with consultants in developing our intellectual property portfolio. To the extent any of these consultants are engaged in litigation involving intellectual property related to us, we may also become a party to such actions or otherwise be adversely affected by virtue of our relationships with the consultants.

Litigation may be necessary for us to assert or defend against infringement claims, enforce our issued and licensed patents, protect our trade secrets or know-how or determine the enforceability, scope and validity of the proprietary rights of others. Our involvement in intellectual property claims and litigation could:

- divert existing management, scientific and financial resources;
- subject us to significant liabilities;
- result in a ruling that allows our competitors to market competitive products without obtaining a license from us;
- require us to enter into royalty or licensing agreements, which may not be available on terms acceptable to us, if at all; or
- force us to discontinue selling or modify our products, or to develop new products.

If any of these events occurs, our business could be materially and adversely affected.

We and our manufacturers and suppliers license certain product and device technologies from third parties. If these licenses are breached, terminated or disputed, our ability to commercialize products dependent on these technologies and patents may be compromised.

We have licensed certain products and proprietary technology for various products, including our SUZANOBAGIMD® products, Nu-Cil Eyelash Enhancing Serum and SkintrinsiQ device. If one or more of our licenses that we have with the parties who own these formulas or technologies terminate, or if we violate the terms of our licenses or otherwise lose our rights to these products or technology, we may be unable to continue developing and selling our products that are covered by these licenses. Our licensors or others may dispute the scope of our rights under any of these licenses. The licensors under these licenses may breach the terms of their respective agreements or fail to prevent infringement of the licensed formulas or technology by third parties. Loss of any of these licenses for any reason could materially and adversely affect our financial condition and operating results.

Further, we purchase products from manufacturers and suppliers who have licensed patent rights to use and sell these products from third-party licensors, and if any dispute arises as to these licensed rights, the third-party licensors may bring legal actions against us, our respective licensees, suppliers, customers or collaborators, and claim damages and seek to enjoin the manufacturing and marketing of such products.

In addition, if we determine that our products do not incorporate the patented technology that we have licensed from third parties, or that one or more of the patents that we have licensed are not valid, we may dispute our obligation to pay royalties to our licensors. Any dispute with a licensor could be complex, expensive and time-consuming and an outcome adverse to us could materially and adversely affect our business and impair our ability to commercialize our patent-licensed products.

Risks Related to Obagi's Capital Requirements and Finances

If we fail to generate sufficient cash flow from our operations, we will be unable to continue to develop and commercialize new products.

We expect capital and operating expenditures to increase over the next several years as we expand our infrastructure, distribution channels and our commercialization, clinical trial, research and development and manufacturing activities. We believe that our net cash provided by operating activities and existing cash and cash equivalents, including proceeds received from our term loan (the "Term Loan") and cash available under our revolving credit facility (the "Revolving Credit Facility" and together with the Term Loan, the "Credit Facilities"), both with TCW Asset Management Company ("TCW"), will be sufficient to fund our operations for the foreseeable future. However, our present and future funding requirements will depend on many factors, including, among other things:

- the level of research and development investment required to maintain and improve our competitive position;
- the success of our product sales and related collections;
- our need or decision to acquire or license complementary businesses, products or technologies;
- costs relating to the expansion of our distribution channels;
- costs relating to the expansion of the sales force, management and operational support;
- competing technological and market developments; and
- costs relating to changes in regulatory policies or laws that affect our operations.

If our net cash provided by operating activities and existing cash and cash equivalents are not sufficient to fund our operations in the future, we may need to draw down on our Revolving Credit Facility or raise additional funds, and we cannot be certain that such funds will be available to us on acceptable terms when needed, if at all. If we are required to draw down on our Revolving Credit Facility, our ability to in-license new technologies, develop future products or expand our pipeline of products could all be negatively impacted, which would have an adverse effect on our ability to grow our business and remain competitive in our marketplace. Further, we may decide to raise additional proceeds by issuing equity securities or securities that are convertible into our equity. If we sell such securities, investors may be materially diluted as a result of such offerings. In addition, if we raise additional funds through collaboration, licensing or other similar arrangements, we may be required to relinquish potentially valuable rights to our future products or proprietary technologies, or grant licenses on terms that are not favorable to us. If we cannot raise funds on acceptable terms, we may not be able to expand our operations, develop new products, take advantage of future opportunities or respond to competitive pressures or unanticipated customer requirements.

Our quarterly operating results are variable, and future operating results may be difficult to predict.

Our quarterly results of operations have varied in the past and are likely to vary significantly in the future due to a number of factors, many of which are outside of our control, including:

- demand for and market acceptance of our products;
- the development of new competitive products by others;
- changes in regulatory classifications of our products;
- changes in physician or patient acceptance of the use of physician-dispensed products;
- changes in treatment practices of physicians who currently prescribe our products;
- reduced demand for our products during the summer months due to variability of patient compliance resulting from travel and other disruptive activities, particularly during July and August;
- delays between our expenditures to acquire new product lines or expand into new distribution channels and the generation of revenues from those new products or distribution channels;
- capital investments and expenditures to support strategic initiatives;
- the timing, release and competitiveness of our products;
- increases in the cost of raw materials used to manufacture our products;
- the mix of products that we sell during any time period;
- the amount and timing of operating expenses;
- increased price competition;
- our ability to achieve and sustain a level of liquidity sufficient to grow and support our business and operations;
- legal costs and settlement expenses associated with litigation and related reimbursements from insurance carriers, if any;
- changes in the regulatory environment;
- legal costs and potential penalties related to regulatory matters; and
- adverse changes in the level of economic activity in the U.S. and other major regions in which we do business, including any economic downturn caused by the COVID-19 pandemic and other factors outside our control.

Due to the factors summarized above, we do not believe that period-to-period comparisons of our results of operations are necessarily meaningful and should not necessarily be relied upon to predict future results of operations. In addition, due to the reduced demand for our products during the summer months as discussed above, our results of operations for the third quarter have historically been lower than our results of operations for the second quarter. While we enjoyed greater revenues in the third quarter of 2021 as compared to the preceding second quarter due to product launches in July and August of 2021, we generally anticipate to see some seasonality in our product sales. It is also possible that in future periods, our results of operations will not meet the expectations of investors or analysts, or any published reports or analyses regarding our company. In that event, the price of our common stock could decline, perhaps substantially.

Our projections are subject to significant risks, assumptions, estimates and uncertainties. As a result, our projected financial information included in this proxy statement/prospectus may differ materially from our expectations.

We operate in a rapidly changing and competitive industry and our projections will be subject to the risks and assumptions made by management with respect to our industry. Operating results are difficult to forecast because they generally depend on a number of factors, including the competition we face, our ability to attract and retain customers while generating sustained revenues, the time it takes to attract new customers or convince existing customers to use new products, the amount of time it takes to develop and deploy new products, and other factors listed in this section. This may result in decreased revenue levels, and we may be unable to adopt measures in a timely manner to compensate for any unexpected shortfall in income. This inability could cause our operating results in a given quarter to be higher or lower than expected. These factors make creating accurate forecasts and budgets challenging and, as a result, we may fall materially short of our forecasts and expectations, which could cause our stock price to decline and investors to lose confidence in us.

Impairment of our significant intangible assets may reduce our profitability.

The costs of our goodwill, acquired product rights, distribution rights, and trademarks are recorded as intangible assets and all, except for goodwill, are amortized over the period that we expect to benefit from the applicable assets. As of September 30, 2021, acquired net intangible assets and goodwill comprised approximately 52.7% of our total assets. We evaluate periodically the recoverability and the amortization period of our intangible assets. Some factors we consider important in assessing whether or not impairment exists include performance relative to expected historical or projected future operating results, significant changes in the manner of our use of the assets or the strategy for our overall business, and significant negative industry or economic trends. These factors, assumptions, and changes in them could result in an impairment of our long-lived assets. Any impairment of our intangible assets may reduce our profitability and have a material adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

The loan agreement governing our Credit Facilities imposes restrictions on our business that may limit our business opportunities and hinder our ability to execute our business strategy.

In March 2021, we entered into a Financing Agreement (the “Financing Agreement”) with TCW governing our Credit Facilities. The Financing Agreement contains, and other agreements we may enter into in the future may contain, financial maintenance covenants and other affirmative and negative covenants, which may affect our ability to operate our business and may limit our ability to take advantage of potential business opportunities as they arise. Such covenants place restrictions on our ability to, among other things, incur additional debt, create liens, make investments, enter into transactions with affiliates, dispose of assets, guarantee debt, declare or pay dividends, redeem common stock or make other distributions to stockholders, and consolidate or merge.

Although we were in compliance with all requirements under the Financing Agreement as of September 30, 2021, our future ability to comply with such requirements may be affected by events beyond our control, including prevailing economic, financial and industry conditions. An event of default under the Financing Agreement would permit the lenders thereunder to exercise remedies, including declaring all relevant amounts to be due and payable and exercising remedies with respect to the collateral securing our obligations thereunder.

We received a Paycheck Protection Program loan, and our application for such loan could in the future be determined to have been impermissible or could result in damage to our reputation.

In May 2020, we applied for and received an unsecured $6.8 million loan under the Paycheck Protection Program (the “PPP Loan”). In June 2021, the PPP Loan was fully forgiven. The Paycheck Protection Program was established under the CARES Act, and is administered by the U.S. Small Business Administration (the “SBA”).

Our receipt of the PPP Loan or the forgiveness of the PPP Loan could result in adverse publicity. In addition, if we are later determined to have been ineligible to receive the PPP Loan or loan forgiveness, we may be subject to significant penalties, including significant civil, criminal and administrative penalties, we could be required to repay the PPP Loan in its entirety, and our reputation could suffer. A review or audit by the SBA or other government entity or claims under the U.S. False Claims Act could consume significant financial and management resources.

General Risk Factors Related to Obagi

If we lose key personnel or are unable to attract and retain other qualified personnel, we may be unable to execute our business plan and our business would be materially adversely affected.

As of September 30, 2021, we had 177 employees. Our success depends on our continued ability to attract, retain and motivate highly qualified management, business development, sales and marketing, product development and other personnel. We may have difficulty recruiting and retaining such qualified personnel due to current market conditions and the existence of many similar competitive job openings. There is intense competition in our industry particularly for senior sales and marketing and research and product development positions. The failure to attract and retain qualified personnel could have a significant negative impact on our future product sales and business results. Our success depends on the efforts and abilities of our President and Chief Executive Officer, Executive Vice President of Global Operations, Executive Vice President of Global Sales, and Executive Vice President of Research & Development, as well as other members of our senior management team and our scientific and technical personnel. We may not be able to retain the services of these individuals. In addition, we do not have “key person” insurance policies on any of our executive officers that would compensate us for the loss of their services. If we lose the services of one or more of these individuals, finding a replacement could be difficult, may take an extended period of time and could significantly impede the achievement of our business objectives. This may have a material adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

To grow, we will need to increase the size of our organization, and we may encounter difficulties managing our growth, which could adversely affect our results of operations.

If we are able to successfully develop additional products and extend the use of our current products and/or expand our existing distribution channels, we may experience growth in the number of our employees and the scope of our operations. To the extent that we acquire and launch additional products, the resulting growth and expansion of our sales force will place a significant demand on our financial, managerial and operational resources. Since many of the new products or systems we are working on may involve new technologies or entering new markets, we may not be able to accurately forecast the number of employees required and the timing of their hire or the associated costs. The extent of any expansion we may experience will be driven largely by the success of our new products and systems and alternative distribution channels. As a result, management’s ability to project the size of any such expansion and its cost to the company is limited by the following uncertainties: (a) we will not have previously sold any of the new products and technologies and the ultimate success of these new products and technologies is unknown; (b) we will be entering new markets and/or distribution channels; and (c) the costs associated with any expansion will be partially driven by factors that may not be fully in our control (e.g., timing of hire, market salary rates). Due to the uncertainty surrounding the timing of our strategic initiatives, new product lines or the stabilization of the global markets, our costs to hire significant numbers of new employees could be higher than anticipated. Our success will also depend on the ability of our executive officers and senior management team to continue to implement and improve our operational, information management and financial control systems, and to expand, train and manage our employee base. Our inability to manage growth effectively could cause our operating costs to grow even faster than we currently anticipate and adversely affect our results of operations.

Risks Related to Milk’s Business and Industry

The cosmetics industry is highly competitive, and if we are unable to compete effectively, our results will suffer.

We face vigorous competition from companies throughout the world, including large multinational consumer products companies that have many cosmetics brands under ownership and standalone beauty and cosmetics brands, including those that may target the latest trends or specific distribution channels. Competition in the cosmetics industry is based on the introduction of new products, pricing of products, quality of products, quality of packaging, brand awareness, perceived value and quality, innovation, distribution and in-store presence and visibility, promotional activities, advertising, editorials, e-commerce and mobile commerce initiatives and other activities. We must compete with a high volume of new product introductions and existing products by diverse companies across several different distribution channels.

Many multinational consumer companies have greater financial, technical or marketing resources, longer operating histories, greater brand recognition or larger customer bases than we do and may be able to respond more effectively to changing business and economic conditions than we can. Our competitors may attempt to gain market share by offering products at prices at or below the prices at which our products are typically offered, including through the use of large percentage discounts. Competitive pricing may require us to reduce our prices, which would decrease our profitability or result in lost sales. Our competitors, many of whom have greater resources than we do, may be better able to withstand these price reductions and lost sales. Our competitors may also leverage their scale for advantageous in-store support at retailers or for advantages in procuring raw materials or using up capacity at third-party manufacturers or warehouses that we cannot replicate given our size.

It is difficult for us to predict the timing and scale of our competitors' activities in these areas or whether new competitors will emerge in the cosmetics industry. In recent years, numerous online, "indie" and influencer-backed cosmetics companies have emerged and garnered significant followings. In addition, further technological breakthroughs, including new and enhanced technologies that increase competition in the online retail market, new product offerings by competitors and the strength and success of our competitors' marketing programs may impede our growth and the implementation of our business strategy.

Our ability to compete also depends on the continued strength of our brand and products, the success of our marketing, innovation and execution strategies, the continued diversity of our product offerings, the successful management of new product introductions and innovations, strong operational execution, including in order fulfillment, and our success in entering new markets and expanding our business in existing geographies. If we are unable to continue to compete effectively, it could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our new product introductions may not be as successful as we anticipate.

The cosmetics industry is driven in part by beauty trends, which may shift quickly. Our continued success depends on our ability to anticipate, gauge and react in a timely and cost-effective manner to changes in consumer preferences for cosmetics products, consumer attitudes toward the cosmetics industry and brand and where and how consumers shop for and use these products. We must continually work to develop, produce and market new products, maintain and enhance the recognition of our brand, maintain a favorable mix of products and develop our approach as to how and where we market and sell our products.

We have an established process for the development of our new products. Nonetheless, each new product launch involves risks, as well as the possibility of unexpected consequences. For example, the acceptance of new product launches and sales to our retailers may not be as high as we anticipate due to factors such as lack of acceptance of the products themselves or their price, or limited effectiveness of our marketing strategies. In addition, our ability to launch new products may be limited by delays or difficulties affecting the ability of our suppliers or manufacturers to timely manufacture, distribute and ship new products. We may also experience a decrease in sales of certain existing products as a result of newly launched products. Any of these occurrences could delay or impede our ability to achieve our sales objectives, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Any damage to our reputation or brand or dilution of our brand uniqueness may materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We believe that developing and maintaining our unique brand position and a strong reputation is critical and that our financial success is directly dependent on consumer perception of our brand. Furthermore, the importance of brand recognition and perceived uniqueness may become even greater as competitors offer more products similar to our products.

We have relatively low brand awareness among consumers when compared to other cosmetics brands and maintaining and enhancing the recognition and reputation of our brand is critical to our business and future growth. Many factors, some of which are beyond our control, are important to maintaining our reputation and brand. These factors include our ability to comply with ethical, social, product, labor and environmental standards. Any actual or perceived failure in compliance with such standards could damage our reputation and brand.

The growth of our brand depends largely on our ability to provide a high-quality consumer experience, which in turn depends on our ability to bring innovative products to the market at competitive prices that respond to consumer demands and preferences. Additional factors affecting our consumer experience include a reliable and user-friendly website interface and mobile applications for our consumers to browse and purchase products on our e-commerce website. If we are unable to preserve our reputation, enhance our brand recognition or increase positive awareness of our products and Internet platforms, it may be difficult for us to maintain and grow our consumer base, and our business, financial condition and results of operations may be materially and adversely affected.

The success of our brand may also suffer if our marketing plans or product initiatives do not have the desired impact on our brand's image or our ability to attract consumers. Further, our brand value could diminish significantly due to a number of factors, including consumer perception that we have acted in an irresponsible manner, adverse publicity about our products, our failure to maintain the quality of our products, product contamination, the failure of our products to deliver consistently positive consumer experiences, or our products becoming unavailable to consumers.

Our success depends, in part, on the quality, efficacy and safety of our products.

Any loss of confidence on the part of consumers in the ingredients used in our products, whether related to product contamination or product safety or quality failures, actual or perceived, or inclusion of prohibited ingredients, could tarnish the image of our brand and could cause consumers to choose other products. Allegations of contamination or other adverse effects on product safety or suitability for use by a particular consumer, even if untrue, may require us to expend significant time and resources responding to such allegations and could, from time to time, result in a recall of a product from any or all of the markets in which the affected product was distributed. Any such issues or recalls could negatively affect our profitability and brand image.

If our products are found to be, or perceived to be, defective or unsafe, or if they otherwise fail to meet consumers' expectations, our relationships with consumers could suffer, the appeal of our brand could be diminished, we may need to recall some of our products and/or become subject to regulatory action and we could lose sales or market share or become subject to boycotts or liability claims. In addition, third parties may sell counterfeit versions of some of our products. These counterfeit products may pose safety risks, may fail to meet consumers' expectations, and may have a negative impact on our business. Any of these outcomes could result in a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Demand for our products may not increase as rapidly as we anticipate due to a variety of factors, including a weakness in general economic conditions.

Consumer spending habits are affected by, among other things, prevailing economic conditions, levels of employment, salaries and wage rates, consumer confidence and consumer perception of economic conditions. A general slowdown in the U.S. economy and certain international economies or an uncertain economic outlook would adversely affect consumer spending habits, which may, among other things, result in reduced consumer spending, including on cosmetics products, which would have a material adverse effect on our sales and operating results.

We may experience declines in average selling prices of our products which may decrease our net sales.

We may experience a reduction in the average selling price of our products for a myriad of reasons, including, but not limited to, voluntary introduction of price reductions or consumer rebate programs, competition, customer demand and shifts in geographic, channel or product mix to lower priced products. Additionally, in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, we may find we need to discount the price for our products to facilitate sales in uncertain times. Were any of the foregoing to occur, our net sales, operating income and net income may be reduced.

Due to the impact of COVID-19, or other external factors beyond our control, we may experience difficulty sourcing, manufacturing or supplying our products, which would in turn decrease our momentum and net sales and profit potential.

The impact of COVID-19 on the global supply chain has caused a number of challenges that are in many cases beyond our control. To name a few: availability of raw materials and components, production and transport delays, loss of productivity in warehousing and shipping, reduction in our customers' ability to ship from their warehouses to stores, and reductions in stores' ability to properly offer advice and service and to supply our products and service our gondolas in the same way that was done prior to COVID-19. This impact instore is particularly challenging for prestige cosmetics where consumers are paying a premium price in order to be able to access advice and samples among other things that justify paying more instead of purchasing a product in a self-serve environment.

Risks Related to Milk’s Growth and Profitability

We may not be able to successfully implement our growth strategy.

Our future growth, profitability and cash flows depend upon our ability to successfully implement our business strategy, which, in turn, is dependent upon a number of key initiatives, including our ability to:

- grow awareness, relevance and trial of our brand and products;
- source, launch and execute our innovation plans with excellence;
- maintain a regular supply of our core existing products and execute effective go-to-market strategies to grow them;
- maintain and further strengthen our relationships with our retail partners in each market where we operate;
- maintain and enhance our reputation as a provider of high-quality products;
- secure new points of distribution in new markets and retailers;
- maintain the ability to sell our products within our retail partners and operate and ship from our own platforms without interruption;
- enhance the productivity of our brand within our points of distribution;
- maintain and enhance our digital platforms and capabilities;
- execute our go-to-market strategies effectively;
- protect our key talent from leaving;
- ensure that we are able to sell our products to our retailers with attractive margins that deliver profit;
- achieve our growth targets with the financial investments outlined in our plans; and
- predict our growth and manage our financial investments appropriately in order to deliver our targets.

There can be no assurance that we can successfully achieve any or all of the above initiatives in the manner or time period that we expect. Further, achieving these objectives will require investments that may result in short-term cost increases with net sales materializing on a longer-term horizon and therefore may be dilutive to our earnings. We cannot provide any assurance that we will realize, in full or in part, the anticipated benefits we expect our strategy will achieve. The failure to realize those benefits could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our growth and profitability is dependent on a number of factors, and our historical growth may not be indicative of our future growth.

Our historical growth should not be considered as indicative of our future performance. We may not be successful in executing our growth strategy, and even if we achieve our strategic plan, we may not be able to achieve or sustain profitability. In future periods, our revenue could decline, or grow more slowly than we expect. We also may incur significant losses in the future for a number of reasons, including the following risks and the other risks described in this proxy statement/prospectus, and we may encounter unforeseen expenses, difficulties, complications, delays and other unknown factors:

- we may lose one or more significant retailers, or sales of our products through these retailers may decrease;
- the ability of our third-party suppliers to produce our products and of our distributors to distribute our products could be disrupted;
- our products may be the subject of regulatory actions, including, but not limited to, actions by the FDA, the FTC and the Consumer Product Safety Commission (“CPSC”) in the U.S.;
- we may be unable to introduce new products that appeal to consumers or otherwise successfully compete with our competitors in the cosmetics industry;
- we may be unsuccessful in enhancing the recognition and reputation of our brand, and our brand may be damaged as a result of, among other reasons, our failure, or alleged failure, to comply with applicable ethical, social, product, labor or environmental standards;

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- we may experience service interruptions, data corruption, cyber-based attacks or network security breaches which result in the disruption of our operating systems or the loss of confidential information of our consumers;
- we may be unable to retain key members of our senior management team or attract and retain other qualified personnel; and
- we may be affected by any adverse economic conditions in the U.S. or internationally.

We may be unable to grow our business effectively or efficiently, which would harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Growing our business will place a strain on our management team, financial and information systems, supply chain and distribution capacity and other resources. To manage growth effectively, we must continue to enhance our operational, financial and management systems, including our warehouse management and inventory control; maintain and improve our internal controls and disclosure controls and procedures, maintain and improve our information technology systems and procedures and expand, train and manage our employee base. We may not be able to effectively manage this expansion in any one or more of these areas, and any failure to do so could significantly harm our business, financial condition and results of operations. Growing our business may make it difficult for us to adequately predict the expenditures we will need to make in the future. If we do not make the necessary overhead expenditures to accommodate our future growth, we may not be successful in executing our growth strategy, and our results of operations would suffer.

Our operating results have fluctuated in the past and we expect our future quarterly and annual operating results to fluctuate for a variety of reasons.

Some of the factors that could cause our operating results to fluctuate include:

- limited visibility into, and difficulty predicting from quarter to quarter, the level of activity in our customers' practices;
- changes in the technology or advertising landscape that increase costs for consumer reach, engagement, acquisition or conversion;
- changes in geographic, channel, or product mix;
- weakness in consumer spending as a result of a slowdown in the global, U.S. or other economies;
- higher manufacturing costs;
- competition in general and competitive developments in the market;
- changes in relationships with our customers and distributors, including timing of orders;
- changes in the timing of when revenues are recognized, including as a result of the timing of receipt of product orders and shipments, the introduction of new products, product offerings or promotions, modifications to our terms and conditions or as a result of new accounting pronouncements or changes to critical accounting estimates;
- fluctuations in currency exchange rates against the U.S. dollar;
- our inability to scale, suspend or reduce production based on variations in product demand;
- seasonal fluctuations in demand;
- success of or changes to our marketing programs from quarter to quarter;
- increased advertising or marketing efforts or aggressive price competition from competitors;
- changes to our effective tax rate;
- unanticipated delays and disruptions in the manufacturing process caused by insufficient capacity or availability of raw materials, turnover in the labor force or the introduction of new production processes, power outages or natural or other disasters beyond our control;
- underutilization of manufacturing facilities;

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- major changes in available technology or the preferences of customers may cause our current product offerings to become less competitive or obsolete;
- costs and expenditures in connection with litigation;
- costs and expenditures in connection with the establishment of treatment planning and fabrication facilities in international locations;
- costs and expenditures in connection with the hiring and deployment of direct sales force personnel;
- unanticipated delays in our receipt of customer records for any reason;
- disruptions to our business due to political, economic or other social instability or any governmental regulatory or similar actions, including the impact of a pandemic such as the COVID-19 pandemic, any of which results in changes in consumer spending habits or consumers being unable or unwilling to visit spas, as well as any impact on workforce absenteeism;
- inaccurate forecasting of net sales, production and other operating costs;
- investments in research and development to develop new products and enhancements; and
- timing of industry tradeshow.

To respond to these and other factors, we may make business decisions that adversely affect our operating results such as modifications to our pricing policy, promotions, development efforts, product releases, business structure or operations. Most of our expenses, such as employee compensation, are relatively fixed in the short term. Moreover, our expense levels are based, in part, on our expectations regarding future revenue levels. As a result, if our net revenues for a particular period fall below expectations, we may be unable to adjust spending quickly enough to offset any shortfall in net revenues. Due to these and other factors, we believe that quarter-to-quarter comparisons of our operating results may not be meaningful. You should not rely on our results for any one quarter as an indication of our future performance.

We have a history of net losses and may experience future losses.

We have a history of net losses and may not be able to establish profitable operations. We reported net losses of $12.9 million and $11.0 million during the fiscal years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. We may incur additional operating losses in the future. Furthermore, our strategic plan will require a significant investment in product development, sales, marketing, personnel, technology and administrative programs, which may not result in the accelerated net sales growth that we anticipate. As a result, there can be no assurance that we will ever generate substantial net sales or achieve or sustain profitability.

Risks Related to Milk's Business Operations

A disruption in our operations could materially and adversely affect our business.

As a company engaged in distribution on a global scale, our operations, including those of our third-party suppliers, brokers and delivery service providers, are subject to the risks inherent in such activities, including industrial accidents, environmental events, strikes and other labor disputes, disruptions in information systems, product quality control, safety, licensing requirements and other regulatory issues, as well as natural disasters, pandemics (such as the COVID-19 pandemic), border disputes, acts of terrorism and other external factors over which we and our third-party suppliers, brokers and delivery service providers have no control. The loss of, or damage to, the manufacturing facilities or distribution centers of our third-party suppliers, brokers and delivery service providers could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We depend heavily on contracted third-party delivery service providers to deliver our products to our distribution facilities and logistics retailers, and from there to our retailers. Interruptions to or failures in these delivery services could prevent the timely or successful delivery of our products.

These interruptions or failures may be due to unforeseen events that are beyond our control or the control of our third-party delivery service providers, such as inclement weather, natural disasters or labor unrest. If our products are not delivered on time or are delivered in a damaged state, retailers and customers may refuse to accept our products and have less confidence in our services.

Our ability to meet the needs of our customers depends on the proper operation of our third-party distribution facilities, where most of our inventory that is not in transit is housed. Our insurance coverage may not be sufficient to cover the full extent of any loss or damage to our inventory or distribution facilities, and any loss, damage or disruption of the facilities, or loss or damage of the inventory stored there, could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The recent outbreak of the COVID-19 global pandemic and related government, private sector and individual consumer responsive actions have adversely affected, and could continue to adversely affect, our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The outbreak of the COVID-19 virus has been declared a pandemic by the World Health Organization and continues to spread in the U.S. and around the world. Related government and private sector responsive actions, as well as changes in consumer spending behaviors, have adversely affected, and could continue to adversely affect, our business, financial condition and results of operations. It is impossible to know the effect and ultimate impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, as the situation is rapidly evolving.

In response to the spread of the COVID-19 virus, international, federal, state and local governments have in the past and could again in the future order the shutdown of non-essential businesses and have recommended precautions to mitigate the spread of the COVID-19 virus, including warning against congregating in heavily populated areas, such as malls, shopping centers, and other retailers. The outbreak and global spread of the COVID-19 virus has significantly disrupted our operating environment, including manufacturing, distribution, and the ability of many of our retailers to operate, including as a result of closures and reduced customer traffic at Sephora retail stores. We have also seen shifts in consumer preferences and practices. There is significant uncertainty around the breadth and duration of business disruptions related to the COVID-19 virus, as well as its impact on the U.S. and global economy and our consumers' spending habits.

While our suppliers and distribution centers currently remain open, there is a risk that any of these facilities (i) may become less productive or encounter disruptions due to employees at the facilities becoming infected with the COVID-19 virus and/or (ii) will no longer be allowed to operate based on directives from public health officials or government authorities. Additionally, there is a risk of decreased, or further decreased, demand if our retailers are no longer allowed to operate based on directives from public health officials or government authorities.

As a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, we have needed to have many of our personnel work remotely and it is possible that this could have a negative impact on the execution of our business plans and operations. If a natural disaster, power outage, connectivity issue, or other event occurs that impacts our employees' ability to work remotely, it may be difficult or, in certain cases, impossible, for us to continue our business for a substantial period of time. The increase in remote working may also result in consumer privacy, information technology security and fraud concerns as well as increase our exposure to potential wage and hour issues.

The uncertainty around the duration of business disruptions and the extent of the spread of the COVID-19 virus in the U.S. and to other areas of the world will likely continue to adversely impact the national or global economy and negatively impact consumer spending and shopping behaviors. If the pandemic worsens, we may see a further drop in the ability of our retailers to operate or in the willingness of consumers to purchase beauty products. Any of these outcomes could have an adverse impact on our business, financial condition and results of operations. The extent to which the COVID-19 pandemic impacts our results will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted with confidence, including new information that may emerge concerning the severity of the COVID-19 pandemic and the actions taken to contain it or treat our impact.

Our success depends, in part, on our retention of key members of our senior management team and ability to attract and retain qualified personnel.

Our success depends, in part, on our ability to retain our key employees, including our executive officers, senior management team and development, operations, finance, sales and marketing personnel. We are a small company that relies on a few key employees, any one of whom would be difficult to replace and, because we are a small company, we believe that the loss of key employees may be more disruptive to us than it would be to a larger company. Our success also depends, in part, on our continuing ability to identify, hire, train and retain other highly qualified personnel. In addition, we may be unable to effectively plan for the succession of senior management, including our chief executive officer. The loss of key personnel or the failure to attract and retain qualified personnel may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

We rely on a number of third-party suppliers, distributors and other vendors, and they may not continue to produce products or provide services that are consistent with our standards or applicable regulatory requirements, which could harm our brand, cause consumer dissatisfaction and require us to find alternative suppliers of our products.

We use multiple third-party suppliers based in the U.S. and overseas to source substantially all of our products. Certain of these third-party suppliers manufacture components and packaging while other third-party suppliers will fill and assemble the product. We engage our third-party suppliers on a purchase order basis and are not party to long-term contracts with any of them. The ability of these third parties to supply our products may be affected by competing orders placed by other persons and the demands of those persons. If we experience significant increases in demand or need to replace a significant number of existing suppliers, there can be no assurance that additional supply capacity will be available when required on terms that are acceptable to us, or at all, or that any supplier will allocate sufficient capacity to us in order to meet our requirements.

In addition, quality control problems, such as the use of ingredients and delivery of products that do not meet our quality control standards and specifications or comply with applicable laws or regulations, could harm our business. These quality control problems could result in regulatory action, such as restrictions on importation, products of inferior quality or product stock outages or shortages, harming our sales and creating inventory write-downs for unusable products.

Further, our third-party suppliers and distributors may:

- have economic or business interests or goals that are inconsistent with ours;
- take actions contrary to our instructions, requests, policies or objectives;
- be unable or unwilling to fulfill their obligations under relevant purchase orders, including obligations to meet our production deadlines, quality standards, pricing guidelines and product specifications, or to comply with applicable regulations, including those regarding the safety and quality of products and ingredients and good manufacturing practices;
- have financial difficulties;
- encounter raw material or labor shortages;
- encounter increases in raw material or labor costs which may affect our procurement costs;
- disclose our confidential information or intellectual property to competitors or third parties;
- engage in activities or employ practices that may harm our reputation; and
- work with, be acquired by, or come under control of our competitors.

The occurrence of any of these events, alone or together, could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, such problems may require us to find new third-party suppliers or distributors, and there can be no assurance that we would be successful in finding third-party suppliers or distributors meeting our standards of innovation and quality.

The management and oversight of the engagement and activities of our third-party suppliers and distributors requires substantial time, effort and expense of our employees, and we may be unable to successfully manage and oversee the activities of our third-party suppliers and distributors. If we experience any supply chain disruptions caused by our inability to locate suitable third-party suppliers, or if our raw material suppliers experience problems with product quality or disruptions or delivery of the raw materials or components used to make such products, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected.

We maintain supply relationships for certain key components, and our business and operating results could be harmed if supply is restricted or ends, or the price of raw materials used in our manufacturing process increases.

We are dependent on a limited number of suppliers for certain components that are integral to our finished products. If these or other suppliers encounter financial, operating or other difficulties or if our relationship with them changes, we may be unable to quickly establish or qualify replacement sources of supply and we could face production interruptions, delays and inefficiencies. In addition, technology changes by our vendors could disrupt access to required manufacturing capacity or require expensive, time-consuming development efforts to adapt and integrate new equipment or processes. Our growth may exceed the capacity of one or more of these suppliers to produce the needed equipment and materials in sufficient quantities to support our growth. Any one of these factors could harm our business and growth prospects.

The loss of a significant reseller could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We sell the majority of our products in the U.S. through Sephora. In the U.S., Sephora accounted for approximately 56% and 78% of our net sales during the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. Our Chinese distributor purchases our products directly from us and we also sell products direct to consumers through our website, milkmakeup.com. The loss of our relationship with Sephora or any of our other distributors could have a material and adverse impact on our future operating results.

The design, development, manufacture and sale of our products involve the risk of product liability and other claims by consumers and other third parties, and our insurance may be insufficient to cover any such claims.

The design, development, manufacture and sale of our products involves an inherent risk of product liability claims and the associated adverse publicity. We regularly monitor the use of our products for trends or increases in reports of adverse events or product complaints. In some, but not all, cases, an increase in adverse event reports may be an indication that there has been a change in a product's specifications or efficacy. Such changes could lead to a recall of the product in question or, in some cases, increases in product liability claims related to the product in question. Although we maintain general liability and product liability insurance, the scope and limits of such insurance may not be sufficient to cover the types or extent of liability claims or loss, including, without limitation, liability claims or loss relating to product liability that may be incurred or received. There also may be product liability risks for which we do not maintain or procure insurance coverage or for which the insurance coverage may not cover or be adequate. If we incur any product liability loss that is not covered by our general liability or product liability insurance policies, or any net insurance recovery is less than our actual loss, then there may be a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

We could also be subject to a variety of other types of claims, proceedings, investigations and litigation initiated by government agencies or third parties. These include compliance matters, product regulation or safety, taxes, employee benefit plans, employment discrimination, health and safety, environmental, antitrust, customs, import/export, government contract compliance, financial controls or reporting, intellectual property, allegations of misrepresentation, false claims or false statements, commercial claims, claims regarding promotion of our products and services, shareholder derivative suits or other similar matters. Negative publicity, whether accurate or inaccurate, about the efficacy, safety or side effects of our products or product categories, whether involving us or a competitor, could materially reduce market acceptance of our products, cause consumers to seek alternatives to our products, result in product withdrawals and cause our stock price to decline. Negative publicity could also result in an increased number of product liability claims, whether or not these claims have a basis in scientific fact. Any such claims, proceedings, investigations or litigation, regardless of the merits, might result in substantial costs, restrictions on product use or sales, or otherwise injure our business.

If we fail to manage our inventory effectively, our results of operations, financial condition and liquidity may be materially and adversely affected.

Our business requires us to manage a large volume of inventory effectively. We depend on our forecasts of demand for, and popularity of, various products to make purchase decisions and to manage our inventory of stock-keeping units. Demand for products, however, can change significantly between the time inventory or components are ordered and the date of sale. Demand may be affected by seasonality, new product launches, rapid changes in product cycles and pricing, product defects, promotions, changes in consumer spending patterns, changes in consumer tastes with respect to our products and other factors, and consumers may not purchase products in the quantities that we expect. It may be difficult to accurately forecast demand and determine appropriate levels of product or componentry. If we fail to manage our inventory effectively or negotiate favorable credit terms with third-party suppliers, we may be subject to a heightened risk of inventory obsolescence, a decline in inventory values, and significant inventory write-downs or write-offs. In addition, if we are required to lower sale prices in order to reduce inventory level or to pay higher prices to our suppliers, our profit margins might be negatively affected. Any of the above may materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

To grow, we will need to increase the size of our organization, and we may encounter difficulties managing our growth, which could adversely affect our results of operations.

If we are able to successfully develop additional products and extend the use of our current products and/or expand our existing distribution channels, we may experience growth in the number of our employees and the scope of our operations. To the extent that we acquire and launch additional products, the resulting growth and expansion of our sales force will place a significant demand on our financial, managerial and operational resources. Since many of the new products or systems we are working on may involve new technologies or entering new markets, we may not be able to accurately forecast the number of employees required and the timing of their hire or the associated costs. The extent of any expansion we may experience will be driven largely by the success of our new products and systems and alternative distribution channels. As a result, management's ability to project the size of any such expansion and its cost to the company is limited by the following uncertainties: (1) we will not have previously sold any of the new products and technologies and the ultimate success of these new products and technologies is unknown; (2) we will be entering new markets and/or distribution channels; and (3) the costs associated with any expansion will be partially driven by factors that may not be fully in our control (e.g., timing of hire, market salary rates). Subject to these uncertainties, we believe that our current business plan may require us to hire between 20-40 new employees within the next 12 months at an incremental cost of between $2.0 million to $4.0 million. Due to the uncertainty surrounding the timing of our strategic initiatives, new product lines or the stabilization of the global markets, our costs to hire significant numbers of new employees could be higher than anticipated. Our success will also depend on the ability of our executive officers and senior management team to continue to implement and improve our operational, information management and financial control systems, and to expand, train and manage our employee base. Our inability to manage growth effectively could cause our operating costs to grow even faster than we currently anticipate and adversely affect our results of operations.

A disruption in the operations of any of our freight carriers or higher shipping costs could cause a decline in our net revenues or a reduction in our earnings.

We are dependent on commercial freight carriers to deliver our products both within the U.S. and internationally. If the operations of these carriers are disrupted for any reason, we may be unable to timely deliver our products to our customers. If we cannot deliver our products on time and cost effectively, our customers may choose competitive offerings causing our net revenues and gross margins to decline, possibly materially. In a rising fuel cost environment, our freight costs would increase. In addition, we earn an increasingly larger portion of our total revenues from international sales. International sales carry higher shipping costs which could negatively impact our gross margin and results of operations. If freight costs materially increase and we are unable to pass that increase along to our customers for any reason or otherwise offset such increases in our cost of net revenues, our gross margin and financial results could be adversely affected.

A disruption in the operations of any of our retail partners could cause a decline in our net revenues or a reduction in our earnings.

We are dependent on our retail partnerships, especially with Sephora, to deliver our results. Any disruption to their ability to properly receive, deliver, service, promote or market our brand and products would negatively impact us.

A negative reputation event to any of our retail partners or our industry could cause a decline in our net revenues or a reduction in our earnings.

We are dependent on our retail partnerships, especially with Sephora, to deliver our results. Any negative impact to their reputation that could cause a reduction in consumer traffic would negatively impact us. Furthermore, we operate in a single category, or subset of categories, within beauty. Any event which causes the entire industry to be negatively perceived would also potentially negatively impact us.

In order to deepen our market penetration and raise awareness of our brand and products, we have increased the amount we spend on marketing activities, which may not ultimately prove successful or an effective use of our resources.

To increase awareness of our products and services domestically and internationally, we have increased the amount we spend and anticipate spending in the future on marketing activities. Our marketing efforts and costs are significant and include national and regional campaigns involving outdoor media, social media, additional placements and alliances with strategic partners. We attempt to structure our advertising/marketing campaigns in ways we believe most likely to increase brand awareness and adoption; however, there is no assurance our campaigns will achieve the returns on advertising spend desired or successfully increase brand or product awareness sufficiently to sustain or increase our growth goals, which could have an adverse effect on our gross margin and business overall.

We rely heavily on our third-party agency and direct sales forces to sell our products in the U.S. and internationally, and any failure to train and maintain our third-party agency and direct sales forces could harm our business.

Our ability to sell our products and generate revenues depends in part upon our third-party agency and direct sales forces within the U.S. and internationally. We do not have any long-term employment contracts with our third-party agency and direct sales forces and the loss of the services provided by these key personnel may harm our business. In order to provide more comprehensive sales and service coverage, we continue to increase the size of our sales force to pursue growth opportunities within and outside of our existing geographic markets. To adequately train new representatives to successfully market and sell our products and for them to establish strong customer relationships takes time. As a result, if we are unable to retain our third-party agency and direct sales personnel or quickly replace them with individuals of equivalent technical expertise and qualifications, if we are unable to successfully instill technical expertise in new and existing sales representatives, if we fail to establish and maintain strong relationships with our customers or if our efforts at specializing our selling techniques do not prove successful and cost-effective, our net revenues, our gross margin and ability to maintain market share could be materially harmed.

Risks Related to Variability of Demand for Milk's Products

Our retailers generally are not under any obligation to purchase our products, and business challenges at one or more of these retailers, could adversely affect our results of operations.

As is typical in our industry, our business with retailers is based primarily upon discrete sales orders, and we do not have contracts requiring retailers to make firm purchases from us. Accordingly, retailers could reduce their purchasing levels or cease buying products from us at any time and for any reason. If we lose a significant reseller or if sales of our products to a significant retailer materially decrease, it could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Because a high percentage of our sales are made through our retailers, our results are subject to risks relating to the general business performance of our retailers, with significant exposure to Sephora. Factors that adversely affect our retailers' businesses may also have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. These factors may include:

- any reduction in consumer traffic and demand at our retailers as a result of economic downturns, pandemics or other health crises, changes in consumer preferences or reputational damage as a result of, among other developments, data privacy breaches, regulatory investigations or employee misconduct;
- any credit risks associated with the financial condition of our retailers; and
- the effect of consolidation or weakness in the retail industry or at certain retailers, including store closures and the resulting uncertainty.

Risks Related to Milk's Financial Condition

If our cash from operations is not sufficient to meet our current or future operating needs, expenditures and debt service obligations, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be materially and adversely affected.

We may require additional cash resources due to changed business conditions or other future developments, including any marketing initiatives, investments or acquisitions we may decide to pursue. To the extent we are unable to generate sufficient cash flow, we may be forced to cancel, reduce or delay these activities. Alternatively, if our sources of funding are insufficient to satisfy our cash requirements, we may seek to refinance or expand our credit facility. The incurrence of additional indebtedness would result in increased debt service obligations and operating and financing covenants that could restrict our operations.

Our ability to generate cash to meet our operating needs, expenditures and debt service obligations will depend on our future performance and financial condition, which will be affected by financial, business, economic, legislative, regulatory and other factors, including potential changes in costs, pricing, the success of product innovation and marketing, competitive pressure and consumer preferences. If our cash flows and capital resources are insufficient to fund our debt service obligations and other cash needs, we could face substantial liquidity problems and could be forced to reduce or delay investments and capital expenditures or to dispose of material assets or operations, seek additional debt or equity capital or restructure or refinance our indebtedness. Our credit facilities may restrict our ability to take these actions, and we may not be able to affect any such alternative measures on commercially reasonable terms, or at all. Furthermore, it is uncertain whether financing will be available in amounts or on terms acceptable to us, if at all, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Fluctuations in currency exchange rates may negatively affect our financial condition and results of operations.

Exchange rate fluctuations may affect the costs that we incur in our operations. The main currencies to which we are exposed are the British pound, the Canadian dollar, the Chinese yuan and the E.U. euro. The exchange rates between these currencies and the U.S. dollar in recent years have fluctuated significantly and may continue to do so in the future. A depreciation of these currencies against the U.S. dollar will decrease the U.S. dollar equivalent of the amounts derived from foreign operations reported in our consolidated financial statements, and an appreciation of these currencies will result in a corresponding increase in such amounts. The cost of certain items, such as raw materials, manufacturing, employee salaries and transportation and freight, required by our operations may be affected by changes in the value of the relevant currencies. To the extent that we are required to pay for goods or services in foreign currencies, the appreciation of such currencies against the U.S. dollar will tend to negatively affect our business. There can be no assurance that foreign currency fluctuations will not have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

If our goodwill or long-lived assets become impaired, we may be required to record a significant charge to earnings.

Under GAAP, we review our goodwill and long-lived asset group for impairment when events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying value may not be recoverable. Additionally, goodwill is required to be tested for impairment at least annually. The qualitative and quantitative analysis used to test goodwill are dependent upon various assumptions and reflect management's best estimates. Changes in certain assumptions including revenue growth rates, discount rates, earnings multiples and future cash flows may cause a change in circumstances indicating that the carrying value of goodwill or the asset group may be impaired. We may be required to record a significant charge to earnings in the financial statements during the period in which any impairment of goodwill or asset group is determined.

Our loan agreement governing our line of credit imposes restrictions on our business that may limit our business opportunities and hinder our ability to execute our business strategy.

In October 2019, we entered into a Loan and Security Agreement (the "Loan and Security Agreement") with a commercial lender, which provides us with a line of credit (the "Line of Credit"), which matures on April 10, 2022. The Loan and Security Agreement contains certain financial maintenance and other affirmative and negative covenants.

Although we were in compliance with all requirements under the Loan and Security Agreement as of December 31, 2020, our future ability to comply with such requirements may be affected by events beyond our control, including prevailing economic, financial and industry conditions. An event of default under the Loan and Security Agreement would permit the lender thereunder to exercise remedies, including declaring all relevant amounts to be due and payable and exercising remedies with respect to the collateral securing our obligations thereunder.

Our management has concluded that a restatement of our presentation on the balance sheets dated as of December 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019 was necessary due to certain reclassifications which have been made to the financial statements. Due to this restatement, management has discovered a material weakness in internal control over financial reporting. If we are unable to maintain an effective system of disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting, we may not be able to accurately report our financial results in a timely manner, which may adversely affect investor confidence in us and materially and adversely affect our business and financial results.

Management concluded that it was appropriate to restate our balance sheets as of December 31, 2020 and 2019 due to certain revisions related to off-price retailer revenue recognition, inventory write-off, equity appreciable rights and redeemable preferred units. These restatement adjustments resulted in no change to our total assets or operating results. However, as part of such process, we identified a material weakness in our internal control over financial reporting.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of our annual or interim financial statements will not be prevented or detected and corrected on a timely basis. Effective internal controls are necessary for us to provide reliable financial reports and prevent fraud. Management is in the process of developing a remediation plan. The material weakness will not be considered remediated until management designs and implements effective controls that operate for a sufficient period of time and management has concluded through testing that these controls are effective. Management will monitor the effectiveness of its remediation plans and will make changes determined to be appropriate. There is no assurance that any remediation efforts will ultimately have the intended effects.

If we identify any new material weaknesses in the future, any such newly identified material weakness could limit our ability to prevent or detect a misstatement of our accounts or disclosures that could result in a material misstatement of our annual or interim financial statements. In such case, we may be unable to maintain compliance with securities law requirements regarding timely filing of periodic reports in addition to applicable stock exchange listing requirements, investors may lose confidence in our financial reporting and our stock price may decline as a result. We cannot assure you that the measures we have taken to date, or any measures we may take in the future, will be sufficient to avoid potential future material weaknesses.

Risks Related to Information Technology and Cybersecurity

We are increasingly dependent on information technology, and if we are unable to protect against service interruptions, data corruption, cyber-based attacks or network security breaches, our operations could be disrupted.

We rely on information technology networks and systems to market and sell our products, to process electronic and financial information, to assist with sales tracking and reporting, to manage a variety of business processes and activities and to comply with regulatory, legal and tax requirements. We are increasingly dependent on a variety of information systems to effectively process consumer orders from our e-commerce business. We depend on our information technology infrastructure for digital marketing activities and for electronic communications among our personnel, retailers, customers, consumers, distributors and suppliers around the world. These information technology systems, some of which are managed by third parties, may be susceptible to damage, disruptions or shutdowns due to failures during the process of upgrading or replacing software, databases or components, power outages, hardware failures, computer viruses, attacks by computer hackers, telecommunication failures, user errors or catastrophic events. Any material disruption of our systems, or the systems of our third-party service providers, could disrupt our ability to track, record and analyze the products that we sell and could negatively impact our operations, shipment of goods, ability to process financial information and transactions and our ability to receive and process provider and e-commerce orders or engage in normal business activities. If our information technology systems suffer damage, disruption or shutdown, we may incur substantial cost in repairing or replacing these systems, and if we do not effectively resolve the issues in a timely manner, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be materially and adversely affected, and we could experience delays in reporting our financial results.

Our e-commerce operations are important to our business. Our e-commerce website serves as an effective extension of our marketing strategies by introducing potential new consumers to our brand, product offerings, retailers and enhanced content. Due to the importance of our e-commerce operations, we are vulnerable to website downtime and other technical failures. Our failure to successfully respond to these risks in a timely manner could reduce e-commerce sales and damage our brand's reputation.

We must successfully maintain and upgrade our information technology systems, and our failure to do so could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We have identified the need to expand and improve our information technology systems and personnel to support expected future growth. These types of activities subject us to inherent costs and risks associated with replacing and changing these systems, including impairment of our ability to leverage our e-commerce channels, fulfill provider and customer orders, potential disruption of our internal control structure, substantial capital expenditures, additional administration and operating expenses, acquisition and retention of sufficiently skilled personnel to implement and operate the new systems, demands on management time and other risks and costs of delays or difficulties in transitioning to or integrating new systems into our current systems. These implementations, modifications and upgrades may not result in productivity improvements at a level that outweighs the costs of implementation, or at all. In addition, difficulties with implementing new technology systems, delays in our timeline for planned improvements, significant system failures, or our inability to successfully modify our information systems to respond to changes in our business needs may cause disruptions in our business operations and have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

If we fail to adopt new technologies or adapt our e-commerce website and systems to changing consumer requirements or emerging industry standards, our business may be materially and adversely affected.

To remain competitive, we must continue to enhance and improve the responsiveness, functionality and features of our information technology networks and systems, including our e-commerce website. Our competitors are continually innovating and introducing new products to increase their consumer base and enhance user experience. As a result, in order to attract and retain consumers and compete against our competitors, we must continue to invest resources to enhance our information technology and improve our existing products and services for our consumers. The Internet and the online retail industry are characterized by rapid technological evolution, changes in consumer requirements and preferences, frequent introductions of new products and services embodying new technologies and the emergence of new industry standards and practices, any of which could render our existing technologies and systems obsolete. Our success will depend, in part, on our ability to identify, develop, acquire or license leading technologies useful in our business, and respond to technological advances and emerging industry standards and practices in a cost-effective and timely way. The development of our e-commerce website and other proprietary technology entails significant technical and business risks. There can be no assurance that we will be able to properly implement or use new technologies effectively or adapt our e-commerce website and systems to meet consumer requirements or emerging industry standards. If we are unable to adapt in a cost-effective and timely manner in response to changing market conditions or consumer requirements, whether for technical, legal, financial or other reasons, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be materially and adversely affected.

Failure to protect sensitive information of our consumers and information technology systems against security breaches could damage our reputation and brand and substantially harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We collect, maintain, transmit and store data about our consumers, suppliers and others, including personal data and financial information, consumer payment information, as well as other confidential and proprietary information important to our business.

We have in place technical and organizational measures to maintain the security and safety of critical proprietary, personal, employee, provider and financial data that we continue to maintain and upgrade to industry standards. However, advances in technology, the pernicious ingenuity of criminals, new exposures via cryptography, acts or omissions by our employees, contractors or service providers or other events or developments could result in a compromise or breach in the security of confidential or personal data. We and our service providers may not be able to prevent third parties, including criminals, competitors or others, from breaking into or altering our systems, disrupting business operations or communications infrastructure through denial-of-service attacks, attempting to gain access to our systems, information or monetary funds through phishing or social engineering campaigns, installing viruses or malicious software (including ransomware) on our e-commerce website or devices used by our employees or contractors, or carrying out other activity intended to disrupt our systems or gain access to confidential or sensitive information in our or our service providers' systems. We are not aware of any breach or compromise of the personal data of consumers, but we have been subject to attacks in the past (phishing, denial of service, etc.), and we cannot guarantee that our security measures will be sufficient to prevent a material breach or compromise in the future.

Furthermore, such third parties may engage in various other illegal activities using such information, including credit card fraud or identity theft, which may cause additional harm to us, our consumers and our brand. We may also be vulnerable to error or malfeasance by our own employees or other insiders. Third parties may attempt to fraudulently induce our or our service providers' employees to misdirect funds or to disclose information in order to gain access to personal data we maintain about our consumers or website users. In addition, we have limited control or influence over the security policies or measures adopted by third-party retailers of online payment services through which some of our consumers may elect to make payment for purchases at our e-commerce website. Contracted third-party delivery service providers may also violate their confidentiality or data processing obligations and disclose or use information about our consumers inadvertently or illegally.

If a material security breach were to occur, our reputation and brand could be damaged, and we could be required to expend significant capital and other resources to alleviate problems caused by such breach, including exposure to litigation or regulatory action and a risk of loss and possible liability. Actual or anticipated attacks may cause us to incur increasing costs, including costs to deploy additional personnel and protection technologies, train employees and engage third-party experts and consultants. Any compromise or breach of our security measures, or those of our third-party service providers, may violate applicable privacy, data security, financial, cyber and other laws and cause significant legal and financial exposure, adverse publicity, and a loss of confidence in our security measures, all of which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. We may be subject to post-breach review of the adequacy of our privacy and security controls by regulators and other third parties, which could result in post-breach regulatory investigation, fines and consumer litigation as well as regulatory oversight, at significant expense and risking reputational harm.

Furthermore, we are subject to diverse laws and regulations in the U.S., the E.U., and other international jurisdictions that require notification to affected individuals in the event of a breach involving personal information. These required notifications can be time-consuming and costly. The interpretation, standards and enforcement practices relating to these laws and regulations may change in the future. Furthermore, failure to comply with these laws and regulations could subject us to regulatory scrutiny and additional liability, including injunctions, fines and/or other proceedings. Although we maintain relevant insurance, we cannot be certain that our insurance coverage will be adequate for all breach-related liabilities or that insurance will continue to be available to us on economically reasonable terms, or at all. We may need to devote significant resources to protect against security breaches or to address problems caused by breaches, diverting resources from the growth and expansion of our business.

Payment methods used on our e-commerce website subject us to third-party payment processing-related risks.

We accept payments from our consumers using a variety of methods, including online payments with credit cards and debit cards issued by major banks, payments made with gift cards processed by third-party retailers and payments through third-party online payment platforms such as PayPal, Afterpay and Apple Pay. We also rely on third parties to provide payment processing services. For certain payment methods, including credit and debit cards, we pay interchange and other fees, which may increase over time and raise our operating costs and lower our profit margins. We may also be subject to fraud and other illegal activities in connection with the various payment methods we offer, including online payment options and gift cards. Transactions on our e-commerce website are card-not-present transactions, so they present a greater risk of fraud. Criminals are using increasingly sophisticated methods to engage in illegal activities such as unauthorized use of credit or debit cards and bank account information. Requirements relating to consumer authentication and fraud detection with respect to online sales are complex. We may ultimately be held liable for the unauthorized use of a cardholder's card number in an illegal activity and be required by card issuers to pay charge-back fees. Charge-backs result not only in our loss of fees earned with respect to the payment, but also leave us liable for the underlying money transfer amount. If our charge-back rate becomes excessive, card associations also may require us to pay fines or refuse to process our transactions. In addition, we may be subject to additional fraud risk if third-party service providers or our employees fraudulently use consumer information for their own gain or facilitate the fraudulent use of such information. Overall, we may have little recourse if we process a criminally fraudulent transaction.

We are subject to payment card association operating rules, certification requirements and various rules, regulations and requirements governing electronic funds transfers, which could change or be reinterpreted to make it difficult or impossible for us to comply. As our business changes, we may also be subject to different rules under existing standards, which may require new assessments that involve costs above what we currently pay for compliance. If we fail to comply with the rules or requirements of any provider of a payment method we accept, or if the volume of fraud in our transactions limits or terminates our rights to use payment methods we currently accept, or if a data breach occurs relating to our payment systems, among other things, we may be subject to fines and higher transaction fees and lose our ability to accept credit and debit card payments from our consumers, process electronic funds transfers or facilitate other types of online payments, and our reputation and our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected.

Risks Related to Conducting Business Internationally

International sales and operations comprise an increasingly significant portion of our business, which exposes us to foreign operational, political and other risks that may harm our business.

We generate an increasing share of our revenue from international sales and maintain international operations, including supply and distribution chains that are, and will continue to be, an increasingly significant part of our business. Since our growth strategy depends in part on our ability to penetrate international markets and increase the localization of our products and services, we expect to continue to increase our sales and presence outside the U.S., particularly in markets we believe to have high-growth potential. The substantial up-front investment required, the lack of consumer awareness of our products in certain jurisdictions outside of the U.S., differences in consumer preferences and trends between the U.S. and other jurisdictions, the risk of inadequate intellectual property protections and differences in packaging, labeling and related laws, rules and regulations are all substantial matters that need to be evaluated prior to doing business in new jurisdictions, and which make the success of our international efforts uncertain.

Moreover, our international operations expose us to other risks and uncertainties that are customarily encountered in non-U.S. operations and that may have a material effect on our results of operations and business as a whole, including:

- local political and economic instability;
- increased expense of developing, testing and making localized versions of our products;
- difficulties in hiring and retaining employees;
- differing employment practices and laws and labor disruptions;
- pandemics, such as the COVID-19 pandemic, and natural disasters;
- difficulties in managing international operations, including any travel restrictions imposed on us or our customers, such as those imposed in response to the COVID-19 pandemic;
- fluctuations in currency exchange rates;
- foreign exchange controls that could make it difficult to repatriate earnings and cash;
- import and export controls, license requirements and restrictions;
- controlling production volume and quality of the manufacturing process;
- acts of terrorism and acts of war;
- general geopolitical instability and the responses to it, such as the possibility of economic sanctions, trade restrictions and changes in tariffs (e.g., recent economic sanctions implemented by the U.S. against China and Russia and tariffs imposed by the U.S. and China);
- interruptions and limitations in telecommunication services;
- product or material transportation delays or disruption, including as a result of customs clearance, violence, protests, police and military actions, or natural disasters;
- risks of noncompliance by our employees, contractors, or partners or agents with, and burdens of complying with, a wide variety of extraterritorial, regional and local laws, including competition laws and anti-bribery laws such as the FCPA and the UK Bribery Act 2010, despite our compliance efforts and activities;
- the impact of government-led initiatives to encourage the purchase or support of domestic vendors, which can affect the willingness of customers to purchase products from, or collaborate to promote interoperability of products with, companies whose headquarters or primary operations are not domestic;
- an inability to obtain or maintain adequate intellectual property protection for our brand and products;
- longer payment cycles and greater difficulty in accounts receivable collection;
- a legal system subject to undue influence or corruption;

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- a business culture in which illegal sales practices may be prevalent; and
- potential adverse tax consequences.

If any of the risks outlined above materialize in the future, we could experience production delays and lost or delayed revenues, among other potential negative consequences that could materially impact our international operations and adversely affect our business as a whole.

Adverse economic conditions in the U.S., Europe or any of the other countries in which we may conduct business could negatively affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Consumer spending on cosmetics products is influenced by general economic conditions and the availability of discretionary income. Adverse economic conditions in the U.S., Europe or any of the other jurisdictions in which we do significant business, or periods of inflation or high energy prices, may contribute to higher unemployment levels, decreased consumer spending, reduced credit availability and declining consumer confidence and demand, each of which poses a risk to our business. A decrease in consumer spending or in consumer confidence and demand for our products could have a significant negative impact on our net sales and profitability, including our operating margins and return on invested capital. These economic conditions could cause some of our retailers or suppliers to experience cash flow or credit problems and impair their financial condition, which could disrupt our business and adversely affect product orders, payment patterns and default rates and increase our bad debt expense.

Legal, political and economic conditions surrounding the exit of the United Kingdom from the EU are a source of instability and uncertainty.

On January 31, 2020, the United Kingdom formally withdrew from the EU. Uncertainties regarding trade arrangements between the United Kingdom and the EU resulting from Brexit could result in increased costs or otherwise adversely impact our operations in the EU and the United Kingdom. We distribute our products to our EU and United Kingdom based retailers. Depending on tariffs and trade regulation negotiations, we may be forced to acquire duplicate arrangements in the EU either temporarily or permanently, which may increase our costs in the EU and the United Kingdom.

Further, following Brexit, the United Kingdom's data protection framework has become separate and independent from the EU. In particular, the United Kingdom has transposed the EU's GDPR into UK domestic law, which imposes separate and additional fines for noncompliance (i.e., ranging from £8,700,000 to £17.5 million or 2% to 4% of total worldwide annual revenue, whichever is higher). Thus, if a regulatory issue arose in both the EU and the United Kingdom (e.g., a personal data breach that affected both EU and United Kingdom data subjects), then we would be at risk of receiving administrative fines for any noncompliance from supervisory authorities in the EU, as well as the UK Information Commissioner's Office.

In addition, the longer term economic, legal, political, regulatory and social framework to be put in place between the United Kingdom and the EU following Brexit remains unclear and may continue to have a material and adverse effect on global economic conditions and the stability of global financial markets and may significantly reduce global market liquidity and restrict the ability of key market participants to operate in certain financial markets. Any of these factors could depress economic activity and restrict our access to capital, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We have growing operations in China, which exposes us to risks inherent in doing business in that country.

We currently source components in China and do not have substantial alternatives to those suppliers. We also utilize warehouse services provided by our third-party distributors. With the rapid development of the Chinese economy, the cost of labor has increased and may continue to increase in the future. Our results of operations will be materially and adversely affected if our labor costs, or the labor costs of our suppliers, increase significantly. In addition, we and our suppliers may not be able to find a sufficient number of qualified workers due to the intensely competitive and fluid market for skilled labor in China. Furthermore, pursuant to Chinese labor laws, employers in China are subject to various requirements when signing labor contracts, paying remuneration, determining the term of employees' probation and unilaterally terminating labor contracts. These labor laws and related regulations impose liabilities on employers and may significantly increase the costs of workforce reductions. If we decide to change or reduce our workforce, these labor laws could limit or restrict our ability to make such changes in a timely, favorable and effective manner. Additionally, the Chinese government may impose additional regulations regarding ingredients and composition of cosmetics and these regulations may affect our products. Any of these events may materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Operating in China exposes us to political, legal and economic risks. In particular, the political, legal and economic climate in China, both nationally and regionally, is fluid and unpredictable. Our ability to operate in China may be adversely affected by changes in U.S. and Chinese laws and regulations such as those related to, among other things, taxation, import and export tariffs, environmental regulations, land use rights, intellectual property, currency controls, network security, employee benefits, hygiene supervision and other matters. In addition, we or our suppliers may not obtain or retain the requisite legal permits to continue to operate in China, and costs or operational limitations may be imposed in connection with obtaining and complying with such permits. In addition, Chinese trade regulations are in a state of flux, and we may become subject to other forms of taxation, tariffs and duties in China. Furthermore, the third parties we rely on in China may disclose our confidential information or intellectual property to competitors or third parties, which could result in the illegal distribution and sale of counterfeit versions of our products. If any of these events occur, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected. See the section entitled “— Risks Related to Milk — Risks Related to Conducting Business Internationally — Recent and potential additional tariffs imposed by the U.S. government or a global trade war could increase the cost of our products, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations” for further discussion of risks related to tariffs between the U.S. and China.

Recent and potential additional tariffs imposed by the U.S. government or a global trade war could increase the cost of our products, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The U.S. government has imposed increased tariffs on certain imports from China, some of which cover products that we import from that country. We currently source important components for our products from third-party suppliers in China, and, as such, current tariffs may increase our cost of goods, which may result in lower gross margin on certain of our products. In any case, increased tariffs on imports from China could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. In retaliation for the current U.S. tariffs, China has implemented tariffs on a wide range of American products. There is also a concern that the imposition of additional tariffs by the U.S. could result in the adoption of tariffs by other countries as well, leading to a global trade war. Trade restrictions implemented by the U.S. or other countries in connection with a global trade war could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Risks Related to Evolving Laws and Regulations and Compliance with Laws and Regulations

New laws, regulations, enforcement trends or changes in existing regulations governing the introduction, marketing and sale of our products to consumers could harm our business.

There has been an increase in regulatory activity and activism in the U.S. and abroad, and the regulatory landscape is becoming more complex with increasingly strict requirements. If this trend continues, we may find it necessary to alter some of the ways we have traditionally manufactured and marketed our products in order to stay in compliance with a changing regulatory landscape, and this could add to the costs of our operations and have an adverse impact on our business. To the extent federal, state, local or foreign regulatory changes regarding consumer protection, or the ingredients, claims or safety of our products, occurs in the future, they could require us to reformulate or discontinue certain of our products, revise the product packaging or labeling, or adjust operations and systems, any of which could result in, among other things, increased costs, delays in product launches, product returns or recalls and lower net sales, and therefore could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Noncompliance with applicable regulations could result in enforcement action by regulatory authorities within or outside the U.S., including, but not limited to, product seizures, injunctions, product recalls and criminal or civil monetary penalties, all of which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

In the U.S., with the exception of color additives, the FDA does not currently require pre-market approval for products intended to be sold as cosmetics. However, the FDA may in the future require pre-market approval, clearance or registration/notification of cosmetic products, establishments or manufacturing facilities. Moreover, such products could also be regulated as both drugs and cosmetics simultaneously, as the categories are not mutually exclusive. The statutory and regulatory requirements applicable to drugs are extensive and require significant resources and time to ensure compliance. For example, if any of our products intended to be sold as cosmetics were to be regulated as drugs, we might be required to conduct, among other things, clinical trials to demonstrate the safety and efficacy of these products. We may not have sufficient resources to conduct any required clinical trials or to ensure compliance with the manufacturing requirements applicable to drugs. If the FDA determines that any of our products intended to be sold as cosmetics should be classified and regulated as drug products and we are unable to comply with applicable drug requirements, we may be unable to continue to market those products. Any inquiry into the regulatory status of our cosmetics and any related interruption in the marketing and sale of these products could damage our reputation and image in the marketplace.

In recent years, the FDA has issued warning letters to several cosmetic companies alleging improper claims regarding their cosmetic products. If the FDA determines that we have made inappropriate drug claims regarding our products intended to be sold as cosmetics, we could receive a warning or untitled letter, be required to modify our product claims or take other actions to satisfy the FDA. In addition, plaintiffs' lawyers have filed class action lawsuits against cosmetic companies after receipt of these types of FDA warning letters. There can be no assurance that we will not be subject to state and federal government actions or class action lawsuits, which could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Additional state and federal requirements may be imposed on consumer products as well as cosmetics, cosmetic ingredients or the labeling and packaging of products intended for use as cosmetics. For example, several lawmakers are currently focused on giving the FDA additional authority to regulate cosmetics and their ingredients. This increased authority could require the FDA to impose increased testing and manufacturing requirements on cosmetic manufacturers or cosmetics or their ingredients before they may be marketed. We are unable to ascertain what, if any, impact any increased statutory or regulatory requirements may have on our business.

Our products are also subject to regulation by the CPSC in the U.S. under the provisions of the Consumer Product Safety Act, as amended by the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008. These statutes and the related regulations ban from the market consumer products that fail to comply with applicable product safety laws, regulations and standards. The CPSC has the authority to require the recall, repair, replacement or refund of any such banned products or products that otherwise create a substantial risk of injury, and may seek penalties for regulatory noncompliance under certain circumstances. The CPSC also requires manufacturers of consumer products to report certain types of information to the CPSC regarding products that fail to comply with applicable regulations. Certain state laws also address the safety of consumer products, and mandate reporting requirements, and noncompliance may result in penalties or other regulatory action.

Our facilities are subject to regulation under the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act and FDA implementing regulations.

Our facilities and those of our third-party manufacturers are subject to regulation under the FDCA and FDA implementing regulations. The FDA may inspect all of our or our third-party manufacturers' facilities periodically to determine if such facilities comply with the FDCA and FDA regulations. In addition, our facilities for manufacturing OTC drug products must comply with the FDA's cGMP that require our third-party manufacturers to maintain, among other things, good manufacturing processes, including stringent vendor qualifications, ingredient identification, manufacturing controls and record keeping.

Our operations could be harmed if regulatory authorities make determinations that we, or our vendors, are not in compliance with these regulations. If the FDA finds a violation of cGMPs, it may enjoin the operations of our third-party manufacturers, seize product, restrict the importation of goods, and impose administrative, civil or criminal penalties. If we or our third-party manufacturers fail to comply with applicable regulatory requirements, we could be required to take costly corrective actions, including suspending manufacturing operations, changing product formulations, suspending sales, or initiating product recalls. In addition, compliance with these regulations has increased and may further increase the cost of manufacturing certain of our products to ensure and maintain compliance. Any of these outcomes could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Government regulations and private party actions relating to the marketing and advertising of our products and services may restrict, inhibit or delay our ability to sell our products and harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Governmental Authorities regulate advertising and product claims regarding the performance and benefits of our products. These regulatory authorities typically require a reasonable basis to support any marketing claims. What constitutes a reasonable basis for substantiation can vary widely from market to market, and there is no assurance that the efforts that we undertake to support our claims will be deemed adequate for any particular product or claim. A significant area of risk for such activities relates to improper or unsubstantiated claims about our products and their use or safety. If we are unable to show adequate substantiation for our product claims, or our promotional materials make claims that exceed the scope of allowed claims for the classification of the specific product, the FDA, the FTC or other regulatory authorities could take enforcement action or impose penalties, such as monetary consumer redress, requiring us to revise our marketing materials, amend our claims or stop selling certain products, all of which could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations. Any regulatory action or penalty could lead to private party actions, or private parties could seek to challenge our claims even in the absence of formal regulatory actions, which could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our business is subject to complex and evolving U.S. and foreign laws and regulations regarding privacy and data protection. Many of these laws and regulations are subject to change and uncertain interpretation, and could result in claims, changes to our business practices, monetary penalties and increased costs of operations, or otherwise could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We are subject to a variety of laws and regulations in the U.S. and abroad regarding privacy and data protection, some of which can be enforced by private parties or government entities and some of which provide for significant penalties for noncompliance. For example, the GDPR allows for a private right of action and imposes stringent data protection requirements on organizations established in the EEA or that offer goods or services to, or monitor the behavior of, individuals in the EEA. The GDPR establishes a robust framework of data subjects' rights and imposes onerous accountability obligations on organizations, with administrative fines for noncompliance ranging from €10.0 million to €20.0 million or 2% to 4% of annual global revenue, whichever is higher. Such fines are in addition to any civil litigation claims potentially brought by data subjects, including, for example, data subject-led class action claims and injunctions. Furthermore, the CCPA requires new disclosures to California consumers, imposes new rules for collecting or using information about minors, affords California consumers new abilities to opt out of certain disclosures of personal information and also establishes significant penalties for noncompliance. In response to the GDPR and CCPA, we have reviewed and amended our information practices involving EEA data subjects and California-resident consumers, as well as our use of service providers or interactions with other parties to whom we disclose personal information. We cannot yet predict the full impact of the CCPA and its respective implementing regulations on our business or operations, but these laws may require us to further modify our information practices and policies, and to incur substantial costs and expenses in an effort to comply. It also remains unclear what, if any, further modifications will be made to the CCPA and our implementing regulations, or how the statute or rules will be interpreted.

We are also subject to EU and UK rules with respect to cross-border transfers of personal data out of the EEA and the UK to "third countries." Recent legal developments in the EU have also created complexity and uncertainty regarding transfers of personal data from the EEA to third countries, especially the U.S. In July 2020, the CJEU in Schrems II invalidated the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield Framework, a mechanism for the transfer of personal data from the EEA to the U.S., and made clear that reliance on standard contractual clauses, an alternative mechanism for the transfer of personal information outside of the EEA, may not be sufficient in all circumstances in which organizations may be required to take supplementary measures. Furthermore, on June 4, 2021, the European Commission published a new set of modular standard contractual clauses which are designed to take into account the CJEU's judgement in Schrems II and must be used for all new contracts entered into, and new processing operations undertaken, as of September 2021. The new standard contractual clauses only apply to the transfer of personal data outside of the EEA and not the United Kingdom. Although the European Commission adopted an adequacy decision with respect to the United Kingdom in June 2021, allowing the flow of personal data from the EEA to the United Kingdom to continue, this decision will be regularly reviewed and may be revoked if the United Kingdom diverges from its current adequate data protection laws following Brexit. The UK Information Commissioner's Office has consulted on, and is developing, its own international data transfer requirements, including its own specific international data transfer agreement and a UK addendum to the standard contractual clauses. We are accordingly monitoring these developments, but we may, in addition to other impacts, experience additional costs associated with increased compliance burdens and be required to engage in new contract negotiations with third parties that aid in processing personal data on our behalf or localize certain data.

Data privacy continues to remain a matter of interest to lawmakers and regulators. A number of proposals are pending before federal, state and foreign legislative and regulatory bodies, and additional laws and regulations have been passed but are not yet effective, all of which could materially affect our business. For example, some U.S. states are considering enacting stricter data privacy laws, some modeled on the GDPR, some modeled on the CCPA, and other states are considering potentially imposing completely distinct requirements. The U.S. is considering comprehensive federal privacy legislation, such as the Consumer Online Privacy Rights Act, which would significantly expand elements of the data protection rights and obligations existing within the GDPR and the CCPA to all U.S. consumers. In addition, regulators in the EEA and the United Kingdom are increasingly focusing on compliance with requirements in the online behavioral advertising ecosystem. For example, the EU's institutions are debating the ePrivacy Regulation, which would repeal and replace the current ePrivacy Directive that regulates electronic marketing and use of cookies and tracking technologies, although it will not have effect in the United Kingdom as a result of Brexit. This again introduces the possibility that we will be subject to separate and additional legal regimes with respect to eprivacy, which may result in further costs and may necessitate changes to our business practices. The new guidance and the ePrivacy Regulation would together require extensive disclosure and consent, regulate web beacons and similar technology affecting our ability to use a users' location and other data for personalized advertising, and alter the ability of advertisers to place ads across social media and the web. The current EU member states' local guidance in line with GDPR has significantly increased the risk of penalties for breach of the GDPR and law implementing the ePrivacy Directive. Increased regulation of privacy and data protection may lead to broader restrictions on the way we market our products on a global basis and increase our risk of regulatory oversight, our ability to reach our consumers, and our capability to provide our consumers with personalized services and experiences.

Several countries in Europe have also recently issued guidance on the use of cookies and similar tracking technologies that require an additional layer of consent from, and disclosure to, website users for third-party advertising, social media advertising and analytics. In particular, the GDPR and the UK GDPR require opt-in, informed consent for the placement of cookies on a consumer's device, and impose conditions on obtaining valid consent (e.g., a prohibition on pre-checked consents). Regulation of cookies and similar technologies may lead to broader restrictions on our marketing and personalization activities and may negatively impact our efforts to understand users' Internet usage, online shopping and other relevant online behaviors, as well as the effectiveness of our marketing and our business generally. Such regulations, including uncertainties about how well the advertising technology ecosystem can adapt to legal changes around the use of tracking technologies, may have a negative effect on businesses, including ours, that collect and use online usage information for consumer acquisition and marketing. The decline of cookies or other online tracking technologies as a means to identify and target potential purchasers may increase the cost of operating our business and lead to a decline in revenues. In addition, legal uncertainties about the legality of cookies and other tracking technologies may increase regulatory scrutiny and increase potential civil liability under data protection or consumer protection laws. In particular, there has been a notable rise in enforcement activity from supervisory authorities across the EEA in relation to cookies-related violations.

Compliance with existing, not yet effective, and proposed privacy and data protection laws and regulations can be costly and can delay or impede our ability to market and sell our products, impede our ability to conduct business through websites we and our partners may operate, change and limit the way we use consumer information in operating our business, cause us to have difficulty maintaining a single operating model, result in negative publicity, increase our operating costs, require significant management time and attention or subject us to inquiries or investigations, claims or other remedies, including significant fines and penalties or demands that we modify or cease existing business practices. In addition, if our privacy or data security measures fail to comply with applicable current or future laws and regulations, we may be subject to litigation, regulatory investigations and/or enforcement notices requiring us to change the way we use personal data or our marketing practices, fines or other liabilities, as well as negative publicity and a potential loss of business.

We are subject to the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and other anti-corruption laws and anti-money laundering laws. Failure to comply with these laws could subject us to penalties and other adverse consequences.

We are subject to anti-corruption laws, including the U.S. FCPA, the U.S. domestic bribery statute contained in 18 U.S.C. § 201, the U.S. Travel Act and other anti-corruption and anti-money laundering laws that apply in countries where we conduct activities. The FCPA and these anti-corruption laws generally prohibit us and our employees, agents, representatives, business partners and third-party intermediaries from authorizing, promising, offering or providing, directly or indirectly, improper or prohibited payments, or anything else of value, to recipients in the public or private sector in order to obtain or retain business or gain some other business advantage. These laws have been enforced aggressively in recent years and are interpreted broadly. We are also required to comply with all applicable economic and financial sanctions and trade embargoes, and export/import control laws.

We sell our products in several countries outside of the U.S., primarily through distributors. As we increase our international sales, we may engage with additional distributors and third-party intermediaries to sell our products and conduct our business abroad. In addition, we or our third-party intermediaries may have direct or indirect interactions with officials and employees of government agencies or state-owned or -affiliated entities. We can be held liable for the corrupt or other illegal activities of these third-party intermediaries, our employees, representatives, contractors, partners and agents, even if we do not explicitly authorize such activities. While we have mechanisms to identify high-risk individuals and entities before contracting with them, we will be operating in a number of jurisdictions that pose a high risk of potential FCPA violations. We cannot assure you that all of our employees, agents, representatives, business partners or third-party intermediaries will not take actions that violate applicable law, for which we may be ultimately held responsible. As we increase our international sales and business, our risks under these laws may increase.

Some of these anti-corruption laws also require that we keep accurate books and records and maintain internal controls and compliance procedures reasonably designed to prevent any corrupt conduct. While we have policies and procedures to address compliance with those laws, we cannot assure you that none of our employees, agents, representatives, business partners or third-party intermediaries will take actions that violate our policies and applicable law, for which we may be ultimately held responsible. In addition, we cannot predict the nature, scope or effect of future regulatory requirements to which our international operations might be subject or the manner in which existing laws might be administered or interpreted.

Any violations of these anti-corruption laws, or even allegations of such violations, can lead to an investigation and/or enforcement action, which could disrupt our operations, involve significant management distraction and lead to significant costs and expenses, including legal fees. If we, or our employees or agents acting on our behalf, are found to have engaged in practices that violate these laws and regulations, we could suffer severe fines and penalties, profit disgorgement, injunctions on future conduct, securities litigation, bans on transacting government business, delisting from securities exchanges and other consequences that may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, our brand and reputation, our sales activities and/or our stock price could be adversely affected if we become the subject of any negative publicity related to actual or potential violations of anti-corruption, anti-bribery or trade control laws and regulations.

Government regulation of the Internet and e-commerce is evolving, and unfavorable changes or failure by us to comply with these regulations could substantially harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We are subject to general business regulations and laws as well as regulations and laws specifically governing the Internet and e-commerce. Existing and future regulations and laws could impede the growth of the Internet, e-commerce or mobile commerce. These regulations and laws may involve taxes, tariffs, privacy and data security, anti-spam, content protection, electronic contracts and communications, consumer protection, social media marketing, third-party cookies, web beacons and similar technology for online behavioral advertising and gift cards. It is not clear how existing laws governing issues such as property ownership, sales and other taxes and consumer privacy apply to the Internet, as the vast majority of these laws were adopted prior to the advent of the Internet and do not contemplate or address the unique issues raised by the Internet or e-commerce. It is possible that general business regulations and laws, or those specifically governing the Internet or e-commerce, may be interpreted and applied in a manner that is inconsistent from one jurisdiction to another and may conflict with other rules or our practices. We cannot be sure that our practices have complied, comply or will comply fully with all such laws and regulations. Any failure, or perceived failure, by us to comply with any of these laws or regulations could result in damage to our reputation, a loss in business and proceedings or actions against us by governmental entities or others. Any such proceeding or action could hurt our reputation, force us to spend significant amounts in defense of these proceedings, distract our management, increase our costs of doing business, decrease the use of our website by consumers and suppliers and may result in the imposition of monetary liability. We may also be contractually liable to indemnify and hold harmless third parties from the costs or consequences of noncompliance with any such laws or regulations. In addition, it is possible that governments of one or more countries may seek to censor content available on our website or may even attempt to completely block access to our website. Adverse legal or regulatory developments could substantially harm our business. In particular, in the event that we are restricted, in whole or in part, from operating in one or more countries, our ability to retain or increase our consumer base may be adversely affected, and we may not be able to maintain or grow our net sales and expand our business as anticipated.

Risks Related to Legal and Regulatory Proceedings

We are involved, and may become involved in the future, in disputes and other legal or regulatory proceedings, including an ongoing legal proceeding involving our founders, that, if adversely decided or settled, could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We are, and may in the future become, party to litigation, regulatory proceedings or other disputes. In general, claims made by or against us in disputes and other legal or regulatory proceedings can be expensive and time-consuming to bring or defend against, requiring us to expend significant resources and divert the efforts and attention of our management and other personnel from our business operations. These potential claims include, but are not limited to, personal injury claims, class action lawsuits, intellectual property claims, employment litigation and regulatory investigations and causes of action relating to the advertising and promotional claims about our products. Any adverse determination against us in these proceedings, or even the allegations contained in the claims, regardless of whether they are ultimately found to be without merit, may also result in settlements, injunctions or damages that could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

As an example, lawsuit was commenced in New York state court on October 6, 2016, captioned Joseph v. Rassi, et al., Case No. 510914/2016 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. Oct. 6, 2016) in which the plaintiff has asserted claims against founders Mazdack Rassi, Erez Shternlicht and Moisha Mana, as well as against Legs Media LLC, Milk Agency, LLC, Milk Makeup Holdings, LLC, Milk Makeup Management, LLC, Milk Studios, LLC, Milk and Scott Sassa. Plaintiff alleges that Rassi, Shternlicht, and Mana breached the duty they owed to Legs Media by misappropriating its “corporate opportunity” related to the Milk Makeup concept for their own benefit. There is a parallel proceeding in Delaware Court of Chancery, captioned Mana v. Joseph, Civil Action No. 12715 (Del. Ch. Sept. 2, 2016) in which Rassi, Mana, Shternlicht, Legs Media, LLC, Milk Studios, LLC, Milk, and Milk Agency, LLC have asserted various claims against Joseph and, among other things, are seeking declaratory judgment that Joseph has no ownership interest in Milk Studios, LLC or Milk. Although Milk’s management believes these allegations are without merit and unlikely to have a material impact on its financial condition or results of operations, and intends to defend vigorously against such allegations, any adverse determination against the founders, Milk or its affiliates in these proceedings, or even the allegations contained in the claims, regardless of whether they are ultimately found to be without merit, may result in distractions to management, reputational harm, injunctive relief, settlement costs, damages and/or defense costs that could adversely affect our business operations and financial condition.

Additionally, certain founders of Milk have agreed, pursuant to an amended and restated founder support and indemnification agreement, dated January 24, 2019, subject to the terms and conditions thereto, to provide indemnification to Milk and its representatives for losses that arise from (i) any claims brought by or on behalf of any purported current or former holder of equity or rights in Milk or its affiliates arising out of facts and circumstances in existence prior to December 23, 2016, (ii) any claims against Milk by or on behalf of any Milk affiliates arising out of facts and circumstances in existence prior to December 23, 2016, and (iii) Milk’s maintenance and administration of benefit plans. The indemnification agreement would cover potential losses related to the previously disclosed outstanding litigation related to “corporate opportunity.”

We may be required to recall products and may face product liability claims, either of which could result in unexpected costs and damage our reputation.

We sell products for human use. Our products intended for use as cosmetics are not generally subject to pre-market approval or registration processes, so we cannot rely upon a government safety panel to qualify or approve our products for use. A product may be safe for the general population when used as directed but could cause an adverse reaction for a person who has a health condition or allergies, or who is taking a prescription medication. If we discover that any of our products are causing adverse reactions, we could suffer adverse publicity or regulatory/government sanctions.

Potential product liability risks may arise from the testing, manufacture and sale of our products, including that the products fail to meet quality or manufacturing specifications, contain contaminants, include inadequate instructions as to their proper use, include inadequate warnings concerning side effects and interactions with other substances or for persons with health conditions or allergies, or cause adverse reactions or side effects. Product liability claims could increase our costs, and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. As we continue to offer an increasing number of new products, our product liability risk may increase.

It may be necessary for us to recall products that do not meet approved specifications or because of the side effects resulting from the use of our products, which would result in adverse publicity, potentially significant costs in connection with the recall and could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

In addition, plaintiffs in the past have received substantial damage awards from other cosmetic and drug companies based upon claims for injuries allegedly caused by the use of their products. Although we currently maintain general liability and product liability insurance, any claims brought against us may exceed our existing or future insurance policy coverage or limits. In addition, there may be liability risks, including, without limitation, product liability risks, for which we do not maintain or procure insurance coverage or for which the insurance coverage may not cover or be adequate. To the extent that any judgment against us that is in excess of our policy limits or is not covered by our insurance policies, the judgment would have to be paid from our cash reserves, which would reduce our capital resources. In addition, we may be required to pay higher premiums and accept higher deductibles in order to secure adequate insurance coverage in the future. Further, we may not have sufficient capital resources to pay a judgment, in which case our creditors could levy against our assets. Any product liability claim or series of claims brought against us could harm our business significantly, particularly if a claim were to result in adverse publicity or damage awards that are in excess of our insurance policy limits or not covered, in whole or in part, by our insurance policies.

Risks Related to Milk's Intellectual Property

If we are unable to protect our intellectual property, the value of our brand and other intangible assets may be diminished, and our business may be adversely affected.

We rely on a combination of trademark, copyright, trade secret, trade dress, patent and other laws protecting proprietary rights, nondisclosure and confidentiality agreements and other practices to protect our brand and proprietary information, formulas, technologies and processes. Our trademarks are valuable assets that support our brand and consumers' perception of our products. Although we have certain existing and pending trademark registrations for our brand in the U.S. and in some of the foreign countries in which we operate, we may not be successful in asserting trademark or trade name protection in all jurisdictions. We also have not applied for trademark protection for all of our marks or in all relevant foreign jurisdictions and cannot be certain whether our pending trademark applications will be approved in full, modifications or at all. We rely on common law trademark protections for certain of our marks. Third parties may also attempt to register our trademarks abroad in jurisdictions where we have not yet applied for trademark protection, oppose our trademark applications domestically or abroad, or otherwise challenge our use of the trademarks. In the event that our trademarks are successfully challenged, we could be forced to rebrand our products in some parts of the world, which could result in the loss of brand recognition and could require us to devote resources to advertising and marketing new brands.

Additionally, we may not be able to protect our intellectual property rights throughout the world. Filing, prosecuting and defending intellectual property in all countries throughout the world would be prohibitively expensive, and our intellectual property rights in some countries outside the U.S. can be less extensive than those in the U.S. In addition, the laws of some foreign countries do not protect intellectual property rights to the same extent as federal or state laws in the U.S. Consequently, we may not be able to prevent third parties from utilizing our intellectual property in all countries outside the U.S., or from selling or importing products similar to ours in and into the U.S. or other jurisdictions. Competitors may use our intellectual property in jurisdictions where we have not obtained protection to develop their own products and, further, may export otherwise infringing products to territories where we have protection, but enforcement is not as strong as that in the U.S. These products may compete with our products, and our intellectual property rights may not be effective or sufficient to prevent them from competing.

In addition, while it is our policy to require our employees who may be involved in the conception or development of intellectual property to execute agreements assigning such intellectual property to us, we may be unsuccessful in executing such an agreement with each party who in fact conceives or develops intellectual property that we regard as our own. Our assignment agreements may not be self-executing or may be breached, and we may be forced to bring claims against third parties, or defend claims third parties may bring against us, to determine the ownership of what we regard as our intellectual property. We may be subject to claims challenging the inventorship or ownership of our intellectual property. We also may be subject to claims that former employees, contractors or other third parties have an ownership interest in our intellectual property. Litigation may be necessary to defend against these and other claims challenging inventorship or ownership. If we fail in defending any such claims, in addition to paying monetary damages, we may lose valuable intellectual property rights. Such an outcome could have a material adverse effect on our business. Even if we are successful in defending against such claims, litigation could result in substantial costs and distraction to management and other employees.

We also rely upon unpatented trade secrets and know-how and continuing technological innovation to develop and maintain our competitive position, which we seek to protect, in part, through confidentiality agreements with our employees and our collaborators and consultants. It is possible that technology relevant to our business will be developed independently by a person that is not a party to such an agreement, and that person could be an employee of or otherwise associated with one of our competitors. Furthermore, if the employees and consultants who are parties to these agreements breach or violate the terms of these agreements, we may not have adequate remedies for or sufficient resources to litigate any such breach or violation, and we could lose our trade secrets through such breaches or violations. Further, our trade secrets could otherwise become known or independently discovered by our competitors. If we are unable to obtain, maintain and enforce intellectual property protection directed to our technology and any future technologies that we develop, others may be able to make, use, import or sell products that are the same or substantially the same as ours, which could adversely affect our ability to compete in the market.

We may not be able to correctly estimate or control our future operating expenses in relation to obtaining intellectual property, enforcing intellectual property and/or defending intellectual property, which could affect operating expenses. Our operating expenses may fluctuate significantly in the future as a result of a variety of factors, including the costs of preparing, filing, prosecuting, defending, and enforcing intellectual property claims and other intellectual property-related costs, including adverse proceedings (such as litigation) costs.

If we fail to protect our intellectual property or other proprietary rights, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be materially and adversely affected.

Our success depends on our ability to operate our business without infringing, misappropriating or otherwise violating the trademarks, patents, copyrights and other proprietary rights of third parties.

Our commercial success depends in part on our ability to operate without infringing, misappropriating or otherwise violating the trademarks, patents, copyrights, trade secrets and other proprietary rights of others. We cannot be certain that the conduct of our business does not and will not infringe, misappropriate or otherwise violate such rights. From time to time, we receive allegations of trademark or patent infringement, and third parties have filed claims against us with allegations of intellectual property infringement. In addition, third parties may involve us in intellectual property disputes as part of a business model or strategy to gain competitive advantage.

To the extent we gain greater visibility and market exposure as a public company or otherwise, we may also face a greater risk of being the subject of such claims and litigation. For these and other reasons, third parties may allege that our products or activities infringe, misappropriate or otherwise violate their trademark, patent, copyright or other proprietary rights. Defending against allegations and litigation could be expensive, occupy significant amounts of time, divert management's attention from other business concerns and have an adverse impact on our ability to bring products to market. In addition, if we are found to infringe, misappropriate or otherwise violate third-party trademark, patent, copyright or other proprietary rights, our ability to use our brands to the fullest extent may be limited, we may need to obtain a license, which may not be available on commercially reasonable terms, or at all, or we may need to redesign or rebrand our marketing strategies or products, which may not be possible.

We may also be required to pay substantial damages or be subject to an order prohibiting us and our retailers from importing or selling certain products or engaging in certain activities. Our inability to operate our business without infringing, misappropriating or otherwise violating the trademarks, patents, copyrights and proprietary rights of others could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

If we are involved in intellectual property claims and litigation, the proceedings may divert our resources and subject us to significant liability for damages, substantial litigation expense and the loss of our proprietary rights.

In order to protect or enforce our intellectual property rights, we may initiate litigation. In addition, others may initiate litigation related to intellectual property against us. Companies against whom we might initiate litigation or who might initiate litigation against us may be better able to sustain the costs of litigation because they have substantially greater resources. We may become subject to interference or opposition proceedings conducted in patent and trademark offices to determine the priority of inventions or trademarks.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Litigation may be necessary for us to assert or defend against infringement claims or to enforce our intellectual property rights. Our involvement in intellectual property claims and litigation could:

- divert existing management, scientific and financial resources;
- subject us to significant liabilities;
- result in a ruling that allows our competitors to market competitive products without obtaining a license from us;
- require us to enter into royalty or licensing agreements, which may not be available on terms acceptable to us, if at all; or
- force us to discontinue selling or modify our products, or to develop new products or to rebrand our products.

If any of these events occurs, our business will be materially and adversely affected.

Risks Related to Marketing Activities

Use of social media may materially and adversely affect our reputation or subject us to fines or other penalties.

We rely to a large extent on our online presence to reach consumers, and we, along with our retailers, offer consumers the opportunity to rate and comment on our products on e-commerce websites. Negative commentary or false statements regarding us or our products may be posted on these e-commerce websites or social media platforms and may harm our reputation or business. Our target consumers often value readily available information and often act on such information without further investigation and without regard to its accuracy. The harm may be immediate without affording us an opportunity for redress or correction. In addition, we may face claims relating to information that is published or made available through the interactive features of our e-commerce website. For example, we may receive third-party complaints that the comments or other content posted by users on our platforms infringe third-party intellectual property rights or otherwise infringe the legal rights of others. While the Communications Decency Act and Digital Millennium Copyright Act generally protect online service providers from claims of copyright infringement or other legal liability for the self-directed activities of its users, if it were determined that we did not meet the relevant safe harbor requirements under either law, we could be exposed to claims related to advertising practices, defamation, intellectual property rights, rights of publicity and privacy, and personal injury torts. We could incur significant costs investigating and defending such claims and, if we are found liable, significant damages. If any of these events occur, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected.

We also use third-party social media platforms as marketing tools. For example, we maintain Snapchat, Facebook, TikTok, Instagram and YouTube accounts. As e-commerce and social media platforms continue to rapidly evolve, we must continue to maintain a presence on these platforms and establish a presence on new or emerging popular social media platforms. If we are unable to cost-effectively use social media platforms as marketing tools, our ability to acquire new consumers and our financial condition may suffer. Furthermore, as laws and regulations rapidly evolve to govern the use of these platforms and devices, the failure by us, our employees or third parties acting at our direction to abide by applicable laws and regulations in the use of these platforms and devices could subject us to regulatory investigations, class action lawsuits, liability, fines or other penalties and could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

In addition, an increase in the use of social media for product promotion and marketing may cause an increase in the burden on us to monitor compliance of such materials and increase the risk that such materials could contain problematic product or marketing claims in violation of applicable regulations.

Our business could be negatively impacted by corporate citizenship and sustainability matters.

There is an increased focus from certain investors, retailers, consumers, employees and other stakeholders concerning corporate citizenship and sustainability matters. From time to time, we may announce certain initiatives, including goals, regarding our focus areas, which include environmental matters, packaging, responsible sourcing and social investments. We could fail, or be perceived to fail, in our achievement of such initiatives or goals, or we could fail in accurately reporting our progress on such initiatives and goals. In addition, we could be criticized for the scope of such initiatives or goals or perceived as not acting responsibly in connection with these matters. Any such matters, or related corporate citizenship and sustainability matters, could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our business could be negatively impacted by reputational attacks on our brand, founders or employees, whether founded or unfounded.

Some of our co-founders and employees maintain public profiles and could be subject to attacks in the media or on social media, whether founded or unfounded, which could negatively impact our brand reputation and potentially negatively impact our sales.

Risks Related to Waldencast and Waldencast plc

Unless the context otherwise requires, all references in this subsection to the “Company,” “we,” “us” or “our” refer to Waldencast prior to the consummation of the Business Combination or Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination.

Risks Related to the Business Combination and the Company

Based on recent market trends, in the event that Waldencast’s stock price is at, around or below $10.00 per share during the redemption period, there will likely be significant redemptions by Waldencast’s public shareholders in connection with the Business Combination, resulting in a greater risk that the Obagi Minimum Cash Conditions or Milk Minimum Cash Conditions will not be met, or that there will be a reduced amount of cash available to Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination and as a result, would likely require Waldencast plc to obtain additional financing in order to fund its planned operations to the point where Waldencast plc’s business is generating positive cash flows.

Based on recent market trends, in the event that Waldencast’s stock price is at, around or below $10.00 per share during the redemption period, there will likely be significant redemptions by Waldencast’s public shareholders in connection with the Business Combination. In such event, there may not be adequate funds remaining in the trust account to meet the Obagi Minimum Cash Conditions and/or the Milk Minimum Cash Conditions. If either or both of these conditions are not met, the Business Combination may not be consummated unless Obagi and/or Milk agree to waive these conditions, as applicable. We cannot assure you that Obagi and/or Milk will be willing to waive any failure to satisfy the Obagi Minimum Cash Condition or Milk Minimum Cash Condition, respectively. Even if these conditions are satisfied or waived, if there are significant redemptions by the public shareholders, following the Closing, Waldencast plc will likely need to obtain additional financing through public or private equity, debt financings or other sources, in addition to the net proceeds from the Business Combination, the PIPE Investment and pursuant to the Forward Purchase Agreements, in order to fund its planned operations to the point where Waldencast plc’s business is generating positive cash flows. Additional funding may not be available to Waldencast plc on acceptable terms, or at all. If adequate funds are not available on a timely or reasonable basis, Waldencast plc may be required to delay, limit, reduce or terminate its research and development, operations or marketing efforts. Further, Waldencast plc could be forced to sell or dispose of certain of its rights or assets. Any inability to raise adequate funds on commercially reasonable terms could have a material adverse effect on Waldencast plc’s businesses, financial condition, results of operations and prospects, including the possibility that a lack of funds could cause all or any of its businesses to fail and liquidate with little or no return to investors.

The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how Waldencast’s public shareholders vote.

Unlike some other blank check companies in which the initial shareholders agree to vote their founder shares in accordance with the majority of the votes cast by the public shareholders in connection with an initial business combination, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of the Transaction Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, in each case, subject to the terms and conditions contemplated by the Obagi Sponsor Support Agreement and the Milk Sponsor Support Agreement. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors collectively own 20.0% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares.

We may be forced to close the Business Combination even if we determine it is no longer in our shareholders' best interest.

Our public shareholders are protected from a material adverse event of Obagi or Milk arising between the date of the Transaction Agreements and the Closing primarily by (i) the right to redeem their public shares for a pro rata portion of the funds held in the trust account, calculated as of two business days prior to the vote at the extraordinary general meeting and (ii) the closing condition in each of the Transaction Agreements that, from November 15, 2021, there be no occurrence of an Obagi Material Adverse Effect or a Milk Material Adverse Effect (each as defined herein), as applicable.

Additionally, if we do not obtain shareholder approval at the extraordinary general meeting, Obagi and Milk can continually obligate us to hold additional extraordinary general meetings to vote on the Condition Precedent Proposals until the earlier of such shareholder approval being obtained and three business days prior to August 15, 2022 (the "Agreement End Date"). We are also restricted under the Transaction Agreements from seeking, soliciting, negotiating or consummating any alternative business combination while the respective Transaction Agreement is still in effect if the transaction underlying such alternative business combination is anticipated to be completed prior to or substantially concurrently with the transactions contemplated by the Transaction Agreements. Further, we are restricted under the Transaction Agreements from entering into an alternative business combination agreement or understanding if such action would delay, impede, frustrate or otherwise disrupt the consummation of either of the Obagi Merger or the Milk Transaction. These restrictions do not apply with respect to discussions or agreements with Obagi and Milk contemplated under the Transaction Agreements.

Since the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and executive officers have interests that are different, or in addition to (and which may conflict with), the interests of our shareholders, a conflict of interest may have existed in determining whether the Business Combination with Obagi and Milk is appropriate as our initial business combination. Such interests include that the Sponsor will lose its entire investment in us if the Business Combination is not completed.

When you consider the recommendation of Waldencast's board of directors in favor of approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal, you should keep in mind that the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and officers have interests in such proposals that are different from, or in addition to, those of Waldencast shareholders and warrant holders generally. As more fully described below, the Sponsor, among other things, (1) will only be able to realize a return on its equity in Waldencast (which may be materially higher than those realized by public Waldencast shareholders and warrant holders) if Waldencast completes a business combination within the required period, and (2) has advanced funds to Waldencast to cover transaction expenses, for which it will only be reimbursed if Waldencast completes a business combination within the required period. More specifically, the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors' and executive officers' interests include, among other things, the interests listed below:

- In January 2021, the Sponsor subscribed for an aggregate of 7,187,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares for an aggregate purchase price of $0.025 million, or approximately $0.003 per share. In February 2021, the Sponsor transferred 20,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares to each of the Investor Directors, resulting in the Sponsor holding 7,107,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares. As part of Waldencast's initial public offering, the Sponsor and certain other shareholders, including the Investor Directors, agreed pursuant to the Letter Agreement, among other things, to waive their respective redemption rights with respect to any founder shares and any public shares held by them in connection with the completion of a business combination and their respective rights to liquidating distributions from the trust account in respect of the founder shares if Waldencast fails to complete a business combination within the required period. Waldencast did not provide any separate consideration to the Sponsor or those certain other shareholders, including the Investor Directors, for such waiver. In March 2021, we effected a share capitalization resulting in the Sponsor holding an aggregate of 8,545,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares. As such, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors collectively own 20% of our issued and outstanding shares.
- The 8,545,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares owned by Sponsor, if valued based on the closing price of $10.00 per public share on the Nasdaq on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, and if unrestricted and freely tradable, would have an aggregate market value of $85.5 million (after giving effect to the conversion of such Waldencast Class B ordinary shares into shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in connection with the Transactions, including after giving effect to the Domestication). If Waldencast does not consummate a business combination by March 18, 2023 (or during any extended time that we have to consummate a business combination beyond 24 months as a result of a shareholder vote to amend our certificate of incorporation (an “Extension Period”)), it would cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeeming all of the outstanding public shares for cash and, subject to the approval of its remaining shareholders and its board of directors, dissolving and liquidating, subject in each case to its obligations under the Cayman Islands Companies Act to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law. In such event, the 8,625,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares owned by the Sponsor and the Investor Directors would be worthless because following the redemption of the public shares, Waldencast would likely have few, if any, net assets and because the Sponsor and Waldencast’s directors and officers have agreed to waive their respective rights to liquidating distributions from the trust account in respect of any Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast Class B ordinary shares held by it or them, as applicable, if Waldencast fails to complete a business combination within the required period.

- The 80,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares collectively owned by the Investor Directors, if valued based on the closing price of $10.00 per public share on the Nasdaq on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, and if unrestricted and freely tradable, would have an aggregate market value of $0.8 million (after giving effect to the conversion of such Waldencast Class B ordinary shares into shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in connection with the Transactions, including after giving effect to the Domestication). If Waldencast does not consummate a business combination by March 18, 2023 (or during any Extension Period), it would cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeeming all of the outstanding public shares for cash and, subject to the approval of its remaining shareholders and its board of directors, dissolving and liquidating, subject in each case to its obligations under the Cayman Islands Companies Act to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law. In such event, the 80,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares owned by the Investor Directors would be worthless because following the redemption of the public shares, Waldencast would likely have few, if any, net assets and because the Sponsor and Waldencast’s directors and officers have agreed to waive their respective rights to liquidating distributions from the trust account with respect to any Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast Class B ordinary shares held by it or them, as applicable, if Waldencast fails to complete a business combination within the required period.
- The Sponsor purchased an aggregate of 5,933,333 private placement warrants from Waldencast simultaneously with the consummation of Waldencast’s initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $8.9 million, which will automatically convert into 5,933,333 Waldencast plc warrants in connection with the Transactions (including after giving effect to the Domestication). The 5,933,333 private placement warrants, if valued based on the closing price of $0.80 per public warrant on the Nasdaq on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, and if unrestricted and freely tradable, would have an aggregate market value of $4.7 million, but may expire and become worthless if Waldencast fails to complete a business combination by March 18, 2023. As a result of Sponsor’s interest in the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares and private placement warrants, Sponsor and its affiliates have an incentive to complete an initial business combination and may have a conflict of interest in the transaction, including without limitation, in determining whether a particular business is an appropriate business with which to effect Waldencast’s initial business combination.
- The Sponsor and Dynamo Master Fund (a member of the Sponsor) initially entered into the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement with us that provides for the purchase of an aggregate of 16,000,000 Waldencast plc Units comprised of 16,000,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and 5,333,333 redeemable warrants, for an aggregate purchase price of $160.0 million, or $10.00 per one Waldencast Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, in a private placement to close substantially concurrently with the Closing. On December 20, 2021, the Sponsor and Burwell Mountain Trust (a member of the Sponsor) entered into an assignment and assumption agreement, pursuant to which the Sponsor assigned, and Burwell Mountain Trust assumed, all of the Sponsor’s rights and benefits as purchaser under the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement. Additionally, the Beauty Ventures entered into the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement with us that provides for the purchase of an aggregate of 17,300,000 Waldencast plc Units comprised of 17,300,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and 5,766,666 redeemable warrants, for an aggregate purchase price of $173.0 million, or $10.00 per one Waldencast Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, in a private placement to close substantially concurrently with the Closing. In addition, pursuant to the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement, members of the Sponsor or their affiliates will begin to receive a 20% performance fee allocation on the return of the forward purchase securities in excess of the hurdle rate, calculated on the total return generated from forward purchase securities (whether by dividend, transfer or increase in value as measured from date of issuance), when the return of such securities (less the expenses of the Beauty Ventures) underlying the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement exceeds a hurdle rate of 5% accrued annually until the fifth anniversary of the issuance of such securities. In the event of a transfer and subsequent sale of any forward purchase securities prior to such fifth anniversary, the performance fee for the period between such transfer and such fifth anniversary will be calculated based on the proceeds generated by such sale.

- In the event that Waldencast fails to consummate a business combination within the prescribed time frame (pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents), or upon the exercise of a redemption right in connection with the Business Combination, Waldencast will be required to provide for payment of claims of creditors that were not waived that may be brought against Waldencast within the ten years following such redemption. In order to protect the amounts held in Waldencast's trust account, the Sponsor has agreed that it will be liable to Waldencast if and to the extent any claims by a third party (other than Waldencast's independent auditors) for services rendered or products sold to Waldencast, or a prospective target business with which Waldencast has discussed entering into a transaction agreement, reduce the amount of funds in the trust account to below (i) $10.00 per public share or (ii) such lesser amount per public share held in the trust account as of the date of the liquidation of the trust account, due to reductions in value of the trust assets, in each case, net of the amount of interest which may be withdrawn to pay taxes, except as to any claims by a third party who executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the trust account and except as to any claims under the indemnity of the underwriters of Waldencast's initial public offering against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act.
- In order to finance transaction costs in connection with a Business Combination, the Sponsor has advanced funds to Waldencast for working capital purposes, including $1.5 million as of February 8, 2022. These outstanding advances have been documented in a convertible promissory note, dated as of August 18, 2021 (the "Promissory Note"), issued by Waldencast to the Sponsor, pursuant to which Waldencast may borrow up to $1.5 million from the Sponsor (including those amounts which are currently outstanding). The Promissory Note is non-interest bearing, unsecured and due and payable in full on the earlier of (x) March 18, 2023 and (y) the date Waldencast consummates its initial business combination. If Waldencast does not complete the initial business combination within the required period, Waldencast may use a portion of the working capital held outside the trust account to repay such advances and any other working capital advances made to Waldencast, but no proceeds held in the trust account would be used to repay such advances and any other working capital advances made to Waldencast, and Sponsor may not be able to recover the value it has loaned to Waldencast and any other working capital advances it may make.
- Waldencast's officers and directors, and their affiliates are entitled to reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses incurred by them in connection with certain activities on Waldencast's behalf, such as identifying and investigating possible business targets and business combinations, as well as repayment of any working capital advances. However, if Waldencast fails to consummate a business combination by March 18, 2023, they will not have any claim against the trust account for reimbursement or repayment. Accordingly, Waldencast may not be able to reimburse such expenses or repay such advances if the Business Combination or another business combination, is not completed by such date. As of December 31, 2021, Waldencast's officers and directors and their affiliates are entitled to approximately $1.5 million in reimbursable out-of-pocket expenses including repayment of amounts pursuant to Working Capital Loans. As of February 8, 2022, there were approximately $0.3 million of unpaid reimbursable expenses or working capital advances outstanding (which consists of funds advanced to Waldencast by Sponsor pursuant to the Promissory Note).
- As noted above, the Sponsor purchased 7,187,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares for an aggregate purchase price of $0.025 million, or approximately $0.003 per share (after taking into account the forfeiture by Sponsor of 937,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, as a result of the underwriters' exercise of the over-allotment option) and now holds an aggregate of 8,545,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares taking into account the Sponsor's transfer of 80,000 shares to the Investor Directors and our share capitalization. As a result, Sponsor will have a rate of return on its investment which differs from the rate of return of Waldencast shareholders who purchased Waldencast shares at various other prices, including Waldencast shares included in Waldencast units that were sold at $10.00 per unit in Waldencast's initial public offering. The closing price of Waldencast public shares on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, was $10.00. As a result of and upon the effective time of the Domestication, among other things, each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class B ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a share of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. In the event the stock price of the post-combination company falls below the price paid by a Waldencast shareholder at the time of purchase of the Waldencast shares by such shareholder, a situation may arise in which Sponsor maintains a positive rate of return while such Waldencast shareholder does not.

- The Sponsor (including its representatives and affiliates) and Waldencast's directors and officers may in the future become affiliated with entities that are engaged in a similar business to Waldencast. The Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and officers are not prohibited from sponsoring, investing or otherwise becoming involved with any other blank check companies prior to Waldencast completing its initial business combination. Waldencast's directors and officers also may become aware of business opportunities which may be appropriate for presentation to Waldencast, and the other entities to which they owe certain fiduciary or contractual duties. Accordingly, they may have had conflicts of interest in determining to which entity a particular business opportunity should be presented. These conflicts may not be resolved in Waldencast's favor and such potential business opportunities may be presented to other entities prior to their presentation to Waldencast, subject to applicable fiduciary duties under Cayman Islands Companies Act. Waldencast's Cayman Constitutional Documents provide that Waldencast renounces any interest or expectancy in, or in being offered an opportunity to participate in, any potential transaction or matter that may be a corporate opportunity for Waldencast, on the one hand, and one of its officers or directors, on the other, or that may be a corporate opportunity for both Waldencast and one of its officers or directors. Waldencast does not believe, however, that the fiduciary duties or contractual obligations of its officers or directors or waiver of corporate opportunity materially affected its search for an acquisition target or will materially impact its ability to complete the Business Combination. While certain of Waldencast's directors and officers (Michel Brousset, Hind Sebti and Tassilo Festetics) serve as officers or directors of Waldencast Ventures, no opportunity was presented to Waldencast that was also presented to Waldencast Ventures or any Affiliate of Waldencast and no opportunity that would have been appropriate for presentation to Waldencast was also presented to Waldencast Ventures. There have been no new investments by Waldencast Ventures since Waldencast's initial public offering. Waldencast's board of directors has implemented guidelines, pursuant to which, unless and until Waldencast and Waldencast Ventures merge or otherwise become affiliated entities, Mr. Brousset and Mr. Festetics will spend on average at least 90% and Ms. Sebti at least 80% of their monthly average working time providing services to Waldencast, and such directors and officers will not be separately compensated by Waldencast Ventures, other than their equity interests in Waldencast Ventures already in place.
- Waldencast's existing directors and officers will be eligible for continued indemnification and continued coverage under Waldencast's directors' and officers' liability insurance after the Transactions and pursuant to the Transaction Agreements.
- Pursuant to the Registration Rights Agreement, the Sponsor and the holders of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, private placement warrants and any warrants that may be issued on conversion of working capital loans will have customary registration rights, including demand and piggy-back rights, subject to cooperation and cut-back provisions with respect to the shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and warrants held by such parties following the consummation of the Business Combination.
- Waldencast Ventures and Burwell Mountain Trust, controlled by certain of our directors (Michel Brousset and Felipe Dutra, respectively), and Dynamo Master Fund, are members of the Sponsor. Each of Michel Brousset, Felipe Dutra and Dynamo Master Fund disclaims any beneficial ownership of the Waldencast shares held by the Sponsor.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast's directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast's officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast's Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination" for a further discussion of these considerations.

The personal and financial interests of the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and officers may have influenced their motivation in identifying and selecting Obagi and Milk as business combination targets, completing an initial business combination with Obagi and Milk and influencing the operation of the business following the Business Combination. In considering the recommendations of Waldencast's board of directors to vote for the proposals, its shareholders should consider these interests.

The exercise of Waldencast's directors' and executive officers' discretion in agreeing to changes or waivers in the terms of the Business Combination may result in a conflict of interest when determining whether such changes to the terms of the Business Combination or waivers of conditions are appropriate and in Waldencast's shareholders' best interest.

In the period leading up to the Closing, events may occur that, pursuant to the Transaction Agreements, would require Waldencast to agree to amend either Transaction Agreement, to consent to certain actions taken by Obagi or Milk, as applicable, or to waive rights that Waldencast is entitled to under the applicable Transaction Agreement. Such events could arise because of changes in the course of Obagi's or Milk's business or a request by Obagi or Milk to undertake actions that would otherwise be prohibited by the terms of the applicable Transaction Agreement. In any of such circumstances, it would be at Waldencast's discretion, acting through its board of directors, to grant its consent or waive those rights. The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of the directors described in the preceding risk factors (and described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus) may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is best for Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining whether or not to take the requested action. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, Waldencast does not believe there will be any changes or waivers that Waldencast's directors and executive officers would be likely to make after shareholder approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal has been obtained. While certain changes could be made without further shareholder approval, Waldencast will circulate a new or amended proxy statement/prospectus and resolicit Waldencast's shareholders if changes to the terms of the transaction that would have a material impact on its shareholders are required prior to the vote on the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal.

We, Obagi and Milk will incur significant transaction and transition costs in connection with the Business Combination.

We, Obagi and Milk have all incurred and expect to incur significant, non-recurring costs in connection with consummating the Business Combination and operating as a public company following the consummation of the Business Combination. We, Obagi and Milk may also incur additional costs to retain key employees. Certain transaction expenses incurred in connection with the Transaction Agreements (including the Business Combination), including all legal, accounting, consulting, investment banking and other fees, expenses and costs, will be paid out of the proceeds of the Business Combination or by Waldencast plc following the closing of the Business Combination.

The Transactions may be completed even though material adverse effects may result from the announcement of the Transactions, industry-wide changes and other causes.

In general, Waldencast may refuse to complete the Obagi Merger Agreement and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement if there is an event, state of facts, development, circumstance, occurrence or effect (collectively, "Events") amounting to a material adverse effect affecting Obagi or Milk, as applicable, that occurs after the execution of the applicable Transaction Agreement. However, under both Transaction Agreements, certain types of changes do not permit either party to refuse to consummate the applicable Transaction Agreement, even if such change could be said to have a material adverse effect on Obagi or Milk, as applicable, including the following events:

- (i) any change in applicable laws or GAAP or any interpretation thereof following the date of the Transaction Agreements;
- (ii) any change in interest rates or economic, political, business or financial market conditions generally;

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- (iii) the taking of any action required by the Obagi Merger Agreement or the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, as applicable;
- (iv) any natural disaster (including hurricanes, storms, tornados, flooding, earthquakes, volcanic eruptions or similar occurrences), pandemic (including COVID-19, or any COVID-19 Measures (as defined herein) or any change in such COVID-19 Measures following the date of the Transaction Agreements) or change in climate;
- (v) any acts of terrorism or war, the outbreak or escalation of hostilities, geopolitical conditions, local, national or international political conditions;
- (vi) any failure of Obagi or Milk, as applicable, to meet any projections or forecasts (provided that clause (vi) shall not prevent a determination that any Event not otherwise excluded from the definition of Obagi Material Adverse Effect or Milk Material Adverse Effect underlying such failure to meet projections or forecasts has resulted, or would reasonably be expected to result, in an Obagi Material Adverse Effect or a Milk Material Adverse Effect, as applicable);
- (vii) any Events generally applicable to the industries or markets in which Obagi and its subsidiaries or Milk and its subsidiaries, as applicable, operate (including increases in the cost of products, supplies, materials or other goods purchased from third-party suppliers);
- (viii) the announcement of the Obagi Merger Agreement or the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and consummation of the transactions contemplated thereby, including any termination of, reduction in or similar adverse impact (but in each case only to the extent attributable to such announcement or consummation) on relationships, contractual or otherwise, with any landlords, customers, suppliers, distributors, partners or employees of Obagi and its subsidiaries (with respect to the Obagi Merger Agreement) or of Milk and its subsidiaries (with respect to the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement) (it being understood that this clause (viii) shall be disregarded for purposes of the representation and warranty set forth in Section 4.4 of the Obagi Merger Agreement and the condition to the Obagi Closing with respect thereto or in Section 4.3 of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and the condition to the Milk Closing with respect thereto);
- (ix) any matter set forth on Obagi's or Milk's disclosure letter, as applicable; or
- (x) any action taken by, or at the written request of, Waldencast or Merger Sub (with respect to the Obagi Merger Agreement) or the Milk Purchasers (with respect to the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement).

However, any Event referred to in clauses (i), (ii), (iv), (v) or (vii) above may be taken into account to the extent it has a disproportionate and adverse effect on the business, assets, liabilities, results of operations or financial condition of Obagi and its subsidiaries or Milk and its subsidiaries, as applicable, taken as a whole, relative to similarly situated companies in the industry in which Obagi and its subsidiaries or Milk and its subsidiaries, as applicable, conduct their respective operations (in each case, which shall include the skincare industry generally), but only to the extent of the incremental disproportionate effect. See the sections entitled "BCA Proposals — Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement — Material Adverse Effect" and "BCA Proposals — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement — Material Adverse Effect" for a further discussion of the material adverse effect standards under the Obagi Merger Agreement and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, respectively.

Furthermore, Waldencast may waive the occurrence of a material adverse effect affecting Obagi or Milk under the applicable Transaction Agreement. If a material adverse effect occurs and the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction is still consummated, the market trading price of the Waldencast plc ordinary shares and the Waldencast plc warrants may suffer.

If the benefits of the Business Combination do not meet the expectations of investors or securities analysts, the market price of, prior to the Business Combination, Waldencast's securities or, following the Business Combination, Waldencast plc's securities, may decline.

If the benefits of the Business Combination do not meet the expectations of investors or securities analysts, the market price of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares prior to the consummation of the Business Combination may decline. The trading prices of the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares at the time of the Business Combination may vary significantly from their trading prices on the date the Transaction Agreements were executed, the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, or the date on which Waldencast shareholders vote to approve the Business Combination.

The announcement of the proposed Business Combination could disrupt Obagi's, Milk's and/or Waldencast plc's relationships with its customers, suppliers, business partners and others, as well as its operating results and business generally.

Whether or not the Business Combination and related transactions are ultimately consummated, as a result of uncertainty related to the proposed transactions, risks relating to the impact of the announcement of the Business Combination on Obagi's, Milk's and Waldencast plc's business include the following:

- its employees may experience uncertainty about their future roles, which might adversely affect Obagi's, Milk's and Waldencast plc's ability to retain and hire key personnel and other employees;
- customers, suppliers, business partners and other parties with which Obagi and Milk maintain business relationships may experience uncertainty about the future of these relationships in light of the Business Combination and seek alternative relationships with third parties, seek to alter their business relationships with Waldencast plc or fail to extend an existing relationship with Obagi or Milk, as applicable, to Waldencast plc; and
- Obagi and Milk have expended and Waldencast plc will continue to expend significant costs, fees and expenses for professional services and transaction costs in connection with the proposed Business Combination.

If any of the aforementioned risks were to materialize, they could lead to significant costs which could impact Waldencast plc's results of operations and cash available to fund its businesses.

We may make investments into or acquire other companies, which could divert our management's attention, result in dilution to our shareholders and otherwise disrupt our operations, and we may have difficulty integrating any such acquisitions successfully or realizing the anticipated benefits therefrom, any of which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

As part of our business strategy, we may seek to acquire or invest in businesses that we believe could complement or expand our existing and future offerings or otherwise offer growth opportunities. The success of any attempts to grow our business through acquisitions to complement our business depends in part on the availability of, our ability to identify and our ability to engage and pursue suitable acquisition candidates. We may not be able to find suitable acquisition candidates, and we may not be able to complete acquisitions on favorable terms, if at all. If we do complete future acquisitions, we cannot assure you that they will ultimately strengthen our competitive position or that they will be viewed positively by customers, financial markets or investors.

The pursuit of potential acquisitions may divert the attention of management and cause us to incur various expenses in identifying, investigating and pursuing suitable acquisitions, whether or not they are consummated, and the costs incurred likely would not be recoverable. In addition, we have limited experience in acquiring other businesses and may have difficulty integrating acquired businesses or assets, or otherwise realizing any of the anticipated benefits of acquisitions. If we acquire additional businesses, we may not be able to integrate the acquired operations and technologies successfully, or effectively manage the combined business following the acquisition. Integration may prove to be difficult due to the necessity of integrating personnel with disparate business backgrounds, different geographical locations and who may be accustomed to different corporate cultures. Additionally, with multiple business combinations, we could face additional risks, including additional burdens and costs with respect to possible multiple negotiations and due diligence investigations (if there are multiple sellers) and the additional risks associated with the subsequent assimilation of the operations and services or products of multiple acquired companies with different businesses in a single operating business.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

We also may not achieve the anticipated benefits from any acquired business due to a number of factors, including:

- inability to integrate or benefit from acquired technologies or services in a profitable manner;
- unanticipated costs or liabilities, including legal liabilities, associated with any such acquisition;
- difficulty converting the customers of an acquired business into our current and future offerings;
- diversion of management's attention or resources from other business concerns;
- adverse effects on our existing business relationships with customers, members or strategic partners as a result of the acquisition;
- complexities associated with managing the geographic separation of acquired businesses and consolidating multiple physical locations;
- coordination of product development and sales and marketing functions;
- the potential loss of key employees;
- acquisition targets not having as robust internal controls over financial reporting as would be expected of a public company;
- becoming subject to new regulations as a result of an acquisition, including if we acquire a business serving customers in a regulated industry or acquire a business with customers or operations in a country in which we do not already operate;
- possible cash flow interruption or loss of revenue as a result of transitional matters; and
- use of substantial portions of our available cash to consummate an acquisition.

We may issue equity securities or incur indebtedness to pay for any such acquisition or investment, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition or results of operations. Any such issuances of additional capital stock may cause shareholders to experience significant dilution of their ownership interests and the per share value of our ordinary shares to decline.

We may face risks related to companies in the beauty and skincare industries.

Business combinations with companies in the beauty and skincare industries entail special considerations and risks. If we are successful in consummating the Business Combination, we may be subject to, and possibly adversely affected by, the following risks:

- an inability to compete effectively in a highly competitive environment with many incumbents having substantially greater resources, which may therefore have the ability to spend more aggressively than us on advertising, promotions and/or marketing activities and have more flexibility than us to respond to changing business and economic conditions;
- an inability to manage rapid change, increasing consumer expectations and growth;
- an inability to build strong brand identity and improve subscriber or customer satisfaction and loyalty;
- decreases in consumer spending or in retailer and consumer confidence and demand for skincare and beauty products on our platform;
- a reliance on proprietary technology to provide services and to manage our operations, and the failure of this technology to operate effectively, or our failure to use such technology effectively;
- an inability to deal with our subscribers' or customers' privacy concerns;
- an inability to attract and retain subscribers or customers;
- an inability to license or enforce intellectual property rights on which our business may depend;
- any significant disruption in our computer systems or those of third parties that we would utilize in our operations;
- an inability by us, or a refusal by third parties, to license content to us upon acceptable terms;

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- potential liability for negligence, copyright, trademark infringement or state consumer fraud or other claims based on the nature and content of materials that we may distribute;
- competition for advertising revenue;
- competition for the leisure and entertainment time and discretionary spending of subscribers or customers, which may intensify in part due to advances in technology and changes in consumer expectations and behavior;
- competition for consumer recognition and market share with products that have achieved significant national and international brand name recognition and consumer loyalty;
- disruption or failure of our networks, systems or technology as a result of computer viruses, “cyber-attacks,” misappropriation of data or other malfeasance, as well as outages, natural disasters, terrorist attacks, accidental releases of information or similar events;
- an inability to obtain necessary hardware, software and operational support;
- reliance on third-party manufacturers, distributors, vendors or other service providers;
- changes in consumer preferences, volatility in the prices of raw materials and competition in the retail market;
- increased and evolving oversight by federal, state, local and/or foreign regulatory authorities, which may require us to reformulate or discontinue certain products or revise product packaging, labeling or promotional claims; and
- an inability to obtain or retain licenses on which our business may depend.

Any of the foregoing could have an adverse impact on our operations following the Business Combination. See the sections entitled “— Risks Related to Obagi” and “— Risks Related to Milk” for a discussion of the risks Obagi and Milk, respectively, face related to companies in their respective industries.

Delays in completing the Transactions may substantially reduce the expected benefits of the Transactions.

Satisfying the conditions to, and completion of, the Transactions may take longer than, and could cost more than, Obagi, Milk and Waldencast expect. Any delay in completing or any additional conditions imposed in order to complete the Transactions may materially adversely affect the benefits that Obagi, Milk and Waldencast expect to achieve from the Transactions.

We are subject to risks related to our dependency on our directors and officers and, following the consummation of the Business Combination, will be subject to risks related to our dependency on key personnel, employees and independent contractors of Obagi and Milk, including highly skilled technical experts, as well as risks related to attracting, retaining and developing human capital in a highly competitive market.

Our operations are dependent upon a relatively small group of individuals and in particular, Michel Brousset, Tassilo Festetics and Hind Sebti. We believe that our success depends on the continued service of our directors and officers, at least until we have completed our initial business combination. We do not have an employment agreement with, or key-man insurance on the life of, any of our directors or officers. The unexpected loss of the services of one or more of our directors or officers could have a detrimental effect on us.

Additionally, our success and future growth following consummation of the Business Combination will depend upon the continued services of Obagi’s and Milk’s management teams and other key employees and independent contractors, including highly skilled technical experts. From time to time, there may be changes in Waldencast plc’s management team resulting from the hiring or departure of executives, key employees and independent contractors, which could disrupt our business. The loss of one or more members of Waldencast plc’s, Obagi’s or Milk’s management teams, key employees or independent contractors could harm our business, and we may not be able to find adequate replacements. We may not be able to retain the services of any members of Waldencast’s, Obagi’s or Milk’s senior management teams, key employees or independent contractors, including highly skilled experts. See the sections entitled “— Risks Related to Obagi — General Risk Factors Related to Obagi — If we lose key personnel or are unable to attract and retain other qualified personnel, we may be unable to execute our business plan and our business would be materially adversely affected” and “— Risks Related to Milk — Risks Related to Milk’s Business and Industry — Our success depends, in part, on the quality, efficacy and safety of our products” for a further discussion of risks related to Obagi’s and Milk’s, respectively, ability to attract and retain qualified personnel.

In addition, prospective and existing employees and independent contractors often consider the value of the equity awards they receive in connection with their employment. If the perceived value of Waldencast plc’s equity awards declines, experiences significant volatility or increases such that prospective employees or independent contractors believe there is limited or less upside to the value of such equity awards, it may adversely affect our ability to recruit and retain key employees and independent contractors. If we fail to attract new personnel or fail to retain and motivate our current personnel, our business and future growth prospects would be harmed.

Although we currently maintain directors’ and officers’ liability insurance coverage, such coverage may not be sufficient to cover the types or extent of claims or loss that may be incurred or received. In addition, we may not maintain or procure insurance coverage in connection with the Transactions that is sufficient to cover the types or extent of claims or loss that may be incurred or received.

The only insurance we currently maintain in connection with our business is directors’ and officers’ liability insurance. The scope and limits of such insurance may not be sufficient to cover the types or extent of claims or loss that may be incurred or received. In addition, there may be risks for which Waldencast does not maintain or procure insurance coverage or for which the insurance coverage may not cover or be adequate.

Our insurance coverage may not be sufficient to protect us from any loss now or in the future and we may not be able to successfully claim our losses under our current insurance policy on a timely basis, or at all. Our inability to obtain and maintain appropriate insurance coverage could cause a substantial business disruption, adverse reputational impact and regulatory scrutiny.

If we incur any loss that is not covered by our directors’ and officers’ liability insurance policy, or the compensated amount is significantly less than our actual loss, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected.

See the section entitled “— Risks Related to Obagi — Risks Related to Legal and Regulatory Matters — Product liability lawsuits could divert our resources, result in substantial liabilities and reduce the commercial potential of our products” for a discussion of Obagi’s liability insurance and the sections entitled “— Risks Related to Milk — Risks Related to Milk’s Business Operations — The design, development, manufacture and sale of our products involve the risk of product liability and other claims by consumers and other third parties, and our insurance may be insufficient to cover any such claims” and “— Risks Related to Milk — Risks Related to Legal and Regulatory Proceedings — We may be required to recall products and may face product liability claims, either of which could result in unexpected costs and damage our reputation” for a discussion of Milk’s liability insurance.

We will incur increased costs as a result of becoming a public company.

As a public company, we will incur significant legal, accounting, insurance, and other expenses that we have not incurred as a private company, including costs associated with public company reporting requirements. We also have incurred and will incur costs associated with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and related rules implemented by the SEC. The expenses incurred by public companies for reporting and corporate governance purposes generally have been increasing. We expect these rules and regulations to increase our legal and financial reporting compliance costs and to make some activities more time-consuming and costly, although we are currently unable to estimate these costs with any degree of certainty. In estimating these costs, we took into account expenses related to insurance, legal, accounting, and compliance activities, as well as other expenses not currently incurred. These laws and regulations could also make it more difficult or costly for us to obtain certain types of insurance, including directors’ and officers’ liability insurance, and we may be forced to accept reduced policy limits and coverage or incur substantially higher costs to obtain the same or similar coverage. These laws and regulations could also make it more difficult for us to attract and retain qualified persons to serve on our board of directors, on our board committees, or as our executive officers. Furthermore, if we are unable to satisfy our obligations as a public company, we could be subject to delisting of our common stock, fines, sanctions, and other regulatory action and potentially civil litigation.

Subsequent to consummation of the Business Combination, we may be exposed to unknown or contingent liabilities and may be required to subsequently take write-downs or write-offs, restructuring and impairment or other charges that could have a significant negative effect on our financial condition, results of operations and the price of our securities, which could cause you to lose some or all of your investment.

We cannot assure you that the due diligence conducted in relation to Obagi and Milk has identified all material issues or risks associated with Obagi and Milk, their businesses or the industries in which they compete.

Furthermore, we cannot assure you that factors outside of Obagi's, Milk's and our control will not later arise. As a result of these factors, we may be exposed to liabilities and incur additional costs and expenses and we may be forced to later write down or write off assets, restructure our operations, or incur impairment or other charges that could result in our reporting losses. Even if our due diligence has identified certain risks, unexpected risks may arise and previously known risks may materialize in a manner not consistent with our preliminary risk analysis. If any of these risks materialize, this could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations and could contribute to negative market perceptions about our securities or Waldencast plc. Additionally, we have no indemnification rights against Obagi or Obagi Shareholders under the Obagi Merger Agreement or against Milk or the Milk Members under the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and all of the purchase price consideration will be delivered at the Closing.

Accordingly, any shareholder or warrant holder of Waldencast who chooses to remain a Waldencast plc shareholder or warrant holder, respectively, following the Business Combination could suffer a reduction in the value of their shares, warrants and units. Such shareholders and warrant holders are unlikely to have a remedy for such reduction in value unless they are able to successfully claim that the reduction was due to the breach by our directors or officers of a duty of care or other fiduciary duty owed to them, or if they are able to successfully bring a private claim under securities laws that the registration statement or proxy statement/prospectus relating to the Business Combination contained an actionable material misstatement or material omission.

Investors may not have the same benefits as an investor in an underwritten public offering.

We will become a publicly listed company upon the completion of the Business Combination. The Business Combination and the transactions described in this proxy statement/prospectus are not an underwritten initial public offering of our securities and differ from an underwritten initial public offering in several significant ways, which include, but are not limited to, the following.

Like other business combinations and spin-offs, in connection with the Business Combination, investors will not receive the benefits of the diligence performed by the underwriters in an underwritten public offering. Investors in an underwritten public offering may benefit from the role of the underwriters in such an offering. In an underwritten public offering, an issuer initially sells its securities to the public market via one or more underwriters, who distribute or resell such securities to the public. Underwriters have liability under the U.S. securities laws for material misstatements or omissions in a registration statement pursuant to which an issuer sells securities. Because the underwriters have a "due diligence" defense to any such liability by, among other things, conducting a reasonable investigation, the underwriters and their counsel conduct a due diligence investigation of the issuer. Due diligence entails engaging legal, financial and/or other experts to perform an investigation as to the accuracy of an issuer's disclosure regarding, among other things, its business and financial results. Auditors of the issuer will also deliver a "comfort" letter with respect to the financial information contained in the registration statement. In making their investment decision, investors have the benefit of such diligence in underwritten public offerings. Our investors must rely on the information in this proxy statement/prospectus and will not have the benefit of an independent review and investigation of the type normally performed by an independent underwriter in a public securities offering. While sponsors, private investors and management in a business combination undertake a certain level of due diligence, it is not necessarily the same level of due diligence undertaken by an underwriter in a public securities offering and, therefore, there could be a heightened risk of an incorrect valuation of our business or material misstatements or omissions in this proxy statement/prospectus.

In addition, because there are no underwriters engaged in connection with the Business Combination, prior to the opening of trading on Nasdaq on the trading day immediately following the Closing, there will be no traditional "roadshow" or book building process, and no price at which underwriters initially sold shares to the public to help inform efficient and sufficient price discovery with respect to the initial post-closing trades on Nasdaq. Therefore, buy and sell orders submitted prior to and at the opening of initial post-closing trading of our securities will not have the benefit of being informed by a published price range or a price at which the underwriters initially sold shares to the public, as would be the case in an underwritten initial public offering. There will be no underwriters assuming risk in connection with an initial resale of our securities or helping to stabilize, maintain or affect the public price of our securities following the Closing. Moreover, we will not engage in, and have not and will not, directly or indirectly, request financial advisors to engage in, any special selling efforts or stabilization or price support activities in connection with our securities that will be outstanding immediately following the Closing. In addition, since we will become public through a merger, securities analysts of major brokerage firms may not provide coverage of us since there is no incentive to brokerage firms to recommend the purchase of our common stock. No assurance can be given that brokerage firms will, in the future, want to conduct any offerings on our behalf. All of these differences from an underwritten public offering of our securities could result in a more volatile price for our securities.

Further, since there will be no traditional “roadshow,” there can be no guarantee that any information made available in this proxy statement/prospectus and/or otherwise disclosed or filed with the SEC will have the same impact on investor education as a traditional “roadshow” conducted in connection with an underwritten initial public offering. As a result, there may not be efficient or sufficient price discovery with respect to the securities or sufficient demand among potential investors immediately after the Closing, which could result in a more volatile price for the securities.

In addition, the Sponsor, certain members of the Waldencast board of directors and its officers, as well as their respective affiliates and permitted transferees, have interests in the Business Combination that are different from or are in addition to those of holders of our securities following completion of the Business Combination, and that would not be present in an underwritten public offering of our securities. Such interests may have influenced the Waldencast board of directors in making their recommendation that Waldencast shareholders vote in favor of the approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the other proposals described in this proxy statement/prospectus. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination.”

Such differences from an underwritten public offering may present material risks to unaffiliated investors that would not exist if we became a publicly listed company through an underwritten initial public offering instead of upon completion of the Business Combination.

The board of directors of Waldencast did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in determining whether or not to proceed with the Business Combination.

The Waldencast board of directors did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in connection with its determination to approve the Business Combination. Waldencast’s officers, directors and advisors have substantial experience in evaluating the operating and financial merits of companies from a wide range of industries and have concluded that their experience and backgrounds, together with the experience and sector expertise of Waldencast’s financial advisors, enabled them to make the necessary analyses and determinations regarding the Business Combination with Obagi and Milk. In addition, Waldencast’s officers, directors and advisors have substantial experience with mergers and acquisitions. Accordingly, investors will be relying solely on the judgment of Waldencast’s board of directors in valuing Obagi’s and Milk’s businesses, and assuming the risk that the board of directors may not have properly valued the Business Combination.

The historical financial results of Obagi and Milk and unaudited pro forma financial information included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus may not be indicative of what Waldencast plc’s actual financial position or results of operations would have been.

The historical financial results of Obagi and Milk included in this proxy statement/prospectus do not reflect the financial condition, results of operations or cash flows it would have achieved as a standalone company during the periods presented or those Waldencast plc will achieve in the future. This is primarily the result of the following factors: (i) Waldencast plc will incur additional ongoing costs as a result of the Business Combination, including costs related to public company reporting, investor relations and compliance with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act; and (ii) Waldencast plc’s capital structure will be different from that reflected in Obagi’s and Milk’s historical financial statements. Waldencast plc’s financial condition and future results of operations could be materially different from amounts reflected in its historical financial statements included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus, so it may be difficult for investors to compare Waldencast plc’s future results to historical results or to evaluate its relative performance or trends in its business.

Similarly, the unaudited pro forma financial information in this proxy statement/prospectus is presented for illustrative purposes only and has been prepared based on a number of assumptions, including, but not limited to,

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Waldencast being treated as the “accounting acquirer” for financial reporting purposes in the Business Combination, the minimum cash available on the Closing Date (as defined herein) and the number of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares that are redeemed in connection with the Business Combination. Additionally, the unaudited pro forma financial information does not reflect future events that may occur after the Business Combination and does not consider potential impacts of future market conditions on revenues or expenses. Accordingly, such pro forma financial information may not be indicative of Waldencast plc’s future operating or financial performance and Waldencast plc’s actual financial condition and results of operations may vary materially from Waldencast plc’s pro forma results of operations and balance sheet contained elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus, including as a result of such assumptions not being accurate. See the section entitled “Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information.”

Following the consummation of the Business Combination, our only significant asset will be our ownership interest in Obagi and Milk and such ownership may not be sufficient to pay dividends or make distributions or loans to enable us to pay any dividends on Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or satisfy our other financial obligations.

Following the consummation of the Business Combination, we will have no direct operations and no significant assets other than our ownership of Obagi and Milk. We and certain investors, existing Obagi shareholders, and directors and officers of Obagi and Milk and its affiliates will become stockholders of Waldencast plc. The Business Combination will be structured as an Up-C transaction, whereby the Milk Members will retain a direct equity ownership in Waldencast LP, an entity that is classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, in the form of Waldencast LP Common Units, which will be redeemable at the option of the holder of such units, and if such option is exercised, will be exchangeable, at the option of Waldencast plc, for an equal number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or cash (together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of voting, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares). We will depend on Obagi and Milk for distributions, loans and other payments to generate the funds necessary to meet our financial obligations, including our expenses as a publicly traded company and to pay any dividends with respect to Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. The financial condition and operating requirements of Obagi and Milk may limit our ability to obtain cash from them. The earnings from, or other available assets of, Obagi and Milk may not be sufficient to pay dividends or make distributions or loans to enable us to pay any dividends on Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or satisfy our other financial obligations.

This lack of diversification may subject us to numerous economic, competitive and regulatory risks, any or all of which may have a substantial adverse impact upon the particular industry in which we may operate subsequent to the Business Combination.

The Sponsor may elect to purchase shares or warrants from public shareholders prior to the consummation of the Business Combination, which may influence the vote on the Business Combination and reduce the public “float” of our securities.

At any time at or prior to the Business Combination, subject to applicable securities laws (including with respect to material nonpublic information), the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors or respective affiliates may (i) purchase public shares or warrants from institutional and other investors who vote, or indicate an intention to vote, against any of the Condition Precedent Proposals, or elect to redeem, or indicate an intention to redeem, public shares, (ii) execute agreements to purchase such shares from such investors in the future, or (iii) enter into transactions with such investors and others to provide them with incentives to acquire public shares, vote their public shares in favor of the Condition Precedent Proposals or not redeem their public shares. Such a purchase may include a contractual acknowledgement that such shareholder, although still the record holder of Waldencast’s shares, is no longer the beneficial owner thereof and therefore agrees not to exercise its redemption rights. In the event that the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors, or any of their respective affiliates purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions from public shareholders who have already elected to exercise their redemption rights, such selling shareholders could be required to revoke their prior elections to redeem their shares. The purpose of such share purchases and other transactions could be to increase the likelihood of (1) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, Organizational Documents Proposals B and C, the Stock Issuance Proposal, the Milk Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal, (2) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Director Election Proposal, (3) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Domestication Proposal and each of the Organizational Documents Proposals A and D, (4) satisfaction of the Minimum Cash Conditions, (5) otherwise limiting the number of public shares electing to redeem and (6) Waldencast's net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) being at least $5,000,001. The purpose of such purchases of public warrants could be to reduce the number of public warrants outstanding or to vote such warrants on any matters submitted to the warrant holders or shareholders for approval in connection with our initial business combination.

Entering into any such arrangements may have a depressive effect on our ordinary shares (e.g., by giving an investor or holder the ability to effectively purchase shares or warrants at a price lower than market, such investor or holder may therefore become more likely to sell the shares he or she owns, either at or prior to the Business Combination). If such transactions are effected, the consequence could be to cause the Business Combination to be consummated in circumstances where such consummation could not otherwise occur. Purchases of shares or warrants by the persons described above could allow them to exert more influence over the approval of the proposals to be presented at the extraordinary general meeting and would likely increase the chances that such proposals would be approved. In addition, if such purchases are made, the public "float" of our securities and the number of beneficial holders of our securities may be reduced, possibly making it difficult to maintain or obtain the quotation, listing or trading of our securities on a national securities exchange.

If third parties bring claims against us, the proceeds held in the trust account could be reduced and the per-share redemption amount received by shareholders may be less than $10.00 per share (which was the offering price per unit in our initial public offering).

Our placing of funds in the trust account may not protect those funds from third-party claims against us. Although we will seek to have all suppliers, service providers (other than our independent auditors), prospective target businesses and other entities with which we do business execute agreements with us waiving any right, title, interest or claim of any kind in or to any monies held in the trust account, there is no guarantee that they will execute such agreements or even if they execute such agreements that they would be prevented from bringing claims against the trust account, including, but not limited to, fraudulent inducement, breach of fiduciary responsibility or other similar claims, as well as claims challenging the enforceability of the waiver, in each case in order to gain an advantage with respect to a claim against our assets, including the funds held in the trust account. If any third party refuses to execute an agreement waiving such claims to the monies held in the trust account, our management will perform an analysis of the alternatives available to it and will enter into an agreement with a third party that has not executed a waiver only if management believes that such third party's engagement would be significantly more beneficial to us than any alternative.

Examples of possible instances where we may engage a third party that refuses to execute a waiver include the engagement of a third-party consultant whose particular expertise or skills are believed by management to be significantly superior to those of other consultants that would agree to execute a waiver or in cases where management is unable to find a service provider willing to execute a waiver. In addition, there is no guarantee that such entities will agree to waive any claims they may have in the future as a result of, or arising out of, any negotiations, contracts or agreements with us and will not seek recourse against the trust account for any reason. Upon redemption of our public shares, if we have not completed the Business Combination within the required time period, or upon the exercise of a redemption right in connection with the Business Combination, we will be required to provide for payment of claims of creditors that were not waived that may be brought against us within the ten years following redemption. Accordingly, the per-share redemption amount received by public shareholders could be less than the $10.00 per public share initially held in the trust account, due to claims of such creditors.

The Sponsor has agreed that it will be liable to us if and to the extent any claims by a third party (other than our independent auditors) for services rendered or products sold to us, or a prospective target business with which we have discussed entering into a transaction agreement, reduce the amount of funds in the trust account to below (1) $10.00 per public share or (2) such lesser amount per public share held in the trust account as of the date of the liquidation of the trust account due to reductions in the value of the trust assets, in each case net of the interest which may be withdrawn to pay taxes, except as to any claims by a third party who executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the trust account and except as to any claims under our indemnity of the underwriters of Waldencast's initial public offering against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act. Moreover, in the event that an executed waiver is deemed to be unenforceable against a third party, the Sponsor will not be responsible to the extent of any liability for such third-party claims. We have not independently verified whether the Sponsor has sufficient funds to satisfy its indemnity obligations and believe that the Sponsor's only assets are securities of our company. The Sponsor may not have sufficient funds available to satisfy those obligations. We have not asked the Sponsor to reserve for such obligations, and therefore, no funds are currently set aside to cover any such obligations. As a result, if any such claims were successfully made against the trust account, the funds available for the Business Combination and redemptions could be reduced to less than $10.00 per public share. In such event, we may not be able to complete the Business Combination, and you would receive such lesser amount per share in connection with any redemption of your public shares. None of our directors or officers will indemnify us for claims by third parties, including, without limitation, claims by suppliers and prospective target businesses.

If, after we distribute the proceeds in the trust account to our public shareholders, Waldencast files a winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition or an involuntary winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, a bankruptcy court may seek to recover such proceeds, and the members of our board of directors may be viewed as having breached their fiduciary duties, thereby exposing the members of our board of directors and us to claims of damages.

If, after we distribute the proceeds in the trust account to our public shareholders, we file a winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition or an involuntary winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, any distributions received by shareholders could be viewed under applicable debtor/creditor and/or insolvency laws as a voidable performance. As a result, a liquidator could seek to recover some or all amounts received by our shareholders. In addition, our board of directors may be viewed as having breached its fiduciary duty or having acted in bad faith, thereby exposing it and us to claims of damages. We cannot assure you that claims will not be brought against us for these reasons.

If, before distributing the proceeds in the trust account to our public shareholders, we file a winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition or an involuntary winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, the claims of creditors in such proceeding may have priority over the claims of our shareholders and the per-share amount that would otherwise be received by our shareholders in connection with our liquidation may be reduced.

If, before distributing the proceeds in the trust account to our public shareholders, we file a winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition or an involuntary winding-up or bankruptcy or insolvency petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, the proceeds held in the trust account could be subject to applicable insolvency law, and may be included in our liquidation estate and subject to the claims of third parties with priority over the claims of our shareholders. To the extent any liquidation claims deplete the trust account, the per-share amount that would otherwise be received by our shareholders in connection with our liquidation would be reduced.

Our shareholders may be held liable for claims by third parties against us to the extent of distributions received by them upon redemption of their shares.

If we are forced to enter into an insolvent liquidation, any distributions received by shareholders could be viewed as an unlawful payment if it was proved that, immediately following the date on which the distribution was made, we were unable to pay our debts as they fall due in the ordinary course of business. As a result, a liquidator could seek to recover some or all amounts received by our shareholders. Furthermore, our directors may be viewed as having breached their fiduciary duties to us or our creditors and/or may have acted in bad faith, and thereby exposing themselves and our company to claims, by paying public shareholders from the trust account prior to addressing the claims of creditors. We cannot assure you that claims will not be brought against us for these reasons.

The public shareholders will experience immediate dilution as a consequence of the issuance of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares as consideration in the Business Combination, the PIPE Investment and the Forward Purchase Transaction and due to future issuances pursuant to the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan and, potentially, the Promissory Note. Having a minority share position may reduce the influence that our current stockholders have on the management of Waldencast plc.

Upon completion of the Business Combination: (1) the Obagi Shareholders are expected to hold an ownership interest of 18.3% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (2) the Milk Members are expected to hold an ownership interest of 12.5% of the membership units of Waldencast Partners LP, such units will be exchangeable for up to 12.5% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (3) PIPE Investors are expected to hold an ownership interest of 6.2% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (4) members of the Sponsor and Investor Directors are expected to hold an ownership interest of 18.4% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (5) Waldencast's public shareholders will retain an ownership interest of 30.8% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and (6) the Third-Party Forward Purchase Investor is expected to hold an ownership interest of 13.7% of the fully diluted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

These levels of ownership interest are based on Waldencast's capitalization as of September 30, 2021 and assume (i) that no public shareholders exercise their redemption rights in connection with the Business Combination, (ii) Waldencast sells and issues 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors pursuant to the PIPE Investment and (iii) Waldencast sells and issues 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, comprising of 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 warrants to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction. If the actual facts are different from these assumptions, the percentage ownership retained by the current Waldencast shareholders in Waldencast plc will be different.

In addition, following the Business Combination, directors, employees and consultants of Waldencast plc and its subsidiaries may be granted equity awards under the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan. You will experience additional dilution when those equity awards and purchase rights become vested and settled or exercisable, as applicable, for shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

Further, at the Sponsor's discretion, the Sponsor may convert up to $1.5 million of notes under the Promissory Note into warrants exercisable for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. To the extent the Sponsor elects to convert its notes into warrants and such warrants are exercised, you will experience additional dilution upon the issuance of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

The issuance of additional common stock will significantly dilute the equity interests of existing holders of Waldencast securities and may adversely affect prevailing market prices for our units, public shares or public warrants.

Warrants will become exercisable for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, which would increase the number of shares eligible for future resale in the public market and result in dilution to our shareholders, including, after the Business Combination, our non-redeeming shareholders.

Outstanding warrants to purchase an aggregate of 17,433,333 shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares will become exercisable in accordance with the terms of the Warrant Agreement governing those securities. These warrants will become exercisable at any time commencing on the later of 30 days after the completion of the Business Combination and 12 months from the closing of our public offering. The exercise price of these warrants will be $11.50 per share. To the extent such warrants are exercised, additional shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares will be issued, which will result in dilution to the existing holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and increase the number of shares eligible for resale in the public market. Sales of substantial numbers of such shares in the public market or the fact that such warrants may be exercised could adversely affect the market price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. However, there is no guarantee that the public warrants will ever be in the money prior to their expiration, and as such, the warrants may expire worthless.

In addition, our shareholders who exercise redemption rights with respect to their public shares will retain their public warrants, which will become warrants for Waldencast plc upon completion of the Business Combination and may be exercised by such redeeming shareholders for shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. Such exercises of Waldencast plc warrants held by redeeming shareholders will result in dilution to our non-redeeming shareholders.

Even if the Business Combination is consummated, we may amend the terms of the warrants in a manner that may be adverse to holders with the approval by the holders of at least 65% of the then outstanding public warrants.

The warrants were issued in registered form under the Warrant Agreement between the Warrant Agent and Waldencast. The Warrant Agreement provides that (a) the terms of the warrants may be amended without the consent of any holder for the purpose of (i) curing any ambiguity or correct any mistake, including to conform the provisions of the warrant agreement to the description of the terms of the warrants and the warrant agreement set forth in this prospectus, or defective provision or (ii) adding or changing any provisions with respect to matters or questions arising under the Warrant Agreement as the parties to the warrant agreement may deem necessary or desirable and that the parties deem to not adversely affect the rights of the registered holders of the warrants under the warrant agreement and (b) all other modifications or amendments require the vote or written consent of at least 65% of the then outstanding public warrants; provided that any amendment that solely affects the terms of the private placement warrants or any provision of the warrant agreement solely with respect to the private placement warrants will also require at least 65% of the then outstanding private placement warrants.

Accordingly, we may amend the terms of the public warrants in a manner adverse to a holder if holders of at least 65% of the then outstanding public warrants approve of such amendment. Although our ability to amend the terms of the public warrants with the consent of at least 65% of the then outstanding public warrants is unlimited, examples of such amendments could be amendments to, among other things, increase the exercise price of the warrants, shorten the exercise period or decrease the number of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares purchasable upon exercise of a warrant.

We may redeem your unexpired warrants prior to their exercise at a time that is disadvantageous to you, thereby making your warrants worthless.

We have the ability to redeem the outstanding warrants at any time after they become exercisable and prior to their expiration, at a price of $0.01 per warrant if, among other things, the last reported sale price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares for any 20 trading days within a 30-trading day period ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which we send the notice of redemption to the warrant holders equals or exceeds $18.00 per share (as adjusted for share splits, share dividends, rights issuances, subdivisions, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like). Redemption of the outstanding warrants as described above could force you to: (1) exercise your warrants and pay the exercise price therefor at a time when it may be disadvantageous for you to do so; (2) sell your warrants at the then current market price when you might otherwise wish to hold your warrants; or (3) accept the nominal redemption price which, at the time the outstanding warrants are called for redemption, we expect would be substantially less than the market value of your warrants. None of the private placement warrants will be redeemable by us (subject to limited exceptions) so long as they are held by the Sponsor or its permitted transferees.

In addition, we have the ability to redeem the outstanding warrants at any time after they become exercisable and prior to their expiration, at a price of $0.10 per warrant if, among other things, the last reported sale price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares for any 20 trading days within a 30-trading day period ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which we send the notice of redemption to the warrant holders equals or exceeds $10.00 per share (as adjusted for share splits, share dividends, rights issuances, subdivisions, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like). In such a case, the holders will be able to exercise their warrants prior to redemption for a number of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares determined based on the redemption date and the fair market value of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. The value received upon exercise of the warrants (1) may be less than the value the holders would have received if they had exercised their warrants at a later time where the underlying share price is higher and (2) may not compensate the holders for the value of the warrants, including because the number of ordinary shares received is capped at 0.361 shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares per warrant (subject to adjustment) irrespective of the remaining life of the warrants.

Following the Business Combination, Waldencast plc currently intends to retain its future earnings, if any, to finance the further development and expansion of its business and does not intend to pay cash dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination to pay dividends will be at the discretion of the Waldencast plc Board and will depend on its financial condition, results of operations, capital requirements and future agreements and financing instruments, business prospects and such other factors as the Waldencast plc Board deems relevant.

Nasdaq may not list Waldencast plc's securities on its exchange, which could limit investors' ability to make transactions in Waldencast plc's securities and subject Waldencast plc to additional trading restrictions.

In connection with the Business Combination, in order to continue to maintain the listing of securities on Nasdaq, we will be required to demonstrate Waldencast plc's compliance with Nasdaq's initial listing requirements, which are more rigorous than Nasdaq's continued listing requirements. We will apply to have Waldencast plc's securities listed on Nasdaq upon consummation of the Business Combination. We cannot assure you that we will be able to meet all initial listing requirements. Even if Waldencast plc's securities are listed on Nasdaq, Waldencast plc may be unable to maintain the listing of its securities in the future.

If Waldencast plc fails to meet the initial listing requirements and Nasdaq does not list its securities on its exchange, Obagi and Milk would not be required to consummate the Obagi Merger or the Milk Transaction, as applicable. In the event that Obagi and Milk elected to waive this condition, and the Business Combination was consummated without Waldencast plc's securities being listed on Nasdaq or on another national securities exchange, Waldencast plc could face significant material adverse consequences, including:

- a limited availability of market quotations for Waldencast plc's securities;
- reduced liquidity for Waldencast plc's securities;
- a determination that Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares are a "penny stock", which will require brokers trading in Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to adhere to more stringent rules and possibly result in a reduced level of trading activity in the secondary trading market for Waldencast plc's securities;
- a limited amount of news and analyst coverage; and
- a decreased ability to issue additional securities or obtain additional financing in the future.

The National Securities Markets Improvement Act of 1996, which is a federal statute, prevents or preempts the states from regulating the sale of certain securities, which are referred to as "covered securities." If Waldencast plc's securities are not listed on Nasdaq, such securities would not qualify as covered securities and we would be subject to regulation in each state in which we offer our securities because states are not preempted from regulating the sale of securities that are not covered securities.

Waldencast's, Obagi's and Milk's ability to consummate the Business Combination, and the operations of Waldencast plc following the Business Combination, may be materially adversely affected by the COVID-19 pandemic and other events.

The COVID-19 pandemic has resulted, and other infectious diseases could result, in a widespread health crisis that has, and could continue to, adversely affect the economies and financial markets worldwide, business operations and the conduct of commerce generally, which may delay or prevent the consummation of the Business Combination, and the business of Obagi, Milk or Waldencast plc following the Business Combination could be materially and adversely affected. The extent of such impact will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including new information that may emerge concerning the severity of COVID-19, the development of a more infectious or lethal mutation of the COVID-19 virus, and the actions to contain COVID-19 or treat its impact, among others.

The parties will be required to consummate the Business Combination even if Obagi or Milk, their business, financial condition and results of operations are materially affected by COVID-19. The disruptions posed by COVID-19 have continued, and other matters of global concern may continue, for an extensive period of time, and if Obagi or Milk is unable to recover from business disruptions due to COVID-19 or other matters of global concern on a timely basis, their ability to consummate the Business Combination and Waldencast plc's financial condition and results of operations following the Business Combination may be materially adversely affected. Although the impact of COVID-19 on Obagi's manufacturing and supply chain to date has not been material, temporary or permanent closures of Obagi's direct and indirect suppliers could result in adverse effects to its supply chain and has resulted in and could continue to result in adverse effects to Milk's supply chain, and other supply chain disruptions could occur, which might adversely affect the ability of Obagi and Milk to procure sufficient inventory to support customer orders. Each of Obagi, Milk and Waldencast plc may also incur additional costs due to delays caused by COVID-19, which could adversely affect Waldencast plc's financial condition and results of operations. See the section entitled "— Risks Related to Obagi — Risks Related to Obagi's Business and Industry — Public health emergencies, epidemics or pandemics, such as COVID-19, have had, and could in the future have, an adverse impact on our operations and financial condition" for a further discussion of the risks of COVID-19 with respect to Obagi and the sections entitled "— Risks Related to Milk — Risks Related to Milk's Business and Industry — Due to the impact of COVID-19, or other external factors beyond our control, we may experience difficulty sourcing, manufacturing or supplying our products which would in turn decrease our momentum and net sales and profit potential" and "— Risks Related to Milk — Risks Related to Milk's Business Operations — The recent outbreak of the COVID-19 global pandemic and related government, private sector and individual consumer responsive actions have adversely affected, and could continue to adversely affect, our business, financial condition and results of operation" for a further discussion of the risks of COVID-19 with respect to Milk.

Waldencast has identified material weaknesses in its internal control over financial reporting as of September 30, 2021. If Waldencast is unable to develop and maintain an effective system of internal control over financial reporting, Waldencast may not be able to accurately report its financial results in a timely manner, which may adversely affect investor confidence in Waldencast and materially and adversely affect Waldencast's business and operating results.

On April 12, 2021, the staff of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC Staff") issued a public statement entitled "Staff Statement on Accounting and Reporting Considerations for Warrants issued by Special Purpose Acquisition Companies ("SPACs")" (the "SEC Staff Statement"), which highlighted potential accounting implications of certain terms that are common in warrants issued in connection with the initial public offering of SPACs, such as Waldencast. Following the issuance of the SEC Staff Statement and after consultation with Waldencast's independent registered public accounting firm, Waldencast reevaluated the accounting for the public warrants and private placement warrants under ASC 815-40, Derivatives and Hedging—Contracts in Entity's Own Equity, and concluded that they did not meet the criteria to be classified in shareholders' equity. Because the public warrants and private placement warrants meet the definition of a derivative under ASC 815-40, Waldencast restated its March 18, 2021 financial statements to reclassify the public warrants, private placement warrants and forward purchase agreements that contain warrants as liabilities on the balance sheet at fair value, with subsequent changes in their respective fair values recognized in the statement of operations at each reporting date. As the result of such revision, Waldencast identified a material weakness in its internal control over financial reporting related to the accounting for the warrants and forward purchase agreements.

Additionally, in connection with the preparation of our financial statements as of September 30, 2021, and in light of certain comment letters issued by the SEC, Waldencast reevaluated the classification of our Class A ordinary shares subject to possible redemption. Waldencast previously recorded a portion of its Class A ordinary shares subject to possible redemption in permanent equity. Upon further evaluation, Waldencast determined that its Class A ordinary shares include certain redemption features not solely within its control that, under ASC 480-10-S99, require such shares to be classified as temporary equity in their entirety. Accordingly, after consultation with its independent registered public accounting firm, Waldencast's management and its audit committee concluded that it was appropriate to restate its previously issued financial statements as of March 18, 2021, March 31, 2021 and June 30, 2021 and for the periods from December 8, 2020 (inception) through January 12, 2021, from January 1, 2021 through March 31, 2021, and the three months and six months ended June 30, 2021 to present all redeemable Class A ordinary shares as temporary equity and to recognize accretion from the initial book value to redemption value at the time of our initial public offering (including exercise of the over-allotment option) and in accordance with ASC 480. In connection with the foregoing, Waldencast identified a material weakness in its internal control over financial reporting related to the misclassification of the Class A ordinary shares subject to possible redemption.

A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of Waldencast's annual or interim financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis.

Effective internal controls are necessary for Waldencast to provide reliable financial reports and prevent fraud. Waldencast has taken a number of measures intended to remediate the material weaknesses and Waldencast will continue to evaluate steps to remediate the material weaknesses. These remediation measures may be time consuming and costly and there is no assurance that these initiatives will ultimately have the intended effects. If we are unable to remediate our material weaknesses in a timely manner or we identify additional material weaknesses, we may be unable to provide required financial information in a timely and reliable manner and we may incorrectly report financial information. If our financial statements are not filed on a timely basis, we could be subject to sanctions or investigations by Nasdaq, the SEC or other regulatory authorities. If any of these events were to occur, it could have a material adverse effect on our business.

If Waldencast identifies any new material weaknesses in the future, any such newly identified material weakness could limit Waldencast's ability to prevent or detect a misstatement of its accounts or disclosures that could result in a material misstatement of its annual or interim financial statements. In such case, Waldencast may be unable to maintain compliance with securities law requirements regarding timely filing of periodic reports in addition to applicable stock exchange listing requirements, investors may lose confidence in Waldencast's financial reporting and Waldencast's stock price may decline as a result. Waldencast cannot assure you that the measures taken to date, or any measures it may take in the future, will be sufficient to avoid potential future material weaknesses.

Waldencast cannot provide any assurance that the measures it has taken and plans to take in the future will remediate the material weaknesses identified or that any additional material weaknesses or restatements of financial results will not arise in the future due to a failure to implement and maintain adequate internal control over financial reporting. In addition, even if Waldencast is successful in strengthening its controls and procedures, in the future those controls and procedures may not be adequate to prevent or identify irregularities or errors or to facilitate the fair presentation of its financial statements.

Waldencast and, following the Business Combination, Obagi and Milk, may face litigation and other risks as a result of the material weaknesses in Waldencast's internal control over financial reporting.

As a result of such material weaknesses, the changes in accounting for the warrants and for Waldencast Class A ordinary shares subject to redemption, and other matters raised or that may in the future be raised by the SEC, Waldencast and, following the Business Combination, Obagi and Milk, face potential for litigation or other disputes which may include, among others, claims invoking the federal and state securities laws, contractual claims or other claims arising from the material weaknesses in our internal control over financial reporting and the preparation of our financial statements. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, Waldencast has no knowledge of any such litigation or dispute. However, Waldencast can provide no assurance that such litigation or dispute will not arise in the future. Any such litigation or dispute, whether successful or not, could have a material adverse effect on Waldencast's business, results of operations and financial condition or its ability to complete the Business Combination and related transactions in a timely manner or at all.

Waldencast's warrants are accounted for as derivative liabilities with changes in fair value each period included in earnings, which may have an adverse effect on the market price of our securities.

Waldencast accounts for its warrants as derivative warrant liabilities. At each reporting period, (1) the accounting treatment of the warrants will be re-evaluated for proper accounting treatment as a liability or equity, and (2) the fair value of the liability of the public warrants and private placement warrants will be remeasured and the change in the fair value of the liability will be recorded as other income (expense) in our income statement. The impact of changes in fair value on earnings may have an adverse effect on the market price of Waldencast's securities.

Foreign currency exchange rate fluctuations and restrictions on the repatriation of cash could adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

Our business is exposed to fluctuations in exchange rates. Although our reporting currency is the U.S. dollar, following the Business Combination, we will operate in different geographical areas and transact in a range of currencies in addition to the U.S. dollar, such as the British pound, the Canadian dollar, the Chinese yuan and the EU euro. As a result, movements in exchange rates may cause our revenue and expenses to fluctuate, impacting our profitability, financial position and cash flows. Future business operations and opportunities, including any continued expansion of our business outside the U.S., may further increase the risk that cash flows resulting from these activities may be adversely affected by changes in currency exchange rates. In the event we are unable to offset these risks, there may be a material adverse impact on our business and operations. In appropriate circumstances where we are unable to naturally offset our exposure to these currency risks, we may enter into derivative transactions to reduce such exposures. Even where we implement hedging strategies to mitigate foreign currency risk, these strategies might not eliminate our exposure to foreign exchange rate fluctuations and involve costs and risks of their own, such as ongoing management time and expertise, external costs to implement the strategies and potential accounting implications. Nevertheless, exchange rate fluctuations may either increase or decrease our revenues and expenses as reported in U.S. dollars. Moreover, foreign governments may restrict transfers of cash out of the country and control exchange rates. There can be no assurance that we will be able to repatriate earnings generated, or cash held, by Waldencast plc and its subsidiaries due to exchange control restrictions or the requirements to hold cash locally to meet regulatory solvency requirements. This could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. See the section entitled “—Risks Related to Milk — Risks Related to Milk's Financial Condition — Fluctuations in currency exchange rates may negatively affect our financial condition and results of operations” for a discussion of risks related to Milk's exposure to fluctuations in currency exchange rates.

Following the Business Combination, Waldencast plc will be subject to the U.K. Bribery Act, the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and other anti-corruption laws and anti-money laundering laws. Failure to comply with these laws could subject us to penalties and other adverse consequence.

Following the Business Combination, Waldencast plc's operations will be subject to anti-corruption laws, including the Bribery Act, the FCPA, the U.S. domestic bribery statute contained in 18 U.S.C. § 201, the U.S. Travel

Act, and other anti-corruption laws and anti-money laundering laws that apply in countries where we will conduct activities. The Bribery Act, the FCPA and these other anti-corruption laws generally prohibit us and our employees, agents, representatives, business partners, and third-party intermediaries from authorizing, promising, offering, or providing, directly or indirectly, improper or prohibited payments, or anything else of value, to recipients in the public or private sector in order to obtain or retain business or gain some other business advantage. These laws have been enforced aggressively in recent years and are interpreted broadly. Under the Bribery Act, we may also be liable for failing to prevent a person associated with us from committing a bribery offense. Additionally, we are required to comply with all applicable economic and financial sanctions and trade embargoes, and export/import control laws.

Following the Business Combination, we will increase our international activities and will sometimes leverage third parties to sell our products and conduct our business abroad. We, our employees, agents, representatives, business partners or third-party intermediaries may have direct or indirect interactions with officials and employees of government agencies or state-owned or -affiliated entities. We can be held liable for the corrupt or other illegal activities of these third-party intermediaries, our employees, representatives, contractors, partners, and agents, even if we do not explicitly authorize such activities. While we have mechanisms to identify high-risk individuals and entities before contracting with them, we will be operating in a number of jurisdictions that pose a high risk of potential Bribery Act or FCPA violations. We cannot assure you that all of our employees, agents, representatives, business partners or third-party intermediaries will not take actions that violate applicable law, for which we may be ultimately held responsible. As we increase our international sales and business, our risks under these laws may increase.

Some of these anti-corruption laws also require that we keep accurate books and records and maintain internal controls and compliance procedures reasonably designed to prevent any corrupt conduct. While we will have policies and procedures to address compliance with those laws, we cannot assure you that none of our employees, agents, representatives, business partners or third-party intermediaries will take actions that violate our policies and applicable law, for which we may be ultimately held responsible. In addition, we cannot predict the nature, scope or effect of future regulatory requirements to which our international operations might be subject or the manner in which existing laws might be administered or interpreted.

Any violations of these anti-corruption laws, or even allegations of such violations, can lead to an investigation and/or enforcement action, which could disrupt our operations, involve significant management distraction and lead to significant costs and expenses, including legal fees. If we, or our employees or agents acting on our behalf, are found to have engaged in practices that violate these laws and regulations, we could suffer severe fines and penalties, profit disgorgement, injunctions on future conduct, securities litigation, bans on transacting government business, delisting from securities exchanges and other consequences that may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, our brand and reputation, our sales activities or our stock price could be adversely affected if we become the subject of any negative publicity related to actual or potential violations of anti-corruption, anti-bribery or trade control laws and regulations.

Your rights and responsibilities as a shareholder will be governed by Jersey law, which differs in some material respects with respect to the rights and responsibilities of shareholders of U.S. companies.

Waldencast plc will be organized under the laws of the Bailiwick of Jersey, Channel Islands, a British crown dependency that is an island located off the coast of Normandy, France. Jersey is not a member of the EU. Jersey legislation regarding companies is largely based on English corporate law principles. The rights and responsibilities of the holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares will be governed by the Proposed Constitutional Document and by Jersey law, including the provisions of the Jersey Companies Law. These rights and responsibilities differ in some material respects from the rights and responsibilities of shareholders in U.S. corporations.

In particular, Jersey law significantly limits the circumstances under which shareholders of companies may bring derivative actions and, in most cases, only the corporation may be the proper claimant or plaintiff for the purposes of maintaining proceedings in respect of any wrongful act committed against it. Neither an individual nor any group of shareholders has any right of action in such circumstances. Jersey law also does not afford appraisal rights to dissenting shareholders in the form typically available to shareholders of a U.S. corporation. However, there can be no assurance that Jersey law will not change in the future or that it will serve to protect the investors in a similar fashion afforded under corporate law principles in the U.S., which could adversely affect the rights of investors.

It may be difficult to enforce a U.S. judgment against us or our directors and officers outside the U.S., or to assert U.S. securities law claims outside the U.S.

Investors may also have difficulties pursuing an original action brought in a court in a jurisdiction outside the U.S., including Jersey, for liabilities under the securities laws of the U.S. The U.S. and Jersey currently do not have a treaty providing for the reciprocal recognition and enforcement of judgments (as opposed to arbitration awards) in civil and commercial matters. Consequently, a final judgment for payment rendered by any federal or state court in the U.S. based on civil liability, whether or not predicated solely upon U.S. federal securities laws, would not automatically be recognized and is not directly enforceable in Jersey. Rather, a judgment of a U.S. court constitutes a cause of action which may be enforced by Jersey courts provided that:

- The applicable U.S. courts had jurisdiction over the case, as recognized under Jersey law;
- the judgment is given on the merits and is final, conclusive and non-appealable;
- the judgment relates to the payment of a sum of money, not being taxes, fines or similar governmental penalties;
- the defendant is not immune under the principles of public international law;
- the same matters at issue in the case were not previously the subject of a judgment or disposition in a separate court;
- the judgment was not obtained by fraud; and
- the recognition and enforcement of the judgment is not contrary to public policy in Jersey.

Subject to the foregoing, investors may be able to enforce in Jersey judgments in civil and commercial matters that have been obtained from U.S. federal or state courts. However, it is doubtful that an original action based on U.S. federal or state securities laws could be brought before Jersey courts. In addition, a plaintiff who is not resident in Jersey may be required to provide a security bond in advance to cover the potential of the expected costs of any case initiated in Jersey.

Risks Related to Organizational Structure After the Business Combination

Waldencast plc's only material asset will be its indirect interest in Waldencast LP, and Waldencast plc will be accordingly dependent upon distributions from Waldencast LP to pay dividends, taxes and other expenses.

Upon the consummation of the Business Combination, Waldencast plc will be a holding company with no material assets other than indirect equity interests in Waldencast LP. As such, Waldencast plc will not have any independent means of generating revenue or cash flow, and its ability to pay taxes and operating expenses or declare and pay dividends in the future, if any, will be dependent upon the results of operations and cash flows of Waldencast LP and its subsidiaries. We note that the Business Combination will be structured as an Up-C transaction, whereby the Milk Members will retain a direct equity ownership in Waldencast LP, an entity that is classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, in the form of Waldencast LP Common Units, which will be redeemable at the option of the holder of such units, and if such option is exercised, will be exchangeable, at the option of Waldencast plc, for an equal number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or cash (together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of voting, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares). We intend to cause Waldencast LP to make distributions to its members, including Holdco 1, in an amount at least sufficient to allow for the payment of all applicable taxes, and to pay the corporate and other overhead expenses of Holdco 1 and Waldencast plc. There can be no assurance, however, that Waldencast LP and its subsidiaries will generate sufficient cash flow to distribute funds to Holdco 1, or that applicable legal and contractual restrictions, including negative covenants in Waldencast LP's debt instruments, will permit such distributions. It could materially and adversely affect the liquidity and financial condition of Waldencast plc if Waldencast LP is restricted from, or otherwise unable to, distribute sufficient cash to Waldencast plc.

Any disparity between the U.S. corporate tax rate and the U.S. tax rate applicable to non-corporate Members of Waldencast LP may complicate Waldencast plc's ability to maintain its intended capital structure, which could impose transaction costs on it and require management attention.

Waldencast LP is treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes and, as such, generally is not subject to U.S. federal income tax. Instead, its taxable income is generally allocated to its members, including Holdco 1. If and when Waldencast LP generates taxable income, it will generally make cash distributions, or tax distributions, to each of its members, including Holdco 1, based on each member's allocable share of net taxable income (calculated under certain assumptions) multiplied by an assumed tax rate. The assumed tax rate for this purpose will be the highest effective marginal combined federal, state, and local income tax rate applicable to an individual or corporate member (whichever is higher). In the event of any disparity between the tax rates applicable to corporate and non-corporate taxpayers, Holdco 1 could receive tax distributions from Waldencast LP in excess of its actual tax liability, which could result in it accumulating cash in excess of its tax liability. This would complicate Waldencast plc's ability to maintain certain aspects of its capital structure. Such cash, if retained, could cause the value of a Waldencast LP Common Unit to deviate from the value of a Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share. In addition, such cash, if used to purchase additional Waldencast LP Common Units, could result in deviation from the one-to-one relationship between Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares outstanding and Waldencast LP Common Units unless a corresponding number of additional Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares are distributed as a stock dividend. Waldencast plc may, if permitted under its debt agreements, choose to pay dividends to all holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares with any excess cash. These considerations could have unintended impacts on the pricing of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and may impose transaction costs and require management efforts to address on a recurring basis. To the extent that Waldencast plc does not distribute such excess cash as dividends on Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and instead, for example, holds such cash balances or lends them to Waldencast LP, holders of Waldencast LP Common Units during a period in which Waldencast plc holds such cash balances could benefit from the value attributable to such cash balances as a result of redeeming or exchanging their Waldencast LP Common Units and obtaining ownership of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (or a cash payment based on the value of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares). In such case, these holders of Waldencast LP Common Units could receive disproportionate value for their Waldencast LP Common Units exchanged during this time frame.

Additional Risks Related to Ownership of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares Following the Business Combination and Waldencast plc Operating as a Public Company

The price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and warrants may be volatile.

Upon consummation of the Business Combination, the price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, as well as Waldencast plc warrants, may fluctuate due to a variety of factors, including:

- changes in the industries in which Waldencast plc and its customers operate;
- developments involving Waldencast plc's competitors;
- changes in laws and regulations affecting its business;
- variations in its operating performance and the performance of its competitors in general;
- actual or anticipated fluctuations in Waldencast plc's quarterly or annual operating results;
- publication of research reports by securities analysts about Waldencast plc or its competitors or its industry;
- the public's reaction to Waldencast plc's press releases, its other public announcements and its filings with the SEC;
- actions by stockholders, including the sale by the Beauty Ventures of any of their shares of our common stock;
- additions and departures of key personnel;
- commencement of, or involvement in, litigation involving the combined company;
- changes in its capital structure, such as future issuances of securities or the incurrence of additional debt;
- the volume of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares available for public sale; and
- general economic and political conditions, such as the effects of the COVID-19 outbreak, recessions, interest rates, local and national elections, fuel prices, international currency fluctuations, corruption, political instability and acts of war or terrorism.

These market and industry factors may materially reduce the market price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and warrants regardless of the operating performance of Waldencast plc.

Waldencast plc does not intend to pay cash dividends for the foreseeable future.

Following the Business Combination, Waldencast plc currently intends to retain its future earnings, if any, to finance the further development and expansion of its business and does not intend to pay cash dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination to pay dividends will be at the discretion of the Waldencast plc Board and will depend on its financial condition, results of operations, capital requirements, restrictions contained in any future agreements and financing instruments, business prospects and such other factors as its board of directors deems relevant.

If analysts do not publish research about Waldencast plc's business or if they publish inaccurate or unfavorable research, Waldencast plc's stock price and trading volume could decline.

The trading market for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares will depend in part on the research and reports that analysts publish about its business. Waldencast plc does not have any control over these analysts. If one or more of the analysts who cover Waldencast plc downgrade its common stock or publish inaccurate or unfavorable research about its business, the price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares could decline. If few analysts cover Waldencast plc, the demand for its common stock could decrease and its common stock price and trading volume may decline. Similar results may occur if one or more of these analysts stop covering Waldencast plc in the future or fail to publish reports on it regularly.

A market for our securities may not develop or be sustained, which would adversely affect the liquidity and price of our securities.

An active trading market for our securities may never develop or, if developed, may not be sustained, which would have an adverse effect on the price and trading volume of our securities. You may be unable to sell your securities unless a market can be established and sustained.

Any legal proceedings, investigations or claims against us could be costly and time-consuming to defend and could harm our reputation regardless of the outcome. In addition, our business and operations could be negatively affected if they become subject to any securities litigation or shareholder activism, which could cause us to incur significant expense, hinder execution of business and growth strategy and impact our share price.

We are and may in the future become subject to legal proceedings, investigations and claims, including claims that arise in the ordinary course of business, such as claims by customers, claims or investigations brought by regulators or employment claims made by our current or former employees and independent contractors.

We are not currently a party to any pending or, to our knowledge, threatened litigation that will have a significant effect on our financial position or profitability. Any litigation, investigation or claim, whether meritorious or not, could harm our reputation, will increase our costs and may divert management's attention, time and resources, which may in turn harm our business, financial condition and results of operations. Insurance might not cover such claims, might not provide sufficient payments to cover all the costs to resolve one or more such claims and might not continue to be available on terms acceptable to us. A claim brought against us for which we are uninsured or underinsured could result in unanticipated costs, potentially harming our business, financial position and results of operations.

In the past, following periods of volatility in the market price of a company's securities, securities class action litigation has often been brought against that company. Shareholder activism, which could take many forms or arise in a variety of situations, as well as the frequency of lawsuits against Special Purpose Acquisition Company ("SPAC") sponsors, has been increasing recently, especially in the context of SPAC business combinations. Volatility in the share price of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or other reasons may in the future cause it to become the target of securities litigation or shareholder activism. Securities litigation and shareholder activism, including potential proxy contests, could result in substantial costs and divert management's and the Waldencast plc Board's attention and resources from Waldencast plc's business. Additionally, such securities litigation and shareholder activism could give rise to perceived uncertainties as to Waldencast plc's future, adversely affect its relationships with suppliers and service providers and make it more difficult to attract and retain qualified personnel. Also, Waldencast plc may be required to incur significant legal fees and other expenses related to any securities litigation and activist shareholder matters. Further, Waldencast plc's share price could be subject to significant fluctuation or otherwise be adversely affected by the events, risks and uncertainties of any securities litigation and shareholder activism.

Future resales of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares after the consummation of the Business Combination may cause the market price of Waldencast plc’s securities to drop significantly, even if Waldencast plc’s business is doing well.

After the consummation of the Business Combination and subject to certain exceptions, the Sponsor and the Lock-Up Holders will be contractually restricted from selling or transferring any of its shares of common stock (including the shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares issued in the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement) (the “Lock-up Shares”) during the respective Lock-Up Period (as defined below), (I) in the case of any Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and the Waldencast LP Common Units, as applicable, received as consideration in connection with the Business Combination, until the earlier of (A) one year after the Closing and (B) (x) if the last reported sale price of the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares equals or exceeds $12.00 per share (as adjusted for share sub-divisions, share dividends, rights issuances, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 150 days after the date of the Closing or (y) the date on which Waldencast completes a liquidation, merger, share exchange, reorganization or other similar transaction that results in all of Waldencast’s shareholders having the right to exchange their Waldencast Class A ordinary shares for cash, securities or other property and (II) in the event that a certain portion of the Obagi Cash Consideration or the Milk Cash Consideration is paid in equity of Waldencast as a result of the occurrence of certain events set forth in the Obagi Merger Agreement and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, as applicable, such equity of Waldencast received by Obagi or Milk for the same period as set forth in clause (I) above, provided that solely for the purpose of this clause (II), the term “one-year” in clause (I)(A) shall be replaced with the term “six months”.

However, following the expiration of each Lock-Up Period, the applicable shareholders will not be restricted from selling shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares held by them, other than by applicable securities laws. Additionally, the PIPE Investors will not be restricted from selling any of their shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares following the closing of the Business Combination, other than by applicable securities laws. As such, sales of a substantial number of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in the public market could occur at any time. These sales, or the perception in the market that the holders of a large number of shares intend to sell shares, could reduce the market price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. Upon completion of the Business Combination, the Sponsor, the Obagi Shareholders and the Milk Members will collectively own approximately 32.1% of the outstanding shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, assuming that no additional public shareholders redeem their public shares in connection with the Business Combination. Assuming redemption of approximately 21,834,638 public shares are redeemed in connection with the Business Combination, in the aggregate, the ownership of the Sponsor, the Obagi Shareholders and the Milk Members would rise to 42.6% of the outstanding shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

As restrictions on resale end and registration statements (filed after the closing of the Business Combination to provide for the resale of such shares from time to time) are available for use, the sale or possibility of sale of these shares could have the effect of increasing the volatility in Waldencast plc’s share price or the market price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares could decline if the holders of currently restricted shares sell them or are perceived by the market as intending to sell them.

The obligations associated with being the publicly traded entity in the “Up-C” structure will involve significant expenses and will require significant resources and management attention, which may divert from Waldencast plc’s business operations.

As the publicly traded entity in the Up-C structure, Waldencast plc will become subject to the reporting requirements of the Exchange Act and the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. The Exchange Act requires the filing of annual, quarterly and current reports with respect to a public company’s business and financial condition. The Sarbanes-Oxley Act requires, among other things, that a public company establish and maintain effective internal control over financial reporting. As a result, Waldencast plc will incur significant legal, accounting and other expenses that Obagi and Milk did not previously incur. Waldencast plc’s entire management team and many of its other employees will need to devote substantial time to compliance, and may not effectively or efficiently manage its transition into a public company. Waldencast plc will bear all of the internal and external costs of preparing and distributing periodic public reports in compliance with Waldencast plc’s obligations under the securities laws.

In addition, regulations and standards relating to corporate governance and public disclosure, including the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, and the related rules and regulations implemented by the SEC and Nasdaq, have increased legal and financial compliance costs and will make some compliance activities more time-consuming. If Waldencast plc’s efforts to comply with new laws, regulations and standards differ from the activities intended by regulatory or governing bodies due to ambiguities related to practice, regulatory authorities may initiate legal proceedings against Waldencast plc, and its business may be harmed. In the future, it may be more expensive or more difficult for Waldencast plc to obtain director and officer liability insurance, and Waldencast plc may be required to accept reduced coverage or incur substantially higher costs to obtain coverage. These factors could also make it more difficult for Waldencast plc to attract and retain qualified people to serve on its board of directors, its board committees or as executive officers.

Compliance obligations under the Sarbanes-Oxley Act may make it more difficult for us to effectuate the Business Combination, require substantial financial and management resources and increase the time and costs of completing a business combination.

The fact that we are a blank check company makes compliance with the requirements of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act particularly burdensome on us as compared to other public companies because Obagi and Milk are not currently subject to Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. The standards required for a public company under Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act are significantly more stringent than those required of Obagi and Milk as privately held companies. Management may not be able to effectively and timely implement controls and procedures that adequately respond to the increased regulatory compliance and reporting requirements that will be applicable to Waldencast plc after the Business Combination. If we are not able to implement the requirements of Section 404, including any additional requirements once we are no longer an emerging growth company, in a timely manner or with adequate compliance, we may not be able to assess whether our internal controls over financial reporting are effective, which may subject us to adverse regulatory consequences and could harm investor confidence and the market price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. Additionally, once Waldencast plc is no longer an emerging growth company, it will be required to comply with the independent registered public accounting firm attestation requirement on our internal control over financial reporting.

We are currently an emerging growth company within the meaning of the Securities Act, and to the extent we have taken advantage of certain exemptions from disclosure requirements available to emerging growth companies, this could make our securities less attractive to investors and may make it more difficult to compare our performance with other public companies.

We are currently an “emerging growth company” within the meaning of the Securities Act, as modified by the JOBS Act, and we may take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not emerging growth companies, including, but not limited to, not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in our periodic reports and proxy statements, and exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and shareholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved. As a result, our shareholders may not have access to certain information they may deem important. We cannot predict whether investors will find our securities less attractive because we will rely on these exemptions. If some investors find our securities less attractive as a result of our reliance on these exemptions, the trading prices of our securities may be lower than they otherwise would be, there may be a less active trading market for our securities and the trading prices of our securities may be more volatile.

Further, Section 102(b)(1) of the JOBS Act exempts emerging growth companies from being required to comply with new or revised financial accounting standards until private companies (that is, those that have not had a Securities Act registration statement declared effective or do not have a class of securities registered under the Exchange Act) are required to comply with the new or revised financial accounting standards. The JOBS Act provides that a company can elect to opt out of the extended transition period and comply with the requirements that apply to non-emerging growth companies but any such election to opt out is irrevocable. We have elected not to opt out of such extended transition period, which means that when a standard is issued or revised and it has different application dates for public or private companies, we, as an emerging growth company, can adopt the new or revised standard at the time private companies adopt the new or revised standard. This may make comparison of our financial statements with another public company, which is neither an emerging growth company nor an emerging growth company which has opted out of using the extended transition period difficult or impossible because of the potential differences in accounting standards used.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

If we cease to be an emerging growth company, we will no longer be able to take advantage of certain exemptions from reporting, and, absent other exemptions or relief available from the SEC, we will also be required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. We will incur additional expenses in connection with such compliance and our management will need to devote additional time and effort to implement and comply with such requirements.

As a foreign private issuer, we are exempt from a number of rules under the U.S. securities laws and are permitted to file less information with the SEC than a U.S. company. This may limit the information available to holders of the ordinary shares.

We are a foreign private issuer, as such term is defined in Rule 405 under the Securities Act, however, under Rule 405, the determination of foreign private issuer status is made annually on the last business day of an issuer's most recently completed second fiscal quarter and, accordingly, the next determination will be made with respect to us on June 30, 2022.

As a foreign private issuer, we are not subject to all of the disclosure requirements applicable to public companies organized within the U.S. For example, we are exempt from certain rules under the Exchange Act that regulate disclosure obligations and procedural requirements related to the solicitation of proxies, consents or authorizations applicable to a security registered under the Exchange Act, including the U.S. proxy rules under Section 14 of the Exchange Act (including the requirement applicable to emerging growth companies to disclose the compensation of our Chief Executive Officer and the other two most highly compensated executive officers on an individual, rather than an aggregate, basis). In addition, our officers and directors are exempt from the reporting and "short-swing" profit recovery provisions of Section 16 of the Exchange Act and related rules with respect to their purchases and sales of our securities. Moreover, while we expect to submit quarterly interim consolidated financial data to the SEC under cover of the SEC's Form 6-K, we will not be required to file periodic reports and financial statements with the SEC as frequently or as promptly as U.S. public companies and will not be required to file quarterly reports on Form 10-Q or current reports on Form 6-K under the Exchange Act. We also will be exempt from the requirements to obtain shareholder approval for certain issuances of securities, including shareholder approval of share option plans.

In addition, as a foreign private issuer, we will be exempt from the provisions of Regulation FD, which prohibits issuers from making selective disclosure of material nonpublic information.

Furthermore, our ordinary shares are not listed and we do not currently intend to list our ordinary shares on any market in the Bailiwick of Jersey, our home country. As a result, we are not subject to the reporting and other requirements of companies listed in the Bailiwick of Jersey. For instance, we are not required to publish quarterly or semi-annual financial statements. Accordingly, there may be less publicly available information concerning our business than there would be if we were a U.S. public company and you may not be afforded the same protections or information that would be made available to you were you investing in a U.S. domestic issuer.

As a foreign private issuer, we are permitted to rely on exemptions from certain stock exchange corporate governance standards. As a result, our shareholders may be afforded less protection than shareholders of companies that are subject to all corporate governance requirements of the Exchange Act and U.S. stock exchanges.

As a foreign private issuer, we have the option to follow certain home country corporate governance practices rather than those of the U.S. stock exchanges, provided that we disclose the requirements we are not following and describe the home country practices we are following.

Any foreign private issuer exemptions we avail ourselves of in the future may reduce the scope of information and protection to which you are otherwise entitled as an investor. As a result, there may be less publicly available information concerning our business than there would be if we were a U.S. public company and you may not be afforded the same protections or information that would be made available to you were you investing in a U.S. domestic issuer.

We may lose our foreign private issuer status in the future, which could result in significant additional cost and expense.

In order to maintain our current status as a foreign private issuer, either (a) more than 50% of our outstanding voting securities must be either directly or indirectly owned of record by non-residents of the U.S. or (b)(i) a majority of our executive officers or directors may not be U.S. citizens or residents, (ii) more than 50% of our assets cannot be located in the U.S. and (iii) our business must be administered principally outside the U.S. Although we have elected to comply with certain U.S. regulatory provisions, our loss of foreign private issuer status would make such provisions mandatory. The regulatory and compliance costs to us under U.S. securities laws as a U.S. domestic issuer may be significantly higher. If we are not a foreign private issuer, we will be required to file periodic reports and registration statements on U.S. domestic issuer forms with the SEC, which are more detailed and extensive than the forms available to a foreign private issuer. For example, the annual report on Form 10-K requires domestic issuers to disclose executive compensation information on an individual basis with specific disclosure regarding the domestic compensation philosophy, objectives, annual total compensation (base salary, bonus, and equity compensation) and potential payments in connection with change in control, retirement, death or disability, while the annual report on Form 20-F permits foreign private issuers to disclose compensation information on an aggregate basis. We would also have to mandatorily comply with U.S. federal proxy requirements, and our officers, directors, and principal shareholders will become subject to the short-swing profit disclosure and recovery provisions of Section 16 of the Exchange Act. We may also be required to modify certain of our policies to comply with good governance practices associated with U.S. domestic issuers. The additional requirements that we would become subject to and any modification of our policies if we were to lose our foreign private issuer status could lead us to incur significant additional legal, accounting and other expenses. In addition, we may lose our ability to rely upon exemptions from certain corporate governance requirements on U.S. stock exchanges that are available to foreign private issuers.

Risks Related to the Consummation of the Domestication

Upon consummation of the Business Combination, the rights of holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares arising under Jersey Companies Law as well as the Proposed Constitutional Document will differ from and may be less favorable to the rights of holders of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares arising under the Cayman Islands Companies Act as well as our current memorandum and articles of association.

Upon consummation of the Business Combination, the rights of holders of Waldencast common stock will arise under the Proposed Constitutional Document as well as Jersey Companies Law. Those new organizational documents and Jersey Companies Law contain provisions that differ in some respects from those in our current memorandum and articles of association and the Cayman Islands Companies Act and, therefore, some rights of holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares could differ from the rights that holders of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares currently possess. For instance, while class actions are generally not available to shareholders under Cayman Islands Companies Act, such actions are generally available under Jersey Companies Law. This change could increase the likelihood that Waldencast plc becomes involved in costly litigation, which could have a material adverse effect on Waldencast plc.

In addition, there are differences between the new organizational documents of Waldencast plc and the current constitutional documents of Waldencast. For a more detailed description of the rights of holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and how they may differ from the rights of holders of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares, please see the section entitled “Comparison of Corporate Governance and Shareholder Rights.” The form of the Proposed Constitutional Document of Waldencast plc is attached as Annex G to this proxy statement/prospectus and we urge you to read them.

Jersey law and Waldencast plc’s Proposed Constitutional Document contain certain provisions, including anti-takeover provisions that limit the ability of stockholders to take certain actions and could delay or discourage takeover attempts that stockholders may consider favorable.

The Proposed Constitutional Document that will be in effect upon consummation of the Business Combination, and Jersey law, contain provisions that could have the effect of rendering more difficult, delaying, or preventing an acquisition that shareholders may consider favorable, including transactions in which shareholders might otherwise receive a premium for their shares. These provisions could also limit the price that investors might be willing to pay in the future for shares of our common stock, and therefore depress the trading price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. These provisions could also make it difficult for shareholders to take certain actions, including electing directors who are not nominated by the current members of the Waldencast plc Board or taking other corporate actions, including effecting changes in our management. Among other things, the Proposed Constitutional Document includes provisions regarding:

- providing for a classified board of directors with staggered, three-year terms;
- the ability of the Waldencast plc Board to issue shares of preferred stock, and to determine the price and other terms of those shares, including preferences and voting rights, without stockholder approval, which could be used to significantly dilute the ownership of a hostile acquirer;

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- the Waldencast plc Board will have the exclusive right to elect directors to fill a vacancy created by the expansion of the Waldencast plc Board or the resignation, death or removal of a director, which will prevent shareholders from being able to fill vacancies on the Waldencast plc Board; and
- the limitation of the liability of, and the indemnification of, the directors and officers of Waldencast plc.

These provisions, alone or together, could delay or prevent hostile takeovers and changes in control or changes in the board of directors or management of Waldencast plc.

Waldencast plc's proposed memorandum and articles of association limit liability of Waldencast plc's non-employee directors, Cedarwalk and the Sponsor and their respective affiliates and representatives' liability to Waldencast plc for breach of fiduciary duty and could also prevent Waldencast plc from benefiting from corporate opportunities that might otherwise have been available to it.

Waldencast plc's proposed memorandum and articles of association provide that, to the fullest extent permitted by law, and other than corporate opportunities that are expressly presented to one of Waldencast plc's directors or officers in his or her capacity as such, Waldencast plc's non-employee directors, Cedarwalk and the Sponsor and their respective affiliates and representatives:

- will not have any fiduciary duty to refrain from (i) engaging in and possessing interests in other business ventures of every type and description, including those engaged in the same or similar business activities or lines of business in which Waldencast plc or any of its subsidiaries now engages or proposes to engage or (ii) competing with Waldencast plc or any of its affiliates, subsidiaries or representatives, on its own account, or in partnership with, or as an employee, officer, director or shareholder of any other Person (other than Waldencast plc or any of its subsidiaries);
- will have no duty to communicate or present such transaction or matter to Waldencast plc or any of its subsidiaries, as the case may be; and
- will not be liable to Waldencast plc or its shareholders or to any subsidiary of Waldencast plc for breach of any duty (fiduciary, contractual or otherwise) as a shareholder or director of Waldencast plc by reason of the fact that such Person, directly or indirectly, pursues or acquires such opportunity for itself, herself or himself, directs such opportunity to another Person or does not present such opportunity to Waldencast plc or any of its subsidiaries, affiliates or representatives.

Risks Related to Taxation of Waldencast and Waldencast plc

Failure to comply with applicable transfer pricing and similar regulations could harm our business and financial results.

In many countries, including the US., we are subject to transfer pricing and other tax regulations designed to ensure that appropriate levels of income are reported as earned in each jurisdiction and are taxed accordingly. Although we believe that we are in substantial compliance with all applicable regulations and restrictions, we are subject to the risk that Governmental Authorities could audit our transfer pricing and related practices and assert that additional taxes are owed. In the event that the audits or assessments are concluded adversely to us, we may or may not be able to offset or mitigate the consolidated effect.

Waldencast may be, or Waldencast plc may become, a passive foreign investment company ("PFIC"), which could result in adverse U.S. federal income tax consequences to U.S. Holders.

If Waldencast plc (or its predecessor Waldencast) is a PFIC for any taxable year, or portion thereof, that is included in the holding period of a U.S. Holder (as defined herein), such U.S. Holder may be subject to certain adverse U.S. federal income tax consequences and may be subject to additional reporting requirements. Following the Domestication, assuming that the Domestication qualifies as an "F" reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a)(1)(F) of the Code, Waldencast plc will be treated as the successor to Waldencast for U.S. federal income tax purposes, and for the taxable year that includes the Business Combination and subsequent taxable years, the PFIC asset and income tests will be applied based on the assets and activities of the combined business.

Based on the anticipated timing of the Business Combination, the anticipated assets and income of the combined company and the application of the start-up exception, neither Waldencast nor its successor Waldencast plc (as the case may be) is currently expected to be treated as a PFIC for the taxable year ending on December 31, 2022, or the foreseeable future. However, the facts on which any determination of PFIC status are based may not be known until the close of each taxable year in question, and, in the case of the current taxable year, until as late as the close of two subsequent taxable years. Additionally, there is uncertainty regarding the application of the start-up exception.

Please see the section entitled “U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations — Effects of the Business Combination to U.S. Holders — PFIC Considerations” for a more detailed discussion with respect to Waldencast plc’s PFIC status. U.S. Holders are urged to consult their tax advisors regarding the possible application of the PFIC rules to holders of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

Waldencast plc may be treated as a corporation resident in the U.S. for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

A corporation is generally considered a tax resident in the jurisdiction of its organization or incorporation. Thus, as a corporation incorporated under the laws of Jersey, Waldencast plc should generally be classified as a non-U.S. corporation (and therefore as a non-U.S. tax resident) for U.S. federal income tax purposes. In certain circumstances, however, under section 7874 of the Code, a corporation organized outside the U.S. will be treated as a U.S. corporation (and, therefore, as a U.S. tax resident).

Based on the rules in effect at the time of the Business Combination, the relative values of Obagi and Milk and the terms of the Business Combination, we do not expect that the Business Combination results in our being treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes by virtue of section 7874. Nevertheless, because the section 7874 rules and exceptions are complex, subject to factual and legal uncertainties, and may change in the future (possibly with retroactive effect), there can be no assurance that we will not be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes. In addition, it is possible that a future acquisition of the stock or assets of a U.S. corporation could result in our being treated as a U.S. corporation at the time of that Business Combination.

Following the Domestication, Waldencast plc intends to operate so as to be treated exclusively as a resident of Jersey for tax purposes, but the tax authorities of other jurisdictions may treat it as also being a resident of, or as having a taxable presence in, another jurisdiction for tax purposes.

Following the Domestication, Waldencast plc intends to have its residence for tax purposes (including, for the avoidance of doubt, withholding tax and tax treaty eligibility purposes) exclusively in Jersey and will have no taxable presence in the form of a fixed place of business or permanent establishment in any other jurisdiction.

Because (following the Domestication) Waldencast plc will be incorporated under Jersey law and will have its registered office in Jersey, it is considered to be resident in Jersey for Jersey tax purposes. In addition, it is intended that, following the Domestication, Waldencast plc will maintain its management, organizational and operational structures in such a manner that it should not be regarded as a tax resident of any other jurisdiction either for domestic law purposes or for the purposes of any applicable tax treaty (notably any applicable tax treaty with Jersey) and should be deemed resident only in Jersey and that it should not have a fixed place of business or permanent establishment outside Jersey.

However, the determination of Waldencast plc’s tax residence, which primarily depends upon its place of effective management, as well as the characterization of fixed places of business or permanent establishments outside its jurisdiction of incorporation, are questions of fact based on all circumstances. Because such determinations are highly fact-sensitive, no assurance can be given regarding their outcome.

A failure to maintain exclusive tax residence in Jersey or not to maintain a fixed place of business or permanent establishment outside Jersey could result in significant adverse tax consequences to Waldencast plc. A failure to maintain exclusive tax residence in Jersey could also result in significant adverse tax consequences for shareholders. The impact of this risk would differ based on the views taken by each relevant tax authority and, in respect of the taxation of shareholders, on their specific situation.

Waldencast plc may in the future amend its management, organizational and operational structures in such a manner that it may be regarded as a tax resident of another jurisdiction either for domestic law purposes or for the purposes of any applicable tax treaty. A change in tax residence could result in significant adverse tax consequences to Waldencast plc and for shareholders, and Waldencast plc may opt to make such changes without consideration of the tax consequences for shareholders.

Risks Related to the Redemption

There is no guarantee that a Waldencast shareholder’s decision whether to redeem their shares for a pro rata portion of the trust account will put such shareholder in a better future economic position.

No assurance can be given as to the price at which a shareholder may be able to sell his, her or its public shares in the future following the completion of the Business Combination. Certain events following the consummation of any business combination, including the Business Combination, may cause an increase in our stock price, and may result in a lower value realized now than a Waldencast shareholder might realize in the future had the shareholder not elected to redeem such shareholder’s public shares. Similarly, if a Waldencast public shareholder does not redeem his, her or its shares, such shareholder will bear the risk of ownership of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares after the consummation of the Business Combination, and there can be no assurance that a shareholder can sell his, her or its shares in the future for a greater amount than the redemption price set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus. A Waldencast shareholder should consult his, her or its own tax and/or financial advisor for assistance on how this may affect its individual situation.

If Waldencast shareholders fail to comply with the redemption requirements specified in this proxy statement/prospectus, they will not be entitled to redeem their public shares for a pro rata portion of the funds held in the trust account.

To exercise their redemption rights, holders are required to deliver their stock, either physically or electronically using Depository Trust Company’s DWAC System, to Waldencast’s transfer agent prior to the vote at the extraordinary general meeting. If a holder properly seeks redemption as described in this proxy statement/prospectus and the Business Combination with Obagi and Milk is consummated, Waldencast will redeem these shares for a pro rata portion of funds deposited in the trust account and the holder will no longer own such shares following the Business Combination. See the section entitled “Extraordinary General Meeting of Waldencast — Redemption Rights” for additional information on how to exercise your redemption rights.

If you or a “group” of shareholders are deemed to hold in excess of 15% of the public shares, you (or, if a member of such a group, all of the members of such group in the aggregate) will lose the ability to redeem all such shares in excess of 15% of the public shares.

A public shareholder, together with any affiliate of such public shareholder or any other person with whom such public shareholder is acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined in Section 13(d)(3) of the Exchange Act) will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. Your inability to redeem any such excess public shares could result in you suffering a material loss on your investment in Waldencast if you sell such excess public shares in open market transactions. Waldencast cannot assure you that the value of such excess public shares will appreciate over time following the Business Combination or that the market price of the public shares will exceed the per-share redemption price.

However, Waldencast’s shareholders’ ability to vote all of their public shares (including such excess shares) for or against the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal is not restricted by this limitation on redemption.

Risks if the Adjournment Proposal is Not Approved

If the Adjournment Proposal is not approved, and an insufficient number of votes have been obtained to authorize the consummation of the Business Combination and the Domestication, our board of directors will not have the ability to adjourn the extraordinary general meeting to a later date in order to solicit further votes, and, therefore, the Business Combination will not be approved, and, therefore, may not be consummated.

Our board of directors is seeking approval to adjourn the extraordinary general meeting to a later date or dates if, at the extraordinary general meeting, based upon the tabulated votes, there are insufficient votes to approve each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. If the Adjournment Proposal is not approved, our board of directors will not have the ability to adjourn the extraordinary general meeting to a later date and, therefore, will not have more time to solicit votes to approve the Condition Precedent Proposals. In such events, the Business Combination would not be completed.

Risks if the Domestication and the Business Combination are not Consummated

If we are not able to complete the Business Combination with Obagi and Milk by March 18, 2023, nor able to complete another business combination by such date, in each case, as such date may be further extended pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, we would cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up and we would redeem our Class A ordinary shares and liquidate the trust account, in which case our public shareholders may only receive approximately $10.00 per share and our warrants will expire worthless.

Our ability to complete the Business Combination may be negatively impacted by general market conditions, volatility in the capital and debt markets and the other risks described herein, including as a result of terrorist attacks, natural disasters, a significant outbreak of infectious diseases or other unanticipated catastrophes. For example, the outbreak of COVID-19 continues in the U.S. or globally and, while the extent of the impact of the outbreak on Waldencast will depend on future developments, it could limit our ability to complete the Business Combination, including as a result of increased market volatility, decreased market liquidity and third-party financing being unavailable on terms acceptable to us or at all. Additionally, the outbreak of COVID-19, resulting temporary or permanent closures of Obagi's and Milk's direct and indirect suppliers, other supply chain disruptions and other events (such as terrorist attacks, natural disasters, a significant outbreak of infectious diseases or other unanticipated catastrophes) may negatively impact the business of Waldencast plc following the Business Combination.

If Waldencast is not able to complete the Business Combination with Obagi and Milk by March 18, 2023, nor able to complete another business combination by such date, in each case, as such date may be extended pursuant to Waldencast's Cayman Constitutional Documents, Waldencast will: (i) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up; (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible but not more than 10 business days thereafter, redeem the public shares, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the trust account, including interest (less up to $0.1 million of interest to pay dissolution expenses and which interest shall be net of taxes payable), divided by the number of then issued and outstanding public shares, which redemption will completely extinguish public shareholders' rights as shareholders (including the right to receive further liquidating distributions, if any), subject to applicable law; and (iii) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of Waldencast's remaining shareholders and its board, dissolve and liquidate, subject in each case to its obligations under Cayman Islands law to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law. In such case, our public shareholders may only receive approximately $10.00 per share and our warrants will expire worthless.

You will not have any rights or interests in funds from the trust account, except under certain limited circumstances. To liquidate your investment, therefore, you may be forced to sell your public shares and/or public warrants, potentially at a loss.

Our public shareholders will be entitled to receive funds from the trust account only upon the earliest to occur of (1) our completion of an initial business combination (including the Closing), and then only in connection with those public shares that such public shareholder properly elected to redeem, subject to certain limitations; (2) the redemption of any public shares properly submitted in connection with a shareholder vote to amend the Cayman Constitutional Documents to (A) modify the substance or timing of our obligation to allow redemption in connection with our initial business combination or to redeem 100% of the public shares if we do not complete a business combination by March 18, 2023, or (B) with respect to any other provision relating to shareholders' rights or pre-initial business combination activity; and (3) the redemption of the public shares if we have not completed an initial business combination by March 18, 2023 (or if such date is further extended at a duly called extraordinary general meeting, such later date), subject to applicable law. In no other circumstances will a shareholder have any right or interest of any kind to or in the trust account. Holders of public warrants will not have any right to the proceeds held in the trust account with respect to the public warrants. Accordingly, to liquidate your investment, you may be forced to sell your public shares and/or public warrants, potentially at a loss.

If we have not completed our initial business combination, our public shareholders may be forced to wait until after March 18, 2023, before redemption from the trust account.

If we have not completed our initial business combination by March 18, 2023 (or if such date is further extended at a duly called extraordinary general meeting, such later date), we will distribute the aggregate amount then on deposit in the trust account (less up to $0.1 million of the net interest to pay dissolution expenses and which interest shall be net of taxes payable), pro rata to our public shareholders by way of redemption and cease all operations except for the purposes of winding up of our affairs, as further described in this proxy statement/prospectus. Any redemption of public shareholders from the trust account shall be affected automatically by function of the Cayman Constitutional Documents prior to any voluntary winding up. If we are required to wind-up, liquidate the trust account and distribute such amount therein, pro rata, to our public shareholders, as part of any liquidation process, such winding up, liquidation and distribution must comply with the applicable provisions of the Cayman Islands Companies Act. In that case, investors may be forced to wait beyond March 18, 2023 (or if such date is further extended at a duly called extraordinary general meeting, such later date), before the redemption proceeds of the trust account become available to them, and they receive the return of their pro rata portion of the proceeds from the trust account. We have no obligation to return funds to investors prior to the date of our redemption or liquidation unless, prior thereto, we consummate our initial business combination or amend certain provisions of our Cayman Constitutional Documents and only then in cases where investors have properly sought to redeem their public shares. Only upon our redemption or any liquidation will public shareholders be entitled to distributions if we have not completed our initial business combination within the required time period and do not amend certain provisions of our Cayman Constitutional Documents prior thereto.

If the net proceeds of our initial public offering not being held in the trust account are insufficient to allow us to operate through to March 18, 2023, and we are unable to obtain additional capital, we may be unable to complete our initial business combination, in which case our public shareholders may only receive $10.00 per share, and our warrants will expire worthless.

As of September 30, 2021, Waldencast had cash of $0.3 million held outside the trust account, which is available for use by us to cover the costs associated with identifying a target business and negotiating a business combination and other general corporate uses. In addition, as of September 30, 2021, Waldencast had total current liabilities of $0.1 million.

The funds available to us outside of the trust account may not be sufficient to allow us to operate until March 18, 2023, assuming that our initial business combination is not completed during that time. Of the funds available to us, we could use a portion of the funds available to us to pay fees to consultants to assist us with our search for a target business. We could also use a portion of the funds as a down payment or to fund a “no-shop” provision (a provision in letters of intent designed to keep target businesses from “shopping” around for transactions with other companies on terms more favorable to such target businesses) with respect to a particular proposed business combination, although we do not have any current intention to do so. If we entered into a letter of intent where we paid for the right to receive exclusivity from a target business and were subsequently required to forfeit such funds (whether as a result of our breach or otherwise), we might not have sufficient funds to continue searching for, or conduct due diligence with respect to, a target business.

If we are required to seek additional capital, we would need to borrow funds from Sponsor, members of our management team or other third parties to operate or may be forced to liquidate. Neither the members of our management team nor any of their affiliates is under any further obligation to advance funds to Waldencast in such circumstances. Any such advances would be repaid only from funds held outside the trust account or from funds released to us upon completion of our initial business combination. If we are unable to obtain additional financing, we may be unable to complete our initial business combination. If we are unable to complete our initial business combination because we do not have sufficient funds available to us, we will be forced to cease operations and liquidate the trust account. Consequently, our public shareholders may only receive approximately $10.00 per share on our redemption of the public shares and the public warrants will expire worthless.

EXTRAORDINARY GENERAL MEETING OF WALDENCAS

General

Waldencast is furnishing this proxy statement/prospectus to our shareholders as part of the solicitation of proxies by Waldencast’s board of directors for use at the extraordinary general meeting of Waldencast to be held on _____, 2022, and at any adjournment thereof. This proxy statement/prospectus is first being furnished to our shareholders on or about _____, 2022 in connection with the vote on the proposals described in this proxy statement/prospectus. This proxy statement/prospectus provides our shareholders with information they need to know to be able to vote or instruct their vote to be cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

Date, Time and Place

The extraordinary general meeting will be held on _____, 2022, at _____, Eastern Time, at the offices of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP located at One Manhattan West, New York, NY 10001, or via live webcast at www.virtualshareholdermeeting/WALD2022SM, or such other date, time and place to which such meeting may be adjourned or virtually postponed, to consider and vote upon the proposals.

Purpose of the Waldencast Extraordinary General Meeting

At the extraordinary general meeting, Waldencast is asking holders of ordinary shares to:

- consider and vote upon a proposal to approve by ordinary resolution and adopt the Obagi Merger Agreement attached to this proxy statement/prospectus statement as Annex A, pursuant to which, among other things, following the Domestication of Waldencast to Jersey, the merger of Merger Sub with and into Obagi, with Obagi surviving the merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of Holdco 2 and an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Waldencast plc in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Obagi Merger Agreement, as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus (the “Obagi Merger Proposal”);
- consider and vote upon a proposal to approve by ordinary resolution and adopt the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement attached to this proxy statement/prospectus statement as Annex B, pursuant to which, among other things, following the Domestication of Waldencast to Jersey, the purchase of 100% of the issued and outstanding membership interests of Milk by the Milk Purchasers in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus (the “Milk Transaction Proposal” and, together with the Obagi Merger Proposal, the “BCA Proposal”);
- consider and vote upon a proposal to approve by special resolution, assuming the BCA Proposal is approved and adopted, the change of Waldencast’s jurisdiction of incorporation by deregistering as an exempted company in the Cayman Islands and continuing and domesticating as a public limited company under the laws of Jersey;
- consider and vote upon the following four separate proposals to approve by special resolution in the case of Organizational Documents Proposals A and D and by ordinary resolution in the case of Organizational Documents Proposals B and C:
  - to authorize the change in the authorized share capital of Waldencast from 500,000,000 Class A ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, 50,000,000 Class B ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, and 5,000,000 preferred shares, par value $0.0001 per share, to _____ Class A ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, of Waldencast plc, _____ Class B ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share, of Waldencast plc and _____ preference shares of a par value of $0.0001 per share of Waldencast plc;
  - to provide that the Waldencast plc Board be divided into three classes, with each class made up of, as nearly as may be possible, one-third of the total number of directors constituting the entire Waldencast plc Board, with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class serving a three-year term;

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- to provide that certain provisions of the Proposed Constitutional Document will be subject to the Investor Rights Agreement, including provisions governing the appointment, removal and replacement of directors, with respect to which Cedarwalk will have certain rights pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement;
- to authorize all other changes in connection with the replacement of Cayman Constitutional Documents with the Proposed Constitutional Document in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination (a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex H, respectively), including (1) changing the corporate name from “Waldencast Acquisition Corp.” to “Waldencast plc”, (2) making Waldencast plc’s existence for an unlimited duration and (3) removing certain provisions related to Waldencast plc’s status as a blank check company that will no longer be applicable upon consummation of the Business Combination, all of which Waldencast’s board of directors believes is necessary to adequately address the needs of Waldencast plc after the Business Combination;
- consider and vote upon a proposal to approve by ordinary resolution of the holders of Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, to elect nine directors who, upon consummation of the Business Combination, will be the directors of Waldencast plc;
- consider and vote upon a proposal to approve by ordinary resolution for purposes of complying with the applicable provisions of The Nasdaq Stock Market Listing Rule 5635, the issuance of (a) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors, pursuant to the PIPE Investment and the Obagi Shareholders, pursuant to the Obagi Merger Agreement and (b) Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction;
- consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the issuance of the Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares and the reservation for issue of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in exchange for Waldencast LP Common Units, in each case, to the Milk Members (as defined herein) pursuant to the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement;
- consider and vote upon a proposal to approve by ordinary resolution, the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan; and
- consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the adjournment of the extraordinary general meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for the approval of one or more proposals at the extraordinary general meeting.

Each of the Condition Precedent Proposals is cross-conditioned on the approval of each other. The Adjournment Proposal is not conditioned upon the approval of any other proposal set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Recommendation of Waldencast Board of Directors

Waldencast’s board of directors believes that the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the other proposals to be presented at the extraordinary general meeting are in the best interest of Waldencast’s shareholders and unanimously recommends that its shareholders and, in the case of the Director Election Proposal, its shareholders holding Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, vote “FOR” the Obagi Merger Proposal, “FOR” the Milk Transaction Proposal, “FOR” the Domestication Proposal, “FOR” each of the separate Organizational Documents Proposals, “FOR” the Director Election Proposal, “FOR” the Stock Issuance Proposal, “FOR” the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and “FOR” the Adjournment Proposal, in each case, if presented to the extraordinary general meeting.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for a further discussion of these considerations.

Record Date; Who is Entitled to Vote

Waldencast shareholders will be entitled to vote or direct votes to be cast at the extraordinary general meeting if they owned ordinary shares at the close of business on _____, 2022, which is the Record Date for the extraordinary general meeting. Shareholders will have one vote for each ordinary share owned at the close of business on the Record Date. If your shares are held in “street name” or are in a margin or similar account, you should contact your broker to ensure that votes related to the shares you beneficially own are properly counted. Waldencast warrants do not have voting rights. As of the close of business on the Record Date, there were _____ ordinary shares issued and outstanding, of which were issued and outstanding public shares.

The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how our public shareholders vote. Unlike some other blank check companies in which the initial shareholders agree to vote their shares in accordance with the majority of the votes cast by the public shareholders in connection with an initial business combination, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of the Transaction Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, in each case, subject to the terms and conditions contemplated by the Obagi Sponsor Support Agreement and the Milk Sponsor Support Agreement, and waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any ordinary shares held by them. The ordinary shares held by the Sponsor will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors own 20% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares.

Quorum

A quorum of Waldencast shareholders is necessary to hold a valid meeting. A quorum will be present at the extraordinary general meeting if the holders of a majority of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting are represented in person or by proxy. As of the Record Date for the extraordinary general meeting, 21,562,501 ordinary shares would be required to achieve a quorum.

Abstentions and Broker Non-Votes

Proxies that are marked “abstain” and proxies relating to “street name” shares that are returned to Waldencast but marked by brokers as “not voted” will be treated as shares present for purposes of determining the presence of a quorum on all matters, but they will not be treated as shares voted on the matter. Under the rules of various national and regional securities exchanges, your broker, bank, or nominee cannot vote your shares with respect to non-discretionary matters unless you provide instructions on how to vote in accordance with the information and procedures provided to you by your broker, bank, or nominee. We believe all the proposals presented to the shareholders will be considered non-discretionary and therefore your broker, bank, or nominee cannot vote your shares without your instruction.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The Obagi Merger Proposal is conditioned on the approval of the Milk Transaction Proposal. Therefore, if the Milk Transaction Proposal is not approved, the Obagi Merger Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

The approval of the Milk Transaction Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The Milk Transaction Proposal is conditioned on the approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal. Therefore, if the Obagi Merger Proposal is not approved, the Milk Transaction Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

The approval of the Domestication Proposal requires a special resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The Domestication Proposal is conditioned on the approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal. Therefore, if the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal are not approved, the Domestication Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

The approval of each of the Organizational Documents Proposals A and D requires a special resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting and the approval of each of the Organizational Documents Proposals B and C requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Each of the Organizational Documents Proposals is conditioned on the approval of the Domestication Proposal, and, therefore, also conditioned on the approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal. Therefore, if the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the Domestication Proposal are not approved, each of the Organizational Documents Proposals will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

The approval of the Director Election Proposal requires an ordinary resolution of the holders of Waldencast Class B ordinary shares under the Cayman Constitutional Documents, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The Director Election Proposal is conditioned on the approval of the Organizational Documents Proposals, and, therefore, also conditioned on the approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the Domestication Proposal. Therefore, if the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal and the Organizational Documents Proposals are not approved, the Director Election Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

The approval of the Stock Issuance Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The Stock Issuance Proposal is conditioned on the approval of the Director Election Proposal, and, therefore, also conditioned on the approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal and the Organizational Documents Proposals. Therefore, if the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, the Organizational Documents Proposals and the Director Election Proposal are not approved, the Stock Issuance Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

The approval of the Milk Issuance Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The Milk Issuance Proposal is conditioned on the approval of the Stock Issuance Proposal, and, therefore, also conditioned on the approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, the Organizational Documents Proposals and the Director Election Proposal. Therefore, if the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, the Organizational Documents Proposals, the Director Election Proposal and the Stock Issuance Proposal are not approved, the Milk Issuance Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

The approval of the Incentive Award Plan Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The Incentive Award Plan Proposal is conditioned on the approval of the Milk Issuance Proposal, and, therefore, also conditioned on the approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, the Organizational Documents Proposals, the Director Election Proposal, the Stock Issuance Proposal. Therefore, if the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, the Organizational Documents Proposals, the Director Election Proposal, the Stock Issuance Proposal and the Milk Issuance Proposal are not approved, the Incentive Award Plan Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

The approval of the Adjournment Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. The Adjournment Proposal is not conditioned upon any other proposal.

Voting Your Shares

Each Waldencast ordinary share that you own in your name entitles you to one vote. Your proxy card shows the number of ordinary shares that you own. If your shares are held in "street name" or are in a margin or similar account, you should contact your broker to ensure that votes related to the shares you beneficially own are properly counted.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

There are two ways to vote your ordinary shares at the extraordinary general meeting:

- You can vote by signing and returning the enclosed proxy card. If you vote by proxy card, your “proxy,” whose name is listed on the proxy card, will vote your shares as you instruct on the proxy card. If you sign and return the proxy card but do not give instructions on how to vote your shares, your shares will be voted as recommended by Waldencast’s board “FOR” the Obagi Merger Proposal, “FOR” the Milk Transaction Proposal, “FOR” the Domestication Proposal, “FOR” each of the separate Organizational Documents Proposals, “FOR” the Director Election Proposal, “FOR” the Stock Issuance Proposal, “FOR” the Milk Issuance Proposal, “FOR” the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and “FOR” the Adjournment Proposal, in each case, if presented to the extraordinary general meeting. Votes received after a matter has been voted upon at the extraordinary general meeting will not be counted.
- You can attend the extraordinary general meeting and vote in person or online. You will receive a ballot when you arrive. However, if your shares are held in the name of your broker, bank or another nominee, you must get a valid legal proxy from the broker, bank or other nominee. That is the only way Waldencast can be sure that the broker, bank or nominee has not already voted your shares.

Revoking Your Proxy

If you are a Waldencast shareholder and you give a proxy, you may revoke it at any time before it is exercised by doing any one of the following:

- you may send another proxy card with a later date;
- you may notify Waldencast’s Secretary in writing before the extraordinary general meeting that you have revoked your proxy; or
- you may attend the extraordinary general meeting and vote in person or online, as indicated above, in which case your proxy will be revoked without further action being required.

Who Can Answer Your Questions About Voting Your Shares

If you are a shareholder and have any questions about how to vote or direct a vote in respect of your ordinary shares, you may call Morrow, Waldencast’s proxy solicitor, by calling (800) 662-5200 or banks and brokers can call collect at (203) 658-9400.

Redemption Rights

Pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents, a public shareholder may request of Waldencast that Waldencast plc redeem all or a portion of its public shares for cash if the Business Combination is consummated. As a holder of public shares, you will be entitled to receive cash for any public shares to be redeemed only if you:

- (a) hold public shares, or (b) if you hold public shares through units, you elect to separate your units into the underlying public shares and public warrants prior to exercising your redemption rights with respect to the public shares;
- submit a written request to Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, that Waldencast plc redeem all or a portion of your public shares for cash; and
- deliver your public shares to Continental, Waldencast’s transfer agent, physically or electronically through DTC.

Holders must complete the procedures for electing to redeem their public shares in the manner described above prior to 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on _____, 2022 (two business days before the extraordinary general meeting) in order for their shares to be redeemed.

Therefore, the election to exercise redemption rights occurs prior to the Domestication and the redemption is with respect to the Waldencast plc public shares that an electing public shareholder holds after the Domestication. For the purposes of Article 49.5 of Waldencast’s memorandum and articles of association and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, the exercise of redemption rights shall be treated as an election to have such public shares repurchased for cash and references in this proxy statement/prospectus to “redemption” or “redeeming” shall be interpreted accordingly. Immediately following the Domestication and the consummation of the Business Combination, Waldencast plc shall satisfy the exercise of redemption rights by redeeming the corresponding public shares issued to the public shareholders that validly exercised their redemption rights.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Holders of units must elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and public warrants prior to exercising redemption rights with respect to the public shares. If holders hold their units in an account at a brokerage firm or bank, holders must notify their broker or bank that they elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and public warrants, or if a holder holds units registered in its own name, the holder must contact Continental, Waldencast's transfer agent, directly and instruct them to do so. Public shareholders may elect to redeem all or a portion of the public shares held by them, regardless of if or how they vote in respect of the Business Combination. If the Business Combination is not consummated, the public shares will be returned to the respective holder, broker or bank. If the Business Combination is consummated, and if a public shareholder properly exercises its right to redeem all or a portion of the public shares that it holds and timely delivers its shares to Continental, Waldencast plc will redeem such public shares for a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the pro rata portion of the trust account, calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination. For illustrative purposes, as of September 30, 2021, this would have amounted to approximately $10.00 per issued and outstanding public share. If a public shareholder exercises its redemption rights in full, then it will be electing to exchange its public shares for cash and will no longer own public shares. The redemption takes place following the Domestication and, accordingly, it is Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares that will be redeemed immediately after consummation of the Business Combination.

If you hold the shares in "street name," you will have to coordinate with your broker to have your shares certificated or delivered electronically. Waldencast plc public shares that have not been tendered (either physically or electronically) in accordance with these procedures will not be redeemed for cash. There is a nominal cost associated with this tendering process and the act of certificating the shares or delivering them through DTC's DWAC (deposit withdrawal at custodian) system. The transfer agent will typically charge the tendering broker $100.00 and it would be up to the broker whether or not to pass this cost on to the redeeming shareholder. In the event the proposed business combination is not consummated this may result in an additional cost to shareholders for the return of their shares.

Any request for redemption, once made by a holder of public shares, may be withdrawn at any time up to the time the vote is taken with respect to the BCA Proposal at the extraordinary general meeting. If you deliver your shares for redemption to Waldencast's transfer agent, and later decide prior to the extraordinary general meeting not to elect redemption, you may request that Waldencast's transfer agent return the shares (physically or electronically) to you. You may make such request by contacting Waldencast's transfer agent, at the phone number or address listed at the end of this section.

Any corrected or changed written exercise of redemption rights must be received by Continental prior to the vote taken on the BCA Proposal at the extraordinary general meeting. No request for redemption will be honored unless the holder's public shares have been delivered (either physically or electronically) to Waldencast's agent at least two business days prior to the vote at the extraordinary general meeting.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a public shareholder, together with any affiliate of such public shareholder or any other person with whom such public shareholder is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined in Section 13(d) (3) of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. Accordingly, if a public shareholder, alone or acting in concert or as a group, seeks to redeem more than 15% of the public shares, then any such shares in excess of that 15% limit would not be redeemed for cash.

The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how our public shareholders vote. Unlike some other blank check companies in which the initial shareholders agree to vote their shares in accordance with the majority of the votes cast by the public shareholders in connection with an initial business combination, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of the Transaction Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, in each case, subject to the terms and conditions contemplated by the Obagi Sponsor Support Agreement and Milk Sponsor Support Agreement, and waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any ordinary shares held by them. The ordinary shares held by the Sponsor will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor and Investor Directors own 20% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares.

Holders of the warrants will not have redemption rights with respect to the warrants.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

The closing price of public shares on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, was $10.00. As of September 30, 2021, funds in the Trust Account totaled $345,030,985 and were comprised entirely of U.S. government treasury obligations with a maturity of 185 days or less or of money market funds meeting certain conditions under Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act, which invest only in direct U.S. government treasury obligations, or approximately $10.00 per issued and outstanding public share.

Prior to exercising redemption rights, public shareholders should verify the market price of the public shares as they may receive higher proceeds from the sale of their public shares in the public market than from exercising their redemption rights if the market price per share is higher than the redemption price. Waldencast cannot assure its shareholders that they will be able to sell their public shares in the open market, even if the market price per share is higher than the redemption price stated above, as there may not be sufficient liquidity in its securities when its shareholders wish to sell their shares.

Appraisal Rights

Neither Waldencast's shareholders nor Waldencast's warrant holders have appraisal rights in connection with the Business Combination or the Domestication under the Cayman Islands Companies Act or under the Jersey Companies Law. Under the Jersey Companies Law, dissenting shareholders of a Jersey company have no appraisal rights that would provide the right to receive payment in cash for the judicially determined fair value of the shares. However, under Jersey law, dissenting shareholders may, following the Domestication, object to the Royal Court of Jersey on the grounds they are unfairly prejudiced by the proposed Business Combination and the proposed Domestication.

Proxy Solicitation Costs

Waldencast is soliciting proxies on behalf of its board of directors. This solicitation is being made by mail but also may be made by telephone or in person. Waldencast and its directors, officers and employees may also solicit proxies in person, by telephone or by other electronic means. Waldencast will bear the cost of the solicitation.

Waldencast has hired Morrow to assist in the proxy solicitation process. Waldencast will pay that firm a fee of $ plus disbursements. Such fee will be paid with non-trust account funds.

Waldencast will ask banks, brokers and other institutions, nominees and fiduciaries to forward the proxy materials to their principals and to obtain their authority to execute proxies and voting instructions. Waldencast will reimburse them for their reasonable expenses.

Waldencast Initial Shareholders

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, there are 43,125,000 ordinary shares issued and outstanding, which includes the 8,545,000 founder shares held by the Sponsor, 80,000 founder shares held by the Investor Directors and the 34,500,000 public shares. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, there is outstanding an aggregate of 17,433,333 warrants, which includes the 5,933,333 private placement warrants held by the Sponsor and the 11,500,000 public warrants.

At any time at or prior to the Business Combination, subject to applicable securities laws (including with respect to material nonpublic information), the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors or respective affiliates may (i) purchase public shares from institutional and other investors who vote, or indicate an intention to vote, against any of the Condition Precedent Proposals, or elect to redeem, or indicate an intention to redeem, public shares, (ii) execute agreements to purchase such shares from such investors in the future, or (iii) enter into transactions with such investors and others to provide them with incentives to acquire public shares, vote their public shares in favor of the Condition Precedent Proposals or not redeem their public shares. Such a purchase may include a contractual acknowledgement that such shareholder, although still the record holder of Waldencast's shares, is no longer the beneficial owner thereof and therefore agrees not to exercise its redemption rights. In the event that the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors, or respective affiliates purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions from public shareholders who have already elected to exercise their redemption rights, such selling shareholders would be required to revoke their prior elections to redeem their shares. The purpose of such share purchases and other transactions would be to increase the likelihood of (1) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, Organizational Documents Proposals B and C, the Stock Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal, (2) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Director Election Proposal, (3) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Domestication Proposal and each of the Organizational Documents Proposals A and D, (4) satisfaction of the Minimum Cash Conditions, (5) otherwise limiting the number of public shares electing to redeem and (6) Waldencast's net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) being at least $5,000,001.

Entering into any such arrangements may have a depressive effect on the ordinary shares (e.g., by giving an investor or holder the ability to effectively purchase shares at a price lower than market, such investor or holder may therefore become more likely to sell the shares he or she owns, either at or prior to the Business Combination). If such transactions are effected, the consequence could be to cause the Business Combination to be consummated in circumstances where such consummation could not otherwise occur. Purchases of shares by the persons described above would allow them to exert more influence over the approval of the proposals to be presented at the extraordinary general meeting and would likely increase the chances that such proposals would be approved. We will file or submit a Current Report on Form 6-K to disclose any material arrangements entered into or significant purchases made by any of the aforementioned persons that would affect the vote on the proposals to be put to the extraordinary general meeting or the redemption threshold. Any such report will include descriptions of any arrangements entered into or significant purchases by any of the aforementioned persons.

BCA PROPOSAL

Waldencast is asking its shareholders to (a) approve by ordinary resolution and adopt the Obagi Merger Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex A to this proxy statement/prospectus, and approve the Obagi Merger and (b) approve by ordinary resolution and adopt the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex B to this proxy statement/prospectus, and approve the Milk Transaction (together with the Obagi Merger Proposal, the “BCA Proposal”).

Obagi Merger Proposal

Waldencast is asking its shareholders to approve by ordinary resolution and adopt the Obagi Merger Agreement. Waldencast shareholders should read carefully this proxy statement/prospectus in its entirety for more detailed information concerning the Obagi Merger Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex A to this proxy statement/prospectus. Please see the subsection below entitled “The Obagi Merger Agreement” for additional information and a summary of certain terms of the Obagi Merger Agreement. You are urged to read carefully the Obagi Merger Agreement in its entirety before voting on this proposal.

Because Waldencast is holding a shareholder vote on the Obagi Merger, Waldencast may consummate the Obagi Merger only if it is approved by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of ordinary shares that are voted at the extraordinary general meeting.

The Obagi Merger Agreement

This subsection of the proxy statement/prospectus describes the material provisions of the Obagi Merger Agreement, but does not purport to describe all of the terms of the Obagi Merger Agreement. The following summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of the Obagi Merger Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex A to this proxy statement/prospectus. You are urged to read the Obagi Merger Agreement in its entirety because it is the primary legal document that governs the Obagi Merger.

The Obagi Merger Agreement contains representations, warranties and covenants that the respective parties made to each other as of the date of the Obagi Merger Agreement or other specific dates. The assertions embodied in those representations, warranties and covenants were made for purposes of the contract among the respective parties and are subject to important qualifications and limitations agreed to by the parties in connection with negotiating the Obagi Merger Agreement. The representations, warranties and covenants in the Obagi Merger Agreement are also modified in part by the underlying disclosure letters (the “disclosure letters”), which are not filed publicly and which are subject to a contractual standard of materiality different from that generally applicable to shareholders and were used for the purpose of allocating risk among the parties rather than establishing matters as facts. We do not believe that the disclosure letters contain information that is material to an investment decision. Additionally, the representations and warranties of the parties to the Obagi Merger Agreement may or may not have been accurate as of any specific date and do not purport to be accurate as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. Accordingly, no person should rely on the representations and warranties in the Obagi Merger Agreement or the summaries thereof in this proxy statement/prospectus as characterizations of the actual state of facts about Waldencast, Obagi or any other matter.

Structure of the Merger

On November 15, 2021, Waldencast entered into the Merger Agreement with Merger Sub and Obagi, pursuant to which, among other things, following the Domestication, (i) Merger Sub will merge with and into Obagi, the separate corporate existence of Merger Sub will cease and Obagi will be the surviving corporation and an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Waldencast and (ii) Waldencast will change its name to “Waldencast plc.”

Prior to and as a condition to the Obagi Merger, pursuant to the Domestication, Waldencast will change its jurisdiction of incorporation by effecting a deregistration under Section 206 of the Cayman Islands Companies Act and a domestication by way of continuance under Part 18C of the Jersey Companies Law, pursuant to which Waldencast’s jurisdiction of incorporation will be changed from the Cayman Islands to Jersey. For more information, see the section entitled “Domestication Proposal.”

Prior to the Effective Time and as a condition to the Obagi Merger (a) Obagi (i) shall cause Obagi Holdings to distribute all of the outstanding equity interests of Obagi Hong Kong to Obagi and that certain promissory note, dated July 30, 2021, of Osibao Cosmetics International Limited payable to the order of Obagi Cosmeceuticals in the principal amount of $2.5 million (the “Osibao Note”) to Obagi and (ii) following such distribution, shall distribute all of the outstanding equity interests of Obagi Hong Kong and the Osibao Note to Cedarwalk, in accordance with the Distribution Agreements (see the section entitled “— Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger — Distribution Agreements”), and (b) in accordance with the Obagi China Distribution, (i) Obagi Cosmeceuticals, Obagi Netherlands B.V., a Netherlands private limited company (besloten vennootschap) (“Obagi Netherlands”), Obagi Holdings and Obagi Hong Kong will enter into the Transition Services Agreement (see the section entitled “— Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger — Transition Services Agreement”), (ii) Obagi Cosmeceuticals and Obagi Hong Kong will enter into the Supply Agreement (see section entitled “— Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger — Supply Agreement”), (iii) Obagi Cosmeceuticals, Obagi Holdings and Obagi Hong Kong will enter into the IP License Agreement (see the section entitled “— Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger — IP License Agreement”), (iv) Obagi Holdings, Obagi Cosmeceuticals and Cedarwalk will enter into the side letter to the IP License Agreement (see the section entitled “— Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger — IP License Agreement”), and (v) Waldencast, Cedarwalk, the Sponsor, and a guarantor of Cedarwalk’s obligation thereunder, will enter into the Investor Rights Agreement (see the section entitled “— Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger — Investor Rights Agreement”).

Prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time, Obagi shall use reasonable best efforts to obtain any consent required under the Financing Agreement, dated as of March 16, 2021, by and among Obagi, as ultimate parent, Obagi Holdco, as parent, Obagi Cosmeceuticals, as borrower, the subsidiary guarantors party thereto, the lenders from time to time party thereto and TCW Asset Management Company LLC, as collateral agent and administrative agent, a copy of which is attached to this Registration Statement as Exhibit 10.29 (the “Obagi Existing Credit Agreement”), to give effect to Obagi’s distribution of all of the outstanding equity interests of Clinactiv Technology Limited, a Cayman Islands exempted company limited by shares (“Clinactiv”) to Cedarwalk in accordance with a distribution agreement in a customary form by and among Obagi, Cedarwalk and Waldencast pursuant to the Obagi Pre-Closing Restructuring.

Consideration

Aggregate Obagi Merger Consideration

It is anticipated that, at the Obagi Merger Effective Time (after giving effect to the Obagi China Distribution and the Domestication), among other things, the outstanding shares of Obagi Common Stock as of immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time (other than in respect of excluded shares as described more fully in the Obagi Merger Agreement) will be cancelled and converted into the right to receive, (a) an amount in cash equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the Obagi Cash Consideration by (ii) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares and (b) a number of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (i) the Obagi Stock Consideration by (ii) the Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares, which will, in the case of the consideration described in either clause (a) or (b) hereof, as applicable, represent a pre-transaction equity value of Obagi of $655.0 million. Subject to the assumptions below, at the Obagi Merger Effective Time (after giving effect to the Obagi Pre-Closing Restructuring) it is anticipated that, among other things, the outstanding shares of Obagi Common Stock as of immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time (other than in respect of excluded shares as described more fully in the Obagi Merger Agreement) will be cancelled and converted into the right to receive approximately (a) $380.0 million; and (b) 22,851,564 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Obagi of $655.0 million. The number of shares and amount of cash payable set forth above assumes that (a) none of Waldencast's shareholders will elect to redeem their Class A ordinary shares for a pro rata portion of cash in the Trust Account, and thus the full amount of the approximately $345.0 million held in the Trust Account will be available to the combined company after the Closing of the Business Combination, (b) Waldencast sells and issues (i) 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors pursuant to the PIPE Investment and (ii) 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, comprising of 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 warrants to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction, (c) Obagi will not issue any additional equity securities or convert any equity securities into Obagi Common Stock prior to the Business Combination, (d) the Obagi Transaction Expenses will not exceed $26.0 million and (e) all conditions to Closing of the Business Combination will be satisfied or waived. If the actual facts differ from such assumptions, the number of shares and amount of cash payable set forth above will be different. The following table illustrates the number of shares and amount of cash payable to the Obagi Shareholders at different possible redemption levels:

1) Assumes that 21,984,625 Class A ordinary shares are redeemed in connection with the Business Combination, which is the maximum number of shares that may be redeemed without causing the Minimum Cash Condition to the closing of the Business Combination to be unsatisfied.

Further, if the Obagi Transaction Expenses exceed $26.0 million, the amount of the cash consideration payable to the holders of the Obagi Common Stock immediately prior to the Closing of the Business Combination shall be reduced by the amount of such excess and the aggregate number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares payable to such holders shall be increased by a number of shares equal to the dollar amount of such excess divided by $10.00.

At the Obagi Merger Effective Time, (i) all Obagi Options will be converted into Waldencast plc Options, subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Obagi Options immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time; provided that any Obagi Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Obagi Per Share Merger Consideration will be cancelled without consideration, and (ii) all Obagi RSUs will be converted into Waldencast plc RSUs, subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Obagi RSUs immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time. The foregoing determinations do not take into account any additional equity incentive compensation awards that may subsequently be granted.

Treatment of Obagi Awards

As a result of and upon the Obagi Closing, among other things:

- (a) all Obagi Options, whether vested or unvested, will be assumed by Waldencast and converted automatically at the Obagi Merger Effective Time into Waldencast plc Options, exclusive of any Obagi Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Obagi Per Share Merger Consideration. Subject to the terms of the Obagi Merger Agreement, each Waldencast plc Option will relate to the number of whole shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (rounded down to the nearest whole share) equal to (i) the number of shares of Obagi Common Stock subject to the applicable Obagi Option in effect immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time multiplied by (ii) the ratio equal to (1) the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares constituting the Total Implied Obagi Equity Consideration divided by (2) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Obagi Common Shares (the “Obagi Exchange Ratio”). The exercise price for each Waldencast plc Option will equal (i) the exercise price of the applicable Obagi Option divided by (ii) the Obagi Exchange Ratio, rounded up to the nearest full cent. The terms of each Waldencast Option will otherwise be substantially the same as the Obagi Option for which it is substituted; and

- (b) all Obagi RSUs (or portion thereof), whether vested or unvested, will be assumed by Waldencast and converted at the Obagi Merger Effective Time into corresponding restricted stock units in respect of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. Subject to the terms of the Obagi Merger Agreement, each Waldencast plc RSU will relate to the whole number of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (rounded down to the nearest whole share) equal to the number of shares of Obagi common stock subject to the applicable Obagi RSU in effect immediately prior to the Obagi Merger Effective Time, multiplied by the Obagi Exchange Ratio. The terms of each Waldencast RSU will otherwise be substantially the same as the Obagi RSU for which it is substituted.

Closing

In accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Obagi Merger Agreement, the Obagi Closing will take place by electronic delivery of documents and release of signatures at a time to be agreed by Obagi and Waldencast on the date that is the second business day after the satisfaction or waiver of the conditions set forth in the Obagi Merger Agreement (other than those conditions that by their terms are to be satisfied at the Obagi Closing, but subject to the satisfaction or waiver of those conditions), unless another time or date is mutually agreed to in writing by the parties.

Representations and Warranties

The Obagi Merger Agreement contains representations and warranties of Waldencast, Obagi, and the Merger Sub, certain of which are qualified by materiality and material adverse effect (as defined below) and may be further modified and limited by the Obagi disclosure letters. See “— Material Adverse Effect” below. The representations and warranties of Waldencast are also qualified by information included in Waldencast’s public filings, filed or submitted to the SEC on or prior to the date of the Obagi Merger Agreement (subject to certain exceptions contemplated by the Obagi Merger Agreement).

The representations and warranties of Waldencast and Merger Sub identified as fundamental under the terms of the Obagi Merger Agreement are those made pursuant to: the first and second sentences of Section 5.1 of the Obagi Merger Agreement (Company Organization), Section 5.2 of the Obagi Merger Agreement (Due Authorization), Section 5.12 of the Obagi Merger Agreement (Capitalization of Waldencast), except for Section 5.12(f) and the last sentence of Section 5.12(e), and Section 5.20 of the Obagi Merger Agreement (Brokers' Fees) (collectively, the "Waldencast Fundamental Representations").

Survival of Representations and Warranties

The representations and warranties of the respective parties to the Obagi Merger Agreement generally will not survive the Obagi Closing.

Material Adverse Effect

Under the Obagi Merger Agreement, certain representations and warranties of Obagi are qualified in whole or in part by a material adverse effect standard for purposes of determining whether a breach of such representations and warranties has occurred. Under the Obagi Merger Agreement, certain representations and warranties of Waldencast are qualified in whole or in part by a material adverse effect on the ability of Waldencast to enter into and perform its obligations under the Obagi Merger Agreement standard for purposes of determining whether a breach of such representations and warranties has occurred.

Pursuant to the Obagi Merger Agreement, a material adverse effect with respect to Obagi ("Obagi Material Adverse Effect") means any event, state of facts, development, circumstance, occurrence or effect that (a) has had, or would reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate with all other Events, a material adverse effect on the business, assets, liabilities, results of operations or financial condition of Obagi and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole or (b) would or would reasonably be expected to, individually or in the aggregate, prevent or materially impair, impede or delay the ability of Obagi to perform its obligations under the Obagi Merger Agreement or any Obagi Ancillary Agreement (as defined under the heading "— Closing Conditions — Conditions to the Obligations of Each Party") to which it is or will be a party to consummate the transactions contemplated therein.

However, in no event would any of the following, alone or in combination, be deemed to constitute, or be taken into account in determining whether there has been or will be, an Obagi Material Adverse Effect under clause (a) in the immediately preceding paragraph:

- (i) any change in applicable laws or GAAP or any interpretation thereof following the date of the Obagi Merger Agreement;
- (ii) any change in interest rates or economic, political, business or financial market conditions generally;
- (iii) the taking of any action required by the Obagi Merger Agreement;
- (iv) any natural disaster (including hurricanes, storms, tornados, flooding, earthquakes, volcanic eruptions or similar occurrences), pandemic (including COVID-19, or any COVID-19 Measures (as defined herein) or any change in such COVID-19 Measures following the date of the Obagi Merger Agreement) or change in climate;
- (v) any acts of terrorism or war, the outbreak or escalation of hostilities, geopolitical conditions, local, national or international political conditions;
- (vi) any failure of Obagi to meet any projections or forecasts (provided that clause (vi) shall not prevent a determination that any Event not otherwise excluded from the definition of Obagi Material Adverse Effect underlying such failure to meet projections or forecasts has resulted, or would reasonably be expected to result, in an Obagi Material Adverse Effect);

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- (vii) any Events generally applicable to the industries or markets in which Obagi and its subsidiaries operate (including increases in the cost of products, supplies, materials or other goods purchased from third-party suppliers);
- (viii) the announcement of the Obagi Merger Agreement or the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and consummation of the transactions contemplated thereby, including any termination of, reduction in or similar adverse impact (but in each case only to the extent attributable to such announcement or consummation) on relationships, contractual or otherwise, with any landlords, customers, suppliers, distributors, partners or employees of Obagi and its subsidiaries (it being understood that this clause (viii) shall be disregarded for purposes of the representation and warranty set forth in Section 4.4 of the Obagi Merger Agreement and the condition to the Obagi Closing with respect thereto);
- (ix) any matter set forth on Obagi's disclosure letter (the "Obagi Disclosure Letter"); or
- (x) any action taken by, or at the written request of, Waldencast or Merger Sub.

Any Event referred to in clauses (i), (ii), (iv), (v) or (vii) above may be taken into account in determining if an Obagi Material Adverse Effect has occurred to the extent it has a disproportionate and adverse effect on the business, assets, liabilities, results of operations or financial condition of Obagi and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole, relative to similarly situated companies in the industry in which Obagi and its subsidiaries conduct their respective operations (which shall include the skincare industry generally), but only to the extent of the incremental disproportionate effect on Obagi and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole, relative to similarly situated companies in the industry in which Obagi and its subsidiaries conduct their respective operations.

detailed information concerning the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex B to this proxy statement/prospectus. Please see the subsection below entitled “The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement” for additional information and a summary of certain terms of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement. You are urged to read carefully the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement in its entirety before voting on this proposal.

Because Waldencast is holding a shareholder vote on the Milk Transaction, Waldencast may consummate the Milk Transaction only if it is approved by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of ordinary shares that are voted at the extraordinary general meeting.

The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement

This subsection of the proxy statement/prospectus describes the material provisions of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, but does not purport to describe all of the terms of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement. The following summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex B to this proxy statement/prospectus. You are urged to read the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement in its entirety because it is the primary legal document that governs the Milk Transaction.

The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement contains representations, warranties and covenants that the respective parties made to each other as of the date of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement or other specific dates. The assertions embodied in those representations, warranties and covenants were made for purposes of the contract among the respective parties and are subject to important qualifications and limitations agreed to by the parties in connection with negotiating the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement. The representations, warranties and covenants in the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement are also modified in part by the underlying disclosure letters (the “Milk disclosure letters”), which are not filed publicly and which are subject to a contractual standard of materiality different from that generally applicable to shareholders and were used for the purpose of allocating risk among the parties rather than establishing matters as facts. We do not believe that the Milk disclosure letters contain information that is material to an investment decision. Additionally, the representations and warranties of the parties to the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement may or may not have been accurate as of any specific date and do not purport to be accurate as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. Accordingly, no person should rely on the representations and warranties in the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement or the summaries thereof in this proxy statement/prospectus as characterizations of the actual state of facts about Waldencast, Milk or any other matter.

Structure of the Milk Transaction

On November 15, 2021, Waldencast entered into the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement with Holdco 1, Waldencast LP, Milk, the Milk Members, and the Equityholder Representative, pursuant to which, among other things, following the Milk Pre-Closing Restructuring and the Obagi Merger, the following transactions will occur:

- (ii) as a result of the Milk Transaction, among other things, (i) Holdco 1 will purchase from the Milk Members a percentage of the outstanding Milk Membership Units in exchange for the Milk Cash Consideration and the Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares equal to the Milk Equity Consideration and (ii) Waldencast LP will purchase from the Milk Members the remainder of the outstanding Milk Membership Units in exchange for the Milk Equity Consideration.

Immediately following consummation of the Milk Transaction, (i) Holdco 1 will contribute its equity interest in (a) Milk to Waldencast LP in exchange for limited partnership units in Waldencast LP and (b) Holdco 2 in exchange for Waldencast LP Common Units. The combined company will be organized in an “Up-C” structure, in which the equity interests of Obagi and Milk will be held by Waldencast LP. Waldencast plc’s interests in Obagi and Milk will be held through its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Holdco 1 and Waldencast LP.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

This organizational structure will allow the Milk Members to retain a direct equity ownership in Waldencast LP, an entity that is classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, in the form of Waldencast LP Common Units.

Prior to and as a condition to the Milk Transaction, pursuant to the Domestication, Waldencast will change its jurisdiction of incorporation by effecting a deregistration under Section 206 of the Cayman Islands Companies Act and a domestication by way of continuance under Part 18C of the Jersey Companies Law, pursuant to which Waldencast's jurisdiction of incorporation will be changed from the Cayman Islands to Jersey. For more information, see the section entitled "Domestication Proposal."

Consideration

Aggregate Milk Transaction Consideration

It is anticipated that, at the Milk Transaction Effective Time, (after giving effect to the Milk Pre-Closing Restructuring and the Obagi Merger), among other things, (a) Holdco 1 will purchase from the Milk Members a percentage of the outstanding Milk Membership Units in exchange for (i) the Milk Cash Consideration and (ii) a number of Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares equal to the Milk Equity Consideration and (b) Waldencast LP will purchase from the Milk Members the remainder of the outstanding Milk Membership Units in exchange for the Milk Equity Consideration, which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Milk of $340.0 million. Following its acquisition of Milk Membership Units, Holdco 1 will contribute such units to Waldencast LP. Subject to the assumptions below, at the Milk Transaction Effective Time (after giving effect to the Milk Pre-Closing Restructuring and the Obagi Merger), among other things, the outstanding shares of Milk Membership Units as of immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time will be exchanged for approximately (a) $140.0 million, (b) 18,343,883 Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares and (c) 18,343,883 Waldencast LP Common Units, which will represent, in the aggregate, a pre-transaction equity value of Milk of $340.0 million. The number of shares and amount of cash payable set forth above assumes that (a) none of Waldencast's shareholders will elect to redeem their Waldencast Class A ordinary shares for a pro rata portion of cash in the Trust Account, and thus the full amount of the approximately $345.0 million held in the Trust Account will be available for the combined company after the Closing of the Business Combination, (b) Waldencast sells and issues (i) 10,500,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors pursuant to the PIPE Investment and (ii) 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, comprising of 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 warrants to purchase one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction, (c) Milk will not issue any additional equity securities prior to the Business Combination or convert any equity securities into Milk Membership Units prior to the Business Combination, and (d) all conditions to Closing of the Business Combination will be satisfied or waived. If the actual facts differ from our assumptions, the numbers of shares and amount of cash payable set forth above will be different. The following table illustrates the number of shares and amount of cash payable to the Milk Members at different possible redemption levels:

Cash to Milk Members	$ 140.0	$ 140.0	$ 120.3	$ 82.8
Waldencast LP Common Units to Milk Members	18,343,883	18,343,883	20,314,508	24,068,228
Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares	18,343,883	18,343,883	20,314,508	24,068,228

All Milk Options will be converted into Waldencast plc Options and all Milk UARs will be converted into Waldencast plc SARs, in each case, subject to substantially the same terms and conditions as are in effect with respect to such Milk Option and Milk UAR, as applicable, immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time; provided that any Milk Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, and any Milk UARs that have a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Per Unit Transaction Consideration, will be cancelled without consideration. The foregoing determinations do not take into account any additional equity incentive compensation awards that may subsequently be granted or (i) any Milk Option with an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration or (ii) any Milk UAR with a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Transaction Consideration, and also assume that all other outstanding Milk Options are exercised immediately before the Milk Transaction Effective Time for the net number of shares subject to the option after deduction of the applicable exercise price and that all Milk UARs are settled immediately before the Milk Transaction Effective Time for the number of shares subject to such Milk UARs.

Treatment of Milk Awards

As a result of and upon the Milk Closing, among other things:

- (a) all Milk Options (or portion thereof), whether vested or unvested, will be released at the Milk Transaction Effective Time in exchange for Waldencast plc Options, exclusive of any Milk Options that have an exercise price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, which will be cancelled without consideration. Subject to the terms of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, each Waldencast plc Option will relate to the number of whole shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (rounded down to the nearest whole share) equal to (i) the number of shares of Milk common stock subject to the applicable Milk Option in effect immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time multiplied by (ii) the ratio equal to (i) the number of Waldencast ordinary shares equal to the number of Waldencast LP Common Units constituting the Total Implied Milk Equity Consideration divided by (ii) the number of Aggregate Fully Diluted Milk Common Units (the “Milk Exchange Ratio”). The exercise price for each Waldencast plc Option will equal (i) the exercise price of the applicable Milk Option divided by (ii) the Milk Exchange Ratio, rounded up to the nearest full cent. The terms of each Waldencast plc Option will otherwise be substantially the same as the Milk Option for which it is substituted; and
- (b) all Milk UARs (or portion thereof), whether vested or unvested, will be assumed by Waldencast and converted at the Milk Transaction Effective Time into corresponding Waldencast plc SARs, exclusive of any Milk UARs that have a strike price per share that is equal to or greater than the Milk Per Unit Transaction Consideration, which will be cancelled without consideration. Subject to the terms of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, (i) each Waldencast plc SAR will relate to the whole number of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (rounded down to the nearest whole share) equal to the number of shares of Milk common stock subject to the applicable Milk UAR in effect immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time, multiplied by the Milk Exchange Ratio, and (ii) the strike price per share for each Waldencast plc SAR will be equal to the strike price per share of the applicable Milk UAR in effect immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time, divided by the Milk Exchange Ratio (the strike price per share, as so determined, being rounded up to the nearest full cent). The terms of each Waldencast plc SAR will otherwise be substantially the same as the Milk UAR for which it is substituted.

Closing

In accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, the Milk Closing will take place by electronic delivery of documents and release of signatures at a time to be agreed by Milk and Waldencast on the date that is the second business day after the satisfaction or waiver of the conditions set forth in the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement (other than those conditions that by their terms are to be satisfied at the Milk Closing, but subject to the satisfaction or waiver of those conditions), unless another time or date is mutually agreed to in writing by the parties.

The relevant costs shall be borne by the party who is responsible for the termination or the non-renewal of the Supply Agreement; and

Investor Rights Agreement

In connection with the Obagi Merger Agreement, at the Obagi Closing, Waldencast will enter into an investor rights agreement with Cedarwalk, the Sponsor and a guarantor of Cedarwalk's obligation thereunder. Pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement, Cedarwalk will have the right to nominate one director for election or appointment to the Waldencast plc Board for so long as Cedarwalk owns 5% of the then-outstanding common stock of Waldencast, and such appointee will initially be Simon Dai. Mr. Dai shall serve in the class of Waldencast directors having the longest prospective term (i.e., at least three years).

The Investor Rights Agreement further provides that, in the event Cedarwalk or any of its subsidiaries or controlled affiliates proposes to transfer its interest in any of the equity securities of Obagi Hong Kong, Obagi (Shanghai) Cosmeceuticals Co., Ltd., or Obagi (Xi'an) Pharmaceutical Technology Co., Ltd (the "Obagi Companies"), Cedarwalk will be required to first offer such equity securities (the "ROFO Offer Shares") to Waldencast plc by written notice which will include, among other things, the minimum purchase price of the ROFO Offer Shares. From the date of this notice, Waldencast plc will have (i) 60 days, if the proposed transfer is for less than 50% of the equity securities of the subject Obagi Company, or (ii) 120 days, if the proposed transfer is for 50% or more of the equity securities of the subject Obagi Company, to either make a binding offer to Cedarwalk for the ROFO Offer Shares at the minimum purchase price ("ROFO Offer"), or decline to acquire the ROFO Offer Shares. If Waldencast submits a ROFO Offer, Cedarwalk will have 120 days from the date of the ROFO Offer to either accept it, or to procure a binding offer from a bona fide third-party purchaser for the shares at a price higher than the ROFO Offer ("Third Party Offer"). In the event the Third Party Offer relates to 50% or more of the shares of the subject Obagi Company, Waldencast will have a further right of first refusal to acquire the ROFO Offer Shares at the same price and on the same terms as the Third Party Offer.

The Investor Rights Agreement will terminate in its entirety, upon the occurrence of (a) termination by written agreement of Waldencast, Cedarwalk and the Sponsor (b) with respect to any of the Obagi Companies, the winding up, liquidation or dissolution or transfer of the equity securities of such company directly or indirectly owned by Waldencast, except if Waldencast exercises its right to acquire such company pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement (c) the winding up, liquidation or dissolution of Waldencast or (d) a Change of Control Event in respect of Waldencast (as defined in the Investor Rights Agreement). Upon such termination of the Investor Rights Agreement, all obligations of the parties under the Investor Rights Agreement will terminate, without any liability on the part of any party thereto; provided, however, that the termination of the Investor Rights Agreement will not relieve any party thereto from liability arising in respect of any breach of the Investor Rights Agreement prior to such termination or out of fraud.

Under the Transaction Agreements, Waldencast may enter into Subsequent Subscription Agreements with certain investors. The obligation of the parties to consummate the purchase and sale of the shares covered by the Subscription Agreements is conditioned upon, among other customary closing conditions, the conditions to the closing of the Business Combination having been satisfied or waived. The closings under the Subscription Agreements will occur substantially concurrently with the Closing.

The Subscription Agreements provide for certain registration rights with respect to the PIPE Investors. In particular, Waldencast plc is required to within 60 days following the Closing, submit to or file with the SEC a registration statement registering the resale of such shares. Additionally, Waldencast plc is required to use its commercially reasonable efforts to have the registration statement declared effective as soon as practicable after the filing thereof, but no later than the earlier of (i) the 90th calendar day following the filing date thereof if the SEC notifies Waldencast plc that it will review the registration statement and (ii) the 10th business day after the date Waldencast plc is notified (orally or in writing, whichever is earlier) by the SEC that the registration statement will not be "reviewed" or will not be subject to further review. Waldencast plc must use commercially reasonable efforts to keep the registration statement effective until the earliest of: (i) the date the PIPE Investors no longer hold any registrable shares (ii) the date all registrable shares held by the PIPE Investors may be sold without restriction under Rule 144 under the Securities Act and (iii) two years from the date of effectiveness of the registration statement.

The Subscription Agreements will terminate with no further force and effect (x) upon the earliest to occur of: (i) such date and time as the Transaction Agreements are terminated in accordance with their respective terms; (ii) the mutual written agreement of the parties to such Subscription Agreement; and (iii) the Agreement End Date, subject to a three-month extension at Waldencast's and Obagi's option (with respect to the Obagi Merger Agreement) and Waldencast's and Milk's option (with respect to the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement), if all conditions under the Transaction Agreements, other than those relating to certain regulatory approvals having been obtained, are satisfied, or (y) if any of the conditions to closing set forth in such Subscription Agreements are not satisfied or waived, or are not capable of being satisfied, on or prior to the Closing and, as a result thereof, the transactions contemplated by the Subscription Agreements will not be or are not consummated at the Closing.

Background to the Business Combination

Waldencast is a blank check company incorporated on December 8, 2020, as a Cayman Islands exempted company formed for the purpose of effecting a merger, amalgamation, share exchange, asset acquisition, share purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses or entities. The proposed

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Business Combination was the result of an extensive search for a potential transaction using the networks of our management team, including our board of directors, as well as the networks of the underwriters of our initial public offering. The terms of the Transaction Agreements were the result of extensive negotiations between Waldencast and Obagi and Waldencast and Milk. The following is a brief description of the background of these negotiations, the proposed Business Combination and related transactions.

In January 2021, the Sponsor purchased 7,187,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000, or approximately $0.003 per share. In February 2021, the Sponsor transferred 20,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares to each of the Investor Directors, who are independent directors of Waldencast, resulting in the Sponsor holding 7,107,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares. In March 2021, Waldencast effected a share capitalization resulting in the Sponsor holding an aggregate of 8,545,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares.

On February 22, 2021, the Sponsor and Dynamo Master Fund (a member of the Sponsor) entered into a forward purchase agreement that provided for the right to purchase an aggregate of 16,000,000 plc Waldencast plc Units comprised of 16,000,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and 5,333,333 redeemable warrants, for an aggregate purchase price of $160.0 million, in a private placement to close substantially concurrently with the closing of the business combination transaction.

On March 1, 2021, the Beauty Ventures entered into the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement for the right to purchase an aggregate of up to 17,300,000 Waldencast plc Units comprised of 17,300,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and up to 5,766,666 redeemable warrants, for an aggregate purchase price of $173.0 million, in a private placement to close substantially concurrently with the closing of the business combination transaction.

On March 18, 2021, Waldencast consummated its initial public offering of its units, with each unit consisting of one Waldencast Class A ordinary share and one-third of one public warrant. Simultaneously with the closing of the initial public offering, Waldencast completed the private sale of 5,933,333 private placement warrants at a purchase price of $1.50 per private placement warrant to the Sponsor, generating gross proceeds to Waldencast of $8.9 million. Following the closing of Waldencast's initial public offering, a total of $345.0 million ($10.00 per unit) of the net proceeds from its initial public offering and the sale of the private placement warrants (inclusive of the exercise by the underwriters of the over-allotment option) were placed in the trust account.

Each whole public warrant entitles the holder thereof to purchase one Waldencast Class A ordinary share at a price of $11.50 per share, subject to certain adjustments. In connection with Waldencast's initial public offering, J.P. Morgan and Credit Suisse acted as underwriters to Waldencast, Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP ("Skadden") acted as U.S. legal advisor to Waldencast, and Maples and Calder (Cayman) LLP ("Maples") acted as Cayman Islands legal advisor to Waldencast.

Waldencast did not select any business combination target in advance of its initial public offering and did not, nor did anyone on its behalf, initiate any substantive discussions, directly or indirectly, with any potential business combination target in advance of its initial public offering. Since the completion of its initial public offering, Waldencast considered numerous potential target businesses with the objective of consummating its initial business combination. Representatives of Waldencast contacted, and were contacted by, numerous individuals and entities who presented ideas for business combination opportunities, including financial advisors and companies in the beauty, wellness and personal care sectors, among others. Waldencast considered businesses that it believed, among other things, had attractive long-term growth potential, were well-positioned within their industry and would benefit from the broad network and substantial strategic, financial, and operational experience of Waldencast's leadership team. In the process that led to identifying Obagi and Milk as attractive investment opportunities, Waldencast's management team considered 91 potential business combination targets and made contact with representatives of 41 such potential business combination targets to discuss the potential for a business combination transaction, and entered into non-disclosure agreements with 16 such potential business combination targets, all of which did not contain an exclusivity provision. Further, Waldencast delivered letters of interest to 8 potential business combination targets, including Milk and Obagi. Ultimately, without foreclosing the possibility of a future business combination involving these potential targets, Waldencast determined to abandon each of its potential initial business combination targets to which it delivered a letter of interest, other than Obagi and Milk, because (i) the potential target pursued an alternative transaction or strategy, (ii) Waldencast did not meet the valuation expectations of the potential target, (iii) Waldencast determined that the target business would not be a suitable business combination strategy for Waldencast based on, among other factors, further due diligence indicating that the target business did not meet the investment criteria Waldencast had established and the terms on which the potential target would be willing to consider a potential transaction or (iv) Waldencast concluded that, although a specific target business may be an attractive business combination opportunity for Waldencast, a business combination transaction with both Obagi and Milk aligned more closely with Waldencast's investment criteria as further described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus. Additionally, given the proposed timing of the initial business combination and other practical considerations, Waldencast's management team decided not to pursue an initial business combination involving Milk or Obagi with another third-party business.

Beginning in late March 2021, weekly meetings via video teleconference were held among members of Waldencast's management team in order to discuss matters relating to Waldencast's initial business combination. Such meetings were intended to allow Waldencast's management team to discuss updates regarding the status of the evaluation of, and outreach to, potential business combination targets, including, but not limited to, Obagi and Milk. Waldencast's management team actively pursued several potential business combination targets, conducting preliminary due diligence on, having management meetings with and negotiating terms of potential transactions with such potential business combination targets. Although Waldencast agreed to an exclusivity period with Obagi pursuant to the Obagi LOI (as defined below) dated August 31, 2021, and Milk, pursuant to the Milk Initial LOI (as defined below) dated June 14, 2021, and the Milk LOI (as defined below) dated September 10, 2021, this exclusivity applied only to Obagi and Milk and did not limit Waldencast's ability to pursue other potential business combination targets. As such, Waldencast continued to pursue other potential acquisition targets. During this process, Waldencast's management ultimately determined, and the Waldencast board of directors agreed, that Obagi and Milk were the most attractive business combination targets they had reviewed given their attractive valuations, global presence, growth potential in combination with Waldencast, positioning in large addressable markets and identities as clean and wellness brands, and that the potential business combination with Obagi and Milk met the primary investment criteria that had been identified by management, as more fully described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Waldencast's Board of Directors' Reasons for the Business Combination" for additional information. For that reason, management decided not to further pursue the other potential business combination targets it had considered.

On March 19, 2021, representatives of Waldencast, including Michel Brousset, the CEO of Waldencast, held an introductory video teleconference call with representatives of Alliance Consumer Growth ("ACG"), financial advisor to Milk, to discuss Waldencast's business vision and its planned M&A-focused strategy to build the business of Waldencast. Following this call, in its capacity as financial advisor to Milk, ACG introduced Milk to Waldencast as a potential acquisition candidate for Milk, and Mr. Brousset coordinated with Tim Coolican, the CEO of Milk, and Scott Sassa, the Chairman of the board of directors of Milk, to set up a meeting to discuss such strategy.

On March 23, 2021, representatives of Waldencast, including Mr. Brousset, held a video teleconference call with Mr. Sassa, who expressed Milk's interest in entering into discussions with Waldencast regarding, among other things, Waldencast's planned approach to an M&A strategy to build Waldencast's business. During said call, Mr. Brousset made Mr. Sassa aware that a potential business combination with Milk would involve another target.

On March 27, 2021, representatives of Waldencast, including Mr. Brousset, held a telephone call with Mr. Coolican, during which they discussed a potential business combination transaction that involved multiple brands, including Milk.

From late March 2021 through the middle of June 2021, Waldencast and Milk continued to engage through several e-mails, telephone calls and video teleconferences, in discussions related to, among other things, Waldencast's business strategy, a potential business combination transaction with Milk and other companies, and the potential transaction structure and potential partnership.

On May 17, 2021, representatives of Waldencast, including Mr. Brousset, held a video teleconference call with representatives of Lazard Frères & Co. LLC ("Lazard"), in its capacity as financial advisor to Obagi, where Lazard introduced Obagi to Waldencast as a potential acquisition candidate for Waldencast.

On May 25, 2021, Mr. Brousset, as a representative of Waldencast, held an introductory call with Jaime Castle, the CEO of Obagi, to discuss a potential business combination transaction. During said call, Mr. Brousset made Ms. Castle aware that a potential business combination with Obagi would involve another target.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

On May 27, 2021, Waldencast executed a non-disclosure agreement with Obagi (the “Obagi Confidentiality Agreement”). After the Obagi Confidentiality Agreement was executed, Obagi began providing preliminary confidential information to Waldencast regarding Obagi and its subsidiaries and their business operations.

On June 3, 2021, Mr. Brousset, as a representative of Waldencast, held a call with Ms. Castle to further discuss a potential business combination transaction.

Further, the senior management of Waldencast determined that Milk's internally prepared projections and Waldencast's internally prepared pro forma combined projections for the proposed business combination previously provided to the board of directors and discussed at the October 26, 2021 board meeting should be superseded by the projections for the proposed business combination provided at the November 13, 2021 meeting, which were updated to account for delays in the roll out of certain products in the customer's stores which thereby resulted in a delay in revenue attainment, as discussed further in the section entitled "BCA Proposal – Unaudited Projected Financial Information." A representative of Maples gave a presentation to the Waldencast board of directors on the directors' fiduciary duties under Cayman Islands law. Representatives of J.P. Morgan discussed with the Waldencast board of directors certain financial aspects of the proposed business combination, and further discussed certain operating and trading metrics associated with certain companies in the beauty and high-growth consumer sectors deemed to be comparable to Obagi and Milk. #### Waldencast’s Board of Directors’ Reasons for the Business Combination

On November 13, 2021, the Waldencast board of directors (i) determined that it is advisable for Waldencast to enter into the Obagi Merger Agreement and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and the documents contemplated thereby, (ii) approved the execution and delivery of the Obagi Merger Agreement and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and the documents and transactions contemplated thereby, and (iii) recommended the adoption and approval of the Obagi Merger Agreement and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and the other documents and transactions contemplated thereby by Waldencast’s shareholders. In evaluating the Business Combination and making these determinations and this recommendation, the Waldencast board of directors consulted with Waldencast’s senior management and considered a wide variety of factors.

In light of the complexity of those factors, Waldencast’s board of directors as a whole did not consider it practicable to, nor did it attempt to, quantify or otherwise assign relative weights to the specific factors it considered in reaching the directors’ respective decisions. Individual members of Waldencast’s board of directors may have given different weight to different factors. This explanation of Waldencast’s reasons for the board of directors’ approval of the Business Combination, and all other information presented in this section, is forward-looking in nature and, therefore, should be read in light of the factors discussed under the section entitled “Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements.”

The Waldencast board of directors and management considered the general criteria and guidelines that Waldencast believed would be important in evaluating prospective target businesses as described in the prospectus for Waldencast’s initial public offering. The Waldencast board of directors also considered that they could enter into a business combination with a target business that does not meet those criteria and guidelines. In the prospectus for its initial public offering, Waldencast stated that it intended to focus primarily on acquiring a company or companies exhibiting some of the following criteria and guidelines:

- (i) Strong brand identity and enduring brand equity: purpose-driven brand with high-quality products and values such as authenticity, social consciousness, inclusiveness, sustainability, and transparency with respect to clean ingredients and responsible sourcing practices;
- (ii) High level of consumer affinity: established an active and engaged community of users with a high degree of loyalty and emotional connection to the brand;
- (iii) Differentiated offering and market positioning: unique innovation capabilities or formulations, a defensible strategic moat, and a modern business model aimed at disrupting the category in which it plays;
- (iv) Multiple levers for long-term sustainable growth: ability to increase penetration in existing markets, categories, and consumer segments, capitalize on untapped opportunities with respect to international expansion, channel diversification, and thoughtful product line expansions which augment consumer segments;
- (v) Benefit from online acceleration and omni-channel access: potential to rapidly scale through a combination of online acceleration and diversification to appropriate offline channels;
- (vi) Long-term sustainable business model: strong unit economics, gross margin profile that is aligned with or above industry standard, positive operating profits, or clear path to profitability;

- (vii) Leverage management team's extensive operating expertise and network: leverage over five decades of direct beauty and consumer goods operating and investing experience at the world's leading consumer companies and benefit from hands-on guidance to optimize operations to extract operational efficiencies; and
- (viii) Attractive value creation opportunity: potential combination targets with the appropriate risk and reward profile that can generate attractive returns for our shareholders based on our rigorous strategic, operational, and financial assessment.

In considering the Business Combination, the Waldencast board of directors determined that the Business Combination was an attractive business opportunity and met all of the criteria and guidelines above, although not weighted or in any order of significance.

More specifically, the Waldencast board of directors considered the following factors in respect of the Obagi Merger, the Milk Transaction and the Business Combination:

- Obagi, Milk and the Business Combination. The Waldencast board of directors considered the following factors relating to Obagi, Milk and the Business Combination, which are based on diligence conducted by or at the direction of Waldencast and its advisors, and on information that Obagi and Milk have provided to Waldencast:
  - Large and Resilient Addressable Market. The global skincare and color cosmetics markets were valued at approximately $155 billion and $66 billion, respectively, in 2020, accounting for approximately 30% and 13% of the global beauty, personal care and wellness market, according to industry sources. Going forward, these two markets are expected to grow at a CAGR of 7.9% and 7.0%, respectively, from 2021 to 2023. We believe the key drivers of growth include the shift in desire for quality over price, increased appetite for clean, natural, and higher-performance products, emerging market expansion, and adaptability to e-commerce channels, particularly by skincare and makeup consumers. The beauty, personal care and wellness market has proven to be resilient through economic cycles and, in particular, is expected to maintain strong momentum in its growth following the COVID-19 lockdowns, with estimated year-on-year growth of 8.4% in 2021, and 6.4% for 2022 and 2023, according to industry sources.
  - Highly Fragmented Market with Growth Driven by Independent Brands. The top five brands in the global beauty, personal care and wellness market, being Colgate-Palmolive, The Estee Lauder Companies, Inc., Unilever, P&G, and L'Oreal S.A, account for only 32% of the market share. Of these, Colgate-Palmolive, Unilever and P&G experienced reductions in their market shares over the period from 2015 to 2020, according to industry sources. New consumer trends and technology are driving the gain in market share of disruptor brands that account for the other 68% of the global beauty, personal care and wellness market. These emerging brands are driving sector growth and the Waldencast board of directors believes there is a clear opportunity to aggregate these brands under a new platform to accelerate growth and scale.
  - Obagi is a Market Leader within the Professional Skincare Market. Obagi is a market leader in the global professional skincare market, ranked first in independent brands in this market, and first, compared to brands (more generally) in this market, in product portfolio, innovation, and marketing based on perception and satisfaction among U.S. physicians, according to independent research conducted in 2020. It was second in sales in 2019 in this segment of U.S. professional skincare products companies. The skincare market is the fastest growing segment in the global beauty, personal care and wellness market, with the expectation for the global skincare market to grow in revenue from $62 billion in 2021 to $209 billion by 2025, according to industry sources.
  - Obagi's Robust, Science-Based Product Portfolio. Obagi currently holds over 80 patents worldwide in respect of its treatments, which are developed by a world class research and development team, and undergo rigorous product efficacy testing from panels comprising leading dermatologists from universities and research organizations across the U.S. Over 90% of Obagi's sales are derived from medical skincare products, ranging in price from $22.00 to $471.00.
  - Obagi's Experienced Management Team of Dermo-Cosmetics Experts. The Waldencast board of directors believes that Obagi's management team has extensive experience in key aspects of the beauty, personal care and wellness market, particularly the dermo-cosmetics sector. Obagi’s management team is led by Ms. Castle, and executives with experience from leading companies such as Bausch Health, Glo and Neutrogena. We expect that Obagi executives will continue with the combined company following the Business Combination. For additional information regarding Obagi’s executive officers, see the section entitled “Management of Waldencast plc Following the Business Combination — Executive Officers.”

- Milk’s Leading Clean Make-Up Brand. Milk is a leading clean make-up brand with a strong following among Gen-Z consumers, known for its cultural relevance and iconic products. The brand is anchored by this strong community following and the Waldencast board of directors believe there are significant growth opportunities.
- Milk’s Strong Community Engagement and Portfolio of Unique Products. We believe Milk has an exciting portfolio of innovative and iconic products and a strong community following attracted to its brand values of “good for you, good for the planet, and good for our community.” As of November 22, 2021, Milk had approximately 1,900,000 Instagram followers, 8,600,000 likes and 122,000,000 hash-tagged video views on TikTok, 653,000 monthly views on Pinterest, 99,000 Facebook followers, 89,000 YouTube subscribers and 62,000 Twitter followers. The Waldencast board of directors believes Milk has the potential to grow through innovation and launches from its current portfolio of cosmetic products to other segments of the beauty, personal care and wellness market, such as skincare, haircare, bath and shower, and fragrance.
- Milk’s Strong Partnership with Sephora. Milk has an established presence in the U.S. and Canada through its partnership with Sephora, with Milk’s products featured in all 1,335 physical Sephora retail stores in the U.S., and all 82 physical Sephora retail stores in Canada. However, milkmakeup.com currently only ships to the U.S. and the Waldencast board of directors believes there is an opportunity to increase Milk’s presence in high-growth international markets, through increasing Milk’s presence in Sephora’s non-North American brick and mortar stores, as well as partnerships with other beauty retail stores worldwide.
- Milk’s Experienced Management Team of Make-Up and Cosmetic Industry Experts. The Waldencast board of directors believes that Milk’s management team has extensive experience in key aspects of the beauty, personal care and wellness sectors, particularly the make-up and cosmetics sectors. Milk’s management team is led by Tim Coolican, who serves as Chief Executive Officer, and executives with experience from leading companies such as L’Oréal, Unilever, Bliss and Benefit. We expect that Milk executives will continue with the combined company following the Business Combination. For additional information regarding Milk’s executive officers, see the section entitled “Management of Waldencast plc Following the Business Combination — Executive Officers.”
- Attractive Entry Valuations. The Waldencast board of directors determined that (a) the pro forma enterprise valuations of Obagi and Milk were reasonable in comparison to certain comparable, publicly traded companies and (b) Waldencast plc will have an anticipated initial pre-transaction enterprise value of $1,200.0 million, implying a 4.8x multiple of 2022 projected revenue. The final agreed valuations for each of Obagi and Milk were the result of negotiation between the parties and judgment by the Waldencast board of directors, and were not specifically based on the information provided with respect to certain comparable companies set out below.
- Best Available Opportunity. The Waldencast board of directors determined, after a thorough review of other business combination opportunities reasonably available to Waldencast, that the proposed Business Combination represents the optimal potential business combination available in the market for Waldencast based upon the process utilized to evaluate and assess other potential acquisition targets, and the Waldencast board of directors’ belief that such processes had not presented a better alternative. In particular, it was determined that the proposed Business Combination with two target entities was the best available proposal for furthering Waldencast’s objective of establishing a global, multi-brand beauty and wellness platform. The Waldencast board of directors considered the possibility that there may not be another opportunity available to achieve Waldencast’s objectives if the proposed Business Combination did not proceed.

- Continued Ownership by Sellers. The Waldencast board of directors considered that Obagi and Milk’s existing stockholders would be receiving a significant amount of Waldencast plc’s common stock in the proposed Business Combination and that the existing stockholders of Obagi and Milk are “rolling over” a significant portion of their existing equity interests in Obagi and Milk into equity interests in Waldencast plc which would represent approximately 30.8% of the pro forma fully diluted share ownership of the combined company after Closing, based on Obagi’s capitalization as of September 30, 2021, and Milk’s capitalization as of September 30, 2021, assuming that none of Waldencast’s shareholders elect to redeem their Class A ordinary shares for a pro rata portion of cash in the Trust Account, and thus the full amount of the approximately $345.0 million held in the Trust Account is available for the Business Combination. If the actual facts are different from these assumptions, the percentage ownership retained by Obagi and Milk’s existing stockholders in the combined company will be different. See “Beneficial Ownership of Securities” for additional information.
- Results of Due Diligence. In addition to conducting legal, financial, tax and accounting due diligence, the Waldencast board of directors considered the scope of the due diligence investigation conducted by Waldencast’s senior management, and outside legal, tax, and accounting advisors and evaluated the results thereof and information available to it related to Obagi and Milk, including:
  - extensive virtual meetings, office tours and calls with Obagi and Milk’s management team regarding its operations, projections and the proposed transaction; and
  - review of materials related to Obagi and Milk and their businesses, made available by Obagi and Milk, including financial statements, material contracts, key metrics and performance indicators, benefit plans, employee compensation and labor matters, intellectual property matters, real property matters, information technology, privacy and personal data, litigation information, environmental matters, export control matters, regulatory and compliance matters and other legal and business diligence.
- Terms of the Transaction Agreements. The Waldencast board of directors reviewed and considered the terms of the Transaction Agreements and the related agreements including the parties’ conditions to their respective obligations to complete the transactions contemplated therein and their ability to terminate such agreements under the circumstances described therein. See the sections entitled “BCA Proposal — Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement” and “BCA Proposal — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement” for detailed discussions of the terms and conditions of these agreements.
- Arm’s-Length Negotiations. The terms of the Transaction Agreements and the related agreements were vigorously negotiated on an arms-length basis by Waldencast’s management and its outside legal advisors, with input from its financial advisors, with Obagi and Milk, and each of their legal and financial advisors.
- The Role of the Independent Directors. In connection with the Business Combination, Waldencast’s independent directors, Ms. Sarah Brown, Ms. Juliette Hickman, Ms. Lindsay Pattison and Mr. Zack Werner evaluated the proposed terms of the Business Combination, including the Obagi Merger Agreement, Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and the related agreements, and unanimously approved, as members of the Waldencast board of directors, the Obagi Merger Agreement, Milk Equity Purchase Agreement and the related agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Business Combination.

The Waldencast board of directors also identified and considered the following factors and risks weighing negatively against pursuing the Business Combination, although not weighted or in any order of significance:

- Potential Inability to Complete the Obagi Merger and Milk Transaction. The Waldencast board of directors considered the possibility that the Obagi Merger and/or the Milk Transaction and, thereby, the Business Combination, may not be completed and the potential adverse consequences to Waldencast if the Business Combination is not completed, in particular the expenditure of time and resources in pursuit of the Business Combination and the loss of the opportunity to participate in the transaction. They considered the uncertainty related to the Closing, including due to closing conditions primarily outside of the control of the parties to the transaction (such as the need for shareholder and antitrust approval). The Transaction Agreements and the Sponsor Support Agreements also include exclusivity provisions that limit Waldencast, the Sponsor and certain of their respective affiliates from soliciting certain other business combination proposals on behalf of Waldencast, which limits Waldencast's ability to consider certain other potential business combinations until the earlier of the termination of the Transaction Agreements or the consummation of the Business Combination.

The consummation of the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction are conditioned upon satisfaction of the Minimum Cash Conditions. Assuming redemptions do not exceed the maximum redemptions scenario described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus, Waldencast will be able to satisfy the Minimum Cash Conditions based on the proceeds it will receive from the PIPE Investment and the Forward Purchase Transaction, together with remaining funds left in Waldencast's trust account after taking into account the redemptions and estimated transaction costs incurred by Waldencast in connection with the Business Combination of $63.2 million, including deferred underwriting commissions from Waldencast's initial public offering of approximately $12.1 million. The maximum redemptions scenario assumes that 21,834,638 public shares of Waldencast's Class A ordinary shares are redeemed for an aggregate payment of $218.4 million, which is derived from the number of shares that could be redeemed based on an assumed redemption price of approximately $10.00 per share. Based on recent market trends, in the event that Waldencast's stock price is at, around or below $10.00 per share during the redemption period, there will likely be significant redemptions in excess of the maximum redemptions scenario. The Waldencast board of directors considered the risk that a significant portion of the current public shareholders of Waldencast would redeem their public shares for cash in connection with consummation of the Business Combination, thereby reducing, in each case, the amount of cash available to Waldencast plc following the consummation of the Business Combination and potentially requiring Obagi, Milk and Waldencast to waive the Minimum Cash Conditions under the Transaction Agreements in order for the Business Combination to be consummated.

If there are significant redemptions by public shareholders, then the Minimum Cash Conditions may not be satisfied. In the event the Minimum Cash Conditions are not satisfied, the Business Combination could not be consummated unless Obagi, Milk and Waldencast waive the Minimum Cash Conditions.

- Obagi and Milk's Business Risks. The Waldencast board of directors considered that Waldencast shareholders would be subject to the execution risks associated with Waldencast plc if they retained their public shares following the Closing, which were different from the risks related to holding public shares of Waldencast prior to the Closing. In this regard, the Waldencast board of directors considered that there were risks associated with successful implementation of Waldencast plc's long-term business plan and strategy and Waldencast plc realizing the anticipated benefits of the Business Combination on the timeline expected or at all, including due to factors outside of the parties' control such as the potential negative impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and related macroeconomic uncertainty. The Waldencast board of directors considered that the failure of any of these activities to be completed successfully may decrease the actual benefits of the Business Combination and that Waldencast shareholders may not fully realize the anticipated benefits to the extent that they expected to retain the public shares following the completion of the Business Combination. For additional description of these risks, please see the section entitled "Risk Factors."
- Implementation Complexities. Although a simultaneous business combination with two target entities is consistent with Waldencast's objective of establishing a global, multi-brand beauty and wellness platform, the Waldencast board of directors considered the potential added complexity of implementation of the proposed Business Combination.
- Post-Business Combination Corporate Governance. The Waldencast board of directors considered the corporate governance provisions of the Transaction Agreements, the Investor Rights Agreement and the Proposed Constitutional Documents and the effect of those provisions on the governance of Waldencast plc following the Closing. Cedarwalk will have the right to designate one director to the Waldencast plc Board for as long as Cedarwalk owns 5% of the then outstanding Waldencast plc common stock. The Waldencast board of directors was aware that this right is not generally available to shareholders of Waldencast, including shareholders that may hold a large number of shares. See the sections entitled "BCA Proposal — Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement," "BCA Proposal — Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement" and "BCA Proposal — Related Agreements — Related"

Agreements to the Obagi Merger — The Investor Rights Agreement” for detailed discussions of the terms and conditions of the Transaction Agreements and the Investor Rights Agreement. See the section entitled “Organizational Documents Proposals” for detailed discussions of the terms and conditions of the Proposed Constitutional Documents.

- No Survival of Remedies for Breach of Representations, Warranties or Covenants of Obagi or Milk. The Waldencast board of directors considered that the terms of the Transaction Agreements provide that Waldencast will not have any surviving remedies against Obagi, Milk or their stockholders after the Closing to recover for losses as a result of any inaccuracies or breaches of the Obagi and Milk representations, warranties or covenants set forth in the Transaction Agreements. The Waldencast board of directors determined that this structure was appropriate and customary in light of the fact that several similar transactions include similar terms and the current stockholders of Obagi and Milk will be stockholders in Waldencast plc.
- Litigation. The Waldencast board of directors considered the possibility of litigation challenging the Business Combination or that an adverse judgment granting permanent injunctive relief could enjoin consummation of the Business Combination.
- Fees and Expenses. The Waldencast board of directors considered the fees and expenses associated with completing the Business Combination.
- Diversion of Management. The Waldencast board of directors considered the potential for diversion of management and employee attention during the period prior to the completion of the Business Combination, and the potential negative effects on Obagi and Milk’s businesses.

In addition to considering the factors described above, the Waldencast board of directors also considered that:

- Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers. Waldencast’s directors and executive officers may have interests in the Business Combination as individuals that are in addition to, and may be different from, the interests of Waldencast’s shareholders, as described in the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination.” However, Waldencast’s board of directors concluded that the potentially disparate interests would be mitigated because (i) these interests were disclosed in the prospectus for Waldencast’s initial public offering and are included in this proxy statement/prospectus, (ii) most of these disparate interests would exist with respect to a business combination by Waldencast with any other target business or businesses, and (iii) Waldencast’s directors and executive officers hold equity interests in Waldencast with value that, after the Closing, will be based on the future performance of Waldencast plc’s common stock. In addition, Waldencast’s independent directors reviewed and considered these interests during their evaluation of the Business Combination and in unanimously approving, as members of the Waldencast board of directors, the Transaction Agreements and the related agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Business Combination.

Under the Transaction Agreements, Waldencast has agreed to (a) merge with Obagi, based on an enterprise value of $858.0 million, and (b) acquire all of the equity interests in Milk, based on an enterprise value of $382.0 million, to be paid, in each case, in a combination of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and cash. The total consideration represents a market value of equity in excess of 80% of the assets held in the Trust Account (net of amounts disbursed to management for working capital purposes, if permitted, and excluding the amount of any deferred underwriting commissions), a requirement for an initial business combination under the Cayman Constitutional Documents. Although the Waldencast board of directors did not seek a third-party valuation, and did not receive any report, valuation or opinion from any third party in connection with the Business Combination, the Waldencast board of directors relied on the following sources: (i) Waldencast’s due diligence on Obagi and Milk’s business operations; (ii) extensive research reports and data related to the beauty, personal care, and wellness sector, and, more specifically, the skincare and color cosmetics markets, in the U.S. and internationally; and (iii) Waldencast management’s collective experience in constructing and evaluating financial models/projections and conducting valuations of businesses. The Waldencast board of directors concluded that the $858.0 million enterprise value, in respect of Obagi, and the $382.0 million enterprise value, in respect of Milk, are fair and reasonable, given the growth prospects, potential industry consolidation and other compelling aspects of the transaction. During the course of valuing Obagi and Milk, Waldencast’s management identified an appropriate group of comparable public companies in the beauty, personal care and wellness sector, as well as other companies that Waldencast's management identified with high-growth consumer products. Waldencast's management believes that the combined company is likely to be considered to be in one or more of these categories by potential investors based on its business and financial model.

Although the Board was not able to identify a single company that is a close comparable to the combination of Obagi and Milk, it did consider the financial performance, valuation and other factors applicable to a range of other companies that share similar attributes to Milk and Obagi in the beauty, personal care and wellness, and high growth consumer sectors and concluded that the consideration reflects an attractive valuation relative to such companies based on valuation metrics typically used in those sectors. The beauty companies reviewed (L'Oréal Company, The Estee Lauder Companies Inc., e.l.f. Beauty, Inc. Olaplex Holdings, Inc. and The Beauty Health Company (hydrfacial) were determined to have a number of attributes that are similar to Obagi and Milk, including (i) being segment leaders in the professional skincare market, (ii) having businesses that are highly scalable, (iii) having large and resilient addressable markets, (iv) having strong community engagement and (v) having strong partnerships and management expertise. The high growth consumer companies reviewed (lululemon athletica, inc., Align Technology Inc. and FIGS, Inc.) were determined to have a number of attributes that are similar to Obagi and Milk, including (i) having businesses that are highly scalable, (ii) having large and resilient addressable markets, (iii) having strong community engagement and (iv) having strong partnerships and management expertise.

Set forth below is a breakdown of the metrics for each of the comparable companies reviewed by the Board:

Based on its review of the foregoing considerations, the Waldencast board of directors concluded that the potentially negative factors associated with the Business Combination were outweighed by the potential benefits that it expects Waldencast shareholders will receive as a result of the Business Combination. The Waldencast board of directors realized that there can be no assurance about future results, including results considered or expected as disclosed in the foregoing reasons.

The preceding discussion of the information and factors considered by the Waldencast board of directors is not intended to be exhaustive but includes the material factors considered by the Waldencast board of directors. In view of the complexity and wide variety of factors considered by the Waldencast board of directors in connection with its evaluation of the Business Combination, the Waldencast board of directors did not consider it practical to, nor did it attempt to, quantify, rank or otherwise assign relative weights to the different factors that it considered in reaching its decision. In addition, in considering the factors described above, individual members of the Waldencast board of directors may have given different weight to different factors. The Waldencast board of directors considered this information as a whole and overall considered the information and factors to be favorable to, and in support of, its determinations and recommendations.

This explanation of the Waldencast board of directors' reasons for its approval of the Business Combination, and all other information presented in this section, is forward-looking in nature and, therefore, should be read in light of the factors discussed under the section entitled "Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements."

Obagi Projected Financial Information

In mid-July, 2021, Obagi provided to us internally prepared, prospective financial information for use as a component of our evaluation of Obagi. Obagi does not as a matter of course make public projections as to future sales, earnings, or other results. Waldencast's management reviewed the prospective financial information provided by Obagi and used such prospective financial information to prepare Waldencast management's view of the future financial performance of Obagi for the three year period ended December 31, 2023, as part of Waldencast's overall evaluation of Obagi (the "Obagi Projections"). Waldencast does not as a matter of course make public projections as to future sales, earnings, or other results. This summary of the Obagi Projections is not being included to influence your decision whether to vote in favor of the BCA Proposal or any other proposal to be considered at the extraordinary general meeting, but is included in this proxy statement/prospectus because it was provided to the Waldencast board of directors for its evaluation of the Business Combination. The accompanying prospective financial information was not prepared with a view toward public disclosure or with a view toward complying with the published guidelines of the SEC or the guidelines established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants with respect to prospective financial information, but, in the view of Waldencast's management, was prepared on a reasonable basis, reflects the best currently available estimates and judgments, and presents, to the best of management's knowledge and belief, the expected course of action and the expected future financial performance of Obagi. In addition, the below Obagi Projections were prepared and provided prior to the announcement of the Transactions treating Obagi on a standalone basis, without giving effect to, and as if Obagi never contemplated, the Transactions, including the impact of negotiating or executing the Transactions, the expenses that may be incurred in connection with consummating the Transactions, the effect of any business or strategic decision or action that has been or will be taken as a result of the Obagi Merger Agreement being executed, or the effect of any business or strategic decisions or actions that would likely have been taken if the Obagi Merger Agreement had not been executed but which were instead altered, accelerated, postponed or not taken in anticipation of the Transactions.

Waldencast's management presented the Obagi Projections to the board of directors of Waldencast at the meetings held on October 26, 2021 and on November 13, 2021, and the board of directors determined to accept these projections. Beginning in mid-September, 2021, for the purposes of our management's marketing process in respect of the PIPE Investment, our management provided the PIPE Investors the Obagi Projections.

The Obagi Projections have not been audited. Neither Obagi's or Waldencast's independent auditors, nor any other independent accountants, have compiled, examined, or performed any procedures with respect to the prospective financial information contained herein, nor have they expressed any opinion or any other form of assurance on such information or its achievability, and assume no responsibility for, and disclaim any association with, the prospective financial information. The report of Obagi's and Waldencast's independent auditors included in this proxy statement/prospectus relates to historical financial information of Obagi. It does not extend to the projections and should not be read as if it does. You are encouraged to review the financial statements of Obagi included in this proxy statement/prospectus, as well as the financial information provided in the section entitled "Selected Historical Financial Information of Obagi" in this proxy statement/prospectus and to not rely on any single financial measure.

While presented in this proxy statement/prospectus with numeric specificity, the Obagi Projections reflect numerous estimates and assumptions, including economic, market and operational assumptions, all of which are difficult to predict and many of which are beyond Obagi's and Waldencast plc's control, such as the risks and uncertainties contained in the sections entitled "Risk Factors," "Obagi's Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" and "Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements." The Obagi Projections provided to Waldencast's board of directors are forward-looking statements that are based on growth assumptions, which are inherently subject to significant uncertainties and contingencies, many of which are beyond Obagi's and Waldencast plc's control. There will be differences between actual and projected results, and actual results may be materially greater or materially less than those contained in the projections. While all projections are necessarily speculative, notably, statements regarding the Obagi Projections are, without limitation, subject to material assumptions regarding Waldencast plc's and Obagi's ability to design, manufacture, develop and operate its products and provide its services at scale and meet its customers' business needs, Waldencast plc's and Obagi's ability to successfully execute its development plans and growth strategy, Waldencast plc's and Obagi's ability to maintain sufficient financing to fund its operations and growth and Waldencast plc's and Obagi's ability to source and maintain contracts. Waldencast cautions that its assumptions may not materialize and that market developments and economic conditions may render such assumptions, although believed reasonable at the time they were made, subject to greater uncertainty.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

There can be no assurance that the projected results will be realized or that actual results will not be significantly higher or lower than projected. The Obagi Projections are subjective in many respects and thus are susceptible to multiple interpretations and periodic revisions based on actual experience and business developments. Waldencast plc does not intend to refer back to the Obagi Projections in its future periodic reports filed under the Exchange Act.

THE OBAGI PROJECTIONS DO NOT TAKE INTO ACCOUNT ANY CIRCUMSTANCES OR EVENTS OCCURRING AFTER THE DATE THAT THE INFORMATION WAS PREPARED. EXCEPT AS REQUIRED BY APPLICABLE SECURITIES LAWS, OBAGI AND WALDENCAST UNDERTAKE NO OBLIGATIONS AND EXPRESSLY DISCLAIM ANY RESPONSIBILITY TO UPDATE OR REVISE, OR PUBLICLY DISCLOSE ANY UPDATE OR REVISION TO, THE OBAGI PROJECTIONS TO REFLECT CIRCUMSTANCES OR EVENTS, INCLUDING UNANTICIPATED EVENTS, THAT MAY HAVE OCCURRED OR THAT MAY OCCUR AFTER THE PREPARATION OF THE OBAGI PROJECTIONS, EVEN IN THE EVENT THAT ANY OR ALL OF THE ASSUMPTIONS UNDERLYING THE OBAGI PROJECTIONS ARE SHOWN TO BE IN ERROR OR CHANGE. READERS OF THIS PROXY STATEMENT/PROSPECTUS ARE CAUTIONED NOT TO PLACE UNDUE RELIANCE ON THE UNAUDITED PROSPECTIVE FINANCIAL INFORMATION SET FORTH BELOW. NONE OF OBAGI, WALDENCAST NOR ANY OF THEIR RESPECTIVE AFFILIATES, OFFICERS, DIRECTORS, ADVISORS OR OTHER REPRESENTATIVES HAS MADE OR MAKES ANY REPRESENTATION TO ANY WALDENCAST PLC SHAREHOLDER, WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDER, OBAGI SHAREHOLDER OR ANY OTHER PERSON REGARDING ULTIMATE PERFORMANCE COMPARED TO THE INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THE OBAGI PROJECTIONS OR THAT FINANCIAL AND OPERATING RESULTS WILL BE ACHIEVED.

The key elements of the Obagi Projections are summarized below.

The Obagi Projections were based on a variety of assumptions that are estimates based on, among other things, Obagi's historical performance, industry data, market studies and competitive analyses. Key assumptions for the internally prepared, prospective financial information provided by Obagi include (as impacted by the adjustments made by Waldencast's management set forth below and reflected in the Obagi Projections (the "Obagi Projections Assumptions")):

  - increase in personnel and general and administrative expenses to support Obagi’s growing operations; and
  - gross profits growing at a rate higher than the increase in operating expenses as a result of efforts to control costs across functional areas.

Adjusted EBITDA is a non-GAAP measure, which is an addition to, and not a substitute for or superior to, measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with GAAP and should not be considered as alternatives to gross profit, net income, operating income or any other performance measures derived in accordance with GAAP. Non-GAAP financial measures as used by Waldencast plc may not be comparable to similarly titled amounts used by other companies. Not all of the information necessary for a quantitative reconciliation of these non-GAAP financial measures to the most directly comparable GAAP financial measures is available without unreasonable efforts at this time. Accordingly, we have not provided a reconciliation of such financial measures.

Waldencast’s management reviewed the key assumptions for the internally prepared, prospective financial information provided by Obagi to Waldencast’s management in mid-July, 2021 and determined that such assumptions were reasonable, subject to adjustments to such prospective financial information including reflecting the carve-out of the Obagi China Business, increasing the projected net sales in 2023 to reflect a slightly higher direct to customer channel and decreasing the projected growth of sales expenses in 2023.

Milk Projected Financial Information

In early August, 2021, Milk provided to us internally prepared, prospective financial information for use as a component of our evaluation of Milk. In early November, 2021, Milk provided an update to such information to reflect updates to the estimates and judgments with respect to the expected performance of one of Milk’s customers, specifically, to account for delays in the roll out of certain products in the customer’s stores which thereby resulted in a delay in revenue attainment. Milk does not as a matter of course make public projections as to future sales, earnings, or other results. Waldencast’s management reviewed the prospective financial information provided by Milk and used such prospective financial information to prepare Waldencast management’s view of the future financial performance of Milk for the three year period ended December 31, 2023, as part of Waldencast’s overall evaluation of Milk (the “Milk Projections”). Waldencast does not as a matter of course make public projections as to future sales, earnings, or other results. This summary of the Milk Projections is not being included to influence your decision whether to vote in favor of the BCA Proposal or any other proposal to be considered at the extraordinary general meeting, but is included in this proxy statement/prospectus because it was provided to the Waldencast board of directors for its evaluation of the Business Combination. Waldencast's management presented the initial prospective, financial information provided by Milk to the board of directors of Waldencast at the meeting held on October 26, 2021. Our management presented the Milk Projections at the meeting of the board of directors held on November 13, 2021, and the board of directors determined that the Milk prospective, financial information previously provided to the board of directors and discussed at the October 26, 2021 board meeting should be superseded by the Milk Projections provided at the November 13, 2021 meeting. Beginning in mid-September, 2021, for the purposes of our management's marketing process in respect of the PIPE Investment, our management provided the PIPE Investors the prospective financial information of Milk previously provided to the board of directors of Waldencast at the October 26, 2021 board meeting and in early November provided the PIPE Investors the Milk Projections.

The key elements of the Milk Projections are summarized below.

(in millions)	Milk Financial Forecast
	Forecast Year Ending December 31
	2021E	2022E	2023E
	(unaudited)
Net Sales	$47	$66	$101
Gross Profit	23	39	63
Adjusted EBITDA <sup>(1)</sup>	(3)	6	17

The Milk Projections were based on a variety of assumptions that are estimates based on, among other things, Milk's historical performance, industry data, market studies and competitive analyses. Key assumptions for the internally prepared, prospective financial information provided by Milk include (as impacted by the adjustments made by Waldencast's management set forth below and as reflected in the Milk Projections (the "Milk Projections Assumptions")):

- Net Sales
  - increase in revenue due to the relaunch of the Milk brand's Shopify platform;
  - increase in revenue due to the growth in certain key franchises representing the Milk business, including Milk's Hydro Grip Primer and Lip and Cheek families of products;
  - increase in revenue due to distribution in the U.S. via Sephora at Kohl's expansion; and
  - increase in revenue from increasing customer awareness and distribution internationally.
- Gross Profit
  - increase in retail price on certain existing franchises and new launches; and
  - increase in weight of direct-to-consumer as a business channel.
- Adjusted EBITDA
  - increase in net sales as described above.

Adjusted EBITDA is a non-GAAP measure, which is an addition to, and not a substitute for or superior to, measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with GAAP and should not be considered as alternatives to gross profit, net income, operating income or any other performance measures derived in accordance with GAAP. Non-GAAP financial measures as used by Waldencast plc may not be comparable to similarly titled amounts used by other companies. Not all of the information necessary for a quantitative reconciliation of these non-GAAP financial measures to the most directly comparable GAAP financial measures is available without unreasonable efforts at this time. Accordingly, we have not provided a reconciliation of such financial measures.

Waldencast's management reviewed the key assumptions for the internally prepared, prospective financial information provided by Milk to Waldencast's management in early August, 2021, as revised in early November, 2021, and determined that such assumptions were reasonable, subject to adjustments to such prospective financial information reflecting decreased marketing spending in 2022, increased marketing spending in 2023, decreased cost of goods sold in 2022 and 2023, decreased topline growth in 2022 and decreased operating expense growth in 2022 and 2023.

Pro Forma Projected Financial Information

In late October, 2021, for the purposes of our management’s marketing process in respect of the PIPE Investment, and for the board of directors of Waldencast to consider in its evaluation of the Business Combination, our management provided the PIPE Investors and the board of directors of Waldencast the internally prepared, pro forma combined prospective financial information for the combined company after giving effect to the acquisition of both Obagi and Milk. Subsequently in early November, 2021, our management received revised prospective financial information for Milk, with updates to the estimates and judgments with respect to the expected performance of one of Milk’s customers set out in the projections provided to our management on and presented to the board of directors of Waldencast on October 26, 2021, specifically, to account for delays in the roll out of certain products in the customer’s stores which thereby resulted in a delay in revenue attainment. Such updated prospective financial information for Milk were reflected in the internally prepared pro forma combined prospective financial information for the combined company after giving effect to the acquisition of both Obagi and Milk that our management provided the PIPE Investors and the board of directors of Waldencast (the “Pro Forma Projections”). Waldencast does not as a matter of course make public projections as to future sales, earnings, or other results. This summary of the Pro Forma Projections is not being included to influence your decision whether to vote in favor of the BCA Proposal or any other proposal to be considered at the extraordinary general meeting, but is included in this proxy statement/prospectus because it was provided to the Waldencast board of directors for its evaluation of the Business Combination. The accompanying prospective financial information was not prepared with a view toward public disclosure or with a view toward complying with the published guidelines of the SEC or the guidelines established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants with respect to prospective financial information, but, in the view of Waldencast’s management, was prepared on a reasonable basis, reflects the best currently available estimates and judgments, and presents, to the best of management’s knowledge and belief, the expected course of action and the expected future financial performance of Waldencast plc.

Waldencast’s management presented the Pro Forma Projections to the board of directors of Waldencast at the meeting held on November 13, 2021. The board of directors of Waldencast reviewed the Pro Forma Projections and determined that the prospective financial information for the proposed business combination previously provided to the board of directors of Waldencast and discussed at the October 26, 2021 board meeting should be superseded by the Pro Forma Projections presented to the board of directors of Waldencast at the November 13, 2021 meeting. Beginning in mid-September, for the purposes of our management’s marketing process in respect of the PIPE Investment, our management provided the PIPE Investors the internally prepared pro forma combined company prospective financial information after giving effect to the acquisition of both Obagi and Milk previously provided to the board of directors of Waldencast at the October 26, 2021 board meeting and in early November, 2021, provided the PIPE Investors the Milk Projections.

The principal difference between the Pro Forma Projections and the Obagi Projections and Milk Projections was the increase in administrative expenses to account for the cost of operating as a publicly listed company.

The Pro Forma Projections have not been audited. None of Waldencast’s independent auditors, Obagi’s independent auditors, Milk’s independent auditors, or any other independent accountants, have compiled, examined, or performed any procedures with respect to the prospective financial information contained herein, nor have they expressed any opinion or any other form of assurance on such information or its achievability, and assume no responsibility for, and disclaim any association with, the prospective financial information. The reports of Waldencast’s, Obagi’s and Milk’s independent auditors included in this proxy statement/prospectus relate to historical financial information of Waldencast, Obagi and Milk, respectively. They do not extend to the Pro Forma Projections and should not be read as if they do. You are encouraged to review the financial statements of Waldencast, Obagi and Milk included in this proxy statement/prospectus, as well as the financial information provided in the sections entitled “Selected Historical Information of Waldencast,” “Selected Historical Financial Information of Obagi” and “Selected Historical Financial Information of Milk” in this proxy statement/prospectus and to not rely on any single financial measure.

While presented in this proxy statement/prospectus with numeric specificity, the Pro Forma Projections reflect numerous estimates and assumptions, including economic, market and operational assumptions, all of which are difficult to predict and many of which are beyond Waldencast plc’s control, such as the risks and uncertainties contained in the sections entitled “Risk Factors,” “Waldencast’s Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations,” “Obagi’s Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations,” “Milk’s Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” and “Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements.” The Pro Forma Projections provided to Waldencast’s board of directors are forward-looking statements that are based on growth assumptions, which are inherently subject to significant uncertainties and contingencies, many of which are beyond Waldencast plc’s control. There will be differences between actual and projected results, and actual results may be materially greater or materially less than those contained in the projections. While all projections are necessarily speculative, notably, statements regarding the Pro Forma Projections are, without limitation, subject to material assumptions regarding Waldencast plc’s ability to design, manufacture, develop and operate its products and provide its services at scale and meet its customers’ business needs, Waldencast plc’s ability to successfully execute its development plans and growth strategy, Waldencast plc’s ability to maintain sufficient financing to fund its operations and growth and Waldencast plc’s ability to source and maintain contracts. Waldencast cautions that its assumptions may not materialize and that market developments and economic conditions may render such assumptions, although believed reasonable at the time they were made, subject to greater uncertainty.

There can be no assurance that the projected results will be realized or that actual results will not be significantly higher or lower than projected. The Pro Forma Projections are subjective in many respects and thus are susceptible to multiple interpretations and periodic revisions based on actual experience and business developments. Waldencast plc does not intend to refer back to the Pro Forma Projections in its future periodic reports filed under the Exchange Act.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

The Pro Forma Projections were based on a variety of assumptions that are estimates based on, among other things, historical performance, industry data, market studies and competitive analyses. Key assumptions for the Pro Forma Projections include the Obagi Projections Assumptions and the Milk Projections Assumptions, as well as an increase in administrative expenses to account for the cost of operating as a publicly listed company.

Adjusted EBITDA is a non-GAAP measure, which is an addition to, and not a substitute for or superior to, measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with GAAP and should not be considered as alternatives to gross profit, net income, operating income or any other performance measures derived in accordance with GAAP. Non-GAAP financial measures as used by Waldencast plc may not be comparable to similarly titled amounts used by other companies. Not all of the information necessary for a quantitative reconciliation of these non-GAAP financial measures to the most directly comparable GAAP financial measures is available without unreasonable efforts at this time. Accordingly, we have not provided a reconciliation of such financial measures.

Satisfaction of 80% Test

It is a requirement under the Nasdaq listing requirements that any business acquired by Waldencast have a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the balance of the funds in the trust account at the time of the execution of a definitive agreement for an initial business combination. Based on the pre-money valuation of $1.2 million for Obagi and Milk compared to the $345.0 million in the Trust Account as of September 30, 2021, the Waldencast board of directors determined that this requirement was met. The board determined that the consideration being paid in the Business Combination, which amount was negotiated at arms-length, were fair to and in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and appropriately reflected Obagi and Milk's value. In reaching this determination, the Waldencast board of directors concluded that it was appropriate to base such valuation in part on qualitative factors such as management strength and depth, competitive positioning, customer relationships, and technical skills, as well as quantitative factors such as its potential for future growth in revenue and profits. Waldencast's board of directors believes that the financial skills and background of its members qualify it to conclude that the acquisition of Obagi and Milk met this requirement.

Interests of Waldencast's Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination

When you consider the recommendation of Waldencast's board of directors in favor of approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal, you should keep in mind that the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and officers have interests in such proposals that are different from, or in addition to, those of Waldencast shareholders and warrant holders generally. As more fully described below, the Sponsor, among other things, (1) will only be able to realize a return on its equity in Waldencast (which may be materially higher than those realized by public Waldencast shareholders and warrant holders) if Waldencast completes a business combination within the required period, and (2) has advanced funds to Waldencast to cover transaction expenses, for which it will only be reimbursed if Waldencast completes a business combination within the required period. Furthermore, certain of Waldencast's officers and directors, and their Affiliates, are entitled to receive distributions of the assets of the Sponsor and therefore will benefit when Waldencast completes a business combination within the required period. More specifically, the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors' and executive officers' interests include, among other things, the interests listed below:

- In January 2021, the Sponsor purchased 7,187,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares for an aggregate purchase price of $0.025 million, or approximately $0.003 per share. In February 2021, the Sponsor transferred 20,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares to each of the Investor Directors, who are our independent directors, resulting in the Sponsor holding 7,107,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares. In March 2021, we effected a share capitalization resulting in the Sponsor holding an aggregate of 8,545,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares. As such, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors collectively own 20% of our issued and outstanding shares.
- The 8,545,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares owned by Sponsor, if valued based on the closing price of $10.00 per public share on the Nasdaq on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, and if unrestricted and freely tradable, would have an aggregate market value of $85.5 million (after giving effect to the conversion of such Waldencast Class B ordinary shares into shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in connection with the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction, including after giving effect to the Domestication). If Waldencast does not consummate a business combination by March 18, 2023 (or during any Extension Period) it would cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeeming all of the outstanding public shares for cash and, subject to the approval of its remaining shareholders and its board of directors, dissolving and liquidating, subject in each case to its obligations under the Cayman Islands Companies Act to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law. In such event, the 8,625,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares owned by the Sponsor and the Investor Directors would be worthless because following the redemption of the public shares, Waldencast would likely have few, if any, net assets and because the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and officers have agreed to waive their respective rights to liquidating distributions from the trust account in respect of any Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast Class B ordinary shares held by it or them, as applicable, if Waldencast fails to complete a business combination within the required period.

- The 80,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares collectively owned by the Investor Directors, if valued based on the closing price of $10.00 per public share on the Nasdaq on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, and if unrestricted and freely tradable, would have an aggregate market value of $0.8 million (after giving effect to the conversion of such Waldencast Class B ordinary shares into shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in connection with the Transactions, including after giving effect to the Domestication). If Waldencast does not consummate a business combination by March 18, 2023 (or during any Extension Period), it would cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeeming all of the outstanding public shares for cash and, subject to the approval of its remaining shareholders and its board of directors, dissolving and liquidating, subject in each case to its obligations under the Cayman Islands Companies Act to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law. In such event, the 80,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares owned by the Investor Directors would be worthless because following the redemption of the public shares, Waldencast would likely have few, if any, net assets and because the Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and officers have agreed to waive their respective rights to liquidating distributions from the trust account in respect of any Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast Class B ordinary shares held by it or them, as applicable, if Waldencast fails to complete a business combination within the required period.
- The Sponsor purchased an aggregate of 5,933,333 private placement warrants from Waldencast simultaneously with the consummation of Waldencast's initial public offering for an aggregate purchase price of $8.9 million, which will automatically convert into 5,933,333 Waldencast plc warrants in connection with the Transactions (including after giving effect to the Domestication). The 5,933,333 private placement warrants, if valued based on the closing price of $0.80 per public warrant on the Nasdaq on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, and if unrestricted and freely tradable, would have an aggregate market value of $4.7 million, but may expire and become worthless if Waldencast fails to complete a business combination by March 18, 2023. As a result of Sponsor's interest in the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares and private placement warrants, Sponsor and its Affiliates have an incentive to complete an initial business combination and may have a conflict of interest in the transaction, including without limitation, in determining whether a particular business is an appropriate business with which to effect Waldencast's initial business combination.
- The Sponsor and Dynamo Master Fund (a member of the Sponsor) initially entered into the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement with us that provides for the purchase of an aggregate of 16,000,000 Waldencast plc Units comprised of 16,000,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and 5,333,333 redeemable warrants, for an aggregate purchase price of $160.0 million, or $10.00 per one Waldencast Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, in a private placement to close substantially concurrently with the Closing. On December 20, 2021, the Sponsor and Burwell Mountain Trust (a member of the Sponsor) entered into an assignment and assumption agreement, pursuant to which the Sponsor assigned, and Burwell Mountain Trust assumed, all of the Sponsor's rights and benefits as purchaser under the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement. Additionally, the Beauty Ventures entered into the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement with us that provides for the purchase of an aggregate of 17,300,000 Waldencast plc Units comprised of 17,300,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and 5,766,666 redeemable warrants, for an aggregate purchase price of $173.0 million, or $10.00 per one Waldencast Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, in a private placement to close substantially concurrently with the Closing. In addition, pursuant to the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement, members of the Sponsor or their Affiliates will begin to receive a twenty percent (20%) performance fee allocation on the return of the forward purchase securities in excess of the hurdle rate, calculated on the total return generated from forward purchase securities (whether by dividend, transfer or increase in value as measured from date of issuance), when the return of such securities (less the expenses of the Beauty Ventures) underlying the Third-Party Forward Purchase Agreement exceeds a hurdle rate of five percent (5%) accrued annually until the fifth anniversary of the issuance of such securities. In the event of a transfer and subsequent sale of any forward purchase securities prior to such fifth anniversary, the performance fee for the period between such transfer and such fifth anniversary will be calculated based on the proceeds generated by such sale.

- In the event that Waldencast fails to consummate a business combination within the prescribed time frame (pursuant to the Cayman Constitutional Documents), or upon the exercise of a redemption right in connection with the Business Combination, Waldencast will be required to provide for payment of claims of creditors that were not waived that may be brought against Waldencast within the ten years following such redemption. In order to protect the amounts held in Waldencast's trust account, the Sponsor has agreed that it will be liable to Waldencast if and to the extent any claims by a third party (other than Waldencast's independent auditors) for services rendered or products sold to Waldencast, or a prospective target business with which Waldencast has discussed entering into a transaction agreement, reduce the amount of funds in the trust account to below (i) $10.00 per public share or (ii) such lesser amount per public share held in the trust account as of the date of the liquidation of the trust account, due to reductions in value of the trust assets, in each case, net of the amount of interest which may be withdrawn to pay taxes, except as to any claims by a third party who executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the trust account and except as to any claims under the indemnity of the underwriters of Waldencast's initial public offering against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act.
- In order to finance transaction costs in connection with a Business Combination, the Sponsor has advanced funds to Waldencast for working capital purposes, including $1.5 million as of February 8, 2022. These outstanding advances have been documented in the Promissory Note issued by Waldencast to the Sponsor, pursuant to which Waldencast may borrow up to $1.5 million from the Sponsor (including those amounts which are currently outstanding). The Promissory Note is non-interest bearing, unsecured and due and payable in full on the earlier of (x) March 18, 2023 and (y) the date Waldencast consummates its initial business combination. If Waldencast does not complete the initial business combination within the required period, Waldencast may use a portion of the working capital held outside the trust account to repay such advances and any other working capital advances made to Waldencast, but no proceeds held in the trust account would be used to repay such advances and any other working capital advances made to Waldencast, and Sponsor may not be able to recover the value it has loaned to Waldencast and any other working capital advances it may make.
- Waldencast's officers and directors, and their Affiliates are entitled to reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses incurred by them in connection with certain activities on Waldencast's behalf, such as identifying and investigating possible business targets and business combinations, as well as repayment of any working capital advances. However, if Waldencast fails to consummate a business combination by March 18, 2023, they will not have any claim against the trust account for reimbursement or repayment. Accordingly, Waldencast may not be able to reimburse such expenses or repay such advances if the Business Combination or another business combination, is not completed by such date. As of December 31, 2021, Waldencast's officers and directors and their affiliates are entitled to approximately $1.5 million in reimbursable out-of-pocket expenses. As of February 8, 2022, there were approximately $0.25 million of unpaid reimbursable expenses or working capital advances outstanding (which includes funds advanced to Waldencast by Sponsor pursuant to the Promissory Note).
- As noted above, the Sponsor purchased 7,187,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares for an aggregate purchase price of $0.025 million, or approximately $0.003 per share (after taking into account the forfeiture by Sponsor of 937,500 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, as a result of the underwriter's exercise of the over-allotment option) and now holds an aggregate of 8,545,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares taking into account the Sponsor's transfer of 80,000 shares to the Investor Directors and our share capitalization. As a result, Sponsor will have a rate of return on its investment which differs from the rate of return of Waldencast shareholders who purchased Waldencast shares at various other prices, including Waldencast shares included in Waldencast units that were sold at $10.00 per unit in Waldencast's initial public offering.

The closing price of Waldencast public shares on February 10, 2022, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, was $10.00. As a result of and upon the effective time of the Domestication, among other things, each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class B ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a share of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. In the event the stock price of the post-combination company falls below the price paid by a Waldencast shareholder at the time of purchase of the Waldencast shares by such shareholder, a situation may arise in which Sponsor maintains a positive rate of return while such Waldencast shareholder does not.

- The Sponsor (including its representatives and Affiliates) and Waldencast’s directors and officers may in the future become, affiliated with entities that are engaged in a similar business to Waldencast. The Sponsor and Waldencast’s directors and officers are not prohibited from sponsoring, investing or otherwise becoming involved with, any other blank check companies prior to Waldencast completing its initial business combination. Waldencast’s directors and officers also may become aware of business opportunities that may be appropriate for presentation to Waldencast, and the other entities to which they owe certain fiduciary or contractual duties. Accordingly, they may have had conflicts of interest in determining to which entity a particular business opportunity should be presented. These conflicts may not be resolved in Waldencast’s favor and such potential business opportunities may be presented to other entities prior to their presentation to Waldencast, subject to applicable fiduciary duties under Cayman Islands Companies Act. Waldencast’s Cayman Constitutional Documents provide that Waldencast renounces any interest or expectancy in, or in being offered an opportunity to participate in, any potential transaction or matter that may be a corporate opportunity for Waldencast, on the one hand, and one of its officers or directors, on the other, or that may be a corporate opportunity for both Waldencast and one of its officers or directors. Waldencast does not believe, however, that the fiduciary duties or contractual obligations of its officers or directors or waiver of corporate opportunity materially affected its search for an acquisition target or will materially impact its ability to complete the Business Combination. While certain of Waldencast’s directors and officers (Michel Brousset, Hind Sebti and Tassilo Festetics) serve as officers or directors of Waldencast Ventures, no opportunity was presented to Waldencast that was also presented to Waldencast Ventures or any Affiliate of Waldencast and no opportunity that would have been appropriate for presentation to Waldencast was also presented to Waldencast Ventures. There have been no new investments by Waldencast Ventures since Waldencast’s initial public offering. Waldencast’s board of directors has implemented guidelines, pursuant to which, unless and until Waldencast and Waldencast Ventures merge or otherwise become affiliated entities, Mr. Brousset and Mr. Festetics will spend on average at least 90% and Ms. Sebti at least 80% of their monthly average working time providing services to Waldencast, and such directors and officers will not be separately compensated by Waldencast Ventures, other than their equity interests in Waldencast Ventures already in place.
- Waldencast’s existing directors and officers will be eligible for continued indemnification and continued coverage under Waldencast’s directors’ and officers’ liability insurance after the Transactions and pursuant to the Transaction Agreements.
- Pursuant to the Registration Rights Agreement, the Sponsor and the holders of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, private placement warrants and any warrants that may be issued on conversion of working capital loans will have customary registration rights, including demand and piggy-back rights, subject to cooperation and cut-back provisions with respect to the shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and warrants held by such parties following the consummation of the Business Combination.
- Following the consummation of the Business Combination, certain of Waldencast’s directors and executive officers will continue to serve as directors or executive officers (as applicable) of Waldencast plc. Waldencast intends to enter into employment agreements with certain of its executive officers who will serve as executive officers of Waldencast plc. The material features of any such executive employment agreements or the non-employee director compensation policy have not yet been determined. See the section entitled “Management of Waldencast plc Following the Business Combination — Executive Officers” for a further discussion of the Waldencast plc Board and the executive officers of Waldencast plc.
- Waldencast Ventures and Burwell Mountain Trust, controlled by certain of our directors (Michel Brousset and Felipe Dutra, respectively), and Dynamo Master Fund, are members of the Sponsor. Each of Michel Brousset, Felipe Dutra and Dynamo Master Fund disclaims any beneficial ownership of the Waldencast shares held by the Sponsor.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how our public shareholders vote. Unlike some other blank check companies in which the initial shareholders agree to vote their shares in accordance with the majority of the votes cast by the public shareholders in connection with an initial business combination, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of the Transaction Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, in each case, subject to the terms and conditions contemplated by the Obagi Sponsor Support Agreement and the Milk Sponsor Support Agreement, and waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any ordinary shares held by them. The ordinary shares held by the Sponsor will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors own 20% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares.

At any time at or prior to the Business Combination, subject to applicable securities laws (including with respect to material nonpublic information), the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors or respective Affiliates may (i) purchase public shares from institutional and other investors who vote, or indicate an intention to vote, against any of the Condition Precedent Proposals, or elect to redeem, or indicate an intention to redeem, public shares, (ii) execute agreements to purchase such shares from such investors in the future, or (iii) enter into transactions with such investors and others to provide them with incentives to acquire public shares, vote their public shares in favor of the Condition Precedent Proposals or not redeem their public shares. Such a purchase may include a contractual acknowledgement that such shareholder, although still the record holder of Waldencast's shares, is no longer the beneficial owner thereof and therefore agrees not to exercise its redemption rights. In the event that the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors, or respective affiliates purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions from public shareholders who have already elected to exercise their redemption rights, such selling shareholders would be required to revoke their prior elections to redeem their shares. The purpose of such share purchases and other transactions would be to increase the likelihood of (1) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, Organizational Documents Proposals B and C, the Stock Issuance Proposal, the Milk Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal, (2) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Director Election Proposal, (3) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Domestication Proposal and each of Organizational Documents Proposals A and D, (4) satisfaction of the Minimum Cash Condition, (5) otherwise limiting the number of public shares electing to redeem and (6) Waldencast's net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) being at least $5,000,001.

Entering into any such arrangements may have a depressive effect on the ordinary shares (e.g., by giving an investor or holder the ability to effectively purchase shares at a price lower than market, such investor or holder may therefore become more likely to sell the shares he or she owns, either at or prior to the Business Combination). If such transactions are effected, the consequence could be to cause the Business Combination to be consummated in circumstances where such consummation could not otherwise occur. Purchases of shares by the persons described above would allow them to exert more influence over the approval of the proposals to be presented at the extraordinary general meeting and would likely increase the chances that such proposals would be approved. Waldencast will file or submit a Current Report on Form 6-K to disclose any material arrangements entered into or significant purchases made by any of the aforementioned persons that would affect the vote on the proposals to be put to the extraordinary general meeting or the redemption threshold. Any such report will include descriptions of any arrangements entered into or significant purchases by any of the aforementioned persons.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast's directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast's officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder.

Expected Accounting Treatment of the Business Combination

The Business Combination is expected to be accounted using the acquisition method of accounting under the provisions of ASC Topic 805, Business Combinations on the basis of Waldencast as the accounting acquirer and Obagi and Milk as the accounting acquirees. The ultimate determination of the accounting acquirer is a qualitative and quantitative assessment that requires careful consideration, of which the final determination will occur after the consummation of the Business Combination.

Regulatory Matters

None of Waldencast, Obagi or Milk are aware of any material regulatory approvals or actions that are required for completion of the Business Combination other than the expiration or early termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act. It is presently contemplated that if any such additional regulatory approvals or actions are required, those approvals or actions will be sought. There can be no assurance, however, that any additional approvals or actions will be obtained.

HSR Act

Under the HSR Act, certain transactions may not be consummated unless information has been furnished to the Antitrust Division and the Federal Trade Commission and certain waiting period requirements have been satisfied. The Business Combination is subject to these requirements and may not be completed until the expiration of the waiting periods for each of the Obagi Merger and Milk transactions following the filings of the required Notification and Report Forms with the Antitrust Division and the FTC. On November 30, 2021, Waldencast, Obagi and Milk filed the required forms under the HSR Act with respect to the Business Combination with the Antitrust Division and the FTC and requested early termination of the waiting period. The waiting periods for the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction will expire on December 30, 2021, unless shortened by a grant of early termination or extended by a formal request for additional information or documentary material.

At any time before or after consummation of the Business Combination, notwithstanding termination of the respective waiting periods under the HSR Act, the Antitrust Division or the FTC, or any state or foreign Governmental Authority could take such action under applicable antitrust laws as such authority deems necessary or desirable, including seeking to enjoin the consummation of the Business Combination, conditionally approving the Business Combination upon divestiture of assets, subjecting the completion of the Business Combination to regulatory conditions or seeking other remedies. Private parties may also seek to take legal action under the antitrust laws under certain circumstances. Waldencast cannot assure you that the Antitrust Division, the FTC, any state attorney general or any other Governmental Authority will not attempt to challenge the Business Combination on antitrust grounds, and, if such a challenge is made, Waldencast cannot assure you as to its result.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the BCA Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

The Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal are conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. Therefore, if each of the Condition Precedent Approvals is not approved, the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

“RESOLVED, as an ordinary resolution, that Waldencast’s entry into the Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of November 15, 2021, by and among Waldencast, Obagi Merger Sub, Inc., a Cayman Islands exempted company limited by shares and an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Waldencast (“Merger Sub”), and Obagi Global Holdings Limited, a Cayman Islands exempted company limited by shares (“Obagi”), a copy of which is attached to the proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A (as may be amended from time to time, the “Obagi Merger Agreement”), pursuant to which, among other things, following the Domestication of Waldencast to Jersey as described below, the merger of Merger Sub with and into Obagi (the “Obagi Merger”), with Obagi surviving the Obagi Merger as a wholly owned subsidiary of Obagi Holdco 2 Limited, in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Obagi Merger Agreement, and the transactions contemplated by the Obagi Merger Agreement, be approved, ratified and confirmed in all respects.

RESOLVED, as an ordinary resolution, that Waldencast’s entry into the Equity Purchase Agreement, dated as of November 15, 2021, by and among Waldencast, Obagi Holdco 1 Limited, a limited company incorporated under the laws of Jersey (“Holdco Purchaser”), Waldencast Partners LP, a Cayman Islands exempted limited partnership (“Waldencast LP” and together with Holdco Purchaser, the “Milk Purchasers”), Milk Makeup LLC (“Milk”), certain members of Milk (“Milk Members”), and Shareholder Representative Services LLC, a Colorado limited liability company, solely in its capacity as representative of Milk’s equityholders (“Equityholder Representative”), a copy of which is attached to the proxy statement/prospectus as Annex B (as may be amended from time to time, the “Milk Equity Purchase Agreement”), pursuant to which, among other things, following the Domestication of Waldencast to Jersey as described below, the Milk Purchasers shall acquire from the Milk Members, and the Milk Members shall sell to the Milk Purchasers, all of the issued and outstanding Milk Membership Units representing 100% of the issued and outstanding membership interests of Milk in exchange for the Milk Cash Consideration, the Milk Equity Consideration and the Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares, and the transactions contemplated by the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, be approved, ratified and confirmed in all respects.”

Recommendation of Waldencast’s Board of Directors

THE WALDENCAST BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT THE WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE APPROVAL OF THE OBAGI MERGER PROPOSAL AND THE MILK TRANSACTION PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for a further discussion of these considerations.

DOMESTICATION PROPOSAL

Overview

If the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal are approved, then Waldencast is asking its shareholders to approve the Domestication Proposal. Under the Transaction Agreements, the approval of the Domestication Proposal is also a condition to the consummation of the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction, respectively. If, however, the Domestication Proposal is approved, but the Obagi Merger Proposal or the Milk Transaction Proposal is not approved, then none of the Domestication, the Obagi Merger or the Milk Transaction will be consummated.

As a condition to Closing the Business Combination pursuant to the terms of the Transaction Agreements, the board of directors of Waldencast has unanimously approved a change of Waldencast's jurisdiction of incorporation by deregistering as an exempted company in the Cayman Islands and continuing and domesticating as a company incorporated under the laws of Jersey. In accordance with Waldencast's Plan of Domestication (included as an exhibit to the Registration Statement), to effect the Domestication, Waldencast will file a notice of deregistration with the Cayman Islands Registrar of Companies, together with the necessary accompanying documents, and file the Proposed Constitutional Document, together with the necessary accompanying documents, with the Registrar of Companies in Jersey under the Jersey Companies Law, under which Waldencast will be domesticated and continue as a Jersey company.

As a result of and upon the effective time of the Domestication, (1) each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class A ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a share of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (2) each of the then issued and outstanding Waldencast Class B ordinary shares will convert automatically, on a one-for-one basis, into a share of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, (3) each then issued and outstanding warrant of Waldencast will convert automatically into a Waldencast plc warrant, pursuant to the Warrant Agreement and (4) each then issued and outstanding Waldencast unit will be cancelled and will entitle the holder thereof to one share of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and one-third of one Waldencast plc warrant.

The Domestication Proposal, if approved, will approve a change of Waldencast's jurisdiction of incorporation from the Cayman Islands to Jersey. Accordingly, while Waldencast is currently governed by the Cayman Islands Companies Act, upon the Domestication, Waldencast plc will be governed by the Jersey Companies Law. Additionally, we note that if the Domestication Proposal is approved, then Waldencast will also ask its shareholders to approve the Organizational Documents Proposals (as discussed below), which, if approved, will replace Waldencast's current memorandum and articles of association under the Cayman Islands Companies Act with a new memorandum and articles of association under the Jersey Companies Law. The Proposed Constitutional Document differs in certain material respects from the Cayman Constitutional Documents and we encourage shareholders to carefully consult the information set out below under "Organizational Documents Proposals," the Cayman Constitutional Documents of Waldencast, attached hereto as Annex G and the Proposed Constitutional Document of Waldencast plc, attached hereto as Annex H.

Reasons for the Domestication

Our board of directors believes that there are significant advantages to us that will arise as a result of a change of our domicile to Jersey. Furthermore, our board of directors believes that any direct benefit that the Jersey Companies Law provides to a company also indirectly benefits its stockholders, who are the owners of the company.

The board of directors of Waldencast believes that there are several reasons why a continuance into Jersey is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders. Jersey Companies Law:

- is founded on the same underlying principles as English company law and, therefore, Jersey companies are very familiar to investors and counterparties who regularly deal with English companies
- applies a flexible capital maintenance regime focused on cashflow-based solvency requirements for a variety of corporate actions (see below);
- preserves creditor protection in relation to distributions (dividend etc.) the making of which is not dependent on any sort of distributable profits/distributable reserves concept, but is instead based on a requirement for the directors who authorize the distribution to make a 12-month, forward-looking, cashflow-based solvency statement in a statutorily prescribed form;
- provides that share capital can be denominated in any currency, which need not be the company's functional currency for the preparation of accounts;

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- does not impose any restrictions on financial assistance in connection with the acquisition of shares in the relevant company or on the ability of a Jersey company to pay commissions or give discounts in connection with the issue of its shares;
- enables tailored or bespoke share rights to be incorporated into the articles of association (constitutive document) of a Jersey company to reflect the respective rights of shareholders;
- contains the ability to have different thresholds for different types of special resolution, meaning the threshold to amend certain provisions of the articles may be different;
- incorporates a creditor friendly regime for creating security over Jersey lex situs assets of Jersey companies which is considered modern and fit for purpose for a wide range of global credit arrangements;
- facilitates direct electronic trading of certificated shares on certain designated markets, which means that Jersey companies may be eligible for direct registration and electronic trading on a wide range of markets;
- permits what would be referred to in many civil law jurisdictions as ‘capital contributions’, where contributions from shareholders can be credited to capital (share premium) without issuing shares; and
- allows Jersey companies to domesticate or migrate (that is, change jurisdiction of incorporation/corporate seat without breaking corporate existence) to another jurisdiction that permits the same and also allows for the tax residence of the company (via changes made to the location of board meetings and the place of central management of control) to change to reflect the needs of the business of the company.

Expected Accounting Treatment of the Domestication

There will be no accounting effect or change in the carrying amount of the consolidated assets and liabilities of Waldencast as a result of the Domestication. The business, capitalization, assets and liabilities and financial statements of Waldencast plc immediately following the Domestication will be the same as those of Waldencast immediately prior to the Domestication.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the Domestication Proposal requires a special resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Island Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

The Domestication Proposal is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. Therefore, if each of the Condition Precedent Approvals is not approved, the Domestication Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

“RESOLVED, as a special resolution, that Waldencast be de-registered in the Cayman Islands pursuant to section 206 of the Companies Act and Article 47 of the Amended and Restated Articles of Association of Waldencast (as amended) and be registered as a company in Jersey by way of continuation under Part 18C of the Jersey Companies Law.”

Recommendation of the Waldencast Board of Directors

THE WALDENCAST BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE APPROVAL OF THE DOMESTICATION PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for further discussion of these considerations.

ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS PROPOSALS

If the Domestication Proposal is approved and the Business Combination is to be consummated, Waldencast will replace the current amended and restated memorandum of association of Waldencast under the Cayman Islands Companies Act and the current amended and restated articles of association of Waldencast (as may be amended from time to time), in each case, under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, with the Proposed Constitutional Document, a proposed new amended and restated memorandum of association and articles of association of Waldencast plc, in each case, under Jersey Companies Law.

Waldencast’s shareholders are asked to consider and vote upon and to approve four Organizational Documents Proposals, by special resolution in the case of Organizational Documents Proposals A and D and by ordinary resolution in the case of Organizational Documents Proposals B and C in connection with the replacement of the Cayman Constitutional Documents with the Proposed Constitutional Document. The Organizational Documents Proposals are conditioned on the approval of the Domestication Proposal, and, therefore, also conditioned on approval of the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal. Therefore, if the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the Domestication Proposal are not approved, the Organizational Documents Proposals will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

The Proposed Constitutional Document differs materially from the Cayman Constitutional Documents. The following table sets forth a summary of the principal changes proposed between the Existing Memorandum and the Existing Articles and the Proposed Constitutional Document for Waldencast plc. This summary is qualified by reference to the complete text of the Cayman Constitutional Documents of Waldencast, attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex G and the complete text of the Proposed Constitutional Document, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex H. All shareholders are encouraged to read the Proposed Constitutional Document in its entirety for a more complete description of its terms.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

“RESOLVED, as a special resolution, subject to and with effect from the deregistration of Waldencast in the Cayman Islands and the registration of Waldencast plc in Jersey by way of continuation, that the Cayman Constitutional Documents currently in effect be amended and restated by the deletion in their entirety and the substitution in their place of the Proposed Constitutional Document (a copy of which is attached to the proxy statement/prospectus as Annex H), with such principal changes as described in Organizational Documents Proposals A-D.”

ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS PROPOSAL A — APPROVAL OF AUTHORIZATION OF CHANGE TO AUTHORIZED SHARE CAPITAL, AS SET FORTH IN THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL DOCUMENT

shares and 5,000,000 preferred shares to (ii) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares and shares of Waldencast plc preferred stock.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, there are (i) 34,500,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares issued and outstanding and (ii) 8,625,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares issued and outstanding and (iii) no Waldencast preferred shares issued and outstanding. In addition, as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, there is an aggregate of (x) 11,500,000 public warrants and 5,933,333 private placement warrants of Waldencast, in each case, issued and outstanding. Subject to the terms and conditions of the Warrant Agreement, the Waldencast warrants will be exercisable after giving effect to the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction for one share of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares at an exercise price of $11.50 per share. No Waldencast warrants are exercisable until the later of (1) 30 days after the Closing and (2) March 18, 2022.

Pursuant to the Transaction Agreements, Waldencast plc will issue or, as applicable, reserve for issuance in respect of the Milk Warrants, the Milk Awards, the Obagi Options and the Obagi RSUs outstanding as of immediately prior to the Milk Transaction Effective Time and the Obagi Merger Effective Time, as applicable, that will be converted into awards of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, an aggregate of 10,686,217 shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to holders of Milk Warrants, Milk Awards, Obagi Options and Obagi RSUs, as applicable (which assumes that all Milk Warrants, Milk Awards, Obagi Options and Obagi RSUs are net-settled immediately prior to Closing), and pursuant to the PIPE Investment, Waldencast plc will issue 10,500,000 shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors. Pursuant to the Forward Purchase Agreements, Waldencast plc will issue 16,000,000 of Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, who agreed to subscribe for an aggregate of 33,300,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and 11,100,000 Waldencast redeemable warrants for an aggregate purchase price of $160.0 million, or $10.00 per one Waldencast Class A ordinary share and one-third of one Waldencast redeemable warrant.

In order to ensure that Waldencast plc has sufficient authorized capital for future issuances, Waldencast's board of directors has approved, subject to shareholder approval, that the Proposed Constitutional Document of Waldencast plc change the authorized share capital of Waldencast from (i) 500,000,000 Waldencast Class A ordinary shares, 50,000,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares and 5,000,000 Waldencast preferred shares to (ii) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares and shares of Waldencast plc preferred stock.

This summary is qualified by reference to the complete text of the Proposed Constitutional Document of Waldencast, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex H. All shareholders are encouraged to read the Proposed Constitutional Document in its entirety for a more complete description of its terms.

Reasons for the Amendments

The principal purpose of this proposal is to provide for an authorized capital structure of Waldencast plc that will enable it to continue as an operating company governed by Jersey Companies Law. Our board of directors believes that it is important for us to have available for issuance a number of authorized shares of common stock and preferred stock sufficient to support our growth and to provide flexibility for future corporate needs.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of Organizational Documents Proposal A requires a special resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

Organizational Documents Proposal A is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. Therefore, if each of the Condition Precedent Approvals is not approved, the Organizational Documents Proposal A will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

“RESOLVED, as a special resolution, subject to and with effect from the deregistration of Waldencast in the Cayman Islands and the registration of Waldencast plc in Jersey by way of continuation, that the change in the authorized share capital of the Company from (i) 500,000,000 Class A ordinary shares, 50,000,000 Class B ordinary shares and 5,000,000 preferred shares, par value $0.0001 per share, to (ii) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares and shares of Waldencast plc preferred stock be approved.”

THE WALDENCAST BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE APPROVAL OF THE ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS PROPOSAL A.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for further discussion of these considerations.

ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS PROPOSAL B — APPROVAL OF PROPOSAL REGARDING ESTABLISHMENT OF A CLASSIFIED BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Overview

Organizational Documents Proposal B — to provide that the Waldencast plc Board be divided into three classes, with each class made up of, as nearly as may be possible, one-third of the total number of directors constituting the entire Board, with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class serving a three-year term.

Assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the Domestication Proposal are approved, our shareholders are also being asked to approve Organizational Documents Proposal B, which is, in the judgment of our board of directors, necessary to adequately address the needs of Waldencast plc after the Business Combination.

If Organizational Documents Proposal B is approved, the Waldencast plc Board will become a classified board. The term of office of the Class I directors will expire at the first annual meeting of stockholders following the initial classification of the board of directors and Class I directors will be elected for a full term of three years. At the second annual meeting of stockholders following such initial classification, the term of office of the Class II directors will expire and Class II directors will be elected for a full term of three years. At the third annual meeting of stockholders following such initial classification, the term of office of the Class III directors will expire and Class III directors will be elected for a full term of three years. At each succeeding annual meeting of stockholders, directors will be elected for a full term of three years to succeed the directors of the class whose terms expire at such annual meeting.

Subject to any limitations imposed by applicable law and any agreement of Waldencast plc and other parties to nominate director candidates for election or appointment to the Waldencast plc Board (including pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement) any vacancy occurring on the Waldencast plc Board, for any reason, and any newly created directorship resulting from any increase in the authorized number of directors, will, unless (a) the Waldencast plc Board determines by resolution that any such vacancies or newly created directorships shall be filled by the stockholders or (b) as otherwise provided by law, be filled only by the affirmative vote of a majority of the directors then in office, even if less than a quorum, or by a sole remaining director, and not by the stockholders.

This summary is qualified by reference to the complete text of the Proposed Constitutional Document of Waldencast plc, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex H. All stockholders are encouraged to read the Proposed Constitutional Document in its entirety for a more complete description of its terms.

Reasons for the Amendments

Our board of directors believes that a classified board of directors is in the best interest of Waldencast plc because it is designed to assure the continuity and stability of Waldencast plc's leadership and policies by ensuring that at any given time a majority of the directors will have prior experience with Waldencast plc and, therefore, will be familiar with our business and operations. Our board of directors also believes that this classification will assist Waldencast plc in protecting the interests of our shareholders in the event of an unsolicited offer for Waldencast plc by encouraging any potential acquirer to negotiate directly with the Waldencast plc Board.

This proposal may increase the amount of time required for a takeover bidder to obtain control of Waldencast plc without the cooperation of the Waldencast board of directors, even if the takeover bidder were to acquire a majority of the voting power of Waldencast plc's outstanding voting shares. Without the ability to obtain immediate control of the Waldencast plc Board, a takeover bidder will not be able to take action to remove other impediments to its acquisition of Waldencast plc. Thus, this amendment could discourage certain takeover attempts, perhaps including some takeovers that shareholders may feel would be in their best interests. Further, this amendment will make it more difficult for shareholders to change the majority composition of the Waldencast plc Board, even if the shareholders believe such a change would be desirable. Because of the additional time required to change the control of the Waldencast plc Board, this amendment could be viewed as tending to perpetuate present management.

Although this proposal could make it more difficult for a hostile bidder to acquire control over Waldencast plc, our board of directors believes that by forcing potential bidders to negotiate with the Waldencast plc Board for a change of control transaction, the Waldencast plc Board will be better able to maximize shareholder value in any change of control transaction.

Our board of directors is not aware of any present or threatened third-party plans to gain control of Waldencast plc, and this proposal is not being recommended in response to any such plan or threat. Rather, our board of directors is recommending this proposal as part of its review of Waldencast plc's key governance mechanisms in connection with the Business Combination and to assist in assuring fair and equitable treatment for all of Waldencast plc's shareholder in hostile takeover situations. The Waldencast board of directors has no present intention of soliciting a shareholder vote on any other proposals relating to a possible takeover of Waldencast plc.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of Organizational Documents Proposal B requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

Organizational Documents Proposal B is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. Therefore, if each of the Condition Precedent Approvals is not approved, the Organizational Documents Proposal B will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

"RESOLVED, as an ordinary resolution, subject to and with effect from the deregistration of Waldencast in the Cayman Islands and the registration of Waldencast plc in Jersey by way of continuation, that the Waldencast plc Board be divided into three classes, with each class made up of, as nearly as may be possible, one-third of the total number of directors constituting the entire Board, with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class serving a three-year term.

THE WALDENCAST BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDERS VOTE "FOR" THE APPROVAL OF THE ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS PROPOSAL B.

Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast's officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast's Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination" for further discussion of these considerations.

ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS PROPOSAL C — APPROVAL OF PROPOSAL REGARDING CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL DOCUMENT BEING SUBJECT TO THE INVESTOR RIGHTS AGREEMENT

Overview

Organizational Documents Proposal C — to provide that certain provisions of the Proposed Constitutional Document will be subject to the Investor Rights Agreement, including provisions governing the appointment, removal and replacement of directors, with respect to which Cedarwalk will have certain rights pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement.

Assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the Domestication Proposal are approved, our shareholders are also being asked to approve Organizational Documents Proposal C, which is, in the judgment of our board of directors, necessary to adequately address the needs of Waldencast plc after the Business Combination.

Pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement, among other things, subject to Cedarwalk's continued satisfaction of certain ownership thresholds with respect to the voting securities of Waldencast plc, Cedarwalk will be granted certain rights for election to the Waldencast plc Board and under certain circumstances thereby, Cedarwalk will have the right to name a replacement director, in each case, in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions contemplated by Investor Rights Agreement. From and after the Closing, the Investor Rights Agreement contemplates that the Waldencast plc Board will consist of nine directors.

This summary is qualified by reference to the complete text of the Proposed Constitutional Document of Waldencast plc, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex H. All stockholders are encouraged to read the Proposed Constitutional Document in its entirety for a more complete description of its terms.

Reasons for the Amendments

These provisions are intended to ensure that the terms of the Proposed Constitutional Document do not conflict with the rights granted under the Investor Rights Agreement. For additional information on the Investor Rights Agreement, see the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger — Investor Rights Agreement."

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of Organizational Documents Proposal C requires an ordinary resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

Organizational Documents Proposal C is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. Therefore, if each of the Condition Precedent Approvals is not approved, the Organizational Documents Proposal C will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

"RESOLVED, as an ordinary resolution, that certain provisions of the Proposed Constitutional Document will be subject to the proposed new investor rights agreement ("Proposed Investor Rights Agreement") of Waldencast, including provisions governing the appointment, removal and replacement of directors, with respect to which Cedarwalk will have certain rights pursuant to the Investor Rights Agreement, be approved, ratified and confirmed in all respects."

Recommendation of the Waldencast Board of Directors

THE WALDENCAST BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE APPROVAL OF THE ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS PROPOSAL C.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for further discussion of these considerations.

ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS PROPOSAL D — APPROVAL OF OTHER CHANGES IN CONNECTION WITH ADOPTION OF THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL DOCUMENT

Overview

Organizational Documents Proposal D — to authorize all other changes in connection with the replacement of Cayman Constitutional Documents with the Proposed Constitutional Document in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination (a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex H), including (1) changing the corporate name from “Waldencast Acquisition Corp.” to “Waldencast plc,” (2) making Waldencast plc’s existence for an unlimited duration, and (3) removing certain provisions related to Waldencast plc’s status as a blank check company that will no longer be applicable upon consummation of the Business Combination, all of which Waldencast’s board of directors believes is necessary to adequately address the needs of Waldencast plc after the Business Combination.

Assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal and the Domestication Proposal are approved, our shareholders are also being asked to approve Organizational Documents Proposal D, which is, in the judgment of our board of directors, necessary to adequately address the needs of Waldencast plc after the Business Combination.

The Proposed Constitutional Document will not contain provisions related to a blank check company (including those related to operation of the trust account, winding up of Waldencast plc’s operations should Waldencast plc not complete a business combination by a specified date, and other such blank check-specific provisions as are present in the Cayman Constitutional Documents) because following the consummation of the Obagi Merger and Milk Transaction, Waldencast plc will not be a blank check company.

Approval of each of the Organizational Documents Proposals, assuming approval of each of the other Condition Precedent Proposals, will result, upon the Domestication, in the wholesale replacement of the Cayman Constitutional Documents with Waldencast plc’s Proposed Constitutional Document. While certain material changes between the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Proposed Constitutional Document have been unbundled into distinct organizational documents proposals or otherwise identified in this Organizational Documents Proposal D, there are other differences between the Cayman Constitutional Documents and Proposed Constitutional Document (arising from, among other things, differences between the Cayman Islands Companies Act and Jersey Companies Law and the typical form of organizational documents under each such body of law) that will be approved (subject to the approval of the aforementioned related proposals and consummation of the Business Combination) if our shareholders approve this Organizational Documents Proposal D.

Reasons for the Amendments

Corporate Name

Our board of directors believes that changing the post-business combination corporate name from “Waldencast Acquisition Corp.” to “Waldencast plc” is desirable to reflect the Business Combination and to clearly identify Waldencast plc as the publicly traded entity.

Existence of Unlimited Duration

Our board of directors believes that making Waldencast plc's corporate existence perpetual is desirable to reflect the Business Combination. Additionally, perpetual existence is the usual period of existence for public corporations, and our board of directors believes that it is the most appropriate period for Waldencast plc following the Business Combination.

Provisions Related to Status as Blank Check Company

The elimination of certain provisions related to Waldencast's status as a blank check company is desirable because these provisions will serve no purpose following the Business Combination. For example, the Proposed Constitutional Document does not include the requirement to dissolve Waldencast plc and allows it to continue as a corporate entity with perpetual existence following consummation of the Business Combination. Perpetual existence is the usual period of existence for public corporations, and Waldencast's board of directors believes it is the most appropriate period for Waldencast plc following the Business Combination. In addition, certain other provisions in Waldencast's current certificate require that proceeds from Waldencast's initial public offering be held in the trust account until a business combination or liquidation of Waldencast has occurred. These provisions cease to apply once the Business Combination is consummated and are therefore not included in the Proposed Constitutional Document.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of Organizational Documents Proposal D requires a special resolution under the Cayman Constitutional Documents and the Cayman Islands Companies Act, being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

Organizational Documents Proposal D is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. Therefore, if each of the Condition Precedent Approvals is not approved, the Organizational Documents Proposal D will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

"RESOLVED, as a special resolution, subject to and with effect from the deregistration of Waldencast in the Cayman Islands and the registration of Waldencast plc in Jersey by way of continuation, that the amendment and restatement of the Cayman Constitutional Documents by their deletion in their entirety and the substitution in their place of the Proposed Constitutional Document, including all other changes to the Cayman Constitutional Documents as set out in the Proposed Constitutional Document, in addition to such principal changes as described in Organizational Documents Proposals A-C, including (1) changing the corporate name from "Waldencast Acquisition Corp." to "Waldencast plc", (2) making Waldencast plc's existence for an unlimited duration and (3) removing certain provisions related to Waldencast plc's status as a blank check company that will no longer be applicable upon consummation of the Business Combination, be approved."

THE WALDENCAST BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDERS VOTE "FOR" THE APPROVAL OF THE ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS PROPOSAL D.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast's directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast's officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast's Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination" for further discussion of these considerations.

DIRECTOR ELECTION PROPOSAL

Overview

The Director Election Proposal — to consider and vote upon a proposal, assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal and each of the Organizational Documents Proposals are approved, to elect nine directors who, upon consummation of the Business Combination, will be the directors of Waldencast plc (“Director Election Proposal”).

Assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal and each of the Organizational Documents Proposals are approved, Waldencast’s shareholders are also being asked to approve, by ordinary resolution, the Director Election Proposal.

Nominees

As contemplated by the Transaction Agreements, the Waldencast plc Board following consummation of the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction will consist of up to nine directors, which shall initially include:

- (i) one director nominee to be designated by Cedarwalk, in its sole discretion, prior to the Closing, and will thereafter be designated, nominated and elected as contemplated by the Proposed Constitutional Document; and
- (ii) up to eight director nominees to be designated by Waldencast, in its sole discretion, prior to the Closing, one of whom will be an ordinary resident in Jersey, Channel Islands, and will thereafter be designated, nominated and elected as contemplated by the Proposed Constitutional Document.

Accordingly, our board of directors has nominated each of Michel Brousset, Felipe Dutra, Sarah Brown, Juliette Hickman, Lindsay Pattison, Cristiano Souza, Zack Werner, Simon Dai and Aaron Chatterley to serve as our directors upon the consummation of the Business Combination, in each case, in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Proposed Constitutional Document. For more information on the experience of each of these director nominees, please see the section entitled “Management of Waldencast plc Following the Business Combination” of this proxy statement/prospectus.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the Director Election Proposal requires an ordinary resolution of the holders of Waldencast Class B ordinary shares under the Cayman Islands Constitutional Documents, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Under the terms of the Cayman Constitutional Documents, only the holders of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, are entitled to vote on the election of directors to our board of directors. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

The Director Election Proposal is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. Therefore, if each of the Condition Precedent Approvals is not approved, the Director Election Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

THE WALDENCAST BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDERS HOLDING WALDENCAST CLASS B ORDINARY SHARES VOTE “FOR” THE APPROVAL OF THE DIRECTOR ELECTION PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for further discussion of these considerations.

STOCK ISSUANCE PROPOSAL

Overview

The Stock Issuance Proposal — to consider and vote upon a proposal to approve by ordinary resolution, assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, each of the Organizational Documents Proposals and the Director Election Proposal are approved, for the purposes of complying with the applicable provisions of Rule 5635(a) of The Nasdaq Stock Market Listing Rules, the issuance, or reservation for future issuance, of (a) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to the PIPE Investors, pursuant to the PIPE Investment, and the Obagi Shareholders pursuant to the Obagi Merger Agreement and (b) Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers, pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction (with all of the foregoing capitalized terms defined herein).

Assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, each of the Organizational Documents Proposals and the Director Election Proposal are approved, Waldencast’s shareholders are also being asked to approve, by ordinary resolution, the Stock Issuance Proposal.

Reasons for the Approval for Purposes of Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635

Under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(a)(1), shareholder approval is required prior to the present or potential issuance of common stock or of securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock, in connection with the acquisition of the stock of another company if the common stock is not issued in a public offering for cash and (1) the common stock has, or will have upon issuance, voting power equal to or in excess of 20% of the voting power outstanding before the issuance of the common stock (or securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock) or (2) the number of shares of common stock to be issued is or will be equal to or in excess of 20% of the number of shares of common stock outstanding before the issuance of the stock or securities. Additionally, under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(b), shareholder approval is required prior to the issuance of securities when the issuance or potential issuance will result in a change of control of the registrant. Although Nasdaq has not adopted any rule on what constitutes a “change of control” for purposes of Rule 5635(b), Nasdaq has previously indicated that the acquisition of, or right to acquire, by a single investor or affiliated investor group, as little as 20% of the common stock (or securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock) or voting power of an issuer could constitute a change of control.

Under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(d), shareholder approval is required for a transaction other than a public offering, involving the sale, issuance or potential issuance by an issuer of common stock (or securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock) at a price that is less than the lesser of the official Nasdaq closing price immediately before signing of the binding agreement and the average official Nasdaq closing price for the five trading days immediately preceding the signing of the binding agreement of the stock if the number of shares of common stock to be issued is or may be equal to 20% or more of the common stock, or 20% or more of the voting power, outstanding before the issuance. If the Business Combination is completed pursuant to the Obagi Merger Agreement, Waldencast currently expects to issue an estimated 34,500,000 shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (assuming that none of Waldencast’s outstanding public shares are redeemed) in connection with the Business Combination and 33,300,000 Waldencast plc Units to the Forward Purchasers pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction. For further details, see the section entitled “Obagi Merger Proposal — The Obagi Merger Agreement — Consideration — Aggregate Obagi Merger Consideration.”

Additionally, pursuant to Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(a)(2), when a Nasdaq-listed company proposes to issue securities in connection with the acquisition of the stock or assets of another company, shareholder approval is required if any director, officer or substantial shareholder of the Nasdaq-listed company has a 5% or greater interest, directly or indirectly, in such company or the assets to be acquired or in the consideration to be paid in the transaction or series of related transactions and the present or potential issuance of common stock (or securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock) could result in an increase in outstanding shares of common stock or voting power of 5% or more. Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(e)(3) defines a substantial stockholder as the holder of an interest of 5% or more of either the number of shares of common stock or the voting power outstanding of a Nasdaq-listed company. Because the Sponsor currently owns greater than 5% of Waldencast’s ordinary shares, Waldencast is considered a substantial shareholder of Waldencast under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(e)(3). For this reason, Waldencast is seeking the approval of Waldencast shareholders for the issuance of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in connection with the Business Combination and the PIPE Investment.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

In the event that this proposal is not approved by Waldencast shareholders, the Business Combination cannot be consummated. In the event that this proposal is approved by Waldencast shareholders, but the Obagi Merger Agreement is terminated (without the Business Combination being consummated) prior to the issuance of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares pursuant to the Obagi Merger Agreement or the PIPE Investment, such shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares will not be issued.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the Stock Issuance Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

The Stock Issuance Proposal is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. Therefore, if each of the Condition Precedent Approvals is not approved, the Stock Issuance Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

“RESOLVED, as an ordinary resolution, that, for the purposes of complying with the applicable provisions of Rule 5635 of the Nasdaq Rules, the issuance of (a) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares pursuant to the PIPE Investment and the Obagi Merger Agreement and (b) Waldencast plc units pursuant to the Forward Purchase Transaction be approved in all respects.”

Recommendation of the Waldencast Board of Directors

THE WALDENCAST BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE APPROVAL OF THE STOCK ISSUANCE PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for further discussion of these considerations.

MILK ISSUANCE PROPOSAL

Overview

The Milk Issuance Proposal — to consider and vote upon a proposal to approve by ordinary resolution, assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, each of the Organizational Documents Proposals and the Director Election Proposal are approved, for the purposes of complying with the applicable provisions of Rule 5635(a) of The Nasdaq Stock Market Listing Rules, the issuance, or reservation for future issuance, of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares exchangeable for the Waldencast LP Common Units and Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares to the Milk Members (as defined herein) pursuant to the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement (the “Milk Issuance Proposal”).

Assuming the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, the Domestication Proposal, each of the Organizational Documents Proposals and the Director Election Proposal are approved, Waldencast’s shareholders are also being asked to approve, by ordinary resolution, the Milk Issuance Proposal.

Reasons for the Approval for Purposes of Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635

Under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(a)(1), shareholder approval is required prior to the present or potential issuance of common stock or of securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock, in connection with the acquisition of the stock of another company if the common stock is not issued in a public offering for cash and (1) the common stock has, or will have upon issuance, voting power equal to or in excess of 20% of the voting power outstanding before the issuance of the common stock (or securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock) or (2) the number of shares of common stock to be issued is or will be equal to or in excess of 20% of the number of shares of common stock outstanding before the issuance of the stock or securities. Additionally, under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(b), shareholder approval is required prior to the issuance of securities when the issuance or potential issuance will result in a change of control of the registrant. Although Nasdaq has not adopted any rule on what constitutes a “change of control” for purposes of Rule 5635(b), Nasdaq has previously indicated that the acquisition of, or right to acquire, by a single investor or affiliated investor group, as little as 20% of the common stock (or securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock) or voting power of an issuer could constitute a change of control.

Under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(d), shareholder approval is required for a transaction other than a public offering, involving the sale, issuance or potential issuance by an issuer of common stock (or securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock) at a price that is less than the lesser of the official Nasdaq closing price immediately before signing of the binding agreement and the average official Nasdaq closing price for the five trading days immediately preceding the signing of the binding agreement of the stock if the number of shares of common stock to be issued is or may be equal to 20% or more of the common stock, or 20% or more of the voting power, outstanding before the issuance. If the Business Combination is completed pursuant to the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, Waldencast currently expects to issue an estimated 18,343,322 units of Waldencast LP Common Units and 18,343,322 shares of Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares (assuming that none of Waldencast’s outstanding public shares are redeemed) and will reserve for future issuance, in exchange for Waldencast LP Common Units and Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares, 18,343,322 of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. in connection with the Business Combination. For further details, see the section entitled “Milk Transaction Proposal — The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement — Consideration — Aggregate Milk Transaction Consideration.”

Additionally, pursuant to Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(a)(2), when a Nasdaq-listed company proposes to issue securities in connection with the acquisition of the stock or assets of another company, shareholder approval is required if any director, officer or substantial shareholder of the Nasdaq-listed company has a 5% or greater interest, directly or indirectly, in such company or the assets to be acquired or in the consideration to be paid in the transaction or series of related transactions and the present or potential issuance of common stock (or securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock) could result in an increase in outstanding shares of common stock or voting power of 5% or more. Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(e)(3) defines a substantial stockholder as the holder of an interest of 5% or more of either the number of shares of common stock or the voting power outstanding of a Nasdaq-listed company. Because the Sponsor currently owns greater than 5% of Waldencast’s ordinary shares, Waldencast is considered a substantial shareholder of Waldencast under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(e)(3). For this reason, Waldencast is seeking the approval of Waldencast shareholders for the issuance of shares of Waldencast LP Common Units and Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares in connection with the Business Combination.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

In the event that this proposal is not approved by Waldencast shareholders, the Business Combination cannot be consummated. In the event that this proposal is approved by Waldencast shareholders, but the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement is terminated (without the Business Combination being consummated) prior to the issuance of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares pursuant to the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement, such shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares will not be issued.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the Milk Issuance Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

The Milk Issuance Proposal is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. Therefore, if each of the Condition Precedent Approvals is not approved, the Milk Issuance Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

“RESOLVED, as an ordinary resolution, that, for the purposes of complying with the applicable provisions of Rule 5635 of the Nasdaq Rules, the issuance and reservation of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares pursuant to the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement be approved in all respects.”

Recommendation of the Waldencast Board of Directors

THE WALDENCAST BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE APPROVAL OF THE MILK ISSUANCE PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for further discussion of these considerations.

INCENTIVE AWARD PLAN PROPOSAL

Overview

Waldencast is asking its shareholders to approve the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan and the material terms thereunder. The Waldencast board of directors will approve the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan, subject to shareholder approval at the special meeting of shareholders. If shareholders approve this proposal, the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan will become effective on the consummation of the Business Combination. However, this proposal is cross-conditioned on the other Condition Precedent Proposals. If the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan is not approved by the shareholders, it will not become effective and no awards will be granted thereunder. The Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan is described in more detail below.

The Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan

Waldencast plc intends to establish the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan, pursuant to which Waldencast plc may grant options, restricted stock, restricted stock units, share appreciation rights and other equity and equity-based awards. The maximum number of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares underlying awards granted pursuant to the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan will in total not exceed % of Waldencast plc issued share capital at completion of the Business Combination. In addition, the number of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares reserved for issuance under the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan, will automatically increase on January 1 of each calendar year, starting on January 1, 2023, in an amount equal to % of the total number of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares comprised in its issued share capital on the last day of the calendar month before the date of each automatic increase, or a lesser number of shares determined by the Waldencast plc Board. The Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan will be administered by any committee or sub-committee of non-employee directors appointed by the Waldencast plc Board. Waldencast plc may grant awards under the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan to the directors of the Waldencast plc Board, employees or consultants.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the Incentive Award Plan Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

The Incentive Award Plan Proposal is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals. Therefore, if each of the Condition Precedent Approvals is not approved, the Incentive Award Plan Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by holders of ordinary shares.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

“RESOLVED, as an ordinary resolution, that Waldencast plc’s adoption of the Waldencast 2022 Incentive Award Plan and any form award agreements thereunder, be approved, ratified and confirmed in all respects.”

Recommendation of the Waldencast Board of Directors

THE WALDENCAST BOARD RECOMMENDS THAT STOCKHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE APPROVAL OF THE INCENTIVE PLAN PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for further discussion of these considerations.

ADJOURNMENT PROPOSAL

The Adjournment Proposal allows Waldencast’s board of directors to submit a proposal to approve, by ordinary resolution, the adjournment of the extraordinary general meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event, based on the tabulated votes, there are not sufficient votes at the time of the extraordinary general meeting to approve the Condition Precedent Proposals. The purpose of the Adjournment Proposal is to permit further solicitation of proxies and votes and to provide additional time for the Sponsor and Waldencast plc and their respective stockholders to make purchases of ordinary shares or other arrangements that would increase the likelihood of obtaining a favorable vote on the proposals to be put to the extraordinary general meeting. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for further discussion of these considerations.

Consequences if the Adjournment Proposal is Not Approved

If the Adjournment Proposal is presented to the extraordinary general meeting and is not approved by the shareholders, Waldencast’s board of directors may not be able to adjourn the extraordinary general meeting to a later date in the event that, based on the tabulated votes, there are not sufficient votes at the time of the extraordinary general meeting to approve the Condition Precedent Proposals. In such events, the Business Combination would not be completed.

Vote Required for Approval

The approval of the Adjournment Proposal requires an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law, being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes, while considered present for the purposes of establishing a quorum, will not count as votes cast at the extraordinary general meeting.

The Adjournment Proposal is not conditioned upon any other proposal.

Resolution

The full text of the resolution to be passed is as follows:

“RESOLVED, as an ordinary resolution, that the adjournment of the extraordinary general meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for the approval of one or more proposals at the extraordinary general meeting be approved.”

Recommendation of the Waldencast Board of Directors

THE WALDENCAST BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT WALDENCAST SHAREHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE APPROVAL OF THE ADJOURNMENT PROPOSAL.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of Waldencast’s directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what he, she or they may believe is in the best interests of Waldencast and its shareholders and what he, she or they may believe is best for himself, herself or themselves in determining to recommend that shareholders vote for the proposals. In addition, Waldencast’s officers have interests in the Business Combination that may conflict with your interests as a shareholder. See the section entitled “BCA Proposal — Interests of Waldencast’s Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination” for further discussion of these considerations.

U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS

The following is a discussion of U.S. federal income tax considerations generally applicable to U.S. Holders (as defined below) of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares that either (i) participate in the Business Combination, including of owning and disposing of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, or (ii) elect to have their Waldencast Class A ordinary shares redeemed for cash. This discussion addresses only those holders of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares that hold their ordinary shares as capital assets within the meaning of Section 1221 of the Code (generally, property held for investment). This discussion does not discuss all aspects of U.S. federal income taxation that may be relevant to holders in light of their particular circumstances or status including:

- the Sponsor or Waldencast's officers or directors;
- financial institutions or financial services entities;
- broker-dealers;
- taxpayers that are subject to the mark-to-market accounting rules;
- tax-exempt entities;
- governments or agencies or instrumentalities thereof;
- insurance companies;
- regulated investment companies or real estate investment trusts;
- expatriates or former long-term residents of the U.S.;
- persons that actually or constructively own five percent or more of our voting shares or five percent or more of the total value of any class of our shares;
- persons that acquired our ordinary shares pursuant to an exercise of employee share options, in connection with employee share incentive plans or otherwise as compensation or in connection with the performance of services;
- persons that hold our ordinary shares as part of a straddle, constructive sale, hedging, conversion or other integrated or similar transaction; or
- persons whose functional currency is not the U.S. dollar.

This discussion is based on the Code, proposed, temporary and final Treasury Regulations promulgated under the Code, and judicial and administrative interpretations thereof, all as of the date hereof. All of the foregoing is subject to change, which change could apply retroactively and could affect the tax considerations described herein. This discussion does not address U.S. federal taxes other than those pertaining to U.S. federal income taxation (such as estate or gift taxes, the alternative minimum tax or the Medicare tax on investment income), nor does it address any aspects of U.S. state or local or non-U.S. taxation.

We have not and do not intend to seek any rulings from the IRS regarding the Business Combination or an exercise of redemption rights. There can be no assurance that the IRS will not take positions inconsistent with the considerations discussed below or that any such positions would not be sustained by a court.

This discussion does not consider the tax treatment of partnerships or other pass-through entities or persons who hold our ordinary shares through such entities. If a partnership (or any entity or arrangement so characterized for U.S. federal income tax purposes) holds our ordinary shares, the tax treatment of such partnership and a person treated as a partner of such partnership will generally depend on the status of the partner and the activities of the partnership. Partnerships holding any of our ordinary shares and persons that are treated as partners of such partnerships should consult their tax advisors as to the particular U.S. federal income tax consequences of the Business Combination and an exercise of redemption rights to them.

EACH HOLDER SHOULD CONSULT ITS OWN TAX ADVISOR WITH RESPECT TO THE PARTICULAR TAX CONSEQUENCES TO SUCH HOLDER OF THE BUSINESS COMBINATION AND AN EXERCISE OF REDEMPTION RIGHTS, INCLUDING THE EFFECTS OF U.S. FEDERAL, STATE AND LOCAL AND NON-U.S. TAX LAWS.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

As used herein, a “U.S. Holder” is a beneficial owner of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares or Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (as the case may be) who or that is, for U.S. federal income tax purposes:

1. an individual citizen or resident of the U.S.,
2. a corporation (or other entity that is treated as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes) that is created or organized (or treated as created or organized) in or under the laws of the U.S. or any state thereof or the District of Columbia,
3. an estate whose income is subject to U.S. federal income tax regardless of its source, or
4. a trust if (i) a U.S. court can exercise primary supervision over the administration of such trust and one or more U.S. persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust or (ii) it has a valid election in place to be treated as a U.S. person.

Tax residence of Waldencast plc for U.S. federal income tax purposes

A corporation is generally considered for U.S. federal income tax purposes to be a tax resident in the jurisdiction of its organization or incorporation. Section 7874 of the Code provides an exception to this general rule, under which a non-U.S. incorporated entity may, in certain circumstances, be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes. These rules are complex and there is limited guidance regarding their application.

Based on the rules in effect at the time of the Business Combination, the relative values of Obagi and Milk, and the terms of the Business Combination, we do not expect Waldencast plc, which is incorporated under the laws of Jersey, to be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes by virtue of Section 7874 of the Code as a result of the Business Combination. Nevertheless, because the rules and exceptions under Section 7874 of the Code are complex, subject to factual and legal uncertainties, and may change in the future (possibly with retroactive effect), there can be no assurance that we will not be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes. In addition, it is possible that a future acquisition of the stock or assets of a U.S. corporation could result in our being treated as a U.S. corporation at the time of the Business Combination.

If Waldencast plc were to be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes, it could be subject to liability for additional U.S. income taxes, and the gross amount of any dividend payments to its non-U.S. shareholders could be subject to 30% U.S. withholding tax, depending on the application of any income tax treaty that might apply to reduce the withholding tax. If Holdco 1 were to be disregarded, or Waldencast plc were otherwise to be treated as a direct partner in Waldencast LP, dividend payments by Waldencast plc could be treated as wholly or partially U.S.-source for foreign tax credit and other U.S. federal income tax purposes even if Waldencast plc is treated as a non-U.S. corporation under Section 7874 of the Code.

The remainder of this discussion assumes that Waldencast plc will not be treated as a U.S. corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes under Section 7874 of the Code.

Effects of the Business Combination to U.S. Holders

Effects of the Domestication to U.S. Holders

The U.S. federal income tax consequences of the Business Combination will depend primarily upon whether the Domestication qualifies as a “reorganization” within the meaning of Section 368 of the Code.

Under Section 368(a)(1)(F) of the Code, a reorganization is “a mere change in identity, form, or place of organization of one corporation, however effected” (an “F Reorganization”). Pursuant to the Domestication, Waldencast will change its jurisdiction of incorporation from the Cayman Islands to Jersey.

Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP has delivered an opinion that the Domestication will qualify as an F Reorganization. Such opinion is filed by amendment as Exhibit 8.1 to the registration statement of which this proxy statement/prospectus forms part and is based on customary assumptions, representations and covenants. If any of the assumptions, representations or covenants on which the opinion is based is or becomes incorrect, incomplete, inaccurate or is otherwise not complied with, the validity of the opinion described above may be adversely affected and the tax consequences of the Domestication could differ from those described herein. An opinion of counsel is not binding on the IRS or any court, and there can be no certainty that the IRS will not challenge the conclusions reflected in the opinion or that a court would not sustain such a challenge.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Assuming that the Domestication qualifies as an F Reorganization, U.S. Holders of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares will not recognize gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a result of the Domestication. The remaining discussion under this section assumes that the Domestication qualifies as an F Reorganization.

All holders considering exercising redemption rights with respect to their ordinary shares are urged to consult with their tax advisors with respect to the potential tax consequences to them of the Domestication and an exercise of redemption rights.

Basis and Holding Period Considerations

Assuming that the Domestication qualifies as an F Reorganization: (i) the tax basis of a share of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares received by a U.S. Holder in the Domestication will equal the U.S. Holder's tax basis in the Waldencast Class A ordinary share surrendered in exchange therefor, and (ii) the holding period for a share of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares received by a U.S. Holder will include such U.S. Holder's holding period for the Waldencast Class A ordinary share surrendered in exchange therefor. However, it is unclear whether the redemption rights with respect to the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares may prevent the holding period of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares from commencing prior to the termination of such rights.

U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations of Owning Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares

Taxation of Dividends and Other Distributions on Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares

Subject to the passive foreign investment company ("PFIC") rules discussed below, if Waldencast plc makes a distribution of cash or other property to a U.S. Holder of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, such distribution will generally be treated as a dividend for U.S. federal income tax purposes to the extent the distribution is paid out of Waldencast plc's current or accumulated earnings and profits (as determined under U.S. federal income tax principles). Such dividends will be taxable to a corporate U.S. Holder at regular rates and will not be eligible for the dividends-received deduction generally allowed to domestic corporations in respect of dividends received from other domestic corporations.

Distributions in excess of such earnings and profits will generally be applied against and reduce the U.S. Holder's basis in its Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (but not below zero) and, to the extent in excess of such basis, will be treated as gain from the sale or exchange of such Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. Waldencast plc may not determine its earnings and profits on the basis of U.S. federal income tax principles, however, in which case any distribution paid by Waldencast plc will be treated as a dividend.

With respect to non-corporate U.S. Holders, dividends will generally be taxed at preferential long-term capital gains rates only if (i) Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares are readily tradable on an established securities market in the U.S. or (ii) Waldencast plc is eligible for the benefits of an applicable income tax treaty, in each case provided that Waldencast plc is not treated as a PFIC in the taxable year in which the dividend was paid or in any previous year and certain holding period or other requirements are met. However, it is unclear whether the redemption rights with respect to the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares may prevent the holding period of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares from commencing prior to the termination of such rights. U.S. Holders should consult their tax advisors regarding the availability of the lower rate for any dividends paid with respect to Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

Taxation on the Disposition of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares

Subject to the PFIC rules discussed below, upon a sale or other taxable disposition of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, a U.S. Holder will generally recognize capital gain or loss. The amount of gain or loss recognized will generally be equal to the difference between (i) the sum of the amount of cash and the fair market value of any property received in such disposition and (ii) the U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis in such ordinary shares.

Under tax law currently in effect, long-term capital gains recognized by non-corporate U.S. Holders are generally subject to U.S. federal income tax at a reduced rate of tax. Capital gain or loss will constitute long-term capital gain or loss if the U.S. Holder's holding period for the ordinary shares exceeds one year. However, it is unclear whether the redemption rights with respect to the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares may prevent the holding period of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares from commencing prior to the termination of such rights. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to various limitations.

PFIC Considerations

Definition of a PFIC

A foreign (i.e., non-U.S.) corporation will be a PFIC for U.S. federal income tax purposes if at least 75% of its gross income in a taxable year of the foreign corporation, including its pro rata share of the gross income of any corporation in which it is considered to own at least 25% of the shares by value, is passive income. Alternatively, a foreign corporation will be a PFIC if at least 50% of its assets in a taxable year of the foreign corporation, ordinarily determined based on fair market value and averaged quarterly over the year, including its pro rata share of the assets of any corporation in which it is considered to own at least 25% of the shares by value, are held for the production of, or produce, passive income. Passive income generally includes dividends, interest, rents and royalties (other than certain rents or royalties derived from the active conduct of a trade or business) and gains from the disposition of passive assets.

Pursuant to a start-up exception, a corporation will not be a PFIC for the first taxable year the corporation has gross income, if (1) no predecessor of the foreign corporation was a PFIC; (2) the corporation satisfies the IRS that it will not be a PFIC for either of the first two taxable years following the start-up year; and (3) the corporation is not in fact a PFIC for either of those years.

PFIC Status of Waldencast and Waldencast plc

Although a foreign corporation's PFIC determination will be made annually, absent certain elections described below, a determination that Waldencast or Waldencast plc is a PFIC will continue to apply to subsequent years in which a U.S. Holder continues to hold shares in such entity (including a successor entity), whether or not such entity is a PFIC in those subsequent years. Because, following the Domestication, Waldencast plc will be treated as the successor to Waldencast for U.S. federal income tax purposes, any Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares received in exchange for Waldencast Class A ordinary shares in the Domestication may, in the absence of certain elections described below, be treated as stock of a PFIC if Waldencast was treated as a PFIC during the holding period of a U.S. Holder.

Based on the anticipated timing of the Business Combination, the anticipated assets and income of the combined company and the application of the start-up exception, neither Waldencast nor its successor Waldencast plc (as the case may be) is currently expected to be treated as a PFIC for the taxable year ending on December 31, 2021 (the "Current Taxable Year"), the taxable year ending on December 31, 2022, or the foreseeable future. However, as further discussed below, the facts on which any determination of PFIC status are based may not be known until the close of each taxable year in question, and, in the case of the Current Taxable Year, until as late as the close of two subsequent taxable years. Additionally, there is uncertainty regarding the application of the start-up exception.

Although Waldencast will likely meet the PFIC income or asset tests for the Current Taxable Year, the start-up exception is expected to apply to prevent such entity from being treated as a PFIC for the Current Taxable Year provided that the combined company does not meet either test in the two taxable years subsequent to the Current Taxable Year. Based on the anticipated timing of the Business Combination and the anticipated assets and income of the combined company, Waldencast plc is not expected to meet either test for the year following the Current Taxable Year or the foreseeable future. However, the timing of the Business Combination is not certain. If the Business Combination is completed later than expected, it is possible that Waldencast plc could be treated as a PFIC for the taxable year following the Current Taxable Year, in which case the start-up exception will not apply. Moreover, because PFIC status is an annual factual determination, Waldencast plc may become a PFIC in future if the composition of its income or assets, or the market price of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, were to change, regardless of whether the Business Combination is completed within the expected timing or the start-up exception applies. Accordingly, there can be no assurance with respect to the PFIC status of Waldencast or Waldencast plc for the Current Taxable Year or any future taxable year.

Application of PFIC Rules to Ordinary Shares

If (i) Waldencast or Waldencast plc is determined to be a PFIC for any taxable year (or portion thereof) that is included in the holding period of a U.S. Holder and (ii) the U.S. Holder did not make a timely and effective QEF Election (as defined below) for the first year in its holding period in which Waldencast or Waldencast plc (as the case may be) is a PFIC (such taxable year as it relates to each U.S. Holder, the "First PFIC Holding Year"), a QEF

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Election along with a purging election, or a “mark-to-market” election, each as described below under “QEF Election, Mark-to-Market Election and Purging Election,” then such holder will generally be subject to special rules (the “Default PFIC Regime”) with respect to:

- any gain recognized by the U.S. Holder on the sale or other disposition of its ordinary shares; and
- any “excess distribution” made to the U.S. Holder (generally, any distributions to such U.S. Holder during a taxable year of the U.S. Holder that are greater than 125% of the average annual distributions received by such U.S. Holder in respect of its ordinary shares during the three preceding taxable years of such U.S. Holder or, if shorter, such U.S. Holder’s holding period for such ordinary shares).

Under the Default PFIC Regime:

- the U.S. Holder’s gain or excess distribution will be allocated ratably over the U.S. Holder’s holding period for its ordinary shares (taking into account the relevant holding period of the Waldencast Class A ordinary share exchanged therefor);
- the amount of gain allocated to the U.S. Holder’s taxable year in which the U.S. Holder recognized the gain or received the excess distribution, or to the period in the U.S. Holder’s holding period before the first day of the first taxable year in which Waldencast was or Waldencast plc is a PFIC, will be taxed as ordinary income;
- the amount of gain allocated to other taxable years (or portions thereof) of the U.S. Holder and included in such U.S. Holder’s holding period will be taxed at the highest tax rate in effect for that year and applicable to the U.S. Holder; and
- an additional tax equal to the interest charge generally applicable to underpayments of tax will be imposed on the U.S. Holder in respect of the tax attributable to each such other taxable year of such U.S. Holder.

A U.S. Holder that owns (or is deemed to own) shares in a PFIC during any taxable year of the U.S. Holder may be required to file an IRS Form 8621 (whether or not the U.S. Holder makes one or more of the elections described below with respect to such shares) with such U.S. Holder’s U.S. federal income tax return and provide such other information as may be required by the U.S. Treasury Department.

ALL U.S. HOLDERS ARE URGED TO CONSULT THEIR TAX ADVISORS REGARDING THE EFFECTS OF THE PFIC RULES ON THE REDEMPTION OF WALDENCAS T SHARES OR ON THE OWNERSHIP OR DISPOSITION OF WALDENCAS T PLC CLASS A ORDINARY SHARES, INCLUDING THE IMPACT OF ANY PROPOSED OR FINAL TREASURY REGULATIONS.

QEF Election, Mark-to-Market Election and Purging Election

In general, if Waldencast or Waldencast plc is determined to be a PFIC, a U.S. Holder may avoid the Default PFIC Regime with respect to its ordinary shares by making a timely and effective “qualified electing fund” (“QEF”) election under Section 1295 of the Code (a “QEF Election”) for such holder’s First PFIC Holding Year. In order to comply with the requirements of a QEF Election with respect to Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, a U.S. Holder must receive a PFIC Annual Information Statement from Waldencast plc. If we determine we are a PFIC for any taxable year, we may endeavor to provide to a U.S. Holder such information as the IRS may require, including a PFIC Annual Information Statement, in order to enable the U.S. Holder to make and maintain a QEF Election. However, there is no assurance that we will so endeavor, or that we will have timely knowledge of our status as a PFIC in the future or of the required information to be provided. U.S. Holders are urged to consult their tax advisors with respect to any QEF Election previously made with respect to Waldencast shares.

Alternatively, if a U.S. Holder, at the close of its taxable year, owns (or is deemed to own) shares in a PFIC that are treated as marketable shares, the U.S. Holder may make a mark-to-market election with respect to such shares for such taxable year. If the U.S. Holder makes a valid mark-to-market election for such holder’s First PFIC Holding Year, such holder will generally not be subject to the Default PFIC Regime in respect of its ordinary shares as long as such shares continue to be treated as marketable shares. Instead, the U.S. Holder will generally include as ordinary income for each year in its holding period that Waldencast plc or Waldencast is treated as a PFIC the excess, if any, of the fair market value of its ordinary shares at the end of its taxable year over the adjusted basis in its ordinary shares. The U.S. Holder also will be allowed to take an ordinary loss in respect of the excess, if any, of the adjusted basis of its Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares over the fair market value of its ordinary shares at the end of its taxable year (but only to the extent of the net amount of previously included income as a result of the mark-to-market election). The U.S. Holder's basis in its ordinary shares will be adjusted to reflect any such income or loss amounts, and any further gain recognized on a sale or other taxable disposition of the ordinary shares in a taxable year in which Waldencast or Waldencast plc is treated as a PFIC will be treated as ordinary income. Special tax rules may also apply if a U.S. Holder makes a mark-to-market election for a taxable year after such holder's First PFIC Holding Year.

The mark-to-market election is available only for stock that is regularly traded on a national securities exchange that is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including the Nasdaq. U.S. Holders should consult their own tax advisors regarding the availability and tax consequences of a mark-to-market election in respect of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares or Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares under their particular circumstances.

Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares treated as stock of a PFIC under the Default PFIC Regime (including Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares received in exchange for Waldencast Class A ordinary shares that were so treated at the time of the Domestication) will continue to be treated as stock of a PFIC, including in taxable years in which Waldencast plc ceases to be a PFIC, unless the applicable U.S. Holder makes a "purging election" with respect to such shares. Under one type of purging election, the U.S. Holder will be deemed to have sold such shares at their fair market value on the last day of the last year in which Waldencast or Waldencast plc, as applicable, is treated as a PFIC, and any gain recognized on such deemed sale will be treated as an excess distribution, as described above. As a result of this election, the U.S. Holder will have additional basis (to the extent of any gain recognized in the deemed sale) and, solely for purposes of the PFIC rules, a new holding period in such holder's Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. U.S. Holders are urged to consult their tax advisors regarding the application of the purging elections rules to their particular circumstances.

If Waldencast plc is a PFIC and, at any time, has a foreign subsidiary that is classified as a PFIC, U.S. Holders would be deemed to own a portion of the shares of such lower-tier PFIC, and could incur liability for the deferred tax and interest charge described above if Waldencast plc receives a distribution from, or disposes of all or part of Waldencast plc's interest in, the lower-tier PFIC or the U.S. Holders otherwise were deemed to have disposed of an interest in the lower-tier PFIC. A mark-to-market election would not be available with respect to such lower-tier PFIC. U.S. Holders are urged to consult their own tax advisors regarding the tax issues raised by lower-tier PFICs.

The rules dealing with PFICs and with the QEF and mark-to-market elections are very complex and are affected by various factors in addition to those described above. Accordingly, U.S. Holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares should consult their own tax advisors concerning the application of the PFIC rules to Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares under their particular circumstances.

THE RULES DEALING WITH PFICs ARE COMPLEX AND ARE IMPACTED BY VARIOUS FACTORS IN ADDITION TO THOSE DESCRIBED ABOVE. U.S. HOLDERS ARE URGED TO CONSULT THEIR TAX ADVISORS REGARDING THE CONSEQUENCES TO THEM OF THE PFIC RULES, INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, WHETHER A QEF ELECTION, A MARK-TO-MARKET ELECTION OR ANY OTHER ELECTION IS AVAILABLE AND THE CONSEQUENCES TO THEM OF ANY SUCH ELECTION, AND THE IMPACT OF ANY PROPOSED OR FINAL PFIC TREASURY REGULATIONS.

Effects to U.S. Holders of Exercising Redemption Rights

Subject to the PFIC rules discussed above, the U.S. federal income tax consequences to a U.S. Holder of ordinary shares that exercises its redemption rights to receive cash in exchange for all or a portion of its ordinary shares will depend on how the rules summarized below apply to the specific facts and circumstances of such U.S. Holder and its redemption. Depending on such facts and circumstances (and the operation of complex constructive ownership rules described below), as well as on whether such holder has made a timely QEF Election or mark-to-market election (each as discussed above), a redemption of ordinary shares may either qualify as a sale of such redeemed shares under Section 302(a) of the Code, or be treated as a distribution under Section 301 of the Code.

The redemption of ordinary shares will qualify as a sale of the ordinary shares that are redeemed if such redemption (i) is "substantially disproportionate" with respect to the redeeming U.S. Holder, (ii) results in a "complete termination" of such U.S. Holder's interest or (iii) is "not essentially equivalent to a dividend" with respect to such U.S. Holder. These tests are explained more fully below.

For purposes of such tests, a U.S. Holder takes into account not only ordinary shares actually owned by such U.S. Holder, but also ordinary shares that are constructively owned by such U.S. Holder. A redeeming U.S. Holder may constructively own, in addition to ordinary shares owned directly, ordinary shares owned by certain related individuals and entities in which such U.S. Holder has an interest or that have an interest in such U.S. Holder, as well as any ordinary shares such U.S. Holder has a right to acquire by exercise of an option, which would generally include shares which could be acquired pursuant to the exercise of the warrants.

The redemption of ordinary shares will be “substantially disproportionate” with respect to a redeeming U.S. Holder if the percentage of the respective entity’s outstanding voting shares that such U.S. Holder actually or constructively owns immediately after the redemption is less than 80% of the percentage of the respective entity’s outstanding voting shares that such U.S. Holder actually or constructively owned immediately before the redemption. Prior to the Business Combination, the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares may not be treated as voting shares for this purpose and, consequently, this substantially disproportionate test may not be applicable. There will be a complete termination of such U.S. Holder’s interest if either (i) all of the ordinary shares actually or constructively owned by such U.S. Holder are redeemed or (ii) all of the ordinary shares actually owned by such U.S. Holder are redeemed and such U.S. Holder is eligible to waive, and effectively waives in accordance with specific rules, the attribution of ordinary shares owned by certain family members and such U.S. Holder does not constructively own any other ordinary shares. The redemption of ordinary shares will not be essentially equivalent to a dividend if it results in a “meaningful reduction” of such U.S. Holder’s proportionate interest in the respective entity. Whether the redemption will result in a meaningful reduction in such U.S. Holder’s proportionate interest will depend on the particular facts and circumstances applicable to it. The IRS has indicated in a published ruling that even a small reduction in the proportionate interest of a small minority shareholder in a publicly held corporation who exercises no control over corporate affairs may constitute such a “meaningful reduction.”

If none of the above tests is satisfied, a redemption will be treated as a distribution under Section 301 of the Code with respect to ordinary shares, and the tax effects will be as described for distributions on Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares under “— Taxation of Dividends and Other Distributions on Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares” above. After the application of those rules, any remaining tax basis a U.S. Holder has in the redeemed ordinary shares will be added to the adjusted tax basis in such holder’s remaining ordinary shares. If there are no remaining ordinary shares, a U.S. Holder should consult its own tax advisors as to the allocation of any remaining basis.

Certain U.S. Holders may be subject to special reporting requirements with respect to a redemption of ordinary shares, and such holders should consult with their own tax advisors with respect to their reporting requirements.

ALL U.S. HOLDERS CONSIDERING EXERCISING REDEMPTION RIGHTS WITH RESPECT TO THEIR ORDINARY SHARES ARE URGED TO CONSULT WITH THEIR TAX ADVISORS WITH RESPECT TO THE TAX CONSEQUENCES TO THEM OF AN EXERCISE OF REDEMPTION RIGHTS, INCLUDING THE POTENTIAL TAX CONSEQUENCES TO THEM OF THE BUSINESS COMBINATION.

JERSEY TAX CONSIDERATIONS

This summary of Jersey taxation issues can only provide a general overview of this area and it is not a description of all the tax considerations that may be relevant to a decision to invest in Waldencast plc.

The following summary of the anticipated treatment of Waldencast plc and holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (other than residents of Jersey) is based on Jersey taxation law and practice as it is understood to apply at the date of this document and may be subject to any changes in Jersey law occurring after such date. It does not constitute legal or tax advice and does not address all aspects of Jersey tax law and practice (including such tax law and practice as it applies to any land or building situate in Jersey). Legal advice should be taken with regard to individual circumstances. Prospective investors in Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares should consult their professional advisers on the implications of acquiring, buying, selling or otherwise disposing of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares under the laws of any jurisdiction in which they may be liable to taxation.

Shareholders should note that tax law and interpretation can change and that, in particular, the levels and basis of, and reliefs from, taxation may change and may alter the benefits of investment in Waldencast plc.

Any person who is in any doubt about their tax position or who is subject to taxation in a jurisdiction other than Jersey should consult their own professional adviser.

Company Residence

Under the Income Tax (Jersey) Law 1961 (as amended) (“Tax Law”), a company shall be regarded as resident in Jersey if it is incorporated under the Jersey Companies Law unless:

- its business is centrally managed and controlled outside Jersey in a country or territory where the highest rate at which any company may be charged to tax on any part of its income is 10% or higher; and
- the company is resident for tax purposes in that country or territory.

It is intended that Waldencast plc will be resident for tax purposes in Jersey and subject to tax in Jersey following the Domestication.

Summary

Under current Jersey law, there are no capital gains, capital transfer, gift, wealth or inheritance taxes, or any death or estate duties. No capital or stamp duty is levied in Jersey on the issue, conversion, redemption, or transfer of ordinary shares. On the death of an individual holder of ordinary shares (whether or not such individual was domiciled in Jersey), duty at rates of up to 0.75% of the value of the relevant ordinary shares may be payable on the registration of any Jersey probate or letters of administration which may be required in order to transfer, convert, redeem, or make payments in respect of, ordinary shares held by a deceased individual sole shareholder, subject to a cap of £100,000.

Income Tax — Waldencast plc

The general rate of income tax under the Tax Law on the profits of companies regarded as resident in Jersey or having a permanent establishment in Jersey is 0% (“zero tax rating”) though certain exceptions from zero tax rating might apply. As noted above, it is intended that Waldencast plc will not be resident for tax purposes in Jersey and therefore will not be subject to any rate of tax in Jersey.

Withholding Tax — Waldencast plc

For so long as Waldencast plc is subject to a zero tax rating, or is deemed to be resident for tax purposes in Jersey, withholding in respect of Jersey taxation may be required on payments in respect of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to any holder of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares not resident in Jersey.

Stamp Duty

In Jersey, no stamp duty is levied on the issue or transfer of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares except that stamp duty is payable on Jersey grants of probate and letters of administration, which will generally be required to transfer ordinary shares on the death of a holder of such ordinary shares if such holder was entered as the holder of the shares on the register maintained in Jersey. In the case of a grant of probate or letters of administration, stamp duty is levied according to the size of the estate (wherever situated in respect of a holder of ordinary shares domiciled in Jersey, or situated in Jersey in respect of a holder of ordinary shares domiciled outside Jersey) and is payable on a sliding scale at a rate of up to 0.75% on the value of an estate up to a maximum stamp duty charge of £100,000. The rules for joint holders through a nominee are different and advice relating to this form of holding should be obtained from a professional adviser.

Jersey does not otherwise levy taxes upon capital, inheritances, capital gains or gifts nor are there otherwise estate duties.

Goods and Services Tax

Pursuant to the Goods and Services Tax (Jersey) Law 2007 (“GST Law”), a tax rate which is currently 5% applies to the supply of goods and services, unless the supply is regarded as exempt or zero rated, or the relevant supplier or recipient of such goods and services is registered as an “international services entity.”

A company must register for GST if its turnover is greater than £300,000 in any 12-month period, and will then need to charge GST to its customers. Companies can also choose to register voluntarily.

A company may apply to be registered as an International Services Entity (“ISE”) if it mainly serves non-Jersey residents. By virtue of a company being an ISE, it will not have to register for GST, will not charge GST on its supplies, and will not be charged GST on its purchases.

Waldencast plc will be an ISE within the meaning of the GST Law, as it satisfies the requirements of the Goods and Services Tax (International Services Entities) (Jersey) Regulations 2008, as amended. As long as it continues to be such an entity, a supply of goods or of a service made by or to Waldencast plc shall not be a taxable supply for the purposes of the GST Law.

Substance Legislation

With effect from January 1, 2019, Jersey has implemented legislation to meet EU demands for companies to have substance in certain circumstances. Broadly, part of the legislation is intended to apply to holding companies managed and controlled in Jersey. As it is intended that following the Domestication, Waldencast plc be managed and controlled in Jersey, this legislation may apply to Waldencast plc on this basis.

UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Defined terms included below have the same meaning as terms defined and included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Introduction:

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information is prepared in accordance with Article 11 of Regulation S-X as amended by the final rule, Release No. 33-10786 “Amendments to Financial Disclosures about Acquired and Disposed Businesses.” The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information presents the pro forma effects of the acquisition of Milk and Obagi by Waldencast resulting in reorganization into an umbrella partnership C corporation structure (or “Up-C” structure), and other agreements entered into as part of the Transaction Agreements.

Waldencast is a blank check company incorporated on December 8, 2020 (inception) as a Cayman Islands exempted company for the purpose of effecting a merger, share exchange, asset acquisition, share purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses. On March 18, 2021, Waldencast consummated the initial public offering of 34,500,000 units, inclusive of the partial exercise by the underwriters of the over-allotment option, at $10.00 per unit, generating gross proceeds of $345.0 million. Each unit consisted of one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one public warrant. Each public warrant is exercisable for one Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share at a price of $11.50 per share. Simultaneously with the closing of the initial public offering, Waldencast consummated the private sale of 5,933,333 private placement warrants at a price of $1.50 per private placement warrant to the Sponsor, generating gross proceeds to Waldencast of $8.9 million. The private placement warrants are identical to the warrants sold as part of the units in Waldencast’s initial public offering except that, so long as they are held by the Sponsor or its permitted transferees: (1) they will not be redeemable by Waldencast; (2) they (including the shares issuable upon exercise of these warrants) may not, subject to certain limited exceptions, be transferred, assigned or sold by the Sponsor until 30 days after the completion of Waldencast’s initial business combination; (3) they may be exercised by the holders on a cashless basis; and (4) they (including the shares issuable upon exercise of these warrants) are entitled to registration rights. Upon the closing of the initial public offering and the sale of the private placement warrants (inclusive of the partial exercise by the underwriters of the over-allotment option), $345.0 million ($10.00 per unit) of the net proceeds of the initial public offering and the sale of the private placement warrants was placed in the Trust Account established for the benefit of Waldencast’s public shareholders, until the earlier of: (i) the completion of a business combination distribution (including the closing of the Business Combination), (ii) the redemption of any public shares properly tendered in connection with a shareholder vote to amend Waldencast’s Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association to modify the substance or timing of Waldencast’s obligation to redeem 100% of the public shares if it does not complete a business combination by March 18, 2023, and (iii) the redemption of all of the public shares if Waldencast is unable to complete a business combination by March 18, 2023 (or if such date is further extended at a duly called extraordinary general meeting, such later date), subject to applicable law. As of September 30, 2021, there was approximately $345.0 million held in the Trust Account.

Milk is an environmentally and socially conscious makeup company that develops, manufactures and sells paraben-free, 100% vegan and cruelty-free cosmetics, skin care and other beauty products. It generates revenue from the sale of products to retailers, as well as sales direct to consumer via its online website. Its three most popular products are the Hydro Grip Primer, Kush Mascara and the Mini Hydro Grip.

Obagi is a global skincare products company rooted in science and skin biology. Obagi develops, markets and sells innovative skin health products in more than 60 countries around the world. Every product Obagi develops stems from a deep understanding of the skin and how healthy skin functions. The result is an unmatched product portfolio designed to prevent or improve the most common, visible skin concerns such as fine lines and wrinkles, elasticity, photodamage, hyperpigmentation, acne, oxidative stress, environmental damage and hydration.

Waldencast plc will be a Jersey corporation that will be subject to U.S. taxation on its share of the U.S. effectively connected income earned from its partnership investment, which owns both Obagi and Milk. The organizational structure following the completion of the Business Combination is commonly referred to as an Up-C structure. This organizational structure will allow the Milk Members to retain an equity ownership in the form of Waldencast LP Common Units, which owns Obagi and Milk. The Milk Members may exchange Waldencast LP Common Units (together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of voting, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares) into Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. There is no tax receivable agreement in place for such exchange of Common Units. The Waldencast public shareholders will continue to hold Waldencast Class A ordinary shares, which, upon consummation of the Business Combination, will be renamed to Waldencast plc. The parties agreed to structure the Business Combination in this manner for tax and other business purposes, and we do not believe that our Up-C organizational structure will give rise to any significant business or strategic benefit or detriment. See the section entitled “Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Business Combination and the Company” for additional information on our organizational structure.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet combines the Milk unaudited historical condensed balance sheet as of September 30, 2021, the Obagi unaudited historical condensed consolidated balance sheet as of September 30, 2021, and the Waldencast unaudited historical condensed balance sheet as of September 30, 2021, giving effect to the Business Combination as if it had been consummated on September 30, 2021. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 and year ended December 31, 2020 present the pro forma effect of the Business Combination as if completed on January 1, 2020.

We refer to the unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet and the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations as the pro forma financial statements.

The pro forma financial statements are not necessarily indicative of what the combined company’s balance sheet or statement of operations actually would have been had the Business Combination been completed as of the dates indicated, nor do they purport to project the future financial position or operating results of the combined company. The actual financial position and results of operations may differ significantly from the pro forma amounts reflected herein due to a variety of factors. The pro forma financial information is presented for illustrative purposes only and does not reflect the costs of any integration activities or cost savings or synergies that may be achieved as a result of the Business Combination.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information is presented in two scenarios: (1) assuming No Redemptions, and (2) assuming Maximum Redemptions.

- Assuming No Redemptions — This scenario assumes that none of Waldencast’s shareholders elect to redeem their Class A ordinary shares for a pro rata portion of cash in the Trust Account, and thus the full amount of the approximately $345.0 million held in the Trust Account is available for the Business Combination.
- Assuming Maximum Redemptions — There is no specified Maximum Redemptions threshold; however, the Closing is conditioned upon minimum closing available cash of $565.0 million (calculated as the cash in the trust account after giving effect to redemptions, plus the PIPE Investment, the FPA proceeds and the cash and cash equivalents of Waldencast prior to closing) which does not result in 100% redemptions. Hence, this scenario assumes that Waldencast’s shareholders will redeem 21,984,625 Class A ordinary shares for aggregate redemption payments of $219.9 million. The number of public redemption shares of 21,984,625 shares was calculated based on the estimated per share redemption value of $10.00 ($345.0 million of cash from trust account divided at September 30, 2021, by 34,500,000 outstanding Waldencast public shares).

In both scenarios, the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements were prepared using the acquisition method of accounting under the provisions of ASC Topic 805, Business Combinations on the basis of Waldencast as the accounting acquirer and Obagi and Milk as the accounting acquirees. The ultimate determination of the accounting acquirer is a qualitative and quantitative assessment that requires careful consideration, of which the final determination will occur after the consummation of the Business Combination. However, in all redemption scenarios, Waldencast has been determined to be the accounting acquirer based on evaluation of the following factors:

- The owners of Waldencast will have the largest voting interest in the combined company under the no and maximum redemption scenarios;
- The Sponsor and its affiliates have the right to nominate the majority of the initial members who will serve on the board of directors of Waldencast (Obagi will have 1 nomination, and Milk will have 0); and
- Waldencast’s existing management will hold executive management roles for the post-combination company whilst Obagi and Milk management team members will report into the current Waldencast executive team.

The factors discussed above support the conclusion that Waldencast will acquire control of Obagi and Milk and will be the accounting acquirer. Therefore, the Business Combination constitutes a change in control and will be accounted for using the acquisition method. Under the acquisition method of accounting, the purchase price will be allocated to the tangible and identifiable intangible assets acquired and liabilities assumed of Obagi and Milk, based on their estimated acquisition-date fair values. These estimates will be determined through established and generally accepted valuation techniques.

The following summarizes the pro forma ownership of Class A and Class B ordinary shares of the Company, excluding potential Class A ordinary shares from dilutive securities, following the Business Combination, under the two scenarios:

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements have been prepared assuming the Business Combination is accounted for using the acquisition method of accounting with Waldencast as the acquiring entity. Under the acquisition method of accounting, Waldencast's assets and liabilities will retain their carrying values and the assets and liabilities associated with Milk and Obagi will be recorded at their fair values measured as of the acquisition date. The excess of the purchase price over the estimated fair values of the net assets acquired, if applicable, will be recorded as goodwill. The acquisition method of accounting is based on ASC 805 and uses the fair value concepts defined in ASC Topic 820, Fair Value Measurements ("ASC 820"). In general, ASC 805 requires, among other things, that assets acquired, and liabilities assumed be recognized at their fair values as of the acquisition date by Waldencast, who was determined to be the accounting acquirer.

ASC 820 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value, and sets forth a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes and ranks the level of observability of inputs used to develop the fair value measurements. Fair value is defined in ASC 820 as "the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date." This is an exit price concept for the valuation of the asset or liability. In addition, market participants are assumed to be buyers and sellers in the principal (or the most advantageous) market for the asset or liability. Fair value measurements for a non-financial asset assume the highest and best use by these market participants. Many of these fair value measurements can be highly subjective, and it is possible that other professionals applying reasonable judgment to the same facts and circumstances, could develop and support a range of alternative estimated amounts.

The transaction accounting adjustments represent management's estimates based on information available as of the date of the filing of the condensed combined financial information and do not reflect possible adjustments related to restructuring or integration activities that have to be determined.

The accompanying unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information was prepared using the acquisition method of accounting in accordance with ASC 805 and are based on certain currently available information and certain assumptions and methodologies that Waldencast believes are reasonable under the circumstances. The unaudited condensed transaction accounting adjustments, which are described in the accompanying notes, may be revised as additional information becomes available. Therefore, it is likely that the actual adjustments will differ from the transaction accounting adjustments and it is possible the differences may be material. Waldencast believes that its assumptions and methodologies provide a reasonable basis for presenting all of the significant effects of the Business Combination based on information available to management at this time and that the transaction accounting adjustments give appropriate effect to those assumptions and are properly applied in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information.

The historical financial statements have been adjusted in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information to reflect transaction accounting adjustments in connection with the Business Combination as well as the Obagi China Distribution.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as of September 30, 2021, assumes that the Business Combination occurred on September 30, 2021. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statements of operations for the period from the nine months ended September 30, 2021, and the year ended December 31, 2020, present pro forma effect to the Business Combination as if it had been completed on January 1, 2020. These periods are presented on the basis of Waldencast being the accounting acquirer. The pro forma basic and diluted loss per share amounts presented in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations are based upon the number of Class A ordinary shares outstanding, assuming the Business Combination and related transactions occurred on January 1, 2020.

Note 2. Description of the Business Combination

Pursuant to the Transaction Agreements, Obagi owners will receive a combination of cash and Class A ordinary shares in Waldencast plc and existing Milk owners will retain common units in Milk and receive a combination of cash and Class B Non-economic voting shares. The Business Combination will be structured as an Up-C transaction, whereby the Milk shareholders as the Milk Members will be retaining common units in Milk, which hold the net assets of Milk and Obagi. The Milk Members will retain approximately 14.3% of the economic interests in Milk under the No Redemption scenario, or 17.9% under the Maximum Redemptions scenario.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

The transaction will occur as follows: Obagi will merge into Holdco 1 and become an indirect subsidiary of Waldencast plc, Milk will be acquired by Waldencast through Waldencast LP acquiring a portion of the Milk Membership Units (organized as an “Up-C”) through a subsidiary, and the Obagi assets will be contributed to the Milk Up-C structure.

Below is a diagram of the final structure of the proposed transaction:

Obagi China Distribution

In connection with the Obagi Merger, Obagi will carve out its businesses located in China – Obagi Shanghai Cosmeceuticals Co. Ltd., Obagi Xi’an Pharmaceuticals Technology Co., Ltd., and Obagi Hong Kong Limited. The adjusted Obagi results include adjustments to eliminate the assets, liabilities and operations of China businesses that will be distributed to Cedarwalk prior to closing of the Obagi Merger.

Note 3. Accounting Policies

Management has performed an initial review of the accounting policies of each entity to conform the accounting policies to those of Waldencast, the accounting acquirer. In doing so, management identified presentation differences that would have an impact on the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information and recorded necessary adjustments. In addition, adjustments were made to the historical presentation of the statement of operations and balance sheets of Obagi and Milk to conform to the financial statement presentation Waldencast.

Upon consummation of the business combination, management will perform a comprehensive review of accounting policies for each entity and conform them to the accounting policies of Waldencast as the accounting acquirer. As a result of the review, management may identify differences between the accounting policies of the entities which, when conformed, could have a material impact on the financial statements of the post-combination company.

Note 4. Adjustments to Pro Forma Condensed Combined Balance Sheet

Explanations of the adjustments to the pro forma balance sheet are as follows:

- (A) Reflects the reclassification of $345.0 million of cash and cash equivalents and investments held in the Trust Account that becomes available for transaction consideration, transaction expenses, underwriting commission, redemption of Waldencast public shares, and the operating activities of Waldencast following the Business Combination, under the No Redemptions scenario.
- (B) Reflects estimated transaction costs of approximately $63.2 million, comprised of advisory, banking, printing, legal, and accounting fees and equity issuance costs that are expensed as a part of the Business Combination. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet reflects these costs as a reduction of cash of $63.2 million. Of the $63.2 million of transactions costs, $0.7 million was previously accrued, $12.8 million was recorded as deferred underwriting and legal fees and the remaining balance of $49.7 million is expensed through Accumulated Deficit.
- (C) Reflects the gross cash proceeds of $105.0 million generated from the PIPE Financing through the issuance of 10,500,000 shares of Class A ordinary shares to the private investors and allocated to Class A ordinary shares and Additional paid-in-capital using a par value of $0.0001 per share and a purchase price of $10.00 per share, respectively.
- (D) Reflects the gross proceeds from the Sponsor and Beauty Ventures in the amount of $160.0 million and $173.0 million, respectively and allocated to Waldencast Class A ordinary shares and Additional paid-in capital using a par value of $0.0001 per shares and a purchase of $10.00 and the settlement of Waldencast’s related Forward Purchase Transaction liability of $9.0 million through the issuance of Class A shares.
- (E) Represents the purchase price allocation adjustments resulting from the Business Combination. The calculation of the purchase price and allocation to assets acquired and liabilities assumed is preliminary because the merger has not yet been completed. The preliminary allocation to assets and liabilities is based on estimates, assumptions, valuations, and other studies that have not progressed to a stage where there is sufficient information to make a definitive calculation. Accordingly, the purchase price allocation reflected in the unaudited transaction accounting adjustments will remain preliminary until Waldencast determines the final purchase price and the fair values of assets acquired and liabilities assumed. The final determination of the purchase price and related allocation is anticipated to be completed as soon as practicable after the completion of the Business Combination. Potential differences may include, but are not limited to, changes in allocation to intangible assets and change in fair value of financing receivable, deferred tax liability, and property and equipment.

The following summarizes the purchase price accounting pro forma adjustments made to the unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as of September 30, 2021, net of reversals of any historical amounts:

However, through the passage of time, it is expected that some awards will vest and increase the amount of consideration and reduce future compensation charges represented by adjustment (FF) in the Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Statements of Operations for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 and year ended December 31, 2020.

The following table depicts the sensitivity of the purchase price and resulting goodwill of Obagi to changes in the price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. The transaction accounting adjustments to goodwill may vary significantly due to volatility in the financial markets. See the section entitled “Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Business Combination and the Company” for more information about factors that may impact the price per share of the Class A ordinary shares.

Inventories: Obagi’s inventory is mainly comprised of finished goods, as Obagi leverages contract manufacturers to source, manufacture and package its products. Obagi carries minimal WIP inventory as (i) an assortment of finished goods that are grouped together by third-party packagers and sold as kits, and (ii) certain raw materials are purchased on behalf of certain contract manufacturers. The fair value of the finished goods was determined using the comparative sales method, which utilizes the actual or expected selling prices of finished goods to customers as a basis for determining fair market values of those finished goods.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Intangible Assets: The following describes intangible assets that may be identified that met either the separability criterion or the contractual-legal criterion described in ASC 805, and the anticipated valuation approach. The trademarks represent the over-arching name of all Obagi's products and is valued using a relief from royalty method. Formulations developed by Obagi differentiate them from others in the market and are valued using the relief from royalty method. The customer lists represent the relationships that Obagi has with partners, resulting in distribution covering over 60 countries around the world, also valued using a relief from royalty method. The licensing agreements give Obagi the right to use certain IP assets of Rohto Pharmaceutical, as well as allowing Rohto to use the Obagi name for products they manufacture and distribute in Japan for which Obagi receives a royalty. The licensing agreements are valued using the discounted cash flow method.

Purchase Consideration: The equity consideration of $183.4 million and $203.1 million under the No Redemptions and Maximum Redemptions scenarios, respectively, reflect the fair value of the Milk Members’ noncontrolling economic interest in Waldencast LP Common Units, which will be redeemable at the option of the holder of such units, and if such option is exercised, will be exchangeable, at the option of Waldencast plc, for an equal number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or cash (together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of voting, Waldencast plc Non-Economic ordinary shares) into Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares on a 1-for-1 basis. $7.5 million of total purchase consideration relates to the acceleration of equity awards for certain Milk executives. Of that amount, $2.1 million relates to equity awards with a performance component based on Milk’s value at Closing. The $2.1 million is based on the estimated achievement of performance objectives that will result in 33% of the objective achieved. As such, 33% of the awards were accelerated. The remaining 67% of the performance awards will be forfeited.

The following table depicts the sensitivity of the purchase price and resulting goodwill to Milk changes in the price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. The transaction accounting adjustments to goodwill may vary significantly due to volatility in the financial markets. See the section entitled “Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Business Combination and the Company” for more information about factors that may impact the price per share of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

Inventories: Milk utilizes contract manufacturers to source, manufacture, and package its products. Thus, Milk primarily holds finished goods inventory. The fair value of the finished goods was determined using the comparative sales method, which utilizes the actual or expected selling prices of finished goods to customers as a basis for determining fair market values of those finished goods.

Intangible Assets: The following describes intangible assets that may be identified that met either the separability criterion or the contractual-legal criterion described in ASC 805, and the anticipated valuation approach. The trademarks represent Milk’s increasing brand presence in the cosmetics and skincare market and is valued using a relief from royalty method. Formulations developed by Milk represent their proprietary formulas in their products, and they are upgraded every 3-5 years. The formulations are valued using the relief from royalty method. The customer/distributor relationships are mainly consisted of Milk’s relationship with Sephora, its key distributor. Sales directly to Sephora accounts for approximately 70% of wholesale sales and sales indirectly to Sephora through major retailer distribution arrangements accounts for approximately 16% of wholesale sales. The customer/distributor relationships are valued using the distributor method.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information does not reflect the income tax effects of the Milk pro forma adjustments as any change in the deferred tax balance would be offset by an increase in the valuation allowance given that Milk has incurred cumulative losses in recent years.

- (AA) Represents the elimination of investment income related to the marketable securities held in the Trust Account.
- (BB) Reflects the total estimated transaction costs expensed as a part of the Business Combination in the statement of operations for the year ended December 31, 2020. Transaction costs are reflected as if incurred on January 1, 2020, the date the Business Combination is deemed to have occurred for the purposes of the unaudited pro forma condensed statement of operations.
- (CC) Reflects the estimated income tax effect of the pro forma adjustments. The tax effect of the pro forma adjustments was calculated using the historical statutory rates in effect for the periods presented. The tax effect does not reflect the income tax effects of the Milk pro forma adjustments as any deferred tax effect would be offset by an increase in the valuation allowance given that Milk has incurred cumulative losses in recent years. Transaction costs expected to be incurred in connection with the Business Combination have not been assessed for deductibility for income tax purposes and accordingly are assumed to be nondeductible for pro forma purposes.
- (DD) Reflects noncontrolling interest in Milk. For the nine months ended September 30, 2021, net income attributable to noncontrolling interest was $0.5 million under the No Redemptions scenario and $0.6 million (an additional $0.1 million adjustment) under the Maximum Redemptions scenario. For the year ended December 31, 2020, net loss attributable to noncontrolling interest was $15.8 million under the No Redemptions scenario and $19.8 million (an additional $4.0 million adjustment) under the Maximum Redemptions scenario.

- (EE) Obagi Worldwide will enter into the IP License Agreement with Obagi Hong Kong, which requires Obagi Hong Kong to pay Obagi a royalty of 5.5% on gross sales of licensed products and services, less taxes and refunded returns. This adjustment reflects royalty income of $0.7 million and $0.2 million that would have been received for the nine-month period ending September 30, 2021 and year ended December 31, 2020, respectively.
- (FF) Reflects the incremental fair value of unvested equity awards that will roll over into equity awards of Waldencast. The fair value was measured and recorded using the Black-Scholes model using the assumed stock price of Waldencast shares at Closing of $10.00 and the exercise price of the original awards converted based on the contractual exchange ratios for the rollover.
- (GG) Reflects the incremental amortization expense and cost of goods sold related to the fair value adjustments for intangible assets and inventory for both Milk and Obagi. Refer to the tables below show the breakout of each of these adjustments:

As a result of the Business Combination, for the nine months ended September 30, 2021, the pro forma basic number of shares are reflective of 109,800,724 Class A ordinary shares outstanding on a No Redemptions basis and 93,066,099 shares on a Maximum Redemptions basis. The diluted number of shares is reflective of 130,159,863 Class A ordinary shares on a No redemptions basis and 115,395,863 shares on a Maximum Redemptions basis after giving effect to the conversion of Class B ordinary shares (and exchange of the related noncontrolling interests) and certain dilutive stock compensation awards. For the year ended December 31, 2020, both the pro forma basic and diluted number of shares are reflective of 109,800,724 Class A ordinary shares outstanding on a No Redemptions basis and 93,066,099 shares on a Maximum Redemptions basis because all potentially dilutive securities are antidilutive due to the pro forma net loss.

INFORMATION ABOUT WALDENCAST

Unless the context otherwise requires, all references in this section to the “Company,” “we,” “us” or “our” refer to Waldencast prior to the consummation of the Business Combination.

A Letter from our Founders

Waldencast has at its core a set of beliefs that go beyond hard-nosed business and financial objectives. Paramount among these beliefs is the belief that our value transcends economic value: that we create value fundamentally by being, and enabling others to be, a force of good in the world. Our terrain is the business of beauty, the most beautiful of businesses. It is not only a simultaneously fun and intellectually fascinating business, but one that has meaning and purpose. One that helps fulfill profoundly human needs: self-worth, self-expression and self-confidence.

Our ambition is to build, over time, a global best-in-class beauty and wellness multi-brand platform by creating, nurturing and scaling the next generation of conscious, purpose-driven brands. Brands that marry purpose, art, beauty and design with industry and commerce to make the planet and the lives of those in it better.

We have entered a new era in the beauty industry, where the incumbents’ traditional sources of advantage are eroding as consumers challenge brands to venture beyond outdated notions of beauty and expect companies to build businesses that are more responsible, sustainable, and inclusive. Incumbents struggle today to adapt to this new world, weighed down by brands anchored on outdated values and asset-heavy infrastructures and organizations that delay reaction times to emerging trends, marketed via large advertising budgets allocated primarily to traditional media, and with a diminishing ability to dominate physical shelf space in retailers. This is propelling the rise of independent brands, as digital/social media is reshaping traditional marketing and product discovery, e-commerce is providing direct access to consumers and bypassing incumbents’ strength in traditional distribution channels, and an emerging global industry ecosystem of high-quality outsourced innovation, production and logistics that enables the market responsive, capital efficient, and asset-light structures of indie brands.

The attractive structural economics, long-term advantages, and business model sustainability of a multi-brand platform are evident to any keen observer of the beauty industry. Hence, we are not a single-brand company; we intend to build the next great house of brands in beauty—a house that preserves the independence and DNA of individual brands to ensure proximity to our customers, business agility, market responsiveness, and the entrepreneurial spirit and ownership mindset of our brand teams. All while creating the operational scale and intelligent synergies that result from the strength of a multi-brand platform with efficient capital allocation, back-office support, and rapid sharing of best practices to grow globally, far beyond what their single-brand resources and capabilities would allow.

Obagi and Milk Makeup are the perfect foundation for our platform. These are strong and complementary brands with a demonstrated ability to continually innovate and connect with their customers and communities in authentic and relevant ways, and with leadership positions in their respective highly attractive industry segments. Ranked number one by U.S. dermatologists, plastic surgeons and other medical practitioners according to independent research conducted in 2020, Obagi is the crown jewel of physician-dispensed brands in the dermo-cosmetic space, the highest-growth category in skin care. It is broadly recognized for its clinical excellence, science-backed approach, and strong sense of purpose. Milk Makeup is an innovative beauty brand amongst Gen-Z and a leader in clean beauty that has grown organically through a diverse and inclusive community and is known for its cultural relevance and iconic products. Following this foundational first step of integrating these two industry leaders, we intend to build a portfolio of beauty and wellness brands across categories, geographies, price points and commercialization models that will enable us to deliver consistent growth across a portfolio designed to withstand economic and category shifts.

Lastly, but crucially, is the culture of our company. Individuals that are part of Waldencast are driven as much by our ambition and the strength of the belief that we are building a fundamentally better way to run a business in the beauty and wellness space as we are by sharing our dreamer and maker values: entrepreneurship with operational rigor, ambition with humility, idealism with practicality, grit with kindness and vision with action. We have the spirit of a challenger, a disruptor, a game-changer. We are a start-up, and we intend to preserve the attitude and ethos of a start-up, regardless of our success.

And so, we start...

General

Waldencast is a blank check company incorporated on December 8, 2020 as a Cayman Islands exempted company and incorporated for the purpose of effecting a merger, share exchange, asset acquisition, share purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses. Although Waldencast is not limited to a particular industry or sector for purposes of consummating a business combination, Waldencast focuses on businesses in the beauty, personal care and wellness sectors, which complements Waldencast's founders' expertise. Waldencast has neither engaged in any operations nor generated any revenue to date. Based on Waldencast's business activities, it is a "shell company" as defined under the Exchange Act because it has no operations and nominal assets consisting almost entirely of cash.

On March 18, 2021, Waldencast consummated the initial public offering of its units, with each unit consisting of one Waldencast Class A ordinary share and one-third of one public warrant. Simultaneously with the closing of the initial public offering, Waldencast completed the private sale of 5,933,333 private placement warrants, at a purchase price of $1.50 per private placement warrant, to the Sponsor generating gross proceeds to Waldencast of $8.9 million. The private placement warrants are identical to the warrants sold as part of the units in Waldencast's initial public offering except that, so long as they are held by the Sponsor or its permitted transferees: (1) they will not be redeemable by Waldencast; (2) they (including the shares issuable upon exercise of these warrants) may not, subject to certain limited exceptions, be transferred, assigned or sold by the Sponsor until 30 days after the completion of Waldencast's initial business combination; (3) they may be exercised by the holders on a cashless basis; and (4) they (including the shares issuable upon exercise of these warrants) are entitled to registration rights.

Following the closing of Waldencast's initial public offering, a total of $345.0 million ($10.00 per unit) of the net proceeds from its initial public offering and the sale of the private placement warrants (inclusive of the partial exercise by the underwriters of the over-allotment option) were placed in the trust account. The proceeds held in the trust account may be invested by the trustee only in U.S. government treasury bills with a maturity of 185 days or less or in money market funds investing solely in U.S. Treasury securities and meeting certain conditions under Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended. As of September 30, 2021, funds in the trust account totaled $345.0 million. These funds will remain in the trust account, except for the withdrawal of interest to pay taxes, if any, until the earliest of (1) the completion of a business combination (including the Closing), (2) the redemption of any public shares properly tendered in connection with a shareholder vote to amend the Cayman Constitutional Documents to modify the substance or timing of Waldencast's obligation to redeem 100% of the public shares if it does not complete a business combination by March 18, 2023 and (3) the redemption of all of the public shares if Waldencast is unable to complete a business combination by March 18, 2023 (or if such date is further extended at a duly called extraordinary general meeting, such later date), subject to applicable law.

Effecting Waldencast's Initial Business Combination

Fair Market Value of Target Business

The rules of Nasdaq require that Waldencast's Business Combination must be with one or more operating businesses or assets with a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the assets held in the trust account (net of amounts disbursed to management for working capital purposes, if permitted, and excluding the amount of any deferred underwriting commissions and taxes payable on the income earned on the trust account). Waldencast's board of directors determined that this test was met in connection with the proposed Business Combination.

Shareholder Approval of Business Combination

Waldencast is seeking shareholder approval of the Business Combination at the extraordinary general meeting, at which shareholders may elect to redeem their shares, regardless of if or how they vote in respect of the Obagi Merger Proposal and the Milk Transaction Proposal, into their pro rata portion of the trust account, calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination including interest earned on the funds held in the trust account and not previously released to us (net of taxes payable). Waldencast will consummate the Business Combination only if we have net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) of at least $5,000,001 upon such consummation and the Condition Precedent Proposals are approved. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a public shareholder, together with any affiliate of such public shareholder or any other person with whom such public shareholder is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined in Section 13(d)(3) of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. Accordingly, if a public shareholder, alone or acting in concert or as a group, seeks to redeem more than 15% of the public shares, then any such shares in excess of that 15% limit would not be redeemed for cash.

The Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how our public shareholders vote. Unlike some other blank check companies in which the initial shareholders agree to vote their shares in accordance with the majority of the votes cast by the public shareholders in connection with an initial business combination, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of the Transaction Agreements and the transactions contemplated thereby, in each case, subject to the terms and conditions contemplated by the Obagi Sponsor Support Agreement and the Milk Sponsor Support Agreement, and waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any ordinary shares held by them. The ordinary shares held by the Sponsor will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Sponsor and Investor Directors own 20% of the issued and outstanding ordinary shares.

At any time at or prior to the Business Combination, subject to applicable securities laws (including with respect to material nonpublic information), the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors or respective Affiliates may (i) purchase public shares from institutional and other investors who vote, or indicate an intention to vote, against any of the Condition Precedent Proposals, or elect to redeem, or indicate an intention to redeem, public shares, (ii) execute agreements to purchase such shares from such investors in the future or (iii) enter into transactions with such investors and others to provide them with incentives to acquire public shares, vote their public shares in favor of the Condition Precedent Proposals or not redeem their public shares. Such a purchase may include a contractual acknowledgement that such shareholder, although still the record holder of Waldencast's shares, is no longer the beneficial owner thereof and therefore agrees not to exercise its redemption rights. In the event that the Sponsor, Obagi, Milk or our or their respective directors, officers, advisors, or respective Affiliates purchase shares in privately negotiated transactions from public shareholders who have already elected to exercise their redemption rights, such selling shareholders would be required to revoke their prior elections to redeem their shares. The purpose of such share purchases and other transactions would be to increase the likelihood of (1) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Obagi Merger Proposal, the Milk Transaction Proposal, Organizational Documents Proposals B and C, the Stock Issuance Proposal, the Milk Issuance Proposal, the Incentive Award Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal, (2) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of a majority of the Waldencast Class B ordinary shares, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Director Election Proposal, (3) satisfaction of the requirement that holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares, represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote at the extraordinary general meeting, vote in favor of the Domestication Proposal and each of Organizational Documents Proposals A and D, (4) satisfaction of the Minimum Cash Conditions, (5) otherwise limiting the number of public shares electing to redeem and (6) Waldencast's net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) being at least $5,000,001.

Liquidation if No Business Combination

If Waldencast has not completed the Business Combination with Obagi and Milk by March 18, 2023, and has not completed another business combination by such date, in each case, as such date may be extended pursuant to Waldencast's Cayman Constitutional Documents, Waldencast will: (1) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up; (2) as promptly as reasonably possible, but not more than 10 business days thereafter, redeem the 34,500,000 public shares, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the trust account, including interest (less up to $0.1 million of interest to pay dissolution expenses and which interest will be net of taxes payable), divided by the number of then issued and outstanding public shares, which redemption will completely extinguish public shareholders' rights as shareholders (including the right to receive further liquidating distributions, if any); and (3) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of Waldencast's remaining shareholders and its board of directors, liquidate and dissolve, subject in each case to its obligations under Cayman Islands law to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law.

The Sponsor has entered into a letter agreement with Waldencast, pursuant to which they have waived their rights to liquidating distributions from the trust account with respect to their Waldencast Class B ordinary shares if

Waldencast fails to complete its business combination within the required time period. However, if the Sponsor owns any public shares, they will be entitled to liquidating distributions from the trust account with respect to such public shares if Waldencast fails to complete its business combination within the allotted time period.

The Sponsor and Waldencast's directors and officers have agreed, pursuant to a written agreement with Waldencast, that they will not propose any amendment to the Cayman Constitutional Documents (A) to modify the substance or timing of Waldencast's obligation to allow for redemption in connection with Waldencast's initial business combination or to redeem 100% of its public shares if it does not complete its business combination by March 18, 2023, or (B) with respect to any other provision relating to shareholders' rights or pre-initial business combination activity, unless Waldencast provides its public shareholders with the opportunity to redeem their public shares upon approval of any such amendment at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the trust account, including interest (which interest will be net of taxes payable), divided by the number of then outstanding public shares. However, Waldencast may not redeem its public shares in an amount that would cause our net tangible assets (as determined in accordance with Rule 3a51-1(g)(1) of the Exchange Act and inclusive of the PIPE Investment Amount and the Forward Purchase Amount actually received by Waldencast prior to or substantially concurrently with the Closing) to be less than $5,000,001 following such redemptions.

Waldencast expects that all costs and expenses associated with implementing its plan of dissolution, as well as payments to any creditors, will be funded from amounts held outside the trust account, although it cannot assure you that there will be sufficient funds for such purpose. However, if those funds are not sufficient to cover the costs and expenses associated with implementing Waldencast's plan of dissolution, to the extent that there is any interest accrued in the trust account not required to pay taxes, Waldencast may request the trustee to release to us an additional amount of up to $0.1 million of such accrued interest to pay those costs and expenses.

The proceeds deposited in the trust account could, however, become subject to the claims of Waldencast's creditors, which would have higher priority than the claims of Waldencast's public shareholders. Waldencast cannot assure you that the actual per-share redemption amount received by public shareholders will not be substantially less than $10.00. See the section entitled "Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Business Combination and the Company — If third parties bring claims against us, the proceeds held in the trust account could be reduced and the per share redemption amount received by shareholders may be less than $10.00 per share (which was the offering price per unit in our initial public offering)" and other risk factors contained herein. While Waldencast intends to pay such amounts, if any, Waldencast cannot assure you that Waldencast will have funds sufficient to pay or provide for all creditors' claims.

Although Waldencast will seek to have all suppliers, service providers (other than Waldencast's independent auditors), prospective target businesses and other entities with which Waldencast does business execute agreements with us waiving any right, title, interest or claim of any kind in or to any monies held in the trust account for the benefit of Waldencast's public shareholders, there is no guarantee that they will execute such agreements or even if they execute such agreements that they would be prevented from bringing claims against the trust account, including, but not limited to, fraudulent inducement, breach of fiduciary responsibility or other similar claims, as well as claims challenging the enforceability of the waiver, in each case in order to gain an advantage with respect to a claim against Waldencast's assets, including the funds held in the trust account. If any third party refuses to execute an agreement waiving such claims to the monies held in the trust account, Waldencast's management will perform an analysis of the alternatives available to it and will enter into an agreement with a third party that has not executed a waiver only if management believes that such third party's engagement would be significantly more beneficial to us than any alternative.

Examples of possible instances where Waldencast may engage a third party that refuses to execute a waiver include the engagement of a third-party consultant whose particular expertise or skills are believed by management to be significantly superior to those of other consultants that would agree to execute a waiver or in cases where Waldencast is unable to find a service provider willing to execute a waiver. In addition, there is no guarantee that such entities will agree to waive any claims they may have in the future as a result of, or arising out of, any negotiations, contracts or agreements with us and will not seek recourse against the trust account for any reason. Upon redemption of Waldencast's public shares, if Waldencast has not completed Waldencast's initial business combination within the required time period, or upon the exercise of a redemption right in connection with Waldencast's business combination, Waldencast will be required to provide for payment of claims of creditors that were not waived that may be brought against us within the 10 years following redemption. In order to protect the amounts held in the trust account, the Sponsor has agreed that it will be liable to us if and to the extent any claims by a third party (other than Waldencast's independent auditors) for services rendered or products sold to us, or a prospective target business with which Waldencast has discussed entering into a transaction agreement, reduce the amount of funds in the trust account to below (i) $10.00 per public share or (ii) such lesser amount per public share held in the trust account as of the date of the liquidation of the trust account, due to reductions in value of the trust assets, in each case net of the amount of interest which may be withdrawn to pay taxes, except as to any claims by a third party who executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the trust account and except as to any claims under Waldencast's indemnity of the underwriters of Waldencast's initial public offering against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act. In the event that an executed waiver is deemed to be unenforceable against a third party, then the Sponsor will not be responsible to the extent of any liability for such third-party claims. Waldencast has not independently verified whether the Sponsor has sufficient funds to satisfy its indemnity obligations and Waldencast believes that the Sponsor's only assets are securities of Waldencast and, therefore, the Sponsor may not be able to satisfy those obligations. None of Waldencast's directors or officers will indemnify us for claims by third parties, including, without limitation, claims by suppliers and prospective target businesses.

In the event that the proceeds in the trust account are reduced below (i) $10.00 per public share or (ii) such lesser amount per public share held in the trust account as of the date of the liquidation of the trust account, due to reductions in value of the trust assets, in each case net of the amount of interest which may be withdrawn to pay taxes, and the Sponsor asserts that it is unable to satisfy its indemnification obligations or that it has no indemnification obligations related to a particular claim, Waldencast's independent directors would determine whether to take legal action against the Sponsor to enforce its indemnification obligations. While Waldencast currently expects that its independent directors would take legal action on Waldencast's behalf against the Sponsor to enforce its indemnification obligations to us, it is possible that Waldencast's independent directors in exercising their business judgment may choose not to do so in any particular instance. Accordingly, Waldencast cannot assure you that due to claims of creditors the actual value of the per-share redemption price will not be substantially less than $10.00 per share. See the section entitled "Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Business Combination and the Company — If third parties bring claims against us, the proceeds held in the trust account could be reduced and the per share redemption amount received by shareholders may be less than $10.00 per share (which was the offering price per unit in our initial public offering)" and other risk factors contained herein.

Waldencast will seek to reduce the possibility that the Sponsor will have to indemnify the trust account due to claims of creditors by endeavoring to have all suppliers, service providers (other than Waldencast's independent auditors), prospective target businesses and other entities with which Waldencast does business execute agreements with us waiving any right, title, interest or claim of any kind in or to monies held in the trust account. The Sponsor will also not be liable as to any claims under Waldencast's indemnity of the underwriters of the initial public offering against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act.

If Waldencast files a winding-up or bankruptcy petition or an involuntary winding-up or bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, the proceeds held in the trust account could be subject to applicable insolvency law, and may be included in Waldencast's insolvency estate and subject to the claims of third parties with priority over the claims of Waldencast's shareholders. To the extent any insolvency claims deplete the trust account, Waldencast cannot assure you Waldencast will be able to return $10.00 per share to Waldencast's public shareholders. Additionally, if Waldencast files a winding-up or bankruptcy petition or an involuntary winding-up or bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, any distributions received by shareholders could be viewed under applicable debtor/creditor and/or insolvency laws as a voidable transfer. As a result, a bankruptcy court could seek to recover some or all amounts received by Waldencast's shareholders. Furthermore, Waldencast's board of directors may be viewed as having breached its fiduciary duty to Waldencast's creditors or may have acted in bad faith, and thereby exposing itself and us to claims of punitive damages, by paying public shareholders from the trust account prior to addressing the claims of creditors. Waldencast cannot assure you that claims will not be brought against us for these reasons. ### Number, Terms of Office and Appointment of Directors and Officers

Waldencast’s board of directors consists of seven members. Prior to Waldencast’s initial business combination, holders of Waldencast’s founder shares have the right to appoint all of our directors and remove members of the board of directors for any reason, and holders of Waldencast’s public shares do not have the right to vote on the appointment of directors during such time. These provisions of our Cayman Constitutional Documents may only be amended by a special resolution passed by a majority of at least 90% of Waldencast’s ordinary shares attending and voting in a general meeting. Each of Waldencast’s directors will hold office for a two-year term. Subject to any other special rights applicable to the shareholders, any vacancies on Waldencast’s board of directors may be filled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the directors present and voting at the meeting of Waldencast’s board of directors or by a majority of the holders of Waldencast’s ordinary shares (or, prior to Waldencast’s initial business combination, holders of Waldencast’s founder shares).

Waldencast’s officers are appointed by the board of directors and serve at the discretion of the board of directors, rather than for specific terms of office. Waldencast’s board of directors is authorized to appoint persons to the offices set forth in the Cayman Constitutional Documents, as it deems appropriate. The Cayman Constitutional Documents provide that Waldencast’s officers may consist of a Chairman, a Chief Executive Officer, a President, a Chief Operating Officer, a Chief Financial Officer, Vice Presidents, a Secretary, Assistant Secretaries, a Treasurer and such other offices as may be determined by the board of directors.

The rules of Nasdaq require that a majority of Waldencast’s board of directors be independent within one year of our initial public offering. An “independent director” is defined generally as a person other than an officer or employee of the company or its subsidiaries or any other individual having a relationship which in the opinion of the company’s board of directors, would interfere with the director’s exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the responsibilities of a director.

Audit committee members must also satisfy the independence criteria set forth in Rule 10A-3 under the Exchange Act, and the listing standards of Nasdaq. In addition, members of Waldencast’s compensation committee and nominating and corporate governance committee must also satisfy the independence criteria set forth under the listing standards of Nasdaq.

Waldencast is not party to any agreements with its directors or officers that provide for benefits upon termination of employment. The existence or terms of any such employment or consulting arrangements may influence Waldencast's management's motivation in identifying or selecting a target business and Waldencast does not believe that the ability of its management to remain with it after the consummation of its initial business combination should be a determining factor in its decision to proceed with any business combination.

On March 18, 2021, we consummated the initial public offering of 34,500,000 units, at $10.00 per unit, generating gross proceeds of $345,000,000, which is discussed in Note 4. Simultaneously with the closing of our initial public offering, Waldencast consummated the sale of 5,933,333 warrants, at a price of $1.50 per private placement warrant, which is discussed in Note 5.

Following the initial public offering and the sale of the warrants, a total of $345,000,000 was placed in the Trust Account. We incurred $20,169,599 in transaction costs, including $6,900,000 of underwriting fees, $12,075,000 of deferred underwriting fees and $1,194,599 of other costs.

For the nine months ending September 30, 2021, cash used in operating activities was $1,168,310. Net income of $5,021,944 was affected by a non-cash change in the fair value of warrant derivative liabilities, and FPA liabilities of $4,009,667 and $2,664,000, respectively, and offering costs related to warrant issuance of $719,201, and interest earned on marketable securities held in the Trust Account of $30,985. Changes in operating assets and liabilities used $204,803 of cash for operating activities.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

As of September 30, 2021, we had marketable securities held in the Trust Account of $345,030,985. We intend to use substantially all of the funds held in the Trust Account, including any amounts representing interest earned on the Trust Account, which interest shall be net of taxes payable and excluding deferred underwriting commissions, to complete the Business Combination. We may withdraw interest from the Trust Account to pay taxes, if any. Through September 30, 2021, we did not withdraw any interest earned on the Trust Account to pay our taxes. To the extent that our share capital or debt is used, in whole or in part, as consideration to complete a business combination (including the proposed Business Combination), the remaining proceeds held in the Trust Account will be used as working capital to finance the operations of the target business or businesses, make other acquisitions and pursue our growth strategies.

As of September 30, 2021, we had cash of $335,058 and working capital of $422,644. We intend to use the funds held outside the Trust Account primarily to identify and evaluate target businesses, perform business due diligence on prospective target businesses, travel to and from the offices, plants or similar locations of prospective target businesses or their representatives or owners, review corporate documents and material agreements of prospective target businesses, structure, negotiate and complete a business combination (including the proposed Business Combination).

In order to fund working capital deficiencies or finance transaction costs in connection with a business combination, our Sponsor or an affiliate of our Sponsor or certain of our officers and directors may, but are not obligated to, loan us funds as may be required. On October 28, 2021, the Sponsor funded $1,500,000 to us. If we complete a business combination, we may repay such loaned amounts out of the proceeds of the Trust Account released to us. In the event that a business combination does not close, we may use a portion of the working capital held outside the Trust Account to repay such loaned amounts, but no proceeds from our Trust Account would be used for such repayment. Up to $1,500,000 of such loans may be convertible into warrants, at a price of $1.50 per warrant, at the option of the lender. The warrants would be identical to the private placement warrants.

We do not believe we will need to raise additional funds to meet the expenditures required for operating our business. However, if our estimate of the costs of identifying a target business, undertaking in-depth due diligence and negotiating a business combination are less than the actual amount necessary to do so, we may have insufficient funds available to operate our business prior to our initial business combination. Moreover, we may need to obtain additional financing either to complete our business combination or because we become obligated to redeem a significant number of our public shares upon completion of our business combination, in which case we may issue additional securities or incur debt in connection with such business combination.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

We have no obligations, assets or liabilities, which would be considered off-balance sheet arrangements as of September 30, 2021. We do not participate in transactions that create relationships with unconsolidated entities or financial partnerships, often referred to as variable interest entities, which would have been established for the purpose of facilitating off-balance sheet arrangements. We have not entered into any off-balance sheet financing arrangements, established any special purpose entities, guaranteed any debt or commitments of other entities, or purchased any non-financial assets.

Contractual Obligations

We do not have any long-term debt, capital lease obligations, operating lease obligations or long-term liabilities, other than an agreement to pay the Sponsor a monthly fee of $10,000 for office space administrative and support services provided to Waldencast. We began incurring these fees on March 15, 2021, and will continue to incur these fees monthly until the earlier of the completion of a business combination and Waldencast's liquidation.

The underwriters of our initial public offering are entitled to a deferred fee of $0.35 per unit, or $12,075,000 in the aggregate. The deferred fee will become payable to the underwriters from the amounts held in the Trust Account solely in the event that we complete a business combination, subject to the terms of the underwriting agreement.

Critical Accounting Policies

This management's discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations is based on our unaudited condensed financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with GAAP. The preparation of our unaudited condensed financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities in our unaudited condensed financial statements. On an ongoing basis, we evaluate our estimates and judgments, including those related to fair value of financial instruments and accrued expenses. We base our estimates on historical experience, known trends and events and various other factors that we believe to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions. We have identified the following as our critical accounting policies:

Class A ordinary shares subject to possible redemption

We account for our ordinary shares subject to possible redemption in accordance with the guidance in ASC Topic 480, “Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity.” Ordinary shares subject to mandatory redemption are classified as liability instruments and are measured at fair value. Conditionally redeemable ordinary shares (including ordinary shares that feature redemption rights that are either within the control of the holder or subject to redemption upon the occurrence of uncertain events not solely within Waldencast’s control) are classified as temporary equity. At all other times, ordinary shares are classified as shareholders’ equity. Waldencast’s ordinary shares feature certain redemption rights that are considered to be outside of our control and subject to occurrence of uncertain future events. As of September 30, 2021, and December 31, 2020, 34,500,000 and zero Class A ordinary shares were subject to possible redemption and are presented at redemption value as temporary equity, outside of the shareholders’ equity section of our balance sheet, respectively.

Warrant Liabilities

We account for the warrants issued in connection with our initial public offering in accordance with ASC 815-40, “Derivatives and Hedging-Contracts in Entity’s Own Equity” (“ASC 815”), under which the warrants do not meet the criteria for equity classification and must be recorded as liabilities. The warrants meet the definition of a derivative as contemplated in ASC 815, and therefore the warrants are measured at fair value at inception and at each reporting date in accordance with ASC 820, “Fair Value Measurement,” with changes in fair value recognized in the condensed statement of operations in the period of change.

Net Earnings (Loss) Per Ordinary Shares

Net earnings (loss) per share is computed by dividing net earnings by the weighted-average number of ordinary shares outstanding during the period.

The Company’s statement of operations includes a presentation of net earnings (loss) per share for ordinary shares subject to possible redemption and applies the two-class method in calculating net earnings (loss) per share. Net earnings per ordinary share, basic and diluted, for Class A redeemable ordinary shares is calculated by dividing the allocable interest income earned on the Trust Account, net of applicable franchise and income taxes, by the weighted average number of Class A ordinary shares subject to possible redemption outstanding since original issuance. Net loss per share, basic and diluted, for Class A and Class B non-redeemable ordinary shares is calculated by dividing the net loss, adjusted for income attributable to Class A redeemable ordinary shares, by the weighted average number of Class A and Class B non-redeemable ordinary shares outstanding for the period. Class B non-redeemable ordinary shares include the shares held by the Sponsor as these shares do not have any redemption features and do not participate in the income earned on the Trust Account.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

We do not believe that any recently issued, but not yet effective, accounting pronouncements, if currently adopted, would have a material impact on our unaudited condensed financial statements.

JOBS Act

On April 5, 2012, the JOBS Act was signed into law. The JOBS Act contains provisions that, among other things, relax certain reporting requirements for qualifying public companies. We qualify as an “emerging growth company” under the JOBS Act and are allowed to comply with new or revised accounting pronouncements based on the effective date for private (not publicly traded) companies. We elected to delay the adoption of new or revised accounting standards, and as a result, we may not comply with new or revised accounting standards on the relevant dates on which adoption of such standards is required for non-emerging growth companies. As a result, our unaudited condensed financial statements may not be comparable to companies that comply with new or revised accounting pronouncements as of public company effective dates.

As an “emerging growth company”, we are not required to, among other things, (i) provide an auditor’s attestation report on our system of internal controls over financial reporting pursuant to Section 404, (ii) provide all of the compensation disclosure that may be required of non-emerging growth public companies under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, (iii) comply with any requirement that may be adopted by the PCAOB regarding mandatory audit firm rotation or a supplement to the auditor’s report providing additional information about the audit and the unaudited condensed financial statements (auditor discussion and analysis), and (iv) disclose certain executive compensation related items such as the correlation between executive compensation and performance and comparisons of the CEO’s compensation to median employee compensation. These exemptions will apply for a period of five years following the completion of our initial public offering or until we are no longer an “emerging growth company,” whichever is earlier.

Obagi Purpose & Ambition

Obagi exists to create the future of skincare so every face is cared for, everywhere. We offer transformative solutions at every stage of the skincare journey to help you greet the future with confidence.

Our ambition is to make Obagi the top dermo credentialed brand in the world, driving strong growth through channel and geographic diversification, and to continue to progress the industry that we pioneered with devices, new indications, and new product categories.

Corporate Information

Obagi launched in 1988 under the name Worldwide Product Distribution, Inc. and subsequently changed its name to Obagi Medical Products, Inc. in December 1997. In October 2007, the company completed an initial public offering of its common stock and was traded on Nasdaq under the trading symbol “OMPI.” In April 2013, the company merged with and into Odysseus Acquisition Corp., with the company as the surviving corporation in the merger, becoming a wholly owned subsidiary of Bausch Health Companies Inc. (“Bausch Health”). In November 2017, Bausch Health sold substantially all of the assets of Obagi Medical Products, Inc. and its subsidiaries to Obagi Holdco, a wholly owned subsidiary of Obagi, and Obagi Cosmeceuticals, a wholly owned subsidiary of Obagi Holdco.

Overview

Obagi is a global skincare products company that is rooted in science and skin biology. We develop, market and sell innovative skin health products in more than 60 countries around the world. Every product we develop stems from a deep understanding of the skin and how healthy skin functions. We believe the result is an unmatched product portfolio designed to prevent or improve the most common, visible skin concerns such as fine lines and wrinkles, elasticity, photodamage, hyperpigmentation (spots or patches of skin that are darker than surrounding areas of skin), acne, oxidative stress, environmental damage and hydration.

Centered on our rich history in selling products to medical professionals who then dispense the products in-office directly to their patients, a distribution model referred to as the physician-dispensed channel, our portfolio today includes the following three distinct brands, with more than 200 cosmetic, over-the-counter (“OTC”) and prescription products and a device sold throughout the medical, spa and retail channels:

- Obagi Medical®—Products within our flagship brand are designed for professional recommendation in a clinical setting. This line of scientifically-backed, clinically proven systems and products is targeted to consumers looking for the most advanced product formulations in a customized skincare regimen.
- Obagi Clinical®—Developed to prevent and reduce the early signs of aging. We built this line for the ‘skin-tellectual’ consumer who knows high-quality ingredients and is increasingly focused on product efficacy and quality.
- Obagi Professional™—A new, curated portfolio of products for use in spas, we designed this line for the aesthetician and the consumer who understands the connection between wellness and skin health.
- Skintrinsiq™ device—Used in facial treatments offered by physicians’ offices, spas and aestheticians.

In the U.S., we sell our Obagi Medical systems and products to dermatologists, plastic surgeons and other physicians who are focused on aesthetic and therapeutic skincare, including physicians on site at medical spas, through our direct sales force. The medical professionals we sell to then dispense our products in-office directly to their patients. As of September 2021, we had over 4,900 active accounts, which we define as an account that has purchased our products in the last 12 months, and estimate that there are over 6,000 physicians in total practicing under these active accounts. In addition to providing our physician practices and medical spas with products, we also offer turn-key practice building programs and patient events to help these physicians grow their practices, as well as in-office materials on our products for their patients. We sell our Obagi Clinical products through retail channels, the Obagi Professional line to aestheticians and spas, and the Skintrinsiq device through the physician-dispensed channel as well as to aestheticians and spas.

Internationally we sell our products through distribution partners across Latin America, Europe, the Middle East and Asia. We also seek to advance our development objectives through product and license agreements with third parties. These agreements may include patent and technology licenses, product licenses and new product collaboration agreements. We compete in the Japanese retail skin care markets through a strategic licensing agreement with a Japanese pharmaceutical manufacturer and distributor that sells a series of OTC and cosmetic products under the Obagi® brand name in the Japanese retail channels.

The Skincare Market

According to the American Society of Plastic Surgeons, there were almost 15,600,000 cosmetic procedures performed in the U.S. in 2020, despite the fact many medical facilities and clinics were shut down or banned elective procedures for lengthy periods due to the COVID-19 pandemic. We believe this reflects a growing desire and acceptance among the population to seek assistance from physicians to improve their appearance, including the appearance of their skin. One key driver of this trend is the aging of the “baby boomer” segment of the U.S. population, as well as the “millennial” segment, whose oldest members are now nearing 40. As a result, the average age of the country’s population has increased over the last decade. With the older population’s strong desire to reduce the signs of premature aging, we expect the market opportunity for skincare products to continue to grow. In particular, women tend to demonstrate a higher motivation than men to improve their personal appearances. The U.S. Census Bureau estimated that the number of women between the ages of 35 and 69, the primary users of our products, grew 21.7% between 2000 and 2018. In addition, during the recent COVID-19 pandemic, as in person meetings shifted to video calls and virtual meetings, we believe adult consumers of all ages were progressively seeing themselves more on screen and began focusing more on their appearances. We believe that these trends will continue to drive an increased market demand for skincare products.

According to industry sources, in 2019, there were approximately 11,080 physicians practicing dermatology and 6,900 practicing plastic surgeons in the U.S. Based on physicians who have opened accounts with us, we believe multi-specialty physicians are also dedicating resources in their practices to skin care in response to the rapid increase in consumer demand for non-invasive skincare treatments. The physician-dispensed market experienced a compound annual growth rate of 8.7% over the five-year period from 2014-2019, according to industry sources.

Over the last ten years, consumers have become increasingly knowledgeable about skincare science, ingredients and formulations. According to industry sources, consumers are shifting desire for quality over price and looking for higher performance products. Retailers like Sephora, Ulta, and Target have been expanding brand assortments to capitalize on the fast-growing premium beauty skincare category. Specifically, they are trying to attract and maintain customers seeking more advanced products than offered by mass brands, but also looking for the purchasing convenience and accessibility of retail outlets.

In addition, sales of professional skincare products through spas have increased, generating $492.1 million of sales in 2019, up 4.7% from $470.0 million in 2018, according to industry sources.

Outside the U.S., the physician-dispensed skincare market varies by country due to cultural differences and regulatory requirements. Cultural desires for skin with lighter and more even pigmentation have created large and growing aesthetic skincare demands throughout Asia, particularly Japan, China, Korea and India. European and certain South American countries such as Brazil also present large skincare markets due to the complementary growth in cosmetic procedures and willingness on the part of their consumers to spend discretionary income on aesthetic enhancements. Industry sources estimate that in 2021 the global market for beauty and personal care was approximately $525 billion, with skincare representing approximately $155 billion. The physician-dispensed skincare market percentage growth was approximately 2.5 times the percentage growth of the premium skincare market from 2018-2020. The premium skincare market, defined as buyers who prefer luxury brands, accounted for $62 billion of the total global skincare market, with approximately 47% of premium skincare buyers, versus approximately 20% of non-premium buyers, using 8-14 skincare products weekly. The global market for skincare is estimated to reach approximately $209 billion by 2025, with premium skincare expected to grow at a compound annual growth rate of approximately 11% from 2021 through 2025.

Obagi Products

Our comprehensive portfolio of products is designed to meet the needs of users no matter what their skin tone or where they are in their skincare journey.

Obagi Medical

Our flagship brand, launched in 1988, is among the most respected and most recognized brands in the professional skincare category. According to independent research conducted in 2020, Obagi earned the number one rank for perception and satisfaction among U.S. physicians, performing best for product portfolio, innovation and marketing. We believe the strength of Obagi Medical's reputation lies in the robust clinical evidence we have developed to support our products including more than 30 clinical studies across thousands of subjects and all six skin types on the Fitzpatrick scale, which classifies skin type according to the amount of pigment a person's skin has and the skin's reaction to sun exposure. Products within the Obagi Medical portfolio are developed using medical-grade formulations and scrupulous ingredient standards. Furthermore, they are subjected to extensive, rigorous clinical testing to demonstrate their powerful results.

Obagi Medical is anchored by the Obagi Nu-Derm® System, which we believe is the leading prescription-based topical skin health system on the market. The Obagi Nu-Derm System and related products accounted for 28.0% of net revenue in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, and approximately 32.6 % and 37.1% of our net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019 respectively. While we have earned a strong reputation for offering premier hyperpigmentation solutions, our portfolio has expanded over time to include a line of Vitamin C powered antioxidant products, our Professional-C® line, which accounted for 17.4 % and 15.5% % of our net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, as well as the ELASTIderm® line, which leverages a patented Bi-Mineral Contour Complex™ technology to address elasticity and firmness in the skin and accounted for 8.8% and 8.4% of our net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. Other products within the comprehensive Obagi Medical franchise include products to address hydration, sun protection and acne. These solutions incorporate a range of individual prescription and non-prescription therapeutic agents, as well as cosmetic ingredients to address the needs of consumers who seek advanced medical-grade skincare in a customized skincare regimen designed by a professional.

Certain of our products listed above, including Nu-Derm Clear, Blender and Sunfader, as well as Obagi-C Rx C-Clarifying Serum and Obagi-C Rx C-Night Therapy Cream, which are part of the Obagi-C Rx Systems, contain a 4% concentration of the ingredient hydroquinone (“HQ”). These products are marketed as prescription-only drugs, however, we have not sought nor obtained premarket approval from the FDA to market these products in the U.S. The FDA has historically utilized a risk-based enforcement approach with respect to drugs marketed without approval in accordance with its CPG, in which it announced a drug safety initiative to remove unapproved drugs from the market and established enforcement priorities and a policy of enforcement discretion with respect to marketed unapproved products. While FDA has expressed its view that all prescription HQ products should be reviewed and approved by the FDA, we believe our prescription-only HQ products do not fall within the previously established categories of unapproved drugs for which the FDA has indicated it prioritizes enforcement. However, the FDA may disagree and determine that our HQ products should be removed from the market until we obtain approval of an NDA. For example, although our prescription-only HQ products are made with 4% HQ, the FDA has expressed concerns regarding the safety of 2% HQ products, which were historically sold on an OTC basis, and has recommended additional safety studies be performed on 2% HQ for potential carcinogenicity and reproductive toxicity. In addition, the CARES Act implemented a number of changes to regulation of OTC drugs, one of which prohibited the sale of HQ (at any concentration level) from being marketed in the U.S. as an OTC drug without FDA approval based on a final rule issued by FDA that HQ products sold over the counter are not generally considered as safe and effective. In many countries, including the EU, Canada, Australia and Japan, HQ is regulated as a drug and requires a prescription. We have not sought nor obtained regulatory approval to distribute our HQ products in these countries, and instead offer our Nu-Derm Fx and Obagi-C Fx solutions, which contain the skin brightening agent arbutin, for these markets. See the section entitled “Risks Related to Legal and Regulatory Matters — Our products containing the active ingredient, hydroquinone (“HQ”), are marketed as prescription-use only drugs but have not received marketing authorization from the FDA or other regulatory authorities, and we could be found to be marketing and selling these products in violation of the law.”

Obagi Clinical

Our Obagi Clinical line, launched in December 2018, is designed to meet the needs of “skin-tellectual” consumers who may not yet regularly visit a dermatologist or skincare professional. This retail skincare brand leverages the 33-year legacy of Obagi Medical to incorporate clinically proven ingredients in solutions that maintain healthy, more youthful-looking skin, mitigate environmental damage and address the emerging signs of skin aging. This line includes the following:

Obagi Clinical products accounted for 1.9% and 2.1% of net revenue and the years ended December 31, 2019 and 2020, respectively.

Skintrinsiq Device

In 2021, facial services saw the greatest increase in demand among minimally invasive procedures. Capitalizing on this trend, Obagi, in collaboration with Theravent, Inc., was the first professional skincare company to market a professional-use facial device offering consumers an advanced delivery system for Obagi’s transformational products.

Leveraging our expansive knowledge as a leader in the medical skincare market, we began distributing the Skintrinsiq device powered by Obagi InfuseIQ™ technology to physician’s offices and medical spas in July 2021. The device features a small footprint and easy-to-use interface designed to minimize training time and maximize time for patient care. Additionally, the Skintrinsiq device offers physicians another opportunity to consult with consumers about their at-home skincare regimens and creates a mechanism for patient retention within the practice. We believe the Skintrinsiq pricing allows physicians to quickly recoup their initial expense while offering the treatments to patients at a reasonable price. The Skintrinsiq device is regulated by the FDA as a medical device, which we believe is exempt from FDA premarket review requirements based on its risk classification. However, the FDA may disagree, as device classification depends on the intended use of the device and the risk the device poses to the patient and/or user, and the FDA has taken action against manufacturers of some light-emitting products used to alter or improve appearance on the grounds that those products are unapproved medical devices.

The SkintrinsiQ treatment uses innovative technology to extract impurities from the skin, infuse Obagi skincare products exactly where they are needed most and then lock them in so they can continue working even after the treatment ends. We have also incorporated an optional simultaneous LED light to provide red and/or blue light therapy to help meet a wide variety of skin health goals. Customized SkintrinsiQ treatment protocols can accelerate patients' transformations and take Obagi® skincare results to the next level. By improving results, we believe the SkintrinsiQ device will help attract new consumers to physician practices and medical spas.

Obagi Professional

Launching in early 2022, the Obagi Professional line was built for the wellness-conscious consumer who understands the overlap between overall health and skin health. Designed with insights from partnering with more than 1,300 spas across the U.S., this brand franchise contains a curated line of science-backed, technologically advanced products suited for use by professional aestheticians within the spa market. The 16 products offered under the Obagi Professional line can be used in facial treatments and purchased for take home use.

Rigorous Clinical Program

Our Scientific Affairs program aims to design and execute studies that demonstrate the high-quality design of our formulas and powerful performance of our products. Bausch Health, the manufacturer of our tretinoin products has an ANDA for such products, which are generic versions of drug products that have undergone the rigorous clinical studies required by the FDA. Although none of our other products are distributed under an NDA or ANDA approved by the FDA, we conduct rigorous testing of all of products, whether they are cosmetics, OTC drugs or prescription-strength products, to ensure their safety and efficacy. Prior to launch, our products undergo several safety tests, including, but not limited to, human repeat insult patch tests, used to help predict the likelihood for induced allergic contact dermatitis, comedogenicity tests, to ensure the product does not clog pores, and cumulative irritation tests. In addition to these safety and tolerability studies, we have conducted more than 30 clinical efficacy studies with the leading academic institutions and key independent experts in dermatology and aesthetic medicine for our products, including, but not limited to, the following:

These studies not only serve to substantiate our product claims, they have been instrumental in establishing our reputation as a science-based, clinically proven brand. These studies also help to demonstrate the craftsmanship of our formulas through stability tests, penetration studies, head-to-head comparative studies and consumer perception studies. We constantly seek new protocols and testing methods that analyze and demonstrate the power of our products. We continue to expand our collaborations with leading dermatologists and institutions to coordinate additional clinical studies for new product applications and formulations. In alignment with our value of promoting and representing diversity and inclusion in skincare, Obagi was the first medical skincare brand to design clinical research protocols to cover all six skin types across the Fitzpatrick scale. Today, we remain focused on that commitment to ensure we deliver on our promise of providing high-quality products for every stage of the skincare journey, no matter your age or skin tone.

SKINCLUSION

In May 2019, we launched our SKINCLUSION® initiative, designed to elevate the global dialogue about diversity and how we can all make conscious choices to see the beauty in all our differences. Born from the insight that more than 70% of consumers do not see themselves represented in beauty marketing and advertising, we aimed to change the narrative. Leading with our conviction to provide transformative skincare for every face, everywhere, we built a communication platform to discuss why representation matters, show how lack of inclusivity stems from unconscious bias, and inspire other industry leaders to follow suit. Over the last two years, we've continued to progress this initiative by incorporating more diversity in our model photography, our social media content, and our brand ambassadors. We champion new areas to represent diversity such as partnering with a woman who became the first model with Down syndrome to represent a skincare brand.

The campaign mirrors Obagi's commitment to diversity and inclusion in all aspects of its business – from corporate culture to product development. With ambassadors ranging from celebrities and renowned dermatologists to a Down Syndrome advocate, role model and model, the global awareness initiative also includes donations in excess of $0.2 million to support organizations like the International Cultural Diversity Organization and Project Implicit.

Sales & Marketing

Domestic

In the U.S., we sell our Obagi Medical systems and related products to physicians, including physicians on site at medical spas, through our direct sales force. The medical professionals we sell to then dispense our products in-office, directly to their patients, a distribution method commonly referred to as the "physician-dispensed" channel. We also sell the SkintrinsiQ device through the physician-dispensed channel as well as to licensed aestheticians. We believe that the physician-dispensed distribution model ultimately results in higher patient satisfaction because it is better suited to the provision of system-based skin care than traditional drug distribution channels. Our physician customer base consists primarily of plastic surgeons and dermatologists, but also includes physicians from other practice areas, such as general practice, family practice, internal medicine, dental and OBGYNs who are adding skin care to their practices.

As of September 2021, we had a large healthcare professional account base consisting of more than 4,900 active accounts. Each account has at least one licensed physician on-site and we estimate that there were over 6,000 physicians in total practicing under these active accounts resulting in broad distribution of Obagi products in the majority of dispensing aesthetic clinics. Our sales and marketing team consisted of 124 sales, marketing and education specialists, including 85 dedicated sales representatives and managers, as of September 30, 2021. In addition to providing our accounts with products, we also offer turn-key practice building programs and patient events to help these physicians grow their practices, as well as in-office materials on our products for their patients.

We sell our products to healthcare professionals in the U.S. through an authorized wholesale distributor, Boxout Health. Under this model, we sell the products to Boxout Health, which then sells the products through to our physician customers when they order them. As a result, Boxout Health accounted for approximately 34.4% of net revenue in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, and 54.1% and 61.0% of our net revenue during the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

We sell our Obagi Clinical line of products through our online store at www.obagi.com as well as through Target's online store at www.target.com.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

The U.S. market accounted for approximately 42.9% of our net revenue in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, and 65.0% and 71.9% of our net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2019 and 2020, respectively.

International

International markets accounted for approximately 57.1% of our net revenue in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, and 35.03 % and 28.1% of our net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2019 and 2020, respectively. We address international markets through 27 international distribution partners that have sales and marketing activities in over 60 countries outside of the U.S., and a trademark and know-how license agreement and a license distribution agreement for the retail drug store channel in Japan. We target distribution partners who are capable and willing to mirror our sales and distribution model in the U.S. and who have an established business and reputation with physicians. The products that we sell internationally are generally the same formulations as those sold in the U.S.; however, in some instances, formulations have been modified to comply with the regulatory requirements of certain countries. These distributors use a model similar to our business model in the U.S., addressing their territories through direct sales representatives who sell to physicians, or through alternative distribution channels, depending on regulatory requirements and industry practices. Our distribution agreements typically grant distributors the right to distribute and sell our products to licensed medical professionals and skincare clinics within a specified territory, require them to purchase a specified minimum amount of our products each year and have a term of two to five years. We generally reserve the rights to distribute our products through other channels and e-commerce in such territories. Although we have a broad base of distributors, our SA Distributor accounted for approximately 27.7% of our net revenue in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, and 8.1% and 9.9% of our net revenue during the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. Our agreement with the SA Distributor grants the SA Distributor the exclusive right to distribute our products in Vietnam and South Korea, contains minimum purchase requirements and has a term that expires on December 31, 2026. In January 2022, we executed an amendment with the SA Distributor to expand the countries within Southeast Asia in which it may distribute our products. Accordingly, our sales to such distributor may comprise an even greater proportion of our net revenue in the future. Net revenue from sales in Europe and China, each of which are covered by a number of different distributors, accounted for 7.5% and 4.1% of our net revenue in the year ended December 31, 2020, respectively. Southeast Asia and China are the only geographic regions that we expected to account for more than 10% of our net revenue for the year ended December 31, 2021.

We intend to continue expanding our international presence by entering into strategic relationships in key locations such as Asia, Europe and South America. We believe that there is potential for significant sales growth of our products in international markets due to cultural emphasis on overall skin health and appearance, and the continued development and acceptance of surgical and non-surgical cosmetic procedures throughout many countries of the world.

Licensing

In Japan, we built an alternative model to build a presence and brand awareness for our products. For example, in Japan we launched a formal long-term relationship by entering into a Trademark and Know-How License Agreement with Rohto Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd. (“Rohto”) to market and sell our Obagi-developed products in Japan. Rohto is a Japanese pharmaceutical manufacturer and distributor. Under our current agreement, Rohto is licensed to manufacture and sell a series of OTC and cosmetic products developed by it under the Obagi brand name in the Japanese drug store channel, for which it pays us a license fee. In 2008, we expanded that relationship to provide for collaboration on the development of new products and to pursue the higher end department store channel in Japan. Our strategic partner in Japan has engaged in aggressive direct-to-consumer advertising, which we believe has raised consumer demand in Japan, creating greater brand awareness in the physician channel to the benefit of our core prescription lines.

Concurrently with the Closing, we will enter into the IP License Agreement and Supply Agreement with Obagi Hong Kong for the sale of Obagi products throughout the China Region, including the People’s Republic of China, Hong Kong, Macau and Taiwan. Under these agreements, we will supply, or cause to be supplied through certain CMOs, Obagi products to Obagi Hong Kong and its Affiliates, and Obagi Hong Kong will purchase such products, with the exclusive right to distribute and sell such products in the China Region. In return, Obagi Hong Kong will pay us a royalty of five and a half percent (5.5%) of gross sales of licensed products, subject to certain deductions.

We will continue to look for credible partners to address new geographies, and to evaluate alternative channel opportunities in Japan and other countries to drive brand awareness and accelerate overall market penetration.

Strategic Initiatives for Driving Growth

Our ambition is to be the top dermo credentialed brand in the world, driving strong growth through channel and geographic diversification. Obagi plans to focus on three key initiatives to achieve this goal:

- Brand Expansion—We plan to continue building upon the highly respected reputation of the Obagi brand by expanding the brand franchises that leverage our medical heritage. In December 2018 we introduced the science-backed Obagi Clinical brand to online consumers and plan to expand the retail channels where it is available, thereby introducing more consumers to the Obagi brand. In addition, in July 2021 we launched the SkintrinsiQ device and in the first quarter of 2022 we plan to launch our Obagi Professional brand in an effort to introduce even more consumers who may not yet be familiar with physician-dispensed products to Obagi. As these consumers age and begin to seek medical grade skincare to address the progressive signs of skin aging, they can graduate to the Obagi Medical line.
- Channel Expansion—While we continue undertaking significant efforts to further our market penetration within the physician-dispensed channel, which we estimate is currently at about 40% in the U.S. market, we intend to also focus on continuing to implement our omni-channel strategy to expand our distribution beyond this market segment. In December 2020, in tandem with the redesign of our own website, we launched our first e-commerce store to enable us to sell our Obagi Medical OTC and cosmetic products directly to consumers. Our Obagi Clinical line allowed us to branch into retail channels for the first time, and we expect our Obagi Professional line to enable us to start our footprint within the spa and wellness channel. The SkintrinsiQ device will also allow us to expand offerings within the spa and wellness channel and to aestheticians who are not affiliated with a physician's office.
- International Growth—Finally, we intend to continue expanding our international presence. As we continue to enhance our own U.S. online web store, we plan to build and execute a global e-commerce strategy that will enable us to reach consumers in several international markets, including some in which we may not have a distribution partner. At the same time, we will focus on growing our network of third-party distributors in key large international markets, such as Europe, Brazil, Southeast Asia and the Middle East. We also plan to drive distribution of our products through strategic relationships in other countries, including Japan and China.

Competitive Strengths

We believe we are well-positioned to achieve our strategic initiatives as a result of the following competitive strengths:

- Market leading brand—Obagi has been a leader in the physician-dispensed market from inception, being one of the first companies to offer skincare products in the market over 30 years ago. According to a survey conducted by an independent research firm of physicians and medical offices that dispense skincare products in the U.S., in 2020 Obagi ranked the highest for overall performance of dermatologist credentialed skincare brands.
- Robust portfolio of high-quality, science-based products—Our product portfolio currently consists of over 200 products. While some of the competitors in the skincare market also offer a broad spectrum of products, only one other competitor, ZO Skin Health, offers both prescription strength and non-prescription products. In addition, many competitors in our primary market, physician-dispensed, generally have more narrowly focused offerings, addressing only targeted skincare problems, while our portfolio addresses all of the most common visible skin disorders.
- Diversified, omni-channel market with global geographic coverage—We believe that our diversified, omni-channel strategy gives us a competitive advantage over many skincare companies that choose to focus only on the physician-dispensed market. By offering a medical grade skincare line as well as curated separate product lines for the retail, spa and wellness channels, we believe we are able to expand our brand recognition and meet the consumer where they are in their skincare journeys, with the eventual goal of graduating these consumers to the Obagi Medical line. In addition, our global breadth into over 60 countries positions us well to achieve worldwide brand recognition. Our strategic relationship with Rohto and agreements with Obagi Hong Kong allow us to penetrate the markets in Japan and China, which represents a large growing market for skincare, and we intend to continue expanding our network of distributors and strategic partners.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- Specialized and efficient global sales force—Our domestic internal sales force of 95 professional representatives and education specialists allows us to develop close relationships with the physicians who dispense our products throughout the U.S. In addition, our global sales force consists of 27 international distributors who sell our products in over 60 countries throughout the world. We believe the breadth and experience of our internal and global sales network provide us with a competitive advantage.
- Demonstrated financial performance through disciplined execution—While growth initiatives such as the ones we have undertaken over the last few years require significant investments, we have been able to achieve our growth through disciplined execution. Our net revenue has increased from $94.3 million for the year ended December 31, 2018 to projected net revenue of over $190.0 million for the year ending December 31, 2021.

Competition

The market for aesthetic and therapeutic skin health products is highly competitive and we expect the intensity of competition to increase in the future. We also expect to encounter increased competition as we enter new markets and/or distribution channels, attempt to penetrate existing markets with new products and expand into new distribution channels. Our principal competitors are large, well established companies in the fields of pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, medical devices and health care. Our largest direct competitors include SkinCeuticals, a division of L’Oreal S.A., SkinMedica, Inc., a division of Allergan, Inc., ZO Skin Health, PCA Skin and EltaMD, each a division of Colgate-Palmolive. Our indirect competitors for Obagi Medical® products and direct competitors for our Obagi Clinical® products sell skin care products directly to consumers, and generally consist of large well known cosmetic companies, including but not limited to, La Roche -Posay, Dermalogica, Murad and dermatologist backed brands, such as Dr. Dennis Gross. In the spa and wellness channel our main competitors will be Dermalogica, Murad and Eminence. We also face competition from medical device companies offering products to physicians, aestheticians and spa and wellness centers that are used in facial treatments.

Competitive factors in our market include:

- product efficacy, uniqueness, quality, reliability of performance and convenience of use;
- brand awareness and recognition;
- breadth of product offerings;
- sales and marketing capabilities and methods of distribution;
- resources devoted to product education and technical support;
- speed of introducing new competitive products and existing product upgrades; and
- cost-effectiveness.

We face and will continue to face intense competition. A number of our competitors have greater research and development and marketing capabilities, more diverse distribution channels and greater financial resources than we do. These competitors may have developed, or could in the future develop, new technologies that compete with our products or render our products obsolete. We are also likely to encounter increased competition as we enter new markets and as we attempt to further penetrate existing markets.

Manufacturing

We currently outsource all our product manufacturing to third-party contract manufacturers. We have two or more qualified manufacturers for some of our key products, however, certain products, including some of our sun protection products, are currently supplied by a single source. The termination of our agreement with a single source supplier or any loss or disruption of services under such agreement could be difficult for us to replace upon the same favorable terms. The transfer of technology required to begin using a new manufacturer is also a lengthy process, which can take six to 18 months to achieve. We believe our manufacturing processes provide us with a competitive advantage, which we have developed through years of experience formulating skin care products. For all of our proprietary product concepts, we believe we own the related manufacturing processes, methods and formulations.

We use FDA-compliant manufacturers who specialize in the manufacture of prescription and OTC pharmaceutical and/or cosmetic products. These parties manufacture products pursuant to our specifications. All of these manufacturers are required by law and by our manufacturing standards to comply with current Good Manufacturing Practice. We pre-qualify and continually monitor our manufacturers for quality and compliance. We also require documentation of compliance and quality from those manufacturers for whom we act as representative in connection with the promotion and sale of their products.

Bausch Health, which formerly owned the business of Obagi, is our only supplier and manufacturer of tretinoin. We have a contract with Bausch Health that has an initial termination date in 2027. While there are several other manufacturers of generic tretinoin, the termination of this agreement or any loss of services under the agreement could be difficult for us to replace upon the same favorable terms.

In October 2020 we entered into development and production agreement with Theravant, Inc., under which Theravant has agreed to work collaboratively with us to develop and manufacture the Skintrinsiq device exclusively for Obagi. We serve as the exclusive distributor of the device under the agreement. The initial term of the agreement expires at the end of December 2023.

Intellectual Property

The design of our systems and products is generally proprietary to us, and we hold over 80 provisional and issued patents worldwide for the composition of many of these products. Our success depends in part on our ability to obtain and maintain proprietary protection for our product candidates, technology and know-how, to operate without infringing the proprietary rights of others and to prevent others from infringing our proprietary rights. Our policy is to seek to protect our proprietary position by, among other methods, filing U.S. and foreign patent applications related to our proprietary technology, inventions and improvements that are important to the development of our business when appropriate. We also rely on trade secrets, trade dress, know-how, continuing technological innovation and in-licensing opportunities to develop and maintain our proprietary position.

We have pursued an aggressive trademark registration policy aimed at achieving brand recognition and product differentiation in the market. We own over 1,000 U.S. and foreign trademark registrations and applications and common law marks.

We have also acquired rights to market, distribute, sell and, in some cases, make products pursuant to license agreements with other third parties. For instance, in December 2016, Obagi entered into an exclusive license and distribution agreement with Nextcell Medical Company, under which we have the exclusive right to market, sell and distribute the SUZANOBAGIMD® line of products in the U.S. and all U.S. Territories. The initial term of the agreement expires in April 2023.

In September 2020, we entered into an exclusive license and distribution agreement with Osmotics Cosmeceuticals LLC, pursuant to which we have been granted the exclusive right to market, sell and distribute the Obagi Professional line of products worldwide. The initial term of the agreement expires in September 2023 and can be renewed by the other party for additional one-year terms upon 30 days' prior written notice to Obagi. In addition, in April 2021, Obagi entered into a master supply and distribution agreement with Maxey Cosmetics LLC ("Maxey"), under which it has been granted the right to market, sell and distribute Obagi Nu-Cil™ throughout the world, with such right being (i) exclusive in Asia and (ii) shared with Maxey through any of Maxey's current channels (except for certain specified major cosmetic retail outlets) in the U.S., Europe, Africa and the Middle East. The agreement has an initial term through April 2026.

Employees

At Obagi, we are committed to hiring and nurturing diverse talent and believe this is one of the keys to our current and future success. More than 52% of our employee base identifies as BIPOC. Additionally, our leadership team consists of a diverse group of professionals, 70% of whom are women, dedicated to promoting inclusivity. In 2019, our executive leadership team underwent Unconscious Bias training in partnership with Project Implicit and the Skinclusion initiative to ensure we proactively address subconscious biases.

The team has built a culture that combines a fast moving and outcome-oriented mindset with a tight knit sense of community, winning both a Top Workplaces USA Award and a Top Workplace Led by Women Award in 2021. Obagi is mindful of diversity during the recruiting and retaining process and believes that diversity is key to its culture and long-term success, with 71% of our employee base being women. As of September 30, 2021, we had 177 employees. Our employees include 124 in sales and marketing, 12 in research, development and quality control, 23 in operations and distribution and 18 in administrative functions. Our employees are all non-unionized, and we believe our relations with our employees are good.

Properties

Obagi's corporate headquarters are located in Long Beach, California, where it occupies facilities totaling approximately 28,300 rentable square feet under a lease that expires in June 2026. Obagi uses these facilities primarily for management, research and development, sales, marketing, operations, finance, legal, human resources and general administrative teams.

In November 2021 we entered into a lease for warehouse facilities located in Conroe, Texas that will expire in February 2031. The facilities include approximately 35,000 square feet of warehouse space and 4,200 square feet of office space.

We believe that our office and warehouse space is adequate for our current needs and should we need additional space, we believe we will be able to obtain additional space on commercially reasonable terms.

Government Regulation

Our products are subject to regulation by the FDA the FTC and comparable state, local and foreign regulatory authorities, and over time, the regulatory landscape for our products has become more complex with increasingly strict requirements. These laws and regulations govern, among other things, the research, development, testing, manufacture, quality control, approval, labeling, packaging, storage, disposal, record-keeping, promotion, advertising, distribution, marketing, export and import of drugs and cosmetic products.

U.S. Regulation of Cosmetics Products

The majority of our products are cosmetics. The FDCA defines cosmetics as articles or components of articles intended for application to the human body to cleanse, beautify, promote attractiveness, or alter the appearance. The labeling of cosmetic products is subject to the requirements of the FDCA, the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act, and other laws and regulations. Cosmetics are not subject to pre-market approval by the FDA; however certain ingredients, such as color additives, must be pre-approved for the specific intended use in the product and are subject to certain restrictions on their use. The FDA may, by regulation, require warning statements on certain cosmetic products for specified hazards associated with such products. FDA regulations also prohibit or otherwise restrict the use of certain types of ingredients in cosmetic products.

In addition, the FDA requires that cosmetic labeling and claims be truthful and not misleading. Moreover, cosmetics may not be marketed or labeled for their use in treating, preventing, mitigating, or curing diseases or other conditions or in affecting the structure or function of the body, as such claims would render the product to be a drug and subject to regulation as a drug. The FDA evaluates the "intended use" of a product to determine whether it is a drug, cosmetic product, or both. The FDA may also consider labeling claims in determining the intended use of a product. If the FDA considers label claims for cosmetic products to be claims affecting the structure or function of the human body, or intended for a disease condition, then such products may be regulated as "new drugs" within the meaning of the FDCA, meaning that such products would generally require premarket review and approval by the FDA to be legally marketed in the U.S.. In addition to FDA requirements, state consumer protection laws and regulations can subject a cosmetics company to a range of requirements and theories of liability, including similar standards regarding false and misleading product claims, under which state enforcement or class-action lawsuits may be brought.

We market certain products, such chemical peels, as cosmetics, with the stronger peels sold only to licensed healthcare providers for professional use only. However, FDA may disagree with our determination that these products do not require FDA premarket review and approval. Similar risks may apply in foreign jurisdictions. If any of our products we intend to sell as cosmetics were to be regulated as drugs, we might be required to conduct, among other things, clinical trials to demonstrate the safety and efficacy of these products and to apply for pre-market approval of such products from the FDA.

In the U.S., the FDA has not promulgated regulations establishing current Good Manufacturing Practices for cosmetics. However, we require all third-party manufacturers to represent and warrant to us that the products they produce for us are made in accordance with cGMPs, including documentation, recordkeeping, building and facility design, equipment maintenance and personnel requirements.

U.S. Regulation of Drug Products

In the U.S., the FDA regulates drugs under the FDCA and its implementing regulations. We currently market our prescription-only products containing hydroquinone, which are regulated as drugs, although to date, we have not sought or obtained NDAs or other FDA approvals for these products. Based on the historical evolution of the legal and regulatory framework applicable to drugs in the U.S., the FDA acknowledges that there are some drugs on the market that lack required FDA approval for marketing. The FDA has historically utilized a risk-based enforcement approach with respect to drugs marketed without required approvals. In 2003, the FDA issued a Compliance Policy Guide, or CGP, which was finalized in 2006 and subsequently amended in 2011, in which it announced a drug safety initiative to remove unapproved drugs from the market and established enforcement priorities and a policy of enforcement discretion with respect to marketed unapproved products. Under this policy, the FDA indicated that it intended to give higher priority to enforcement actions involving unapproved drug products in certain categories, including drugs with potential safety risks and ineffective drugs that could be used in lieu of effective treatments. Although this CPG was withdrawn and the drug safety initiative was terminated on the basis of a Federal Register notice in 2020, a subsequent Federal Register notice in May 2021 withdrew the prior notice terminating the program and the CGP, and the FDA indicated that it plans to continue to prioritize enforcement based on its existing general approach, which involves risk-based prioritization in light of all the facts of a given circumstance. We believe our prescription-only HQ products do not fall within the previously established categories of unapproved drugs for which the FDA has indicated it prioritizes enforcement. To date, neither the FDA nor any other regulators have not prohibited us from selling our prescription HQ products in the U.S. or in other jurisdictions. However, there can be no assurance the FDA or any other regulatory authorities will not take enforcement action against us, or otherwise require us to obtain premarket approval or similar authorization of our prescription HQ products.

The process of obtaining regulatory approvals and the subsequent compliance with appropriate federal, state, local and foreign statutes and regulations require the expenditure of substantial time and financial resources, and generally involves the following:

- completion of preclinical laboratory tests, animal studies and formulation studies in accordance with the FDA's Good Laboratory Practice requirements and other applicable regulations;
- submission to the FDA of an Investigational New Drug application ("IND") requesting authorization from the FDA to administer an investigational biologic to humans which must become effective before human clinical trials may begin;
- approval by an independent Institutional Review Board ("IRB") or ethics committee at each clinical site before each trial may be initiated;
- performance of adequate and well-controlled human clinical trials in accordance with good clinical practices ("GCPs"), to establish the safety and efficacy of the proposed drug for its intended use. Clinical trials generally include the following:
  - Phase 1: The product is initially introduced into healthy human subjects or patients with the target disease or condition to test the safety, dosage tolerance, absorption, metabolism and distribution of the investigational product in humans, the side effects associated with increasing doses, and, if possible, to gain early evidence on effectiveness.
  - Phase 2: The product is administered to a limited patient population with a specified disease or condition to evaluate the preliminary efficacy, optimal dosages and dosing schedule and to identify possible adverse side effects and safety risks. Multiple Phase 2 clinical trials may be conducted to obtain information prior to beginning larger and more expensive Phase 3 clinical trials.
  - Phase 3: The product candidate is administered to an expanded patient population to further evaluate dosage, to provide statistically significant evidence of clinical efficacy and to further test for safety, generally at multiple geographically dispersed clinical trial sites. These clinical trials are intended to establish the overall risk/benefit ratio of the investigational product and to provide an adequate basis for product approval.
  - In some cases, the FDA may require, or sponsors may voluntarily pursue, additional clinical trials after a product is approved to gain more information about the product. These so-called Phase 4 studies, may be conducted after initial marketing approval, and may be used to gain additional experience from the treatment of patients in the intended therapeutic indication. In certain instances, the FDA may mandate the performance of Phase 4 clinical trials as a condition of approval of an NDA.
- preparation of and submission to the FDA of an NDA after completion of all pivotal trials;

- a determination by the FDA within 60 days of its receipt of an NDA to file the application for review
- satisfactory completion of an FDA advisory committee review, if applicable;
- satisfactory completion of an FDA inspection of the manufacturing facility or facilities at which the drug is produced to assess compliance with cGMP requirements to assure that the facilities, methods and controls are adequate to preserve the drug's identity, strength, quality and purity, and of selected clinical investigation sites to assess compliance with GCPs; and
- FDA review and approval of the NDA to permit commercial marketing of the product for particular indications for use in the U.S..

Hatch-Waxman Act

Section 505(j) of the FDCA establishes an abbreviated approval process for a generic version of approved drug products through the submission of an ANDA. Certain of our products, including tretinoin product, are marketed pursuant to an ANDA held by Bausch Health. An ANDA provides for marketing of a generic drug product that has the same active ingredients, dosage form, strength, route of administration, labeling, performance characteristics and intended use, among other things, to a previously approved product.

Over-the-Counter Drug Products

We currently market certain non-prescription drug products, including certain products that are intended to treat acne or be used as sunscreens, which are regulated as OTC drug products by the FDA. Certain OTC drug products are subject to regulation pursuant to the FDA's "monographs," which provide rules applicable to each therapeutic category of non-prescription drug, and establishes conditions, such as active ingredients, uses (indications), doses, labeling, and testing procedures, under which an OTC drug within that particular category may be GRASE, and therefore can be marketed without obtaining pre-market approval of an NDA or ANDA. To be legally marketed, among other things, OTC drug products marketed under an OTC monograph must be manufactured in compliance with the FDA's cGMP requirements for drug products, and the failure to maintain compliance with these requirements could lead to FDA enforcement action. Moreover, a failure to comply with the OTC monograph requirements could lead the FDA to determine that the drug is not GRASE, and thus is a "new drug" requiring approval in accordance with the NDA process described above.

U.S. Regulation of Medical Devices

Medical devices are subject to extensive and rigorous regulation by the FDA and by other federal, state and local authorities. The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and related regulations govern the conditions of safety, efficacy, clearance, approval, manufacturing, quality system requirements, labeling, packaging, distribution, storage, recordkeeping, reporting, marketing, advertising, and promotion of medical devices. Unless an exemption applies, each medical device commercially distributed in the U.S. requires either FDA clearance of a 510(k) premarket notification or approval of a premarket approval application (a "PMA"). Under the FDCA, medical devices are classified into one of three classes—Class I, Class II or Class III—depending on the degree of risk associated with each medical device and the extent of manufacturer and regulatory control needed to ensure its safety and effectiveness. Class I includes devices with the lowest risk to the patient and are those for which safety and effectiveness can be assured by adherence to the FDA's General Controls for medical devices, which include compliance with the applicable portions of the Quality System Regulation ("QSR"), facility registration and product listing, reporting of adverse medical events, and truthful and non-misleading labeling, advertising and promotional materials. Class II devices are subject to the FDA's General Controls, and special controls as deemed necessary by the FDA to ensure the safety and effectiveness of the device. These special controls can include performance standards, post-market surveillance, patient registries and FDA guidance documents. While most Class I devices are exempt from the 510(k) premarket notification requirement, manufacturers of most Class II devices are required to submit to the FDA a premarket notification under Section 510(k) of the FDCA requesting permission to commercially distribute the device. The FDA's permission to commercially distribute a device subject to a 510(k) premarket notification is generally known as 510(k) clearance. Devices deemed by the FDA to pose the greatest risks, such as life-sustaining, life-supporting or some implantable devices, or devices that have a new intended use, or use advanced technology that is not substantially equivalent to that of a legally marketed device, are placed in Class III, requiring approval of a PMA. Some pre-amendment devices are unclassified, but are subject to the FDA's premarket notification and clearance process in order to be commercially distributed.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

After a device is cleared or approved for marketing, numerous and pervasive regulatory requirements continue to apply. These include:

- establishment registration and device listing with the FDA;
- QSR requirements, which require manufacturers, including third-party manufacturers, to follow stringent design, testing, control, documentation and other quality assurance procedures during all aspects of the design and manufacturing process;
- labeling and marketing regulations, which require that promotion is truthful, not misleading, fairly balanced and provide adequate directions for use and that all claims are substantiated, and also prohibit the promotion of products for unapproved or “off-label” uses and impose other restrictions on labeling; FDA guidance on off-label dissemination of information and responding to unsolicited requests for information;
- clearance or approval of product modifications to 510(k)-cleared devices that could significantly affect safety or effectiveness or that would constitute a major change in intended use of one of our cleared devices;
- medical device reporting regulations, which require that a manufacturer report to the FDA if a device it markets may have caused or contributed to a death or serious injury, or has malfunctioned and the device or a similar device that it markets would be likely to cause or contribute to a death or serious injury, if the malfunction were to recur;
- correction, removal and recall reporting regulations, which require that manufacturers report to the FDA field corrections and product recalls or removals if undertaken to reduce a risk to health posed by the device or to remedy a violation of the FDCA that may present a risk to health;
- complying with requirements governing Unique Device Identifiers on devices and also requiring the submission of certain information about each device to the FDA’s Global Unique Device Identification Database;
- the FDA’s recall authority, whereby the agency can order device manufacturers to recall from the market a product that is in violation of governing laws and regulations; and
- post-market surveillance activities and regulations, which apply when deemed by the FDA to be necessary to protect the public health or to provide additional safety and effectiveness data for the device.

Manufacturers of medical device products marketed in the U.S. are required to comply with the applicable portions of the QSR, which cover the methods and the facilities and controls for the design, manufacture, testing, production, processes, controls, quality assurance, labeling, packaging, distribution, installation and servicing of finished devices intended for human use. Device manufacturers are also subject to periodic scheduled or unscheduled inspections by the FDA. The FDA has broad regulatory compliance and enforcement powers. If the FDA determines that a manufacturer has failed to comply with applicable regulatory requirements, it can take a variety of compliance or enforcement actions, which may result in any of the following sanctions: warning letters, untitled letters, fines, injunctions, consent decrees and civil penalties; recalls, withdrawals, or administrative detention or seizure of our products; operating restrictions or partial suspension or total shutdown of production; refusing or delaying requests for 510(k) marketing clearance or PMA approvals of new products or modified products; withdrawing 510(k) clearances or PMA approvals that have already been granted; refusal to grant export or import approvals for our products; or criminal prosecution.

Foreign Government Regulation

To market our products in many non-U.S. jurisdictions we must obtain separate regulatory approvals and comply with numerous and varying regulatory requirements. In some countries we do not have to obtain prior regulatory approval but do have to comply with other regulatory restrictions on the manufacture, importation, distribution, marketing and sale of our products. We may be unable to file for regulatory approvals and may not receive necessary approvals to commercialize our products in any market. The approval procedure varies among countries and can involve additional testing and data review. The time required to obtain approval in non-U.S. jurisdictions may differ from that required to obtain FDA approval. The foreign regulatory approval process may include all of the risks associated with obtaining FDA approval. In addition, many countries from time to time evaluate the regulatory status of various products and ingredients. We may not obtain foreign regulatory approvals on a timely basis, if at all, or may choose not to implement a country's labeling requirements if to do so would have a negative impact on our international or domestic operations

For additional information on the regulatory requirements related to our products, please see "Risk Factors—Risks Related to Legal and Regulatory Matters."

Legal Proceedings

From time to time, Obagi may be involved in various legal proceedings and subject to claims that arise in the ordinary course of business. Although the results of litigation and claims are inherently unpredictable and uncertain, Obagi is not currently a party to any legal proceedings the outcome of which, if determined adversely to Obagi, are believed to, either individually or taken together, have a material adverse effect on its business, operating results, cash flows or financial condition. Regardless of the outcome, litigation has the potential to have an adverse impact on us because of defense and settlement costs, diversion of management resources, and other factors.

Milk Makeup’s Dream & Mission

Our ambition is to build the top global makeup brand of the next generation. Our mission is to serve and empower our community to live their look by creating effective, easy to use, vegan, clean cruelty-free beauty products.

Company Overview

Milk Makeup is a leading, award-winning clean prestige makeup brand with unique products, a strong following among Gen-Z consumers and an emerging global presence. Since launching in 2016, the brand has achieved strong rank within our distribution at a total brand and key product level (as of September, Milk, at Sephora, was the #14 makeup brand, #12 in Beauty and Makeup, #21 in online sales and the overall #2 clean makeup brand), but we believe even more significant growth opportunities remain in terms of building awareness, product and category expansion, channel expansion and regional expansion. We believe our new partnership with Waldencast will help us to unlock these opportunities and accelerate our business.

We believe that our inclusive brand values, “clean” product philosophy (as described in the section “Values & Commitments Overview – “Clean” Products” below) and commitments to sustainability and philanthropy are at the zeitgeist of what will motivate the next generation of beauty consumers around the world, and that these values and product attributes will only become more relevant. We believe that our ability to authentically connect with youth culture while developing unique, effective and easy to use products that are also 100% vegan, clean and cruelty-free sets us apart from other brands.

Milk Makeup was launched in 2016 with the goal of building a global movement to challenge and broaden the definition of beauty. Community and self-expression are at the heart of everything we do. We believe that it’s not how you wear your makeup, it’s what you do in it that matters. This ethos is captured in our brand signature, “Live Your Look”.

Born out of Milk Studios, a creative hub in downtown New York City, Milk Makeup is the brainchild of Milk Studios co-founder and Chief Brand Officer Mazdack Rassi, co-founder and COO Dianna Ruth, authentic Milk Girl and creative director Georgie Greville, and beauty + fashion editor and E! News red carpet correspondent Zanna Roberts Rassi. All aspects of the brand are designed in-house at Milk headquarters, our downtown NYC home.

We are now the #2 clean brand in Sephora in the U.S., with our Hydro Grip face primer and Kush mascara as category leading best-sellers (source: sephora.com). We are a “hybrid” brand, offering an innovative selection of both makeup and skincare products. This allows us to play a broader role in our community’s beauty routine and also positions us for expansion into new categories both within and outside of makeup and skincare. Our other top products include Lip + Cheek, Sunshine Skin Tint, Matte Bronzer, Vegan Milk Moisturizer, Kush Brow, Cooling Water and our new Bionic Blush. We currently have strong positions within Sephora in the primer, mascara, blush and bronzer categories. We have opportunities in large segments of the cosmetics market such as foundation, concealer, brow, liner and lip color. Outside of cosmetics, we believe that we have untapped opportunities in skincare and potentially other categories such as haircare, fragrance, bath and shower which, as illustrated in the chart below, are significant markets. We believe that Milk Makeup has a broad permission set that will allow us to build a cross-category beauty brand.

The brand is currently distributed online via MilkMakeup.com, in omni-channel retail through Sephora (in the U.S. (including Sephora at Kohl’s), Canada, EU, Middle East and Australia), online at Cult Beauty (United Kingdom) and Selfridges (United Kingdom) and cross-border to China through the distributor SuperOrdinary. We have opportunities to accelerate within our existing footprint and grow in both new channels and regions.

Milk Makeup is anchored by a strong community with significant room for growth as awareness and distribution continue to build. As of November 22, 2021, Milk Makeup had 1,900,000 followers on Instagram, 8,600,000 likes and 122,000,000 hash-tagged video views on TikTok, 653,000 monthly views on Pinterest, 99,000 followers on Facebook, 89,000 subscribers on YouTube and 62,000 followers on Twitter.

We have strong awareness among Gen-Z with opportunities to build across all other age groups. According to a recent survey conducted by Sephora in June 2020 of female participants aged 13-64 who have purchased beauty products for themselves in the past three months, Milk Makeup has 82% awareness among “Gen-Z” participants, 69% awareness among “Millennial” participants, 56% awareness among “Gen-X” participants and 49% awareness among “Boomer” participants. This awareness and resonance with the younger core audience is a key strength of the brand and, we believe, a key differentiator from the large legacy brands. Our plan is to continuously renew relevance with our younger core demographic while expanding into more mature demographics, who tend to have higher disposable income, through awareness building and product storytelling. This will create strong future growth potential for the brand.

Milk Makeup’s strategy to building a top clean make-up brand of the new generation

Our strategy is based on 3 pillars:

- Grow our consumer base: our goal is to drive more awareness and trial of our products by reinvesting in operational efficiencies, increasing marketing spend and leveraging our owned ecosystem to drive additional awareness, trial and topline growth. Additionally, we plan on broadening our brand footprint to recruit more Millennials while continuing to build on our strong position with Gen-Z consumers.

- Brand expansion: our goal is to expand our make-up assortment and entering into new categories by accelerating product innovation and building on hero products to create category champions (products in the top 3 of their respective categories) with global resonance, continuing to expand and develop our skincare product presence, evolving our product mix to higher margin products (such as foundation and skincare) and expanding into additional make-up categories in the future.
- Internationalize: our goal is to build global brand availability by continuing to utilize, strengthen and maximize our distribution relationship throughout the Sephora ecosystem, while expanding further into key markets, such as the United Kingdom, and leveraging our brand success to develop a highly efficient international direct-to-consumer model.

Industry Overview

Milk Makeup operates within a subsector of the cosmetics industry known as color cosmetics. The global color cosmetics market is valued at approximately $66 billion with an expected CAGR of 7.0% from 2021 to 2023. The below chart shows the color cosmetics market by region with expected CAGRs.

Source: Euromonitor International; Beauty & Personal Care, 2021ed, retail value sales, current prices, 2020 fixed ex rates. North America includes the U.S. and Canada.

The cosmetics industry is comprised primarily of face makeup, eye makeup, lip products, nail products and cosmetics sets/kits. According to Euromonitor, global sales of face makeup were $24 billion in 2020. Face makeup includes foundation, concealer, primers, setting sprays and powders, highlighters, bronzers, blush and BB/CC creams. Global sales of eye makeup were approximately $16 billion in 2020. Eye products includes mascara, eyeliner, eyeshadow and brow. Global sales of lip products were approximately $14 billion in 2020. Lip products include lipstick, lip liner, lip gloss, lip liner plumper and tinted lip balm. Global sales of nail products were approximately $5 billion in 2020. Nail products include nail polish, nail remover and nail treatments. Global sales of cosmetics sets/kits were approximately $3 billion in 2020. Cosmetics sets/kits are combinations of products that are packaged together and often offered with a promotional incentive relative to buying the products separately.

The cosmetics industry is large and fragmented. There are established multi-national competitors such as Unilever PLC., Coty Inc., L'Oréal S.A., The Estée Lauder Companies, Inc., P&G, Revlon Inc., Shiseido Company, Limited, Puig and e.l.f Beauty Inc., in addition to independent companies such as Anastasia Beverly Hills, Pat McGrath Labs, Huda Beauty, Ilia, Kosas, Tower 28 and Forma. The top five competitors in color cosmetics have a 46% market share. However, the next 13 have only a combined 18% market share. We believe that this affords the opportunity for well positioned, high quality and well run brands to achieve both scale and profitability given the gross margins in the category.

We believe there is a clear opportunity for Milk Makeup to gain share within this market. We believe that our advantage lies in our ability to build a strong community, our agility and speed to market to respond to emerging trends, as well as our ability to connect deeply with and meet the needs of the next generation of consumers. In addition, we believe that many of the barriers to entry that previously prevented younger brands from gaining scale, such as the need to have robust R&D capabilities, heavy traditional media investment and broad distribution are no longer critical to succeeding in the market today due to the availability of high quality third-party manufacturers, the strength of social media in driving awareness and relevance, and the weight of e-commerce within beauty and the consumer’s desire for high performance products and a premium brand experience.

Product Overview

Milk Makeup offers an exciting portfolio of 330 makeup and skincare stop keeping units (“SKUs”). Our current product assortment covers only a fraction of the 1,500-7,000 SKUs offered by other leading make-up specialist brands, which we believe highlights the ample opportunity to continue to innovate and increase our penetration within make-up. We currently have bestselling products at Sephora in the U.S. in the primer and mascara categories with our Hydro Grip primer and Kush mascara. We also have strong positions in the blush category with Lip + Cheek and the bronzer category with Matte Bronzer, showcasing the versatility of the brand. These products are part of a $5,000.0 million prestige color cosmetics category in the U.S. alone, much of which we have yet to truly address. We currently have limited offerings in the foundation and concealer categories as well as brow, liner, eyeshadow and lip color. We also believe that we can expand further into other beauty categories such as Skincare, Haircare, Bath/Shower and Fragrance. The chart below highlights the market breakdown and demonstrates where we have both existing strengths and future opportunities.

Beyond strong rankings, our products have won multiple prestigious awards including our Hydro Grip Primer, which won Allure’s 2019 Best of Beauty award and 2020 Reader’s Choice award, and Sunshine Vitamin C + Squalane Face Oil which won Allure’s 2021 Best of Beauty award.

Sales and Distribution Strategy

Since launching in 2016, Milk Makeup has had a strong exclusive partnership with Sephora covering most markets, including the U.S., Canada, Europe, the Middle East, Australia and New Zealand. The partnership has allowed the brand to quickly rise within the category ranks through exceptional launch support and visibility both in-store and online. In a crowded and fragmented makeup market, our partnership with Sephora has allowed us to break through despite limited marketing spend. This partnership has also allowed the brand to internationalize efficiently due to the synergies within the Sephora ecosystem in terms of common management, terms, and merchandising.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Milk Makeup has an established distribution footprint across Sephora North America. In 2019, Milk Makeup began expanding internationally into Cult Beauty and Sephora Europe, then in 2020 into Sephora Middle East, Selfridges and cross-border into China, and finally in 2021 into Sephora Australia and New Zealand. We believe that we have significant opportunities to increase our sales within our existing footprint, including gains in productivity and distribution expansion, such as Sephora at Kohl’s, while expanding into high growth international markets such as China, Russia, Brazil and Mexico. Currently, no single international jurisdiction represents a material portion of our sales, with no jurisdiction accounting for more than a total of 2% in sales.

Milk Makeup has entered into a distribution or vendor agreement with Sephora North America, Sephora Canada, Sephora Middle East, Sephora Australia and New Zealand, respectively. Pursuant to those agreements, we grant Sephora the exclusive right to import and distribute our selected products within the territories described in the agreements. In addition, those agreements contain a term of exclusivity, which can be automatically renewed unless terminated by Sephora. The full text of these agreements, or forms thereof, are filed as exhibits to this Registration Statement.

Milk Makeup is currently present in 1,335 Sephora locations in the U.S. and 82 in Canada, including Sephora inside JCPenney and Sephora at Kohl’s locations. In Europe, Milk Makeup is currently present through Sephora in France, Germany, Spain, Sweden, Denmark, Italy, Poland, Portugal, Switzerland, Greece, the Czech Republic and the Balkans. The table below highlights Milk’s current penetration in Sephora doors worldwide.

Source: Data provided by Sephora; Sephora doors include Kohl’s and SiJCP.

MilkMakeup.com is a burgeoning direct-to-consumer, e-commerce platform that currently ships across the U.S. In November 2021, we relaunched a new, upgraded version of our existing site and we intend to increase our investment and expand distribution globally in the coming years. For the nine months ended September 30, 2021, MilkMakeup.com accounted for 6% of net sales, and Milk Makeup management currently expects this to increase substantially by 2024 as a percent of overall net sales.

Outside of Sephora and MilkMakeup.com, Milk Makeup has a presence in Cult Beauty and Selfridges in the United Kingdom and TMall Global in China (through the distributor SuperOrdinary). We are actively gauging other expansion opportunities across regions and channels.

Competition

Milk Makeup identifies its main competitors as Unilever P.L.C, Coty Inc., e.l.f Beauty Inc., L’Oréal S.A, LVMH Moët Hennessy Louis Vuitton SE, The Estée Lauder Companies Inc., P&G, Revlon Inc. and Shiseido Company, Limited. These companies own both legacy brands as well as younger previously independent brands. Milk Makeup also competes directly with privately held brands, including Pat McGrath Labs, Ilia, Kosas, Anastasia Beverly Hills, Huda Beauty, Forma, Saie, Tarte and Tower 28. Ilia, Saie, Kosas and Tarte, which are also clean beauty brands and have partnerships with Sephora, are the key competitors of Milk Makeup. Among other areas, Milk Makeup believes that it competes against other cosmetics brands on price, quality of products and packaging, perceived value, innovation, in-store presence and visibility, and e-commerce and mobile commerce initiatives. Milk Makeup is focused on expanding its market share in the color cosmetics industry and continuing to be a leader in clean make-up.

Competitive Strengths

Authentic Brand with Innovative, Iconic Products

Milk Makeup is an authentic, culturally relevant brand with an impactful message of empowering our community to live their look and offering effective, vegan, clean, easy-to-use products. Our cruelty-free, globally compliant formulas allow diverse consumers to experiment with their color and find a look that they truly love. Our products have won several industry awards and are top sellers across multiple categories. Milk Makeup products are designed to have unique and innovative packaging, formula and delivery systems and have proven to have strong market retention and growth, even in an industry that is constantly evolving. We believe that the desire for shared values and effective, clean products will only grow and will position our brand for considerable future growth.

Engaged, Desirable Community

Our community is the heart, soul and inspiration of our brand and a key point of differentiation both in terms of our ability to resonate with the elusive younger demographic and our content and community capabilities in social media. Our community has been built organically, with fans and users advocating for our brand and products across various social media platforms and introducing others to Milk Makeup products. Since launching, Milk Makeup has built an impressive, inclusive and diverse social media presence, with 1,900,000 followers on Instagram and 8,600,000 likes on TikTok, as of November 22, 2021. These accounts keep our community engaged with the brand, alert them to new product offerings and allow us to interact directly with our consumers, monitoring any feedback they may have and adjusting our content and investments in accordance. In an age where social media and influencer marketing provide tangible results, we believe that our unique and engaged social media presence provides a competitive edge.

Established Domestic Omni-Channel Platform with Proof Points Internationally

In the U.S., Milk Makeup has a leading market position among clean brands in Sephora with strong partnership support and a burgeoning direct-to-consumer presence through MilkMakeup.com. Milk Makeup also has a growing presence across Europe, the Middle East, Australia, New Zealand, the United Kingdom and cross-border in China. To date, Milk Makeup has expanded to the UK and throughout various jurisdictions in Europe in 2019, the Middle East, cross border China and continued growth in Europe and Turkey in 2020, and Australia, New Zealand and continued expansion in Europe in 2021, and we have aggressive plans to continue expanding our international footprint. We believe there is considerable opportunity to further increase penetration across all of the markets where we are currently competing while entering large untapped markets including mainland China, Russia, Brazil, Mexico and South Asia. Currently, outside of North America, international retail sales of Milk Makeup are highly diversified, with no single foreign country representing more than 3% of revenue.

Strong Historical Sales Growth with Potential for Future Growth and Gross Margin Expansion

Milk Makeup historically has experienced strong, double-digit yearly growth while improving product margins. Milk Makeup management expects year-over-year net sales growth in 2021, despite the impact of COVID 19 on the prestige makeup market. Milk also plans to execute margin expansion initiatives, including boosting direct-to-consumer sales and introducing higher margin products. See the Improve Operational Efficiency and Profitability section below for details.

Growth Opportunities

Grow Customer Base and Brand Awareness

Milk Makeup has a significant opportunity to increase our customer base and drive higher brand awareness and first purchase as consumers become more educated about our high-quality product offering and strong values around inclusivity and social responsibility. Based on a Sephora online survey that was conducted in June 2020, which surveyed women between the ages of 13-64 who had purchased beauty products for themselves in the past three months in the U.S., only approximately 20% of Sephora's total beauty shoppers have awareness of the brand, and only 16% of this category of shopper has made a Milk Makeup product purchase. This total penetration level of 3% of Sephora US shoppers indicates a significant expansion opportunity that we can utilize and address. Put into context in terms of ranking, Milk Makeup is the #13 makeup brand today within Sephora U.S. and we believe we can become a strong top 10 brand in every market. Incremental opportunities also exist with Milk Makeup's other retail partnerships such as Cult Beauty and Selfridges, and additionally at new potential retailers.

We have several strategic initiatives to drive brand awareness. We plan on leveraging the strength of our current media ecosystem (for which we were recognized with more than 10 separate awards from multiple publications in 2021) and reinvesting in operational efficiencies to increase and improve marketing spend behind further expanding reach. Further, we plan to create collaborations with non-beauty brands to expand reach and increase brand appeal to new audiences. These efforts have the ultimate aim of attracting new Millennial customers while building upon the existing resonance with Gen-Z customers.

Accelerate Direct-to-Consumer Channel

In order to build and accelerate a substantial direct-to-consumer business, Milk Makeup has undertaken several initiatives that we believe will drive increased reach and improved repeat purchase rates and marketing efficiency. These strategic developments will also position the business with a diversified sales mix between e-commerce and retail sales channels. Our core direct-to-consumer initiatives include technological improvements (including website enhancement), optimization of the marketing funnel, development of the e-commerce team, rollout of direct-to-consumer exclusive offerings and building out operations to expand into new markets. Additionally, we plan to leverage the data-driven, asset-light Waldencast platform and e-commerce expertise, post-Business Combination, to further accelerate direct-to-consumer growth.

Expand Distribution to New Geographies and, Over Time, Potential New Retailers Domestically and Internationally

There are several large and meaningful potential retail partnerships in international markets for Milk Makeup to pursue. As compared to our current 100% Sephora door penetration in North America, we have less than 50% door penetration in Sephora stores located in Europe, the Middle East and Australia / New Zealand and have not yet entered Sephora Asia, Latin America or markets like Russia. Entering more Sephora doors internationally and enhancing this key partnership is a significant focus area. Further, Milk Makeup can potentially expand upon our Sephora European brick-and-mortar presence to address untapped opportunities with new channels. Additionally, new market opportunities also exist for Milk Makeup's direct-to-consumer platform, as currently milkmakeup.com only ships products in the U.S. In alignment with our strategy to drive brand awareness, we plan to develop international capabilities that will allow it to service international markets over time. Finally, we have opportunities to expand our retail partner distribution network over time.

Extend Product Offerings

Milk Makeup plans to continue leveraging our relevance and appeal to bring to market an expanded product portfolio that both builds on existing category strengths such as primer and mascara while addressing new categories. As previously noted, we have established positions in Mascara, Primer, Blush & Bronzer, but also significant opportunity to enter into make-up adjacencies including Foundation / Concealer, Lash & Brow, Lip Color and eyeshadow. Further, we are exploring expanding further into Skincare and possibly entering other categories such as Haircare, Body, Bath & Shower and Fragrance over time.

Currently, our product portfolio consists of approximately 330 SKUs. Many other leading make-up specialist brands typically offer more than 1,500 SKUs (with some offering as many as 7,000), highlighting the potential to increase market capacity for our product pipeline.

Improve Operational Efficiency and Profitability

As Milk Makeup gains scale, there are several initiatives in place to drive improved operational efficiency and profitability. Our new cost-of-goods-sold framework, featuring annual negotiations and value analysis on hero SKUs as well as gross margin targets for new products, will facilitate gross margin expansion. Other strategic tactics include annual price increases on key SKUs, further expansion into higher margin categories (complexion and skincare) and an evolving channel mix that is more accretive. To help address rising operating costs, Milk Makeup will continue to undergo forecasting and supply chain optimization projects. With these key developments, we believe that we can continue to scale rapidly and profitably. While the global supply chain disruption is impacting the overall market, we have taken a proactive approach to protecting ourselves including increasing stock coverage on our hero products.

Leverage Favorable Industry Tailwinds

Milk Makeup is well-positioned to capitalize on strong and favorable industry tailwinds. Color cosmetics is a $66 billion industry with an estimated CAGR of 7.0% from 2021-2023. With consumer desires shifting towards for quality clean, natural and vegan products, over price considerations, we believe that our brand position as an authentic and innovative provider of vegan, clean, cruelty-free products provides us an advantage in addressing these evolving customer dynamics. Additionally, in accordance with broader consumer sentiment focusing on environmental and other environmental, social and governance (“ESG”) concerns, we constantly evaluate our packaging for more sustainable options, further reinforcing our credibility as a desirable brand for consumers searching for those attributes. We believe that these consumer desires will only increase over time and that they will help to propel our business as we scale globally.

Customers

Our objective is to build a robust global, omni-channel network connecting our brand and products with potential consumers. Our strategy is to build best in class owned e-commerce and social platforms while building strong relationships globally with select omni-channel retailers. Our executives work with executives of major retail accounts on a regular basis, and we believe that we are viewed as an important supplier to these customers.

Values & Commitments Overview

We believe that a key strength and point of differentiation for us with our community are our shared values and the commitments that we have made to uphold them. Strong ESG scores and values are table stakes for young consumers and mandatory for modern brands. These are present in everything that we do.

“Clean” Products

From day 1, we have always strived to create breakthrough, effective products that are also clean, vegan and cruelty-free. When we launched, we called our product ethos “cool, clean beauty that works.”

At Milk Makeup, we use the word “clean” to describe how we formulate our products. We define “clean” using the following five factors:

- No Animal Products and Byproducts: All of our products are Leaping Bunny Certified, which means that Milk Makeup does not test on animals at any stage in its supply chain. Additionally, our products have no animal derivatives and are 100% vegan.
- “Clean” Ingredients: We are dedicated to creating natural products, which means our products will never contain any of the over 2,500 controversial and potentially harmful or irritating ingredients, including parabens, sulfates, BHA, BPA, plastic microbeads, talc, urea, retinyl palmitate, mercury or mercury-containing ingredients, resorcinol, formaldehyde, aluminum salts, and mineral oil. We publish a complete and growing list of ingredients it will never use in our “Ingredient No List.”
- Natural Products: Milk Makeup follows ISO 16128 guidelines, where “natural” means plant, mineral, and/or microbiologically derived ingredients. We want to bring products that are as natural as possible to our community, while also not compromising on quality and performance. We are always striving to improve, and are currently working toward making new formulas that are over 80% natural.
- Ethically Sourced Ingredients: We have committed to ethical and responsible sourcing for our formulas from start to finish. For any products containing mica or palm-derived ingredients, we only use ethically sourced and sustainable mica and sustainability certified palm-derived ingredients. Milk Makeup also exclusively works with GMP (Good Manufacturing Practice) compliant factories.

Dedication to More Sustainable Packaging

Since our launch in 2016, Milk Makeup has focused on creating packaging that is iconic, innovative, easy to use, and pairs perfectly with our formulas. We are also committed to reducing our overall impact on the environment. We recognize that we have a lot of work to do in this area and are constantly striving to make our packaging more sustainable, starting with new products and continuing on to shipping and partnerships. We are focusing on the following 4 sustainability initiatives:

- More Sustainable Shipping: Starting in January 2021, we redesigned our e-commerce shipping system and started transporting our products in a new, sustainable shipping box and bag. Our new shipping box is printed with petroleum-free plant-based inks and its inner bag is made from 100% post-consumer waste, both of which are made in the U.S. Both the new box and bag are both 100% recyclable once the adhesive strip on the packaging is removed.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- Environmentally Friendly In-Store Packaging: Milk Makeup is working to use less plastic, offer more refills and use more post-consumer resin and recyclable materials on packaging and in-store merchandising, which includes launching new product display systems that use 63% less plastic on average than previous displays, introducing refills where possible, and exploring the use of mono plastic to make recycling easier.
- How2Recycle Partnership: In the U.S. and Canada, we have partnered with How2Recycle to help develop labels to communicate clear recycling instructions on our products.
- g2 revolution Partnership: Milk Makeup has partnered with g2 revolution, a specialty recycling solutions program that helps to develop ways to responsibly dispose of hard to recycle excess products and components.

Commitment to Diversity and Inclusion

Milk Makeup’s mission is to empower our community to live their look. We believe in beauty for all, which means we are committed to the importance of diversity, equity and inclusion (“DE&I”). This commitment starts by striving to create a workplace where everyone can thrive.

We have made five commitments with respect to DE&I within our teams, consumers and partners and we have, and intend to continue to update them on our progress with respect to these commitments every six months. These include increasing representation among our teams and partners, educating, communicating and taking action internally to support our DE&I objectives, giving back 1% of our sales from our website to The Center NYC and 1% to the Fashion Scholarship Fund and being accountable by providing updates on our progress every June and December.

Properties

We strive to be an “asset light” organization. Milk Makeup’s corporate headquarters are located in New York, New York, where Milk Makeup occupies facilities totaling approximately 17,500 rentable square feet<sup>67</sup> under a lease that expires November 30, 2030. Milk Makeup primarily uses these facilities for corporate offices and as an in-house studio. Additionally, Milk Makeup subleases from Milk Studios Los Angeles LLC certain space in Los Angeles, CA for a fee of $0.015 million per month. Milk Makeup primarily uses these facilities for corporate offices and as an in-house studio.

Milk Makeup is provided fulfillment services by a third-party. The primary purpose of this master services agreement is to receive finished goods and sample products from co-manufacturers, to store goods at a warehouse in New Jersey, and to distribute and fulfill goods to wholesale and e-commerce customers. Once finished goods are received, they are stored in a dedicated Milk Makeup location in the warehouse. Other responsibilities of the services provided include inventory management through cycle counts and physical inventory, and client relations responsible for SLA reporting, collecting forecasts, program planning, end of day reporting, weekly/monthly meetings and QBRs.

Milk Makeup does not own any real property.

Employees

Milk Makeup’s success depends on its employees and the culture that attracts them. Milk Makeup has built a team of industry professionals focused on promoting beauty for all. Milk Makeup’s culture focuses on creativity, self-expression, inclusion, respect and trust. As of December 20, 2021, Milk Makeup had 52 full time employees. None of Milk Makeup’s employees are represented by a labor organization or are a party to any collective bargaining agreement.

Milk Makeup is dedicated to employing a more diverse and inclusive hiring and interviewing practice resulting in the hiring of more individuals who identify as BIPOC. Milk Makeup has also partnered with recruitment agencies who represent talent who identify as BIPOC. 38% of Milk Makeup’s employees identify as BIPOC. Those team members are represented in Vice President, Director, Manager, Generalist, and Specialist roles across the brand. Milk Makeup considers its relationships with employees to be vital, and is focused on creating a great place to work through the effective attraction, development, retention of and compensation to human resource talent.

Trademarks, Patents and Domain Names

Milk Makeup believes that our intellectual property has substantial value and has contributed significantly to the success of our business. We rely on a combination of trademark, trade dress, copyright and trade secret protection to protect our brands, formulas and other intellectual property. Milk Makeup’s primary intellectual property includes our brands and trademark rights, including the Milk Makeup brand, for which we have established strong common law rights in the U.S. in association with cosmetics. The Milk Makeup brand has significant consumer recognition. Milk Makeup’s trademarks are valuable assets that reinforce the distinctiveness of our brand and its customers’ favorable perception of our products.

Milk Makeup has trademark registrations and applications pending for stylizations of the Milk Makeup name in Australia, South Korea, China, and the United Kingdom. In addition, we have trademarks registered and applications pending throughout the world for our stylized logos in Australia, Bahrain, Brazil, Canada, China, the EU, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Israel, Japan, Kuwait, Malaysia, Mexico, Qatar, Russia, Saudi Arabia, Singapore, South Korea, Thailand, the UAE, the United Kingdom and the U.S. From time to time, we apply to register trademarks for our other brands in the U.S. and other countries. The registrations of these trademarks in the U.S. and foreign jurisdictions are generally effective for terms of ten years and require periodic renewals, which for our trademark registrations in the U.S., are presently scheduled between 2027 and 2031; provided that Milk Makeup continues to comply with all applicable renewal requirements, including, where necessary, the continued use of trademarks in connection with the listed goods. In addition to trademark protection, Milk Makeup owns numerous domain name registrations, including milkmakeup.com. Milk Makeup does not have any issued patents or pending patent applications.

Seasonality and Quarterly Results

Milk Makeup’s business is subject to moderate seasonal fluctuations driven by retail consumer purchasing habits and timing of purchases by our retail customers. Additionally, the COVID-19 pandemic had an impact on consumer behavior that resulted in temporary changes in the seasonal fluctuations of Milk Makeup’s business. As a result of moderate seasonal fluctuations, results for any interim period are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be achieved for the full fiscal year. Additionally, because a significant percentage of our net sales are currently concentrated in a limited number of customers, a change in the order pattern or product restocking by one or more of our large retail customers driven by new product launches, new store openings and/or promotions could cause a significant fluctuation of our quarterly results or impact our liquidity.

Government Regulation

Our operations and products are subject to regulation by governmental authorities including by the U.S. FDA, FTC, CPSC, as well as various other federal, state, local and foreign regulatory authorities. These laws and regulations principally relate to the design, development, manufacturing, processing, handling, testing, holding, storage, quality, safety, shipment, sale, ingredients, labeling, advertising, packaging, marketing, and disposal of our products.

Product Regulations — U.S.

Under the FDCA, cosmetics (including personal care products) are defined as articles or components of articles that are applied to the human body and intended to cleanse, beautify, promote attractiveness or alter its appearance, with the exception of “soap” as defined by FDA. The labeling of cosmetic products is also subject to the requirements of the FDCA, the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act, the Poison Prevention Packaging Act and other federal, state, and local laws and regulations, including without limitation FDA regulations, and those relating to consumer protection and consumer disclosures. Cosmetics are not subject to pre-market approval by the FDA, however, certain ingredients, such as color additives, must be pre-authorized.

The FTC, FDA and other Governmental Authorities also regulate advertising and product claims regarding the safety, performance and benefits of our products. These regulatory authorities typically require a safety assessment of the product or ingredient, and reasonable basis to support any marketing claims. As such, product claims must be adequately substantiated. What constitutes a reasonable basis for substantiation of claims can vary widely from market to market, and there is no assurance that our efforts to support our claims will be considered sufficient. The most significant area of risk for such activities relates to improper or unsubstantiated claims about the use and safety of our products. If the products or any ingredient therein is or is alleged to be adulterated or misbranded, or if the safety or effectiveness of the products or ingredients has not been adequately substantiated, or if any other product claims lack adequate substantiation or are alleged to be false or misleading, regulators may take enforcement action or impose penalties, such as monetary consumer redress, or consumer lawyers can bring claims or an action against us, including, among other things, seeking damages, an amendment of the claims, and/or injunctive or other equitable relief, such as requiring us to revise our marketing materials, preventing us from making certain claims about the products or ingredients, stop selling certain products, or requiring us to add a specific warning label or disclaimer about the products or ingredients. Any of which could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations. Other warnings or disclaimers may also be mandated pursuant to federal or state laws and regulations. We may also be subject to regulatory action if the FDA or other regulators determine our products, product ingredients, or operations do not comply with any applicable laws or regulations, and we could be required to stop selling, withdraw, recall, re-label or re-package any products on the market.

Our advertising for products is also regulated by the FTC under the Federal Trade Commission Act. Cosmetics and personal care products must be advertised and promoted truthfully and otherwise in compliance with state consumer protection laws prohibiting false advertising and unfair or deceptive trade practices. Also, under the federal Lanham Act, competitors and others can initiate litigation relating to advertising claims. A company that is found to have violated these laws may be subject to significant liability.

Regulatory authorities monitor cosmetic products' regulatory compliance through market surveillance and inspection of cosmetics manufacturers and distributors to ensure, among other things, that the products' labeling and advertising is not false nor misleading and is compliant with legal requirements, that the products do not contain false nor misleading labeling or harmful ingredients, that they are manufactured under sanitary conditions, or pursuant to cGMPs. Inspections also may arise from consumer or competitor complaints filed with or brought to the attention of regulatory authorities, including FDA or FTC. In the event a regulatory authority or a court identifies false or misleading labeling, unsanitary conditions, harmful ingredients, or otherwise a failure to comply with cGMPs or legal requirements, we may be requested or required by a regulatory authority or required by a court, or we may independently decide to conduct a recall or market withdrawal of our product or to make changes to our manufacturing processes or product formulations, labeling or marketing, which could result in an insufficient amount of our products in the market, impact our sales and/or harm our reputation. Fines or other payments may also be required by a regulator or a court. The FDA or other regulators may determine that our products cannot be marketed as is or do not meet the regulatory requirements, including without limitation with respect to labeling, marketing, or ingredient formulation, for the classification of product in which they are marketed. The FDA may take the position that we failed to satisfy premarket requirements for color additives, or that our products contain otherwise impermissible ingredients, in which case some or all of our products may be deemed adulterated or misbranded in violation of the FDCA.

The FDA evaluates whether a product is a drug, a cosmetic or both, including the "intended use" of a cosmetic product. If a cosmetic product is intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment or prevention of a disease condition or to affect the structure or function of the human body, the FDA will regulate the product as a drug. Drug products will then be subject to applicable requirements under the FDCA. The FDA may also consider labeling claims in determining the intended use of a product. If the FDA considers label claims for our cosmetic products to be claims affecting the structure or function of the human body, or considers label claims for our cosmetics products to be disease/treatment claims, those products may be regulated as "new" drugs. If such products were regulated as "new" drugs by the FDA, it would be necessary to obtain pre-market approval, which includes, among other things, conducting clinical trials to demonstrate safety and efficacy of our products in order to continue marketing those products. However, we may not have sufficient resources to conduct any required clinical studies and because clinical trial outcomes are uncertain we may not be able to demonstrate sufficient efficacy or safety data to resume future marketing of those products. Any of these actions could result in harm to our reputation or affect our ability to provide sufficient product to the market.

What constitutes a reasonable basis for substantiation of claims can vary widely from market to market, and there is no assurance that our efforts to support our claims will be considered sufficient. The most significant area of risk for such activities relates to improper or unsubstantiated claims about the use and safety of our products. If we cannot adequately support safety or substantiate our product claims, or if our promotional materials make claims that exceed the scope of allowed claims for the classification of the specific product, the FDA, FTC or other regulatory authority could take enforcement action or impose penalties, such as monetary consumer redress, requiring us to revise our marketing materials, amend our claims or stop selling certain products, all of which could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations. Any of these actions could result in harm to our reputation or affect our ability to provide sufficient product to the market. The FDA may change the regulations as to any product category, requiring a change in labeling, product formulation or analytical testing. However, we may not have sufficient resources to conduct any required analytical testing, reformulate the product or make required label changes, possibly resulting in an inability to continue or resume marketing these products. Any inquiries or investigations from the FDA, FTC or other foreign regulatory authorities into the regulatory status of our cosmetic products and any subsequent interruption in the marketing and sale of those products could severely damage our brand and company reputation in the marketplace.

We are also subject to a number of federal, state and foreign laws and regulations that affect companies conducting business on the Internet, or advertising on social media, including consumer protection regulations that regulate retailers and govern the promotion and sale of merchandise, including by third parties. Many of these laws and regulations are still evolving and being tested in courts, and could be interpreted in ways that could harm our business. These may involve user privacy, data protection, content, intellectual property, distribution, electronic contracts and other communications, competition, protection of minors, consumer protection, telecommunications, product liability, taxation, economic or other trade prohibitions or sanctions and online payment services. In particular, we are subject to federal, state and foreign laws regarding privacy and protection of people's data. U.S. federal and state and foreign laws and regulations are constantly evolving and can be subject to significant change. In addition, the application, interpretation and enforcement of these laws and regulations are often uncertain, and may be interpreted and applied inconsistently from country to country and inconsistently with our current policies and practices.

We are also subject to regulation by the CPSC under the Consumer Product Safety Act, as amended by the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008. These statutes and the related regulations ban from the market consumer products that fail to comply with applicable product safety laws, regulations, and standards. The CPSC has the authority to require the recall, repair, replacement or refund of any such banned products or products that otherwise create a substantial risk of injury and may seek penalties for regulatory noncompliance under certain circumstances. CPSC regulations also require manufacturers of consumer products to report to the CPSC certain types of information regarding products that fail to comply with applicable regulations. Certain state laws also address the safety of consumer products, and mandate reporting requirements, and noncompliance may result in penalties or other regulatory action.

Segments

Milk Makeup operates its business as a single operating and reportable segment. For more information regarding segment reporting, see the section titled "Milk's Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" contained elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Legal Proceedings

Milk Makeup is, from time to time, subject to, and is presently involved in, litigation and other proceedings. Milk Makeup believes that there are no pending lawsuits or claims that, individually or in the aggregate, may have a material adverse effect on the business, financial condition or results of operations.

A lawsuit was commenced in New York state court on October 6, 2016, captioned Joseph v. Rassi, et al., Case No. 510914/2016 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. Oct. 6, 2016) in which the plaintiff has asserted claims against founders Mazdack Rassi, Erez Shternlicht and Moisha Mana, as well as against Legs Media LLC, Milk Agency, LLC, Milk Makeup Holdings, LLC, Milk Makeup Management, LLC, Milk Studios, LLC, Milk and Scott Sassa. Plaintiff alleges that Rassi, Shternlicht, and Mana breached the duty they owed to Legs Media by misappropriating its "corporate opportunity" related to the Milk Makeup concept for their own benefit. There is a parallel proceeding in Delaware Court of Chancery, captioned Mana v. Joseph, Civil Action No. 12715 (Del. Ch. Sept. 2, 2016) in which Rassi, Mana, Shternlicht, Legs Media, LLC, Milk Studios, LLC, Milk, and Milk Agency, LLC have asserted various claims against Joseph and, among other things, are seeking declaratory judgment that Joseph has no ownership interest in Milk Studios, LLC or Milk. Although Milk's management believes these allegations are without merit and unlikely to have a material impact on its financial condition or results of operations, and intends to defend vigorously against such allegations, any adverse determination against the founders, Milk or its affiliates in these proceedings, or even the allegations contained in the claims, regardless of whether they are ultimately found to be without merit, may result in distractions to management, reputational harm, injunctive relief, settlement costs, damages and/or defense costs that could adversely affect our business operations and financial condition.

Additionally, certain founders of Milk have agreed, pursuant to an amended and restated founder support and indemnification agreement, dated January 24, 2019, subject to the terms and conditions thereto, to provide indemnification to Milk and its representatives for losses that arise from (i) any claims brought by or on behalf of any purported current or former holder of equity or rights in Milk or its affiliates arising out of facts and circumstances in existence prior to December 23, 2016, (ii) any claims against Milk by or on behalf of any Milk affiliates arising out of facts and circumstances in existence prior to December 23, 2016, and (iii) Milk's maintenance and administration of benefit plans. The indemnification agreement would cover potential losses related to the previously disclosed outstanding litigation related to "corporate opportunity."

Overview

We are a global skincare company that develops, markets, and sells innovative skin health products in more than 60 countries around the world. With a 33-year legacy, today we exist to create the future of skin health so that every face is cared for everywhere. With our unique position rooted in the aesthetic physician community, we offer transformative solutions at various stages of the skincare journey to help consumers greet the future with confidence. Our product portfolio is designed to prevent or improve common, visible skin concerns such as fine lines and wrinkles, elasticity, photodamage, hyperpigmentation, acne, oxidative stress, environmental damage, and hydration.

Our product portfolio today includes more than 200 cosmetic, over-the-counter ("OTC") and prescription products sold through three distinct brands—Obagi Medical, Obagi Clinical and Obagi Professional—as well as the SkintrinsiQ device.

In the U.S., we sell our Obagi Medical systems and related products through our direct sales force to dermatologists, plastic surgeons and other physicians who are focused on aesthetic and therapeutic skincare, including physicians on site at medical spas. The medical professionals we sell to then dispense our products in-office directly to their patients, a distribution method commonly referred to as the "physician-dispensed" channel. We sell our Obagi Clinical products through retail channels, our Obagi Professional line will be sold to licensed aestheticians and spas, and the SkintrinsiQ device is sold through the physician-dispensed channel as well as to aestheticians and spas.

Internationally we sell our products through distribution partners across Central America, Europe, the Middle East, and Asia. We also advance our development objectives through product and license agreements with third parties. These agreements may include patent and technology licenses, product licenses and new product collaboration agreements. We compete in the Japanese retail skin care markets through a strategic licensing agreement with a Japanese pharmaceutical manufacturer and distributor that sells a series of OTC and cosmetic products under the Obagi brand name in the Japanese retail channels.

Recent Events

Impact of COVID-19 Pandemic

In March 2020, the World Health Organization declared the novel strain of coronavirus ("COVID-19"), a global pandemic and recommended containment and mitigation measures worldwide. COVID-19 has disrupted everyday life and markets worldwide, leading to significant business and supply-chain disruption, as well as broad-based changes in supply and demand. While the quarantine, social distancing and other regulatory measures instituted or recommended in response to COVID-19 are expected to be temporary, the duration of the business disruptions, and related financial impact, cannot be estimated at this time.

The direct impact of COVID-19 on our business, beyond disruptions to normal business operations, resulted from the closure of physician customers' practices for several weeks, which greatly diminished demand for our products. Although some of these customers have now established websites to be able to provide products to their patients through online sales, any re-implementation of similar restrictions could have a material impact on our future net revenue.

In addition, the COVID-19 pandemic has caused us to modify our business practices, including accelerating the launch of a redesigned website to enable us to sell our own products online, creating an e-commerce platform to enable our physician customers to sell Obagi products online to their patients, designing a “Door-Step Delivery Program” for our customers’ patients, and investing in our “Helping Hands” program to provide free hand sanitizer to healthcare professionals. To help ensure the health and safety of our employees, we also created COVID-19 response teams to provide support to employees to address new challenges as a result of COVID-19 and transitioned to a hybrid work environment where employees are in the office on a part-time basis. We may take further actions as may be required by Governmental Authorities or as we determine is in the best interests of our employees, customers and their patients, any of which may require unanticipated investments in management time and money.

While the impact of COVID-19 on our manufacturing and supply chain, sales and marketing, and commercial and clinical trial operations, to date has not been material, the impact of COVID-19 over the long-term is uncertain and cannot be predicted with confidence.

The extent of the continued impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on our operational and financial performance will depend on various future developments, including the duration and spread of the outbreak, the timing and nature of actions taken to respond to COVID-19, and the resulting economic consequences and the impact on our customers, consumers and employees, all of which is uncertain at this time.

Indebtedness

In December 2018, we entered into a credit agreement (the “2018 Credit Agreement”) with a syndicate of lenders including Wells Fargo Bank, National Association, as administrative agent for the lenders. The 2018 Credit Agreement included a revolving credit facility with borrowing capacity of up to $35.0 million (“2018 Revolving Credit Facility”). In March 2020, we increased the 2018 Revolving Credit Facility by an additional $10.0 million, to $45.0 million, to help us manage our capital needs in response to COVID-19.

We also received a loan from the Paycheck Protection Program (the “PPP”) in May 2020 in the amount of $6.8 million (the “PPP Loan”). The PPP was established as part of the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act (the “CARES Act”) and provides for loans to qualifying businesses for amounts up to 2.5 times of the average monthly payroll expenses of the qualifying business. We were able to utilize the full amount to protect our employees as part of our initiatives to respond to COVID-19. We used the proceeds for purposes consistent with the PPP, and in June 2021, the full amount of the PPP Loan was forgiven, inclusive of accrued interest of $0.1 million. We recognized a gain on forgiveness of the PPP Loan of $6.8 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2021.

Business Combination

In accounting for the Business Combination Agreement, Waldencast will be deemed to be the accounting acquirer and will continue as the SEC registrant. We will be the accounting acquiree, however we will be considered the predecessor entity for purposes of financial reporting. Accordingly, our financial statements for previous periods will be disclosed in Waldencast’s future periodic reports filed with the SEC. Under the acquisition method of accounting, Waldencast’s assets and liabilities will retain their carrying values and the assets and liabilities associated with us and Milk will be recorded at their fair values measured as of the acquisition date, which will create a new basis of accounting. The excess of the purchase price over the estimated fair values of the net assets acquired will be recorded as goodwill. The fair value measurement period will remain open upon the consummation of the Business Combination while Waldencast awaits further information and analysis to determine the acquisition date fair values of certain acquired assets and assumed liabilities. Consequently, our basis of accounting, including our assets and liabilities and results of operations for periods after the consummation of the Business Combination will not be comparable to those reflected in the audited consolidated financial statements included in this proxy statement/prospectus. See “Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information.”

Immediately prior to the closing of the Business Combination, we will carve out and distribute 100% of the business of Obagi Hong Kong and certain related entities and assets (the “Obagi China Business”) to our shareholder, Cedarwalk pursuant to the Obagi China Distribution. Following the Obagi China Distribution, the Obagi China Business will continue to be held by Cedarwalk, which will also own approximately 17.8% of the outstanding

Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares as of the closing of the Business Combination (assuming no shareholder redemptions). In connection with the Obagi China Distribution, Obagi Hong Kong Limited will enter into the Supply Agreement and IP License Agreement with us, under which it will pay us royalties based on its sales of Obagi branded products in the China Region. Following the close of the Business Combination our future results will not be comparable to the historical financial results of Obagi, which include the operating results of the Obagi China Business. Please refer to “Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information” for the depiction of the impact on our historical financial statements of disposing of the Obagi China Business and combining with Waldencast and Milk Makeup.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In addition to our results of operations and measures of performance determined in accordance with U.S. GAAP, we believe that certain non-GAAP financial measures are useful in evaluating and comparing our financial and operational performance over multiple periods, identifying trends affecting our business, formulating business plans, and making strategic decisions.

Adjusted Gross Profit and Adjusted EBITDA are key performance measures that our management uses to assess our financial performance and for internal planning and forecasting purposes. We believe these non-GAAP measures are also useful to investors and other interested parties in evaluating our operating performance, as they are similar to measures reported by our public competitors.

Adjusted Gross Profit and Adjusted EBITDA are not intended to be substitutes for any GAAP financial measures and, as calculated, may not be comparable to other similarly titled measures of performance of other companies in other industries or within the same industry.

Adjusted Gross Profit reflects GAAP net revenue less cost of goods sold exclusive of depreciation and amortization expense. Adjusted gross profit is reconciled to GAAP gross profit, which is not presented on the consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss) but represents the most comparable GAAP metric. GAAP gross profit reflects GAAP net revenue less cost of goods sold (exclusive of depreciation and amortization expense) and less certain intangible asset amortization expense pertaining to cost of goods sold.

We define and calculate Adjusted EBITDA as GAAP net income (loss) before interest income or expense, income tax expense, depreciation and amortization, and further adjusted for the following items: one-time relocation expense and transaction-related costs as described in the reconciliation below.

Adjusted Gross Profit and Adjusted EBITDA exclude certain expenses that are required in accordance with GAAP because they are non-core to our regular business, such as transaction-related costs; non-cash expenses, such as depreciation and amortization; or other expenses that are not related to our underlying business performance, such as interest expense. There are limitations to non-GAAP financial measures because they exclude charges and credits that are required to be included in GAAP financial presentation. The items excluded from GAAP financial measures such as net income/loss to arrive at non-GAAP financial measures are significant components for understanding and assessing our financial performance. Non-GAAP financial measures should be considered together with, and not alternatives to, financial measures prepared in accordance with GAAP.

Components of Results of Operations

Net Revenue

Net revenue is generated primarily from two sources: (1) product sales and (2) royalties.

Net Product Sales

We generate product sales revenue from sales of our products to distributors and directly to retailers. We recognize revenue for product sales at a point in time, when transfer of control has passed to the customer, based on the terms of the sale. In the U.S., we sell the majority our products to healthcare professionals through an authorized wholesale distributor, Boxout Health. Under this model, we sell the products to Boxout Health, which then sells the products through to our physician customers when they order them. We recognize revenue for product sales to our

TABLE OF CONTENTS

US physician customers upon transfer of control to Boxout. As a result, Boxout Health accounted for approximately 54% and 61% of our net revenue during the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. For the nine months ended September 30, 2021 and September 30, 2020, sales to Boxout accounted for 34% and 54% of our net revenue, respectively. Product sales revenue is recognized net of provisions for estimated discounts and allowances, chargebacks, distribution fees, returns, and rebates. Chargebacks are a result of promotional product discounts that we provide to physicians on sales from Boxout. When Boxout reports the chargebacks to us, we reimburse Boxout for the discounts taken. Product sales revenue primarily includes revenue from our two sales channels: Obagi Medical and Obagi Clinical. In addition, in July 2021 we launched the SkintrinsiQ device.

Royalties

We also generate royalty revenue from the sale of products in the Japanese retail skin care markets through a strategic licensing agreement with a Japanese pharmaceutical manufacturer and distributor that sells a series of OTC and cosmetic products under the Obagi brand name in the Japanese retail channels. Revenue for royalty income is recognized in the period that corresponds to the related Rohto net sales and is presented within the Obagi Medical sales channel. Our royalty revenue from skin health systems and products in Japan was approximately $5.9 million, or 7.0% of our net revenue, and $4.8 million, or 3.1% of our net revenue, for the year ended December 31, 2020 and the nine months ended September 30, 2021, respectively.

Cost of Goods Sold (exclusive of depreciation and amortization shown separately below)

Cost of goods sold consists primarily of expenses related to inventory, including when inventory is sold or written down. We expect that cost of revenue will increase in absolute dollars as our revenue grows and will vary from period-to-period as a percentage of revenue.

Selling, General, and Administrative

Selling, general and administrative costs include expenses we incur in our normal course of business relating to salaries, bonuses and benefits, marketing, office supplies, computer and technology, rent and utilities, insurance, legal and professional fees, city, state and property taxes and advertising expenses. We expect that selling, general and administrative expenses will increase in absolute dollars as we continue to invest in building and maintaining our customer base, grow our business, enhance our brand awareness, hire additional personnel and upgrade and expand our systems, processes, and controls to support the growth in our business, as well as our increased compliance and reporting requirements as a public company.

In connection with the Business Combination, we expect to incur incremental ongoing and one-time expenses. We expect our incremental ongoing costs to include additional selling, general and administrative expenses including legal, consulting, regulatory, accounting, insurance, investor relations and other expenses. The Sarbanes-Oxley Act, as well as rules adopted by the SEC and national securities exchanges, require public companies to implement specified corporate governance practices that are not currently applicable to us as a private company. These additional rules and regulations will increase our legal, regulatory, financial and insurance compliance costs. We expect any one-time expenses incurred in connection with the Business Combination to include professional fees, consulting fees and certain filing and listing fees.

Research and Development

Substantially all research and development expenses are related to new product development and design improvements in current products.

Research and development costs primarily consist of employee-related costs, including salaries, bonuses, and benefits. We plan to continue to invest in personnel to support our research and development efforts. As a result, we expect that research and development expenses will increase in absolute dollars for the foreseeable future as we continue to invest to support these activities.

Depreciation and Amortization

Depreciation and amortization expenses are related to our equipment and intangible assets. Cost of goods sold is presented on the consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss) exclusive of depreciation and amortization expense.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Net revenue increased by $101.9 million, or 200.2%, for the nine months ended September 30, 2021, compared to the same period in 2020, primarily due to increased product sales of $102.0 million. The increase in product sales was primarily attributable to an $85.4 million increase resulting from the impact of partial economic recovery from COVID-19 and sales of a newly launched skincare device including $81.9 million, $2.5 million and $1.0 million increases to our Medical, Clinical, and Other sales channels, respectively. A further increase of $27.1 million in our Medical sales channel is from wholesale and international distributor revenue primarily in our North America and Asia Pacific regions; and a $2.3 million increase in online sales as we continue to develop our website capabilities and which primarily impacts our Medical sales channel. These increases were partially offset by $9.7 million in additional sales discounts and allowances impacting the Medical sales channel due to the increase in sales volumes resulting from the economic recovery from COVID-19 and our newly launched skincare device and $0.9 million in additional sales returns primarily due to short dated credits, of which $0.8 million and $0.1 million relate to Medical and Clinical sales channels, respectively.

Royalty revenue remained relatively consistent for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 compared to the same period in 2020.

Cost of Goods Sold (exclusive of depreciation and amortization)

(in thousands, except percentages)	Nine Months Ended September 30,		Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 vs 2020
	2021	2020	$ Change	% Change
Cost of goods sold (exclusive of depreciation and amortization expense)	$36,131	$12,295	$23,836	193.9%
as a percentage of total revenue	23.7%	24.2%

Cost of goods sold (exclusive of depreciation and amortization expense) for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 increased by $23.8 million, or 193.9%, compared to same period in 2020. The increase was primarily driven by increased sales associated with the partial economic recovery from COVID-19 and $0.4 million due to our newly launched skincare device. The increase in costs of goods sold was partially offset by a decrease of $1.2 million for a favorable product pricing arrangement for a specific product with one of our vendors.

Selling, General and Administrative

(in thousands, except percentages)	Nine Months Ended September 30,		Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 vs 2020
	2021	2020	$ Change	% Change
Selling, general and administrative	$80,797	$39,329	$41,468	105.4%
as a percentage of total revenue	52.9%	77.3%

Selling, general and administrative expenses increased by $41.5 million or 105.4% for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 compared to the same period in 2020, which was attributable to an increase of $39.5 million in selling expenses and $1.9 million in general and administrative expense.

The increase in selling expenses was primarily driven by a $27.7 million increase due to additional fees paid to distributors and increase in credit card fees from increased sales volume; a $5.5 million increase in marketing, advertising, and promotions primarily related to website development and new product launches, partially offset by a decrease in celebrity endorsements; a $3.3 million increase in salaries and wages primarily due to an increase in sales commissions as sales increased and increased headcount for new product marketing initiatives; and a $1.8 million increase primarily due to additional border taxes resulting from increased sales in China.

The increase in general and administrative expenses was primarily driven by a $1.9 million increase in fees resulting from the Business Combination.

Research and Development

(in thousands, except percentages)	Nine Months Ended September 30,		Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 vs 2020

Research and development	$5,030	$2,964	$2,066	69.7%
as a percentage of total revenue	3.3%	5.8%

Research and development expenses increased by $2.1 million, or 69.7%, for the nine months ended September 30, 2021, compared to the same period in 2020. The increase was primarily due to a $1.6 million increase in regulatory compliance spending in 2021. The employee-related costs remained relatively consistent during the compared periods.

Depreciation and Amortization

(in thousands, except percentages)	Nine Months Ended September 30,		Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 vs 2020

Depreciation and amortization expenses remained relatively consistent for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 when compared to the same period in 2020.

Interest Expenses

(in thousands, except percentages)	Nine Months Ended September 30,		Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 vs 2020

Interest expense	$8,099	$4,532	$3,567	78.7%
as a percentage of total revenue	5.3%	8.9%

Interest expense increased $3.6 million, or 78.7%, for the nine months ended September 30, 2021, compared to 2020. The increase was primarily due to refinancing of our debt in March 2021 at higher interest rates as well as incurred additional borrowings from the bank in the latter half of the 2020 fiscal year.

Loss on Extinguishment of Debt

(in thousands, except percentages)	Nine Months Ended September 30,		Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 vs 2020

Loss on extinguishment of debt	$2,317	$—	$2,317	100%
as a percentage of total revenue	1.5%	—

The loss on extinguishment of debt for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 is primarily related to the write-off of previously deferred financing costs due to the refinancing of our debt in March 2021.

Gain on PPP Loan Forgiveness

(in thousands, except percentages)	Nine Months Ended September 30,		Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 vs 2020

Income Tax Benefit

(in thousands, except percentages)	Nine Months Ended September 30,		Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 vs 2020

Income tax expense (benefit)	$2,112	$(6,507)	$8,619	(132.5)%
Effective tax rate	12.9%	35.6%

For the nine months ended September 30, 2021, income tax expense of $2.1 million was recognized, with a corresponding effective tax rate of 12.9%, compared an income tax benefit of $6.5 million recognized for the nine months ended September 30, 2020, with a corresponding effective tax rate of 35.6%. The decrease in the effective tax rate for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 when compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2020, is primarily attributable to the change in the mix of pre-tax earnings in tax jurisdictions with different statutory tax rates during the comparable periods, and the nontaxable gain on PPP Loan forgiveness.

Net revenue decreased by $32.9 million, or 28.1%, for the year ended December 31, 2020, compared to the same period in 2019, due primarily to a decrease of $40.5 million in product sales, including $38.3 million and $2.2 million decreases in Medical and Clinical sales channels, respectively. The decrease in product sales was primarily attributable to the effects of COVID-19 in our North America and Asia Pacific geographic regions, which impacted all product categories as a result of the closure of physician offices as well as lower demand for skincare products. The decrease in product sales also reduced the number of physician chargebacks by $5.3 million, impacting the Medical sales channel. This decrease was partially offset by $3.0 million in the Medical sales channel from the discontinuance of prompt pay discounts for certain customers and rebates for international distributors; by an increase in net revenue of $0.9 million in the Medical sales channel primarily due to increased market share in Europe, which was slightly offset by decreased market share in Africa and South America; and by an increase of $0.7 million in the Medical sales channel for a favorable product pricing arrangement as a result of dual sourced products.

Royalty revenue remained relatively consistent for the year ended December 31, 2020 when compared to the same period in 2019.

Cost of Goods Sold (exclusive of depreciation and amortization)

Cost of goods sold for the year ended December 31, 2020 decreased by $6.7 million, or 25.2%, compared to same period in 2019, due to the decline in sales caused primarily by the impact of COVID-19. Additionally, freight and storage costs decreased by $1.0 million and $0.2 million, respectively, as a result of bringing in less inventory and reduced warehouse activity due to less sales activity caused by COVID-19.

The decrease in selling expenses was primarily driven by a $2.6 million decrease in other professional fees and expenses primarily from decreased distribution service fees resulting from reduced sales; a $2.5 million decrease in travel and entertainment expenses from suspended travel and events because of COVID-19; a $0.9 million decrease

The decrease in general and administrative expenses was primarily due to a $2.7 million decrease in legal services following the completion in 2019 of arbitration in connection with our claims that a company and its owners had violated the terms of a settlement agreement and a $0.4 million decrease in travel and entertainment due to suspended travel because of COVID-19, partially offset by a $1.1 million increase in salaries and wages resulting from promotions and increases in employee bonuses; a $0.3 million increase in employee benefits related to relocation and housing costs; a $0.2 million increase in audit services for IPO readiness and tax advisory services; and a $0.1 million increase in insurance premiums.

The change was primarily due to a larger loss position in the U.S. based operations in the year ended December 31, 2020.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

We measure liquidity in terms of our ability to fund the cash requirements of our business operations, including working capital needs, capital expenditures, contractual obligations, debt service, acquisitions, and other commitments with cash flows from operations and other sources of funding. Our principal sources of capital and liquidity are our borrowings from banks and cash flows from operations. In response to the loss in demand and drop in revenue early on in the pandemic, we drew on our 2018 Revolving Credit Facility, and increased our borrowing capacity by $10.0 million. We also secured a $6.8 million PPP Loan, which was used in accordance with the program and for which forgiveness was obtained in 2021. Overall, these financing activities resulted in net cash inflow of approximately $16.3 million in 2020 (excluding $2.0 million of dividends to our shareholder). In March 2021, we were able to access additional credit by replacing the 2018 Credit Agreement with the Obagi Existing Credit Agreement from a new syndicate of lenders. The Existing Credit Agreement included a term loan of $110.0 million and a revolving credit facility with borrowing capacity of up to $40.0 million. We have been actively reducing our 2018 Revolving Credit Facility, and do not anticipate the need for additional credit and are current with all scheduled payments on the term loan under the Existing Credit Agreement.

We expect capital and operating expenditures to increase over the next several years as we expand our infrastructure, distribution channels and our commercialization, clinical trial, research and development and manufacturing activities. We believe that our net cash provided by operating activities and existing cash and cash equivalents, including proceeds received from our term loan (the “2021 Term Loan”) and cash available under our revolving credit facility (the “2021 Revolving Credit Facility”) and with the 2021 Term Loan, the “Credit Facilities”), both with TCW Asset Management Company (“TCW”), will be sufficient to fund our operations for the foreseeable future.

If our net cash provided by operating activities and existing cash and cash equivalents are not sufficient to fund our operations in the future, we may need to draw down on our 2021 Revolving Credit Facility or raise additional funds, and we cannot be certain that such funds will be available to us on acceptable terms when needed, if at all. If we are required to draw down on our facility, our ability to in-license new technologies, develop future products or expand our pipeline of products could all be negatively impacted, which would have an adverse effect on our ability to grow our business and remain competitive in our marketplace. Further, we may decide to raise additional proceeds by issuing equity securities or securities that are convertible into our equity. If we sell such securities, investors may be materially diluted as a result of such offerings. In addition, if we raise additional funds through collaboration, licensing or other similar arrangements, we may be required to relinquish potentially valuable rights to our future products or proprietary technologies, or grant licenses on terms that are not favorable to us. If we cannot raise funds on acceptable terms, we may not be able to expand our operations, develop new products, take advantage of future opportunities or respond to competitive pressures or unanticipated customer requirements.

As of September 30, 2021, we had cash and cash equivalents of $24.4 million. On a pro forma basis, assuming the consummation of the Business Combination on September 30, 2021, we would have had cash and cash equivalents of between approximately $83.3 million, in the event of maximum redemptions, and $228.8 million, in the event of no redemptions.

Obagi Existing Credit Agreement

In March 2021, we replaced the 2018 Credit Agreement with the Obagi Existing Credit Agreement with a new syndicate of lenders, including TCW Asset Management Company LLC as administrative agent for the lenders. The Obagi Existing Credit Agreement includes a term loan of $110.0 million (the “2021 Term Loan”) and a revolving credit facility with borrowing capacity of up to $40.0 million (“2021 Revolving Credit Facility”).

Both the 2021 Term Loan and the 2021 Revolving Credit Facility mature in March 2026. The Obagi Existing Credit Agreement interest rate is calculated based on LIBOR plus applicable margin, as determined by our leverage ratios, and are subject to LIBOR succession provisions. If LIBOR becomes unavailable, the parties will establish an alternate index rate that gives due consideration to the then prevailing market convention for determining a rate of interest for leveraged syndicated loans in the U.S. In connection with the issuance of the Obagi Existing Credit Agreement, we incurred $6.4 million of debt issuance costs.

The Obagi Existing Credit Agreement is secured by the assets of Obagi and includes customary affirmative and negative covenants, including financial covenants which require us to comply with maximum leverage-based and minimum fixed charge coverage-based ratio thresholds.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

The following table summarizes the required and actual leverage and fixed charge coverage ratios in the first three fiscal quarters of 2021:

Fiscal quarter ended	Leverage Ratio		Fixed Charge Coverage Ratio
	Maximum	Actual	Minimum	Actual
September 30, 2021	4.00	3.05	1.375	2.758
June 30, 2021	5.00	3.34	1.375	3.003
March 31, 2021	8.00	6.17	1.375	2.553

As of each of the dates above, we were in compliance with the requirements set forth in the 2021 Credit Agreement.

As of September 30, 2021, we had an outstanding balance of $15.0 million on our 2021 Revolving Credit Facility with debt issuance costs of $1.5 million, and $39.0 million on our 2018 Revolving Credit Facility with debt issuance costs of $0.7 million, respectively. The interest rate of the 2021 Revolving Credit Facility and 2018 Revolving Credit Facility is 8.50% and 5.50%, respectively.

As of September 30, 2021, we had an unpaid principal amount of $109.5 million, and unamortized debt issuance costs of $4.2 million on the 2021 Term Loan. The interest rate on the 2021 Term Loan was 8.50% and the accrued interest was $0.00 as of September 30, 2021. The current portion of the 2021 Term Loan and 2021 Revolving Credit Facility is $2.3 million and $15.0 million, respectively. The current portion of the unamortized debt issuance costs on the 2021 Term Loan and 2021 Revolving Credit Facility are $0.9 million and $1.5 million, respectively. The interest rate on the outstanding balance is 8.50%.

2018 Credit Agreement

In December 2018, we entered into the 2018 Credit Agreement with a syndicate of lenders, including Wells Fargo Bank, National Association as administrative agent for the lenders (the “Syndicate of Banks”). The 2018 Credit Agreement included a term loan of $90.0 million (the “2018 Term Loan”) and the 2018 Revolving Credit Facility with borrowing capacity of up to $35.0 million. Both the 2018 Term Loan and the 2018 Revolving Credit Facility were due to mature in December 2023. In connection with the issuance of the 2018 Credit Agreement, we incurred $2.9 million of debt issuance costs. The 2018 Credit Agreement was secured by the assets of Obagi. Both the Term Loan and the Revolving Credit Facility carry an interest rate comprised of LIBOR plus applicable margin, as determined by the Company’s leverage ratios, and are subject to LIBOR succession provisions.

In December 2019, the 2018 Credit Agreement was amended to revise the definition of consolidated earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization (“Consolidated EBITDA”) to allow for certain additional adjustments, in relation to the debt covenants.

In March 2020, an increase in the commitment on the 2018 Revolving Credit Facility was approved by the Syndicate of Banks for an additional $10.0 million, to $45.0 million.

In November 2020, the 2018 Credit Agreement was amended to waive the event of default, adjust the “Applicable Margin Rates”, and revise the maximum percentages allowed for the Consolidated Total Leverage Ratio (as defined in the 2018 Credit Agreement) as well as the minimum percentages allowed for the Consolidated Fixed Charge Coverage Ratio (as defined in the 2018 Credit Agreement). In addition, the amendment revised the 2018 Credit Agreement to include minimum Consolidated EBITDA levels and minimum liquidity levels through the end of fiscal year 2021. Prior to this amendment, we had not satisfied our debt covenants, which would have represented a default under our 2018 Credit Agreement. However, subsequent to the amendment and as of the date of the financial statements, we were in compliance with all financial and non-financial debt and other contractual covenants.

As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, we had an unpaid principal amount of $71.6 million and $81.0 million, respectively, and unamortized debt issuance costs of $2.5 million and $2.3 million, respectively, on the 2018 Term Loan. The interest rate on the 2018 Term Loan was 5.50% and 5.30% as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

As of December 31, 2020 and 2019, we had an outstanding balance of $39.0 million and $19.0 million on our 2018 Revolving Credit Facility, respectively. The 2018 Revolving Credit Facility had an interest rate of 5.50%.

PPP Loan

In May 2020, we received loan proceeds in the amount of $6.8 million under the PPP from MUFG Union Bank. The PPP, established as part of the CARES Act, provides for loans to qualifying businesses for amounts up to 2.5 times of the average monthly payroll expenses of the qualifying business. The PPP Loan accrued interest at a rate of 1.00% as of December 31, 2020. The accrued interest was $74.00 and $0.00 as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively. The loan and accrued interest are forgivable after eight or twenty-four weeks as long as the borrower uses the loan proceeds for eligible purposes, including payroll, benefits, rent and utilities and maintains its payroll levels. We used the proceeds for purposes consistent with the PPP and received approval from MUFG Union Bank for forgiveness of the full amount of the loan. In June 2021, we received approval from the Small Business Administration and MUFG Union Bank for forgiveness of the full amount of the PPP Loan.

Consolidated Cash Flow Data

Comparison of Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 to Nine Months Ended September 30, 2020

(in thousands, except percentages)	Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 vs 2020		Nine Months Ended September 30, 2021 vs 2020
	2021	2020	$ Change	% Change
Net cash provided by (used in) operating activities	$15,185	$(12,504)	$ 27,689	221.4%
Net cash used in investing activities	(4,112)	(1,349)	(2,763)	(204.8)%
Net cash provided by financing activities	5,437	23,740	(18,303)	(77.1)%

Cash Flows from Operating Activities

Net cash provided by operating activities increased by $27.7 million, or 221.4%, for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 compared to the same period in 2020 primarily due to the improvements in our net income as a result of management reducing costs to offset the impact of COVID-19 on our business producing an increase of $26.1 million; the increase in sales resulted in an increase in inventory purchases of $5.8 million to meet the demand for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 as compared to the decreased in inventory purchase of $5.9 million due to the sales reduction as a result of COVID-19 impact for the nine months ended September 30, 2020; and the decrease in inventory of $6.1 million as a result of increased sales. This was partially offset by the increased billing and timing of payments received from customers of $19.0 million.

Cash Flows from Investing Activities

Net cash used in investing activities increased by $2.8 million, or 204.8%, for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 compared to 2020, which was attributable primarily to our non-recourse, uncollateralized short-term promissory note we lent to a third party (see Note 4 to our condensed consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus for more information) as well as investments into our website to build out our online sales capabilities to increase sales and reduce the impact caused by the closure of business due to COVID-19.

Cash Flows from Financing Activities

Net cash provided by financing activities decreased $18.3 million, or 77.1%, for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 compared to the same period in 2020 primarily due to the increased repayment of our 2018 Revolving Credit Facility of $41.0 million; repayment of the 2018 term loan of $65.1 million; payment of debt issuance costs of $6.0 million for the Obagi Existing Credit Agreement; and decreased borrowings from the 2018 Revolving Credit Facility of $9.0 million and the PPP Loan of $6.8 million as a result of recovery from the COVID-19 as discussed above. We are able to generate significant cash from our operating activities. This was partially offset by the Obagi Existing Credit Agreement, which includes term loan proceeds of $110.0 million.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Comparison of the Years Ended December 31, 2020 and 2019

(in thousands, except percentages)	Year Ended December 31,		2020 vs. 2019
	2020	2019	$ Change	% Change
Net cash (used in) provided by operating activities	$ (7,251)	$ 3,776	$(11,027)	(292.0)%
Net cash used in investing activities	(1,887)	(788)	(1,099)	(139.5)%
Net cash provided by (used in) financing activities	14,319	(6,814)	21,133	310.1%

Cash Flows from Operating Activities

Net cash used in operating activities increased by $11.0 million, or 292.0%, for the year ended December 31, 2020 compared to the same period in 2019 primarily due to significantly lower cash related operating results of $15.0 million resulting from the impact of lower net revenues during the first three quarters of fiscal 2020 due to the COVID-19 as our customers' businesses were closed during the first half of 2020, and lower cash flows from changes in accounts payable, accrued expenses, and other liabilities of $11.7 million as a result of the timing of the payments. This was partially offset by a decrease in inventory of $10.5 million resulting from lower sales because of the impact of COVID-19 on our business and decrease in accounts receivable due to the timing of payments received from the customers.

Cash Flows from Investing Activities

Net cash used in investing activities Increased by $1.1 million, or 139.5%, for the year ended December 31, 2020 compared to 2019, which was attributable primarily to investments in our website to reduce the impact of COVID-19 by introducing online sales capabilities as well as investments in other equipment related to leasehold improvements and machinery.

Cash Flows from Financing Activities

Net cash provided by financing activities increased $21.1 million, or 310.1%, for the year ended December 31, 2020 compared to the same period in 2019 primarily due to proceeds from the PPP Loan of $6.8 million and a decrease in payments to the 2018 Revolving Credit Facility of $34.0 million to meet our operational needs as a result of the impact of COVID-19. This was partially offset by the decrease in the borrowing from the 2018 Revolving Credit Facility of $18.0 million.

Critical accounting policies, significant judgments and use of estimates

The preparation of our audited consolidated financial statements and related notes requires us to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses, and related disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities. We based our estimates on historical experience and on various other assumptions that we believe to be reasonable under the circumstances. We periodically review our estimates and make adjustments when facts and circumstances dictate. To the extent that there are material differences between these estimates and actual results, our financial condition or results of operations will be affected.

An accounting policy is considered to be critical if it requires an accounting estimate to be made based on assumptions about matters that are highly uncertain at the time the estimate is made, and if different estimates that reasonably could have been used, or changes in the accounting estimates that are reasonably likely to occur periodically, could materially impact our audited consolidated financial statements. We believe that our critical accounting policies reflect the more significant estimates and assumptions used in the preparation of our audited consolidated financial statements. The critical accounting policies, judgments and estimates should be read in conjunction with our audited consolidated financial statements and the notes thereto and other disclosures included in this report. For further information, see Note 2 to our audited consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus.

We believe the following critical accounting policies, estimates and assumptions may have a material impact on reported financial condition and operating performance and may involve significant levels of judgment to account for highly uncertain matters or are susceptible to significant change:

Revenue Recognition

We recognize revenue upon transfer of control of promised products to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration we expect to receive in exchange for those products. Revenue is recognized net of any taxes collected from customers, which are subsequently remitted to Governmental Authorities. We primarily recognize revenue from net product sales and royalty income. For the majority of sales, we transfer control, invoice the customer, and recognize revenue either once the delivery of the product has occurred or once the product has been picked up from the warehouse by the buyer's shipping agent. We account for shipping and handling activities as a fulfillment activity instead of a performance obligation. As such, costs related to shipping and handling are included in SG&A in the statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss). We recognize royalty revenue in connection with the Rohto licensing agreement at a point in time. Based on the licensing agreement, a customer contract with Rohto exists when Rohto sells licensed product to its customer.

Discounts, Allowances, Rebates, and Chargebacks

We offer discounts and other incentive allowances to customers. The transaction price of product sales includes estimates of these discounts and incentives as variable consideration. Product sales revenue is recognized net of provisions for estimated discounts and allowances, distribution fees, returns, and rebates. Provisions for discounts and allowances are estimated based on the most likely amount using contractual sales terms with customers and historical experience. Accruals for customer rebates are estimated based on the contractual terms and our current evaluation of our experience.

Services Provided by the Customer

Consideration payable to a customer for a distinct good or service is treated as a purchase for an amount up to the fair value of such distinct good or service. When consideration payable for distinct goods or services exceeds the fair value of services provided by the customer, we record those excess amounts as a reduction of the transaction price in the arrangement. Consideration payable to a customer for non-distinct services, such as distribution services including packing and shipping, customer service, returns processing and reporting, customer credit, invoicing, collection and chargeback services, is recorded as a reduction to the transaction price.

Goodwill

Goodwill is calculated as the excess of the cost of purchased businesses over the fair value of their underlying net assets. We assess goodwill at least annually as of September 30th for impairment, or more frequently, if certain events or circumstances warrant. We have only one goodwill reporting unit which we test for impairment at the reporting unit level. We identified our reporting unit by assessing whether the component of our reporting segment constitutes a business for which discrete financial information is available and management of the reporting unit regularly reviews the operating results of that component.

When quantitative impairment testing for goodwill is necessary, it is based upon the fair value of a reporting unit as compared to its carrying value. We make certain judgments and assumptions in allocating assets and liabilities to determine carrying values for our reporting units. The impairment loss recognized would be the difference between a reporting unit's carrying value and fair value in an amount not to exceed the carrying value of the reporting unit's goodwill.

Testing goodwill for impairment requires us to estimate fair values of reporting units using significant estimates and assumptions. The assumptions made will impact the outcome and ultimate results of the testing. We use industry accepted valuation models and set criteria that are reviewed and approved by various levels of management and, in certain instances, we engage independent third-party valuation specialists. To determine fair value of the reporting unit, we used a combination of the income and market approaches, when applicable. We believe the blended use of both models, when applicable, compensates for the inherent risk associated with either model if used on a stand-alone basis, and this combination is indicative of the factors a market participant would consider when performing a similar valuation.

Under the income approach, we determine fair value using a discounted cash flow method, projecting future cash flows of each reporting unit, as well as a terminal value, and discounting such cash flows at a rate of return that reflects the relative risk of the cash flows. Under the market approach, when applicable, we utilize information from comparable publicly traded companies with similar operating and investment characteristics as the reporting units, which creates valuation multiples that are applied to the operating performance of the reporting units being tested, to value the reporting unit.

The key estimates and factors used in these approaches include revenue growth rates and profit margins based on our internal forecasts, our specific weighted-average cost of capital used to discount future cash flows, and comparable market multiples for the industry segment, when applicable, as well as our historical operating trends. Certain future events and circumstances, including deterioration of market conditions, higher cost of capital, a decline in actual and expected consumer consumption and demands, could result in changes to these assumptions and judgments. A revision of these assumptions could cause the fair values of the reporting units to fall below their respective carrying values, resulting in a non-cash impairment charge. Such charge could have a material effect on the Consolidated Statements of Operations and Balance Sheets.

There were no impairment charges recorded on goodwill during the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019 or for the nine-month period ended September 30, 2021 and 2020. As of September 30, 2021, we did not consider reporting units to be at risk for impairment as we have determined the fair value of our reporting units significantly exceeds the carrying value.

Stock-based compensation

Stock-based compensation cost is measured at grant date, based on the fair value of the award, and is generally recognized on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period for all awards that vest. We estimate the fair value of employee stock-based payment awards subject to service and qualifying transaction conditions on the date of grant using the Black-Scholes valuation model. The Black-Scholes model requires the use of highly subjective and complex assumptions, including the option's expected term and the price volatility of the underlying stock.

We recognize compensation expense for awards with service and qualifying transaction conditions on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period, which is generally the award's vesting period. Compensation expense for employee stock-based awards whose vesting is subject to the fulfillment of both a service condition and the occurrence of a performance condition is recognized on a graded-vesting basis at the time the achievement of the performance condition becomes probable. As of and prior to September 30, 2021, we have not expected the occurrence of a qualifying transaction event to be "probable," and therefore no expense has been recorded. We account for forfeitures as they occur.

Higher volatility and longer expected terms result in an increase to stock-based compensation determined at the date of grant. Future stock-based compensation cost and unrecognized stock-based compensation will increase to the extent that we grant additional equity awards to employees, or we assume unvested equity awards in connection with acquisitions. If there are any modifications or cancellations of the underlying unvested securities, we may be required to accelerate any remaining unearned stock-based compensation cost or incur incremental cost.

The expected stock price volatility for common stock was estimated by taking the average historic price volatility for industry peers based on daily price observations over a period equivalent to the expected term of the stock option grants. Industry peers consist of several public companies in our industry which are of similar size, complexity and stage of development. The risk-free interest rate for the expected term of the option is based on the U.S. Treasury implied yield at the date of grant. The weighted-average expected term is determined based on the simplified method, which results in an expected term based on the midpoint between the vesting date and contractual term of an option. The simplified method was chosen because we have limited historical option exercise experience.

If factors change and we employ different assumptions, stock-based compensation cost on future awards may differ significantly. No stock-based compensation expense as been realized in current or prior periods.

Emerging Growth Company Accounting Election

Section 102(b)(1) of the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012 ("JOBS") Act exempts emerging growth companies from being required to comply with new or revised financial accounting standards until private companies are required to comply with the new or revised financial accounting standards. The JOBS Act provides that a company can choose not to take advantage of the extended transition period and comply with the requirements that apply to non-emerging growth companies, and any such election to not take advantage of the extended transition period is irrevocable. We are an "emerging growth company" as defined in Section 2(a) of the Securities Act, and have irrevocably elected to take advantage of the benefits of this extended transition period, which means that when a standard is issued or revised and has different application dates for public or private companies, we, for so long as we remain an emerging growth company, may adopt the new or revised standard at the time private companies are required to adopt the new or revised standard.

Following the consummation of the Business Combination, we expect to remain an emerging growth company until the earlier of: (1) the last day of the fiscal year (a) following the fifth anniversary of the Closing of the Waldencast initial public offering, (b) in which we have total annual revenue of at least $1,070.0 million, or (c) in which we are deemed to be a large accelerated filer, which means the market value of our common equity that is held by non-affiliates is equal to or exceeds $700.0 million as of the end of the prior fiscal year's second fiscal quarter and our net sales for the year exceed $100.0 million; and (2) the date on which we have issued more than $1,000.0 million in non-convertible debt securities during the preceding, rolling three-year period.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

See Note 2 to our audited consolidated financial statements and our interim unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus for more information regarding recent accounting pronouncements.

Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

We are exposed to market risks in the ordinary course of our business, which primarily relate to fluctuations in interest rates, foreign exchange and inflation.

Interest Rates

We have interest rate risk with respect to our indebtedness. As of September 30, 2021, we had an aggregate face value of $124.5 million of outstanding indebtedness all of which has variable interest rates. A one percent increase or decrease in the annual interest rate on our variable rate borrowings of $124.5 million would increase or decrease our annual cash interest expense by approximately $1.2 million.

Foreign Exchange Fluctuations

We transact business in multiple currencies worldwide, of which the most significant currency for the years ended December 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, and for the nine-month ended September 30, 2021 and 2020 was the U.S. dollar. Our international revenue, as well as costs and expenses dominated in foreign currencies, expose us to the risk of fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates against the U.S. dollar. As of September 30, 2021, the effect of a hypothetical 10% change in foreign currency exchange rates would not be material to our financial condition or results of operations. To date, we have not entered into any hedging arrangements with respect to foreign currency risk. As our international operations grow, we will continue to reassess our approach to manage our risk relating to fluctuations in currency rates.

Inflation

We do not believe that inflation has had a material effect on our business, financial condition, or results of operations.

On November 15, 2021, Waldencast entered into the Obagi Merger Agreement with Obagi and the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement with Milk in transactions contemplated by such agreements, pursuant to which each of Obagi and Milk will become a subsidiary of the combined company, subject to the satisfaction or waiver of the conditions to closing of the transactions contemplated by the agreements.

COVID-19 Pandemic

Our business was impacted in the nine months ended September 30, 2021 and 2020 and years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019 by the COVID-19 pandemic primarily through a decline in retail traffic. Domestic Sephora stores had the largest reduction in sales due to Sephora closing its U.S. stores during the rapid spread of the virus beginning in March 2020. As a result, Sephora did not replenish stores in April 2020 and maintained many store closures through July 2020. The reduction of sales in Sephora's U.S. stores continued after reopening mainly due to COVID-19 protocols, which contributed to reduced traffic in stores and demand for several product lines. Store traffic rebounded in the nine months ended September 30, 2021 as COVID-19 restrictions were easing.

Key Components of Results of Operations

Net Sales

We derive product revenue from the sale of cosmetics to retailers, including off-price retailers, and DTC sales via our website. Product revenue is recognized point in time upon transfer of control, including passage of title to the customer and transfer of risk of loss related to the products.

Approximately 56% and 78% of revenue for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively are in connection with sales to one customer, Sephora, on a global basis. For the nine months ended September 30, 2021 and 2020, approximately 67% and 62% of revenue was in connection with sales to one customer. We deduct customer credits for damages and returns, promotional discounts, and expected credits to be issued in the future from gross revenue. Expected credits for damages and returns are based on prior history, known events, and projections on sales in the current period.

Cost of Goods Sold (exclusive of depreciation and amortization)

Cost of goods sold includes the aggregate costs to manufacture our products, including the amounts invoiced by our third-party contract manufacturers for finished goods, as well as costs related to inbound freight to our distribution center and overhead. Costs of goods sold also includes the effect of changes in the balance of reserves for excess and obsolete inventory.

Selling, general and administrative expenses

Selling, general and administrative expenses consist primarily of employee-related costs, including salaries, bonuses, fringe benefits, travel and entertainment expenses and other related costs associated with administrative services such as legal, accounting, creative and regulatory. Selling, general, and administrative expenses also include outbound shipping and handling costs, product processing costs, facility costs, marketing and digital expenses, costs related to merchandising and research and development.

Depreciation and amortization

Depreciation and amortization primarily consist of depreciation of retailer makeup gondolas. During fiscal year 2019, a determination was made to replace a majority of gondolas at U.S. Sephora stores, and as a result, depreciation was accelerated to reflect the new useful life of the gondolas. Upon being replaced in 2020, these gondolas were fully depreciated and written off.

Interest expense, net

Interest expense primarily consists of (i) the $1.3 million discount on the beneficial conversion feature of a secured convertible promissory note to Milk Series C Preferred Units in 2019; (ii) interest on advances from our line of credit and (iii) interest charged by Sephora on advances related to the 2020 birthday gift program, offset by interest income from interest on notes issued to employees. For more information, see Note 6 within our annual financial statements contained elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Other expense, net

Other expense includes foreign currency transaction gains/losses, state income taxes, and other miscellaneous expenses.

Results of Operations

The following tables set forth our results of operations for the periods presented within our financial statements included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus. The period-to-period comparison of financial results is not necessarily indicative of future results.

Net sales

Net sales increased $8.2 million, or 26%, to $39.7 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, from $31.4 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2020. The increase was primarily driven by increase in volume attributed to the increase in store traffic at Sephora due to the loosening of COVID-19 protocols and sales attributed to a new customer and new market.

Cost of goods sold decreased $0.5 million, or 3%, to $17.4 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, from $17.9 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2020. The decrease was primarily driven by inventory write-offs of $2.0 million that were incurred during the nine months ended September 30, 2020 but not incurred during the nine months ended September 30, 2021. The decrease was partially offset by the increase in cost of goods sold of $1.6 million attributed to the overall increase in net sales as a result of the loosening of COVID-19 protocols.

Selling, general and administrative expenses

Selling, general and administrative expenses increased $1.1 million, or 5%, to $20.5 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2021, from $19.5 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2020. The increase in SG&A was primarily related to increases in marketing, payroll, and facility costs for a total of $1.4 million, which were driven by the overall increase in consumer activities impacted by the loosening of COVID-19 pandemic restrictions during the nine months ended September 30, 2021. The increase in SG&A was partially offset by a decrease in fulfilment and logistics costs of $0.3 million attributed to lower e-commerce sales resulting from the reopening of physical stores.

Depreciation and amortization

Depreciation and amortization increased $0.2 million, or 14%, to $1.5 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2021 from $1.3 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2020. The increase was concurrent with additions of new gondolas attributed to opening of new stores during the nine months ended September 30, 2021.

Interest expense, net

Interest expense decreased $0.015 million, or 94%, to $0.001 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2021 from $0.016 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2020. The decrease was attributed to the customer deposits made by Sephora to the Company in 2020 to fund the production of inventory to be used in a promotional program, for which the Company incurred interest expense during the nine months ended September 30, 2020 and not during 2021 for the same period, as they were fully settled as of December 31, 2020.

Other expense, net

Other expense decreased $0.2 million, or 80%, to $0.06 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2021 from $0.3 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2020. The decrease was primarily due to foreign currency transactions.

Comparison of Fiscal years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019

The following table summarizes our statements of operations data:

(In thousands, except percentages)	Year ended December 31,		Change

Net sales decreased $11.3 million, or 22%, to $39.5 million in the year ended December 31, 2020 from $50.8 million in the year ended December 31, 2019. The decrease in net sales was mainly driven by the COVID-19 pandemic, with domestic Sephora stores experiencing the largest reduction in sales with respect to our products due to the closure of its U.S. stores as a result of the rapid spread of COVID-19 in March 2020. As a result, Sephora did not replenish stores in April 2020 and maintained many store closures through July 2020. The reduction of sales in Sephora's U.S. stores continued after reopening mainly due to COVID-19 protocols, which contributed to reduced traffic in stores and demand for several product lines.

Cost of goods sold (exclusive of depreciation and amortization)

Costs of goods sold increased $0.1 million, to $23.5 million in the year ended December 31, 2020 from $23.4 million in the year ended December 31, 2019. The increase was primarily driven by the increase in cost of goods sold attributed to sales to off-price retailers of $7.5 million, partially offset by the decrease in cost of goods sold attributed to a decline in sales to other retailers of $7.5 million. The increase was also driven by inventory write-offs of $2.0 million that were incurred during the year ended December 31, 2020, which were partially offset by inventory reserve provision of $1.9 million for the year ended December 31, 2019.

Selling, general and administrative expenses

SG&A expenses decreased $7.0 million, or 21%, to $26.6 million in the year ended December 31, 2020 from $33.6 million in the year ended December 31, 2019. The decrease was primarily due to reduction in operating expenses as a result of the pandemic. Marketing expenses decreased by $5.9 million, principally due to the reduction in the number of marketing events and reduced influencer gifting. In addition, payroll expenses decreased by $1.2 million, as we laid off 30% of our staff in April 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Depreciation and amortization

Depreciation and amortization decreased $0.8 million, or 31%, to $1.7 million in the year ended December 31, 2020 from $2.5 million in the year ended December 31, 2019. The decrease was primarily driven by $1.1 million in accelerated depreciation related to retailer makeup gondolas booked in 2019, partially offset by the depreciation expense attributed to the gondolas that were newly installed in 2020.

Interest expense, net

Interest expense decreased $1.1 million, or 78%, to $0.3 million in the year ended December 31, 2020 from $1.4 million in the year ended December 31, 2019. The decrease was primarily due to the $1.3 million discount on the beneficial conversion feature of a secured convertible promissory note to Milk Series C Preferred Units given in 2019, which we did not incur in 2020. The decrease was partially offset by interest expense of $0.2 million primarily attributed to Milk's line of credit and customer deposits made by Sephora to Milk in 2020 to fund the production of inventory to be used in a promotional program.

Other expense, net

Other expense decreased $0.5 million, or 57%, to $0.4 million in the year ended December 31, 2020, from $0.9 million in the year ended December 31, 2019. The decrease was primarily due to one-time legal and professional fees incurred in 2019 and foreign currency transactions.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Our liquidity requirements arise from our working capital needs, our obligations to make scheduled payments of interest on our indebtedness and our need to fund capital expenditures to support our current operations, including inventories, marketing, and payroll, and to facilitate growth and expansion. We have financed our operations and expansion by extending our Line of Credit (as defined below) through April 2022. As of September 30, 2021, we had an accumulated deficit of $58.3 million. COVID-19, which was declared a global pandemic, had a direct impact on our operations and financial performance in 2020. Management took immediate action to secure financing and increased our cash position in response to these events.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Our primary sources of liquidity consist of cash totaling $6.5 million, our Line of Credit financing arrangement with an aggregate outstanding principal limit of $8.0 million and no outstanding balance as of September 30, 2021, and additional equity financing in 2020, which is available for use for working capital and general business purposes, which we believe will be sufficient to provide working capital, make interest payments and make capital expenditures to support operations and facilitate growth and expansion for the next twelve months. Our principal uses of cash for the periods presented within our financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus have been funding our operations.

The following tables summarize our cash flows for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 and 2020 and for the year ended December 31, 2020 and 2019:

(In thousands, except percentages)	Nine months ended September 30,

Milk is party to a Loan and Security Agreement, dated as of October 10, 2019 (as amended, restated, amended and restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time, the “Credit Agreement”) with Pacific Western Bank, which provides us with a line of credit maturing in April 2022. The Milk Equity Purchase Agreement requires that, in connection with the closing of the transactions contemplated thereby, all amounts outstanding under the Credit Agreement be paid off, the Credit Agreement be terminated and all related liens be released in connection with the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement.

Operating activities

Cash provided by operating activities is primarily driven by earnings from operations and changes in net working capital, defined as current assets minus current liabilities and other liabilities. Changes in net working capital are largely related to changes in account receivable, inventory and inventory reserves, prepaid and other current assets, accounts payable, and other assets and liabilities.

The increase in cash provided by operating activities for the nine months ended September 30, 2021 as compared to the same period during the previous year was primarily a result of the increase in net income of $7.5 million and changes in non-cash items of $0.6 million, partially offset by the decrease in changes of net working capital of $0.1 million.

The decrease in cash used in operating activities for the year ended December 31, 2020 as compared to the year ended December 31, 2019 was primarily a result of the decrease in net loss of $2.0 million and changes in non-cash items of $2.6 million, partially offset by the increase in changes of net working capital of $20.0 million.

Investing activities

Cash used in investing activities for all periods presented is primarily related to capital expenditures. Capital expenditures are largely related to purchases of gondolas attributed to opening of new stores during the nine months ended September 30, 2021 and those that were newly installed during the year ended December 31, 2020.

Financing Activities

Cash provided by our financing activities in 2020 was $10.0 million due to proceeds received from contributions from members for the purchase of 982,318 authorized Milk Series D Preferred Units during the year ended December 31, 2020.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

We did not have during the periods presented, and we do not currently have, any off-balance sheet financing arrangements or any relationships with unconsolidated entities or financial partnerships, including entities sometimes referred to as structured finance or special purpose entities, that were established for the purpose of facilitating off-balance sheet arrangements or other contractually narrow or limited purposes.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

Our management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations is based on our financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP. The preparation of financial statements in accordance with U.S. GAAP requires us to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, as well as the reported revenues and expenses during the reported periods. We employ judgment in making our estimates, but they are based on historical experience, currently available information and various other assumptions that we believe to be reasonable under the circumstances. These estimates form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily available from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates, and material changes in these estimates could occur in the future.

We believe that the following accounting policies are critical and involve a high degree of judgment. See Note 2 to our annual financial statements appearing elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus for a description of our other significant accounting policies.

Revenue Recognition

We adopted the new revenue accounting standard, ASC 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, under the modified retrospective method to all contracts as of January 1, 2019. There was no significant impact on Milk's results of operations or financial condition upon adoption of the new standard.

We generate revenue from the sale of cosmetics to retailers, including off-price retailers, and DTC sales via our website. Our revenue contracts represent a single performance obligation to sell products to our customers. We recognize revenue at a point in time upon transfer of control, including passage of title to the customer and transfer of risk of loss related to the products, in an amount that reflects the consideration we expect to be entitled to.

For sales to retailers, transfer of control generally passes upon the pickup of goods by the retailer from our distribution center, unless we are responsible for shipping the goods, in which case transfer of control passes upon delivery to the retailer. For DTC sales, we charge credit cards in advance of shipment. Transfer of control passes upon delivery to the customer.

For sales to retailers, we collect cash generally in 15 to 45 days depending on the retailer. We have not to date experienced material issues with collectability. For DTC sales, we collect cash in advance of shipment. Sales taxes imposed on DTC sales are recorded as a sales tax liability on the balance sheet and do not impact net sales.

In measuring revenue and determining the consideration we are entitled to as part of a contract with a customer, we take into account the related elements of variable consideration. Such elements of variable consideration include product returns and sales incentives, such as volume rebates and discounts, markdowns, margin adjustments and early-payment discounts. For the sale of goods with a right of return, we only recognize revenue for the consideration we expect to be entitled to and record a sales return reserve based on prior history, known events, and projections on sales in the current period. We estimate sales incentives and other variable consideration using the most likely amount method and record a reserve when control of the related product is transferred to the customer. Under this method, certain forms of variable consideration are based on expected sell-through results, which requires subjective estimates. These estimates are supported by historical results as well as specific facts and circumstances related to the current period. A reserve for expected returns or sales incentives reduces accounts receivable on the balance sheet. The reserve is trued up for actual results on an ongoing basis.

Our contract assets consist of receivables. Our contractual liabilities consist of cash collections from our customers prior to the delivery of products purchased for DTC sales. These contractual liabilities have not been material to our financial statements.

Equity Based Compensation

The Milk Appreciation Rights Plan and the Milk Incentive Rights Plan for our employees and officers provide for granting of appreciation rights awards and incentive awards at the discretion of the board of directors. Appreciation rights awards and incentive awards have no voting rights. We measure all awards using fair values as determined by the Black-Scholes model.

Under the Milk Appreciation Rights Plan, the total number of units that may be awarded is 2,359,910 common units. Award terms are 10 years. Awards granted in 2021 vest 25% on date of issuance, and then the remaining units vest in equal monthly installments over the following, forty-eight months, contingent upon continued employment or service throughout the applicable vesting dating. Awards granted in 2020 vest in four equal 25% installments on the anniversary date of the vesting commencement date, contingent upon continued employment or service. With few exceptions, awards granted prior to 2020 vest 25% after twelve months of continued employment or service after issuance, and the remaining units vest in equal monthly installments over the following thirty-six months, contingent upon continued employment or service throughout the applicable vesting date.

The appreciation rights awards granted to employees and non-employees were accounted for as equity-classified options. The awards are issued as equity appreciation rights and in accordance with the appreciation rights award letter, the awards may be settled in cash or units at the sole option of the Company.

Our use of the Black-Scholes option-pricing model requires the input of highly subjective assumptions. If factors change and different assumptions are used, our stock-based compensation expense could be materially different in the future. Key assumptions and estimates associated with Black-Scholes inputs are as follows:

- Fair Value of Common Stock: As our common units are not publicly traded, the fair value was determined by our management, with input from valuation reports prepared by third-party valuation specialists. Stock-based compensation for financial reporting purposes is measured based on updated estimates of fair value when appropriate, such as when additional relevant information related to the estimate becomes available in a valuation report issued as of a subsequent date.
- Expected Dividend Yield: We have not historically declared or paid dividends and do not anticipate that distributions will be made in the near future. As a result, an expected dividend yield of zero percent was used.
- Expected Volatility: The volatility factor for our unit-based options was estimated using publicly available trading data, which was used to estimate our volatility, had we been public.
- Expected Term: Our expected term represents the period that the awards are expected to be outstanding and was determined as a function of contractual terms of the unit-based awards and vesting schedules. We use the simplified method of calculation for estimating expected term.
- Risk-Free Interest Rate: We base the risk-free interest rate used in the Black-Scholes model on implied yield currently available on U.S. Treasury zero-coupon issues with an equivalent remaining term.

Common Unit Valuations

Given the absence of a public trading market for our common units, and in accordance with the AICPA Accounting and Valuation Guide, Valuation of Privately-Held Company Equity Securities Issued as Compensation, our board of directors exercised reasonable judgment and considered numerous and subjective factors to determine the best estimate of fair value of our common units, including:

- Independent third-party valuations of our common units;
- The prices at which we sold our common units to outside investors in arms-length transactions;
- Our results of operations, financial position, and capital resources;
- Industry outlook;
- The lack of marketability of our common units;
- The fact that the option grants involve illiquid securities in a private company;
- The likelihood of achieving a liquidity event, such as an initial public offering or a sale of our company, given prevailing market conditions;
- The history and nature of our business, industry trends, and competitive environment; and
- General economic outlook including economic growth, inflation and unemployment, interest rate environment, and global economic trends.

In valuing our common units, the fair value of our business, or enterprise value, was determined using the market approach. The market approach estimates value based on a comparison of the subject company to comparable public companies in a similar line of business, the subject company transaction method, the backsolve method, and secondary transactions of our equity interests. From the comparable companies method, a representative market value multiple is determined and then applied to the subject company's financial results to estimate the value of the subject company. From the subject company transaction method, in this particular instance, an estimate of our market value was determined based on an offer to purchase the company and the likelihood of said transaction being consummated. The Backsolve Method "backsolves" to a value of a company based on its shares sold in a recent, arm's length priced equity round of financing. The market approach also includes consideration of the transaction price of secondary sales of our equity interests by investors.

Application of these approaches involves the use of estimates, judgment, and assumptions that may be highly complex and subjective, such as those regarding our expected future revenue, expenses, and future cash flows, discount rates, market multiples, the selection of comparable companies and the probability of possible future events. Changes in any or all of these estimates and assumptions or the relationships between those assumptions impact our valuations as of each valuation date and may have a material impact on the valuation of our common units.

Recently Adopted Accounting Pronouncements

See Note 2 to our annual financial statements included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus for more information regarding recently issued accounting pronouncements.

Qualitative and Quantitative Disclosures about Market Risk

We have in the past and may in the future be exposed to certain market risks, including interest rate, foreign currency exchange and financial instrument risks, in the ordinary course of our business. Currently, these risks are not material to our financial condition or results of operations, but they may be in the future. In particular, upon the consummation of the Business Combination, we expect our exposure to foreign currency translation and transaction risk to increase. See the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled "Obagi's Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk."

Corporate Governance

Composition of the Board of Directors

The business and affairs of Waldencast plc will be managed under the direction of the Waldencast plc Board. Following the consummation of the Business Combination, the Waldencast plc Board will initially consist of nine directors. Subject to the terms of the Investor Rights Agreement, the Proposed Constitutional Document provides that the number of directors on the Waldencast plc Board will be fixed by the Waldencast plc Board.

When considering whether directors and director nominees have the experience, qualifications, attributes and skills, taken as a whole, to enable the Waldencast plc Board to satisfy its oversight responsibilities effectively in light of its business and structure, the Waldencast plc Board expects to focus primarily on each person's background and experience in order to provide an appropriate mix of experience and skills relevant to the size and nature of the business.

The Obagi Merger Agreement contemplates that, at the Obagi Closing, Waldencast will enter into the Investor Rights Agreement with Cedarwalk, the Sponsor and a guarantor of Cedarwalk's obligation thereunder, pursuant to which, among other things, Waldencast will agree to take all necessary action to cause the Waldencast plc Board to be comprised of one director nominated by Cedarwalk for as long as Cedarwalk owns 5% of the then outstanding Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. Mr. Simon Dai shall be nominated for election as the initial director nominee of Cedarwalk, and shall serve as a Class II director. See the section entitled "BCA Proposal — Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger — Investor Rights Agreement."

Classified Board of Directors

In accordance with the terms of the Proposed Constitutional Document, which will be effective upon the consummation of the Business Combination, the Waldencast plc Board will consist of no less than 5, but no more than 15 natural persons, such number to be set by the Waldencast plc Board by resolution from time to time. Waldencast has determined that the Waldencast plc Board will initially consist of nine directors and be divided into classes of directors that will serve staggered three-year terms. At each annual meeting of stockholders, a class of directors will be elected for a three-year term to succeed the same class whose term is then expiring. As a result, only one class of directors will be elected at each annual meeting of our stockholders, with the other classes continuing for the remainder of their respective three-year terms. The Waldencast plc Board will be divided among the three classes as follows:

- the Class I directors, which we anticipate will be Lindsay Pattison, Zack Werner and Sarah Brown, and their terms will expire at the first annual meeting of stockholders to be held after the consummation of the Business Combination;
- the Class II directors, which we anticipate will be Aaron Chatterley, Juliette Hickman and Cristiano Souza, and their terms will expire at the second annual meeting of stockholders to be held after the consummation of the Business Combination; and
- the Class III directors, which we anticipate will be Michel Brousset, Felipe Dutra and Simon Dai, and their terms will expire at the third annual meeting of stockholders to be held after the consummation of the Business Combination.

Each director's term will continue until the election and qualification of his or her successor, or his or her earlier death, resignation or removal. Any increase or decrease in the number of directors will be distributed among the three classes so that, as nearly as possible, each class will consist of one-third of the directors. This classification of the Waldencast plc Board may have the effect of delaying or preventing changes in control of Waldencast plc.

Director Independence

As a result of Waldencast plc's common stock being listed on the Nasdaq, following consummation of the Business Combination, it will be required to comply with the applicable rules of the exchange in determining whether a director is independent. Prior to the completion of this Business Combination, the parties undertook a review of the independence of the individuals named above and have determined that each of Ms. Sarah Brown, Ms. Juliette Hickman, Ms. Lindsay Pattison, Mr. Zack Werner and Mr. Aaron Chatterley qualifies as "independent" as defined under the applicable Nasdaq rules.

and equity-based awards. The maximum number of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares underlying awards granted pursuant to the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan, will in total not exceed % of Waldencast plc issued share capital at completion of the Business Combination. In addition, we expect that the number of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares reserved for issuance under the Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan will automatically increase on January 1 of each calendar year, starting on January 1, 2023, in an amount equal to % of the total number of Waldencast Class A ordinary shares comprised in its issued share capital on the last day of the calendar month before the date of each automatic increase, or a lesser number of shares determined by the Waldencast plc Board. The Waldencast plc 2022 Incentive Award Plan will be administered by any committee or sub-committee of non-employee directors appointed by the Waldencast plc Board. ## BENEFICIAL OWNERSHIP OF SECURITIES

The following table sets forth information regarding (i) the beneficial ownership of Waldencast ordinary shares as of _____, 2021 and (ii) the expected beneficial ownership of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares immediately following consummation of the Business Combination (assuming a “No Redemptions” scenario and assuming a “Maximum Redemptions” scenario as described below) by:

- each person who is known to be the beneficial owner of more than 5% of Waldencast ordinary shares and/or is expected to be the beneficial owner of more than 5% of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares post-Business Combination;
- each of Waldencast’s current executive officers and directors;
- each person who will become an executive officer or director of Waldencast plc post-Business Combination; and
- all executive officers and directors of Waldencast as a group pre-Business Combination, and all executive officers and directors of Waldencast plc post-Business Combination.

Beneficial ownership is determined according to the rules of the SEC, which generally provide that a person has beneficial ownership of a security if he, she or it possesses sole or shared voting or investment power over that security, including options and warrants that are currently exercisable or exercisable within 60 days.

The beneficial ownership of Waldencast ordinary shares pre-Business Combination is based on 43,125,000 Waldencast ordinary shares issued and outstanding as of September 30, 2021, which includes an aggregate of 8,625,000 Waldencast Class B ordinary shares outstanding as of such date.

The expected beneficial ownership of shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares after giving effect to the Business Combination and related transactions, assuming two redemption scenarios as follows:

- Assuming No Redemptions — this scenario assumes that no public shareholders of Waldencast exercise their redemption rights with respect to their public shares of Class A ordinary shares for a pro rata share of the funds in the trust account.
- Assuming Maximum Redemptions — there is no specified maximum redemptions threshold; however, the Closing is conditioned upon minimum closing available cash of $565.0 million (calculated as the cash in the trust account after giving effect to redemptions, plus the PIPE Investment, the FPA proceeds and the cash and cash equivalents of Waldencast prior to closing) which does not result in 100% redemptions. Hence, this scenario assumes that Waldencast’s shareholders will redeem 21,984,625 shares of Class A ordinary shares for aggregate redemption payments of $219.9 million. The number of public redemption shares of 21,984,625 shares was calculated based on the estimated per share redemption value of $10.00 ($345.0 million of cash from trust account divided at September 30, 2021 by 34,500,000 outstanding Waldencast public shares). Further, this scenario assumes that 1,970,625 additional Waldencast plc Class A Ordinary shares were issued to the Milk Members and 5,250,000 additional Waldencast plc Class A Ordinary shares were issued to the Obagi Shareholders as a result of Consideration Substitution (see the section entitled “BCA Proposals – Potential Impact of Significant Redemptions on the Percentage Ownership of Waldencast plc Ordinary Shares by the Public Shareholders of Waldencast”). If there are significant redemptions by public shareholders, the maximum amount of redemptions could exceed the Maximum Redemption scenario presented herein.

Based on the foregoing assumptions, and including the 43,800,000 shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares issued in connection with the PIPE Investment and the Forward Purchase Transaction, we estimate that there would be 128,144,607 shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares issued and outstanding immediately following the consummation of the Business Combination in the no redemptions scenario, and 113,380,607 shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares issued and outstanding immediately following the consummation of the Business Combination in the “maximum redemption” scenario. If the actual facts are different from the foregoing assumptions, ownership figures in the combined company and the columns under post-Business Combination in the table that follows will be different.

The following table does not reflect record of beneficial ownership of any shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares issuable upon exercise of public warrants or private placement warrants, as such securities are not exercisable or convertible within 60 days of _____, 2021.

As such, the Sponsor and the Investor Directors collectively own 20% of our issued and outstanding shares.

Private Placement Warrants

Simultaneously with the consummation of the initial public offering of Waldencast, the Sponsor purchased 5,933,333 private placement warrants at a purchase price of $1.50 per private placement warrant, or $8.9 million in the aggregate. Each private placement warrant entitles the holder to purchase one Waldencast Class A ordinary share for $11.50 per share. A portion of the proceeds from the sale of the private placement warrants was placed in the trust account of Waldencast. The private placement warrants may not be redeemed by us so long as they are held by the Sponsor or its permitted transferees. If the private placement warrants are held by holders other than the Sponsor or its permitted transferees, the private placement warrants will be redeemable by us and exercisable by the holders on the same basis as the warrants included in the units that were sold as part of the initial public offering of Waldencast. The Sponsor, or its permitted transferees, has the option to exercise the private placement warrants on a cashless basis.

The private placement warrants are identical to the warrants included in the units sold in the initial public offering of Waldencast except that the private placement warrants: (i) are not redeemable by Waldencast, (ii) may be exercised for cash or on a cashless basis so long as they are held by the Sponsor or any of its permitted transferees and (iii) are entitled to registration rights (including the ordinary shares issuable upon exercise of the private placement warrants). Additionally, the purchasers have agreed not to transfer, assign or sell any of the private placement warrants, including the Waldencast Class A ordinary shares issuable upon exercise of the private placement warrants (except to certain permitted transferees), until 30 days after the completion of Waldencast's initial business combination.

For additional information, see the section entitled "Domestication Proposal."

Registration Rights

The holders of the founder shares, private placement warrants, and warrants that may be issued upon conversion of working capital loans, if any (and any Waldencast Class A ordinary shares issuable upon the exercise of the private placement warrants or warrants issued upon conversion of the working capital loans and upon conversion of the founder shares) are entitled to registration rights pursuant to a registration rights agreement dated March 15, 2021 (the “Legacy Registration Rights Agreement”) requiring Waldencast to register such securities for resale (in the case of the founder shares, only after conversion to Waldencast Class A ordinary shares). The holders of these securities are entitled to make up to three demands, excluding short form demands, that Waldencast register such securities. In addition, the holders have certain “piggy-back” registration rights with respect to registration statements filed subsequent to the completion of Waldencast’s initial business combination and rights to require Waldencast to register for resale such securities pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act. Waldencast will bear the expenses incurred in connection with the filing of any such registration statements.

The Transaction Agreements contemplate that, prior to or concurrently with the Closing, Waldencast, the Sponsor and certain stockholders of Waldencast, Obagi and Milk and certain of their respective affiliates will enter into the Registration Rights Agreement, pursuant to which Waldencast will agree to register for resale, pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act, certain shares of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and other equity securities of Waldencast plc that are held by the parties thereto from time to time, subject to the restrictions on transfer therein. The Registration Rights Agreement will amend and restate the Legacy Registration Rights Agreement and terminates with respect to any party thereto, on the date that such party no longer holds any Registrable Securities (as defined therein).

Subscription Agreements

Concurrently with the execution of the Transaction Agreements, Waldencast entered into Subscription Agreements with the Initial PIPE Investors, pursuant to, and on the terms and subject to the conditions of which, the Initial PIPE Investors have collectively subscribed for 10,500,000 shares of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares for an aggregate purchase price equal to $105.0 million. Under the Transaction Agreements, Waldencast may enter into subsequent subscription agreements with certain investors.

The PIPE Investment will be consummated substantially concurrently with or immediately following the closing of the Business Combination. For additional information, see the sections entitled “BCA Proposal — Related Agreements — Related Agreements to the Obagi Merger and the Milk Transaction — Subscription Agreements.”

Related Party Note and Advances

On January 12, 2021, Waldencast issued the Promissory Note to the Sponsor, pursuant to which Waldencast may borrow an aggregate principal amount of $0.3 million. The Promissory Note was non-interest bearing and payable on the completion of the initial public offering. There were no borrowings outstanding under the note at the closing of the initial public offering.

Prior to Waldencast’s initial business combination, Waldencast’s audit committee will review on a quarterly basis all payments made to the Sponsor, officers, directors or our or their affiliates and will determine which expenses and the amount of expenses will be reimbursed. There is no individual cap or ceiling on the reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses incurred by such persons in connection with activities on Waldencast’s behalf; provided, however, that the sum total of such reimbursements shall not exceed the value of the loans provided to Waldencast (as described herein) to fund working capital deficiencies or finance transaction costs in connection with a business combination. No such reimbursements will be made from the proceeds of Waldencast’s initial public offering held in the trust account prior to the completion of Waldencast’s initial business combination.

In order to fund working capital deficiencies or finance transaction costs in connection with a business combination, the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor or certain of Waldencast’s officers and directors may, but are not obligated to, loan Waldencast funds as may be required. In the event that Waldencast’s initial business combination does not close, Waldencast may use a portion of the working capital held outside the trust account to repay such loaned amounts but no proceeds from the trust account may be used for such repayment. Up to $1.5 million of such loans may be convertible into warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant at the option of the lender. The warrants would be identical to the private placement warrants issued to the Sponsor. On August 18, 2021, Waldencast issued the Promissory Note to the Sponsor, pursuant to which Waldencast may borrow up to an aggregate principal amount of $1.5 million from the Sponsor. The Promissory Note is non-interest bearing, unsecured and due and payable in full on the earlier of (x) March 18, 2023 and (y) the date Waldencast consummates its initial business combination. On October 28, 2021, Waldencast drew down the entire available balance of the Promissory Note and the Sponsor deposited $1.5 million in Waldencast's operating bank account. Waldencast does not expect to seek loans from parties other than the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor as Waldencast does not believe third parties will be willing to loan such funds and provide a waiver against any and all rights to seek access to funds in the trust account. of the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares underlying the public warrants, multiplied by the excess of the “fair market value” (defined below) less the exercise price of the public warrants by (y) the fair market value and (B) 0.361. The “fair market value” as used in the preceding sentence shall mean the volume weighted average price of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares for the 10 trading days ending on the trading day prior to the date on which the notice of exercise is received by the Warrant Agent.

Redemption of warrants when the price per Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $18.00. Once the public warrants become exercisable, we may redeem the public warrants (except as described herein with respect to the private placement warrants):

- in whole and not in part;
- at a price of $0.01 per warrant;
- upon not less than 30 days’ prior written notice of redemption to each warrant holder; and
- if, and only if, the last reported sale price of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares for any 20 trading days within a 30-trading day period ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which we send the notice of redemption to the warrant holders (which we refer to as the “Reference Value”) equals or exceeds $18.00 per share (as adjusted for adjustments to the number of shares issuable upon exercise or the exercise price of a warrant as described under the heading “— Redeemable Warrants — Public Shareholders’ Warrants — Anti-dilution Adjustments”).

We will not redeem the public warrants as described above unless a registration statement under the Securities Act covering the issuance of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares issuable upon exercise of the public warrants is then effective and a current prospectus relating to those Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares is available throughout the 30-day redemption period. If and when the public warrants become redeemable by us, we may exercise our redemption right even if we are unable to register or qualify the underlying securities for sale under all applicable state securities laws.

We have established the second to last of the redemption criterion discussed above to prevent a redemption call unless there is at the time of the call a significant premium to the warrant exercise price. If the foregoing conditions are satisfied and we issue a notice of redemption of the public warrants, each warrant holder will be entitled to exercise his, her or its warrant prior to the scheduled redemption date. However, the price of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares may fall below the $18.00 redemption trigger price (as adjusted for adjustments to the number of shares issuable upon exercise or the exercise price of a warrant as described under the heading “— Redeemable Warrants — Public Shareholders’ Warrants — Anti-dilution Adjustments”) as well as the $11.50 (for whole shares) warrant exercise price after the redemption notice is issued.

Redemption of warrants when the price per Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $10.00. Once the public warrants become exercisable, we may redeem the outstanding warrants:

- in whole and not in part;
- at $0.10 per public warrant upon a minimum of 30 days’ prior written notice of redemption provided that holders will be able to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis prior to redemption and receive that number of shares determined by reference to the table below, based on the redemption date and the “fair market value” of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (as defined below) except as otherwise described below;
- if, and only if, the Reference Value (as defined above under “Redemption of warrants when the price per Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $18.00”) equals or exceeds $10.00 per share (as adjusted for adjustments to the number of shares issuable upon exercise or the exercise price of a warrant as described under the heading “— Redeemable Warrants — Public Shareholders’ Warrants—Anti-dilution Adjustments”); and
- if the Reference Value is less than $18.00 per share (as adjusted for adjustments to the number of shares issuable upon exercise or the exercise price of a warrant as described under the heading “— Redeemable Warrants — Public Shareholders’ Warrants — Anti-dilution Adjustments”), the private placement warrants must also be concurrently called for redemption on the same terms as the outstanding public warrants, as described above.

During the period beginning on the date the notice of redemption is given, holders may elect to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis. The numbers in the table below represent the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares that a warrant holder will receive upon such cashless exercise in connection with a redemption by us pursuant to this redemption feature, based on the “fair market value” of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares on the corresponding redemption date (assuming holders elect to exercise their warrants and such warrants are not redeemed for $0.10 per warrant), determined for these purposes based on volume weighted average price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares during the 10 trading days immediately following the date on which the notice of redemption is sent to the holders of warrants, and the number of months that the corresponding redemption date precedes the expiration date of the public warrants, each as set forth in the table below. We will provide our warrant holders with the final fair market value no later than one business day after the 10-trading day period described above ends.

The share prices set forth in the column headings of the table below will be adjusted as of any date on which the number of shares issuable upon exercise of a warrant or the exercise price of a warrant is adjusted as set forth under the heading “— Anti-dilution Adjustments” below. If the number of shares issuable upon exercise of a warrant is adjusted, the adjusted share prices in the column headings will equal the share prices immediately prior to such adjustment, multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of shares deliverable upon exercise of a warrant immediately prior to such adjustment and the denominator of which is the number of shares deliverable upon exercise of a warrant as so adjusted. The number of shares in the table below shall be adjusted in the same manner and at the same time as the number of shares issuable upon exercise of a warrant. If the exercise price of a warrant is adjusted, (a) in the case of an adjustment pursuant to the fifth paragraph under the heading “— Anti-dilution Adjustments” below, the adjusted share prices in the column headings will equal the unadjusted share price multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price as set forth under the heading “— Anti-dilution Adjustments” and the denominator of which is $10.00 and (b) in the case of an adjustment pursuant to the second paragraph under the heading “— Anti-dilution Adjustments” below, the adjusted share prices in the column headings will equal the unadjusted share price less the decrease in the exercise price of a warrant pursuant to such exercise price adjustment.

This redemption feature differs from the typical warrant redemption features used in many other blank check offerings, which typically only provide for a redemption of warrants for cash (other than the private placement warrants) when the trading price for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares exceeds $18.00 per share for a specified period of time. This redemption feature is structured to allow for all of the outstanding warrants to be redeemed when Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares are trading at or above $10.00 per share, which may be at a time when the trading price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares is below the exercise price of the public warrants. We have established this redemption feature to provide us with the flexibility to redeem the public warrants without the public warrants having to reach the $18.00 per share threshold set forth above under “— Redemption of warrants when the price per Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $18.00.” Holders choosing to exercise their warrants in connection with a redemption pursuant to this feature will, in effect, receive a number of shares for their warrants based on an option pricing model with a fixed volatility input as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. This redemption right provides us with an additional mechanism by which to redeem all of the outstanding warrants, and therefore have certainty as to our capital structure as the public warrants would no longer be outstanding and would have been exercised or redeemed. We will be required to pay the applicable redemption price to warrant holders if we choose to exercise this redemption right and it will allow us to quickly proceed with a redemption of the public warrants if we determine it is in our best interest to do so. As such, we would redeem the public warrants in this manner when we believe it is in our best interest to update our capital structure to remove the public warrants and pay the redemption price to the warrant holders.

As stated above, we can redeem the public warrants when the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares are trading at a price starting at $10.00, which is below the exercise price of $11.50, because it will provide certainty with respect to our capital structure and cash position while providing warrant holders with the opportunity to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis for the applicable number of shares. If we choose to redeem the public warrants when the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares are trading at a price below the exercise price of the public warrants, this could result in the warrant holders receiving fewer Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares than they would have received if they had chosen to wait to exercise their warrants for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares if and when such Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares were trading at a price higher than the exercise price of $11.50.

No fractional Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares will be issued upon exercise. If, upon exercise, a holder would be entitled to receive a fractional interest in a share, we will round down to the nearest whole number of the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares to be issued to the holder. If, at the time of redemption, the public warrants are exercisable for a security other than Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares pursuant to the Warrant Agreement (for instance, if we are not the surviving company in the Business Combination), the public warrants may be exercised for such security. At such time as the public warrants become exercisable for a security other than Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, we (or surviving company) will use our commercially reasonable efforts to register under the Securities Act the security issuable upon the exercise of the public warrants.

Redemption Procedures. A holder of a warrant may notify us in writing in the event it elects to be subject to a requirement that such holder will not have the right to exercise such warrant, to the extent that after giving effect to such exercise, such person (together with such person’s affiliates), to the Warrant Agent’s actual knowledge, would beneficially own in excess of 9.8% (or such other amount as a holder may specify) of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares issued and outstanding immediately after giving effect to such exercise.

Anti-dilution Adjustments. If the number of issued and outstanding Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares is increased by a capitalization or share dividend payable in Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, or by a split-up of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or other similar event, then, on the effective date of such capitalization or share dividend, split-up or similar event, the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares issuable on exercise of each warrant will be increased in proportion to such increase in the issued and outstanding Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. A rights offering made to all or substantially all holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares entitling holders to purchase Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares at a price less than the “historical fair market value” (as defined below) will be deemed a share dividend of a number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares equal to the product of (1) the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares actually sold in such rights offering (or issuable under any other equity securities sold in such rights offering that are convertible into or exercisable for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares) and (2) one minus the quotient of (x) the price per Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share paid in such rights offering and (y) the historical fair market value. For these purposes, (1) if the rights offering is for securities convertible into or exercisable for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, in determining the price payable for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, there will be taken into account any consideration received for such rights, as well as any additional amount payable upon exercise or conversion and (2) “historical fair market value” means the volume weighted average price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares during the 10 trading day period ending on the trading day prior to the first date on which the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares trade on the applicable exchange or in the applicable market, regular way, without the right to receive such rights.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

In addition, if we, at any time while the public warrants are outstanding and unexpired, pay to all or substantially all of the holders of Waldencast Class A Ordinary Shares a dividend or make a distribution in cash, securities or other assets to the holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares on account of such Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (or other securities into which the public warrants are convertible), other than (a) as described above, or (b) any cash dividends or cash distributions which, when combined on a per share basis with all other cash dividends and cash distributions paid on the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares during the 365-day period ending on the date of declaration of such dividend or distribution does not exceed $0.50 (as adjusted for share sub-divisions, share dividends, rights issuances, consolidations, reorganizations, recapitalizations and other similar transactions) but only with respect to the amount of the aggregate cash dividends or cash distributions equal to or less than $0.50 per share, then the warrant exercise price will be decreased, effective immediately after the effective date of such event, by the amount of cash and/or the fair market value of any securities or other assets paid on each Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share in respect of such event.

If the number of issued and outstanding Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares is decreased by a consolidation, combination, reverse share sub-division or reclassification of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or other similar event, then, on the effective date of such consolidation, combination, reverse share sub-division, reclassification or similar event, the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares issuable on exercise of each warrant will be decreased in proportion to such decrease in issued and outstanding Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares.

Whenever the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares purchasable upon the exercise of the public warrants is adjusted, as described above, the warrant exercise price will be adjusted by multiplying the warrant exercise price immediately prior to such adjustment by a fraction (x) the numerator of which will be the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares purchasable upon the exercise of the public warrants immediately prior to such adjustment and (y) the denominator of which will be the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares so purchasable immediately thereafter.

In addition, if (x) we issue additional ordinary shares or equity-linked securities for capital raising purposes in connection with the closing of the Business Combination at an issue price or effective issue price of less than $9.20 per ordinary share (with such issue price or effective issue price to be determined in good faith by our board of directors) (the “Newly Issued Price”), (y) the aggregate gross proceeds from such issuances represent more than 60% of the total equity proceeds, and interest thereon, available for the funding of the Business Combination on the date of the completion of the Business Combination (net of redemptions) and (z) the volume weighted average trading price of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares during the 20 trading day period starting on the trading day prior to the day on which we consummate the Business Combination (such price, the “Market Value”) is below $9.20 per share, the exercise price of the public warrants will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 115% of the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price, the $18.00 per share redemption trigger price described above under “— Redemption of warrants when the price per Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $18.00” and “— Redemption of warrants when the price per Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $10.00” will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 180% of the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price, and the $10.00 per share redemption trigger price described above under “— Redemption of warrants when the price per Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $10.00” will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price.

In case of any reclassification or reorganization of the issued and outstanding Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares (other than those described above or that solely affects the par value of such Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares), or in the case of any merger or consolidation of us with or into another corporation (other than a merger or consolidation in which we are the continuing corporation and that does not result in any reclassification or reorganization of our issued and outstanding Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares), or in the case of any sale or conveyance to another corporation or entity of the assets or other property of us as an entirety or substantially as an entirety in connection with which we are dissolved, the holders of the public warrants will thereafter have the right to purchase and receive, upon the basis and upon the terms and conditions specified in the public warrants and in lieu of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares immediately theretofore purchasable and receivable upon the exercise of the rights represented thereby, the kind and amount of shares, stock or other equity securities or property (including cash) receivable upon such reclassification, reorganization, merger or consolidation, or upon a dissolution following any such sale or transfer, that the holder of the public warrants would have received if such holder had exercised their warrants immediately prior to such event. However, if such holders were entitled to exercise a right of election as to the kind or amount of securities, cash or other assets receivable upon such merger or consolidation, then the kind and amount of securities, cash or other assets for which each warrant will become exercisable will be deemed to be the weighted average of the kind and amount received per share by such holders in such merger or consolidation that affirmatively make such election, and if a tender, exchange or redemption offer has been made to and accepted by such holders under circumstances in which, upon completion of such tender or exchange offer, the maker thereof, together with members of any group (within the meaning of Rule 13d-5(b)(1) under the Exchange Act) of which such maker is a part, and together with any affiliate or associate of such maker (within the meaning of Rule 12b-2 under the Exchange Act) and any members of any such group of which any such affiliate or associate is a part, own beneficially (within the meaning of Rule 13d-3 under the Exchange Act) more than 50% of the issued and outstanding Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares, the holder of a warrant will be entitled to receive the highest amount of cash, securities or other property to which such holder would actually have been entitled as a shareholder if such warrant holder had exercised the warrant prior to the expiration of such tender or exchange offer, accepted such offer and all of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares held by such holder had been purchased pursuant to such tender or exchange offer, subject to adjustment (from and after the consummation of such tender or exchange offer) as nearly equivalent as possible to the adjustments provided for in the Warrant Agreement. Additionally, if less than 70% of the consideration receivable by the holders of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares in such a transaction is payable in the form of ordinary shares in the successor entity that is listed for trading on a national securities exchange or is quoted in an established over-the-counter market, or is to be so listed for trading or quoted immediately following such event, and if the registered holder of the warrant properly exercises the warrant within 30 days following public disclosure of such transaction, the warrant exercise price will be reduced as specified in the Warrant Agreement based on the per share consideration minus Black-Scholes Warrant Value (as defined in the Warrant Agreement) of the warrant.

The warrants will be issued in registered form under a Warrant Agreement between the Warrant Agent and us. The Warrant Agreement provides that (a) the terms of the public warrants may be amended without the consent of any holder for the purpose of (i) curing any ambiguity or correct any mistake, including to conform the provisions of the Warrant Agreement to the description of the terms of the public warrants and the Warrant Agreement set forth in this prospectus, or defective provision or (ii) adding or changing any provisions with respect to matters or questions arising under the Warrant Agreement as the parties to the Warrant Agreement may deem necessary or desirable and that the parties deem to not adversely affect the rights of the registered holders of the public warrants and (b) all other modifications or amendments require the vote or written consent of at least 65% of the then outstanding public warrants and, solely with respect to any amendment to the terms of the private placement warrants or working capital warrants or any provision of the Warrant Agreement with respect to the private placement warrants, forward purchase warrants or working capital warrants, at least 65% of the then outstanding private placement warrants or working capital warrants, respectively. You should review a copy of the Warrant Agreement, which was filed as an exhibit to Waldencast's Current Report on Form 8-K filed with the SEC on March 18, 2021, for a complete description of the terms and conditions applicable to the public warrants.

The warrant holders do not have the rights or privileges of holders of ordinary shares and any voting rights until they exercise their warrants and receive Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares. After the issuance of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares upon exercise of the public warrants, each holder will be entitled to one vote for each share held of record on all matters to be voted on by shareholders.

We have agreed that, subject to applicable law, any action, proceeding or claim against us arising out of or relating in any way to the Warrant Agreement will be brought and enforced in the courts of the State of New York or the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, and we irrevocably submit to such jurisdiction, which jurisdiction will be the exclusive forum for any such action, proceeding or claim. This provision applies to claims under the Securities Act but does not apply to claims under the Exchange Act or any claim for which the federal district courts of the U.S. are the sole and exclusive forum.

Private Placement Warrants

So long as they are held by our Sponsor or its permitted transferees, the private placement warrants will not be transferable, assignable or salable until 30 days after the Closing Date (except, among other limited exceptions, to our directors and officers and other persons or entities affiliated with our Sponsor) and they will not be redeemable by us (except as described above under “— Redeemable Warrants — Public Shareholders' Warrants — Redemption of warrants when the price per Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $10.00”) so long as they are held by our Sponsor or its permitted transferees. Our Sponsor, or its permitted transferees, has the option to exercise the private placement warrants on a cashless basis and have certain registration rights described herein.

Otherwise, the private placement warrants have terms and provisions that are identical to those of the public warrants. If the private placement warrants are held by holders other than our Sponsor or its permitted transferees, the private placement warrants will be redeemable by us in all redemption scenarios and exercisable by the holders on the same basis as the public warrants.

Except as described under “— Redeemable Warrants — Public Shareholders’ Warrants — Redemption of warrants when the price per Waldencast plc Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $10.00,” if holders of the private placement warrants elect to exercise them on a cashless basis, they would pay the exercise price by surrendering his, her or its warrants for that number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (x) the product of the number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares underlying the public warrants, multiplied by the excess of the “historical fair market value” (defined below) less the exercise price of the public warrants by (y) the historical fair market value. For these purposes, the “historical fair market value” shall mean the average last reported sale price of the Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares for the 10 trading days ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which the notice of warrant exercise is sent to the Warrant Agent.

Other Jersey, Channel Islands Law Considerations

Purchase of Waldencast plc’s Own Ordinary Shares

As with declaring a dividend, Waldencast plc may not buy back or redeem its shares unless its directors who are to authorize the buyback or redemption have made a statutory solvency statement that, immediately following the date on which the buyback or redemption is proposed, Waldencast plc will be able to discharge its liabilities as they fall due and, having regard to prescribed factors, Waldencast plc will be able to continue to carry on business and discharge its liabilities as they fall due for the 12 months immediately following the date on which the buyback or redemption is proposed (or until Waldencast plc is dissolved on a solvent basis, if earlier).

If the above conditions are met, Waldencast plc may purchase its ordinary shares in the manner described below.

Waldencast plc may purchase on a stock exchange its own fully paid ordinary shares pursuant to a special resolution of its shareholders.

Waldencast plc may purchase its own fully paid ordinary shares other than on a stock exchange pursuant to a special resolution of its shareholders, but only if the purchase is made on the terms of a written purchase contract which has been approved in advance by an ordinary resolution of its shareholders. The shareholder from whom Waldencast plc proposes to purchase or redeem ordinary shares is not entitled to vote in respect of the ordinary shares to be purchased.

Waldencast plc may fund a redemption or purchase of its own ordinary shares from any source. It cannot purchase its ordinary shares if, as a result of such purchase, only redeemable ordinary shares would remain in issue. If authorized by a resolution of its shareholders, any shares that Waldencast plc redeems or purchases may be held by it as treasury shares. Any shares held by Waldencast plc as treasury shares may be cancelled, sold, transferred for the purposes of or under an employee share scheme or held without cancelling, selling or transferring them. Shares redeemed or purchased by Waldencast plc are cancelled where Waldencast plc has not been authorized to hold such shares as treasury shares.

Mandatory Purchases and Acquisitions

The Jersey Companies Law provides that where a person has made an offer to acquire a class or all of Waldencast plc’s outstanding ordinary shares not already held by the person and has as a result of such offer acquired or contractually agreed to acquire 90% or more of such outstanding ordinary shares, that person is then entitled (and may be required) to acquire the remaining ordinary shares. In such circumstances, a holder of any such remaining ordinary shares may apply to the courts of Jersey for an order that the person making such offer not be entitled to purchase the holder’s ordinary shares or that the person purchase the holder’s ordinary shares on terms different to those under which the person made such offer.

Other than as described below under “— U.K. City Code on Takeovers and Mergers,” Waldencast plc is not subject to any regulations under which a shareholder that acquires a certain level of share ownership is then required to offer to purchase all of Waldencast plc’s remaining ordinary shares on the same terms as such shareholder’s prior purchase.

Compromises and Arrangements

Where Waldencast plc and its creditors or shareholders or a class of either of them propose a compromise or arrangement between Waldencast plc and its creditors or its shareholders or a class of either of them (as applicable), the courts of Jersey may order a meeting of the creditors or class of creditors or of Waldencast plc's shareholders or class of shareholders (as applicable) to be called in such a manner as the court directs. Any compromise or arrangement approved by a majority in number present and voting at the meeting representing 75% or more in value of the creditors or 75% or more of the voting rights of shareholders or class of either of them (as applicable) if sanctioned by the court, is binding upon Waldencast plc and all the creditors, shareholders or members of the specific class of either of them (as applicable).

Whether the capital of Waldencast plc is to be treated as being divided into a single or multiple class(es) of shares is a matter to be determined by the court. The court may in its discretion treat a single class of shares as multiple classes, or multiple classes of shares as a single class, for the purposes of the shareholder approval referred to above taking into account all relevant circumstances, which may include circumstances other than the rights attaching to the shares themselves.

U.K. City Code on Takeovers and Mergers

The U.K. City Code on Takeovers and Mergers (the "Takeover Code") applies, among other things, (i) to an offer for a public company whose registered office is in the Channel Islands and whose securities are admitted to trading on a regulated market or a multilateral trading facility in the United Kingdom or any stock exchange in the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man, or (ii) if the company is a public company and is considered by the Panel on Takeovers and Mergers (the "Takeover Panel"), to have its place of central management and control in the United Kingdom or the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man (in each case, a "Code Company"). This is known as the "residency test." Under the Takeover Code, the Takeover Panel will determine whether Waldencast plc has its place of central management and control in the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man by looking at various factors, including the structure of Waldencast plc's board of directors, the functions of the directors, and where they are resident.

If at the time of a takeover offer, the Takeover Panel determines that the residency test is satisfied and Waldencast plc has its place of central management and control in the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man, it would be subject to a number of rules and restrictions, including but not limited to the following: (i) Waldencast plc's ability to enter into deal protection arrangements with a bidder would be extremely limited; (ii) Waldencast plc might not, without the approval of its shareholders, be able to perform certain actions that could have the effect of frustrating an offer, such as issuing shares or carrying out acquisitions or disposals; and (iii) Waldencast plc would be obliged to provide equality of information to all bona fide competing bidders. The Takeover Code also contains certain rules in respect of mandatory offers for Code Companies. Under Rule 9 of the Takeover Code, if a person:

- acquires an interest in shares of a Code Company that, when taken together with shares in which persons acting in concert with such person are interested, carry 30% or more of the voting rights of the Code Company; or
- who, together with persons acting in concert with such person, is interested in shares that in the aggregate carry not less than 30% and not more than 50% of the voting rights in the Code Company, acquires additional interests in shares that increase the percentage of shares carrying voting rights in which that person is interested, the acquirer, and, depending on the circumstances, its concert parties, would be required (except with the consent of the Takeover Panel) to make a cash offer (or provide a cash alternative) for the Code Company's outstanding shares at a price not less than the highest price paid for any interests in the shares by the acquirer or its concert parties during the previous 12 months.

Upon completion of the Business Combination, Waldencast plc expects to have its place of central management and control in Jersey (one of the Channel Islands). Therefore, based upon its current and intended plans for its directors and management, for the purposes of the Takeover Code, Waldencast plc anticipates that the residency test will be met. Therefore, the Takeover Code should apply to Waldencast plc. It is possible that in the future changes in the Waldencast plc Board's composition, changes in the Takeover Panel's interpretation of the Takeover Code, or other events may cause the Takeover Code not to apply to Waldencast plc.

Jersey Regulatory Matters

The Jersey Financial Services Commission (the “JFSC”) has given, and has not withdrawn, its consent under Article 2 of the Control of Borrowing (Jersey) Order 1958 to the issue of Waldencast’s ordinary shares. The JFSC is protected by the Control of Borrowing (Jersey) Law 1947 against any liability arising from the discharge of its functions under that law.

Transfer Agent and Warrant Agent

The transfer agent for Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares and warrant agent for Waldencast plc warrants will be Continental.

COMPARISON OF CORPORATE GOVERNANCE AND SHAREHOLDER RIGHTS

Waldencast is an exempted company incorporated under the Cayman Islands Companies Act. The Cayman Islands Companies Act and the Cayman Constitutional Documents govern the rights of its shareholders. The Cayman Islands Companies Act differs in some material respects from the Jersey Companies Law. In addition, the Proposed Constitutional Document differs materially from the Cayman Constitutional Documents (please see the section entitled “Organizational Documents Proposals” for a summary of the principal changes proposed between the Existing Memorandum and the Existing Articles and the Proposed Constitutional Document for Waldencast plc). As a result, when you become a Waldencast plc shareholder, your rights will differ in some regards as compared to when you were a shareholder of Waldencast.

Below is a summary chart outlining important similarities and differences in the corporate governance and stockholder/shareholder rights associated with each of Waldencast and Waldencast plc according to applicable law.

	Cayman Islands	Jersey
Special Meetings of Stockholders/Shareholders	The directors, the chief executive officer, the secretary or the chairman of the board of directors of Waldencast may call general meetings, and they shall on a members' requisition forthwith proceed to convene an extraordinary general meeting of Waldencast. Waldencast may, but shall not be obliged to, in each year hold a general meeting as its annual general meeting.	Shareholders holding 10% or more of the company's voting rights and entitled to vote at the relevant meeting may legally require our directors to call a meeting of shareholders. The Jersey Financial Services Commission may, at the request of any officer, secretary, or shareholder, call or direct the calling of an annual general meeting. Failure to call an annual general meeting in accordance with the requirements of the Jersey Companies Law is a criminal offense on the part of a Jersey company and its directors and secretary.
Stockholder/Shareholder Approval of Business Combinations	Pursuant to the Cayman Islands Companies Act and the Cayman Constitutional Documents, mergers or consolidations require a special resolution (being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting). Parties holding certain security interests in the constituent companies must also consent. All mergers (other than parent/subsidiary mergers) require shareholder approval — there is no exception for smaller mergers. Where a bidder has acquired 90% or more of the shares in a Cayman Islands company, it can compel the acquisition of the shares of the remaining shareholders and thereby become the sole shareholder. A Cayman Islands company may also be acquired through a “scheme of arrangement” sanctioned by a Cayman Islands court and approved by 50%+1 in number and 75% in value of shareholders in attendance and voting at a shareholders' meeting.	A sale or disposal of all or substantially all the assets of a Jersey company must be approved by the board of directors and, only if the articles of association of the company require, by the shareholders in general meeting. A merger involving a Jersey company must be generally documented in a merger agreement which must be approved by special resolution of that company. A Jersey company may be acquired through a “scheme of arrangement” sanctioned by the Royal Court of Jersey and approved by a majority in number of shareholders representing 75% of the voting rights of the shareholders (or class of shareholders).

	Cayman Islands	Jersey
Stockholder/Shareholder Votes for Routine Matters	Under the Cayman Islands Companies Act, routine corporate matters may be approved by an ordinary resolution (being the affirmative vote of a majority of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting).	Under the Jersey Companies Law, certain routine corporate matters may be approved by either an ordinary resolution (being a resolution passed by a simple majority of the shareholders as being entitled to do so), or a special resolution (being a resolution passed by a two thirds majority unless the articles of association provide a higher threshold).
Appraisal Rights	Minority shareholders that dissent from a merger are entitled to be paid the fair market value of their shares (subject to limited exceptions), which if necessary may ultimately be determined by the court.	No appraisal rights.
Inspection of Books and Records	Shareholders generally do not have any rights to inspect or obtain copies of the register of shareholders or other corporate records of a company.	The register of shareholders and books containing the minutes of general meetings or of meetings of any class of shareholders of a Jersey company must during business hours be open to the inspection of a shareholder of the company without charge. The register of directors and secretaries must during business hours (subject to such reasonable restrictions as the company may by its articles of association or in general meeting impose, but so that not less than two hours in each business day be allowed for inspection) be open to the inspection of a shareholder or director of the company without charge.
Stockholder/Shareholder Lawsuits	In the Cayman Islands, the decision to institute proceedings on behalf of a company is generally taken by the company's board of directors. A shareholder may be entitled to bring a derivative action on behalf of the company, but only in certain limited circumstances.	Under Article 141 of the Jersey Companies Law, a shareholder may apply to court for relief on the ground that the conduct of a company's affairs, including a proposed or actual act or omission by a company, is "unfairly prejudicial" to the interests of shareholders generally or of some part of shareholders, including at least the shareholder making the application. Under Article 143 of the Jersey Companies Law (which sets out the types of relief a court may grant in relation to an action brought under Article 141 of the Jersey Companies Law), the court may make an order regulating the affairs of a company, requiring a company to refrain from doing or continuing to do an act complained of, authorizing civil proceedings and providing for the purchase of shares by a company or by any of its other shareholders. There may be customary personal law actions available to shareholders which would include certain derivative and other actions to bring proceedings against the directors of the company as well as the company.

Fiduciary Duties of Directors

Cayman Islands

A director owes fiduciary duties to a company, including to exercise loyalty, honesty and good faith to the company as a whole.

Such duties are owed to the company but may be owed direct to creditors or shareholders in certain limited circumstances.

Jersey

Under the Jersey Companies Law, a director of a Jersey company, in exercising the director's powers and discharging the director's duties, has a fiduciary duty to act honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of the company; and a duty of care to exercise the care, diligence and skill that a reasonably prudent person would exercise in comparable circumstances.

Customary law is also an important source of law in the area of directors' duties in Jersey as it expands upon and provides a more detailed understanding of the general duties and obligations of directors. The Jersey courts view English common law as highly persuasive in this area. In summary, the following duties will apply as manifestations of the general fiduciary duty under the Jersey Companies Law: a duty to act in good faith and in what he or she bona fide considers to be the best interests of the company; a duty to exercise powers for a proper purpose; a duty to avoid any actual or potential conflict between his or her own and the company's interests; and a duty to account for profits and not take personal profit from any opportunities arising from his or her directorship, even if he or she is acting honestly and for the good of the company. However, the articles of association of a company may permit the director to be personally interested in arrangements involving the company (subject to the requirement to have disclosed such interest).

Under the Proposed Constitutional Document, Waldencast plc renounces any interest or expectancy in, or in being offered an opportunity to participate in, in any potential transaction or matter that may be a corporate opportunity for Waldencast plc, on the one hand, and one of its officers or directors, on the other, or that may be a corporate opportunity for both Waldencast plc and one of its officers or directors.

Under the articles of association, directors who are in any way, whether directly or indirectly, interested in a contract or proposed contract with Waldencast must declare the nature of their interest at a meeting of the board of directors. Following such declaration, a director may vote in respect of any contract or proposed contract notwithstanding his interest; provided that, in exercising any such vote, such director's duties remain as described above.

Indemnification of Directors and Officers and Limitations on Director’s Liability	A Cayman Islands company generally may indemnify its directors or officers except with regard to fraud, willful neglect or willful default. Liability of directors may be unlimited, except with regard to their own fraud, willful neglect or willful default.	The Jersey Companies Law does not contain any provision permitting Jersey companies to limit the liabilities of directors for breach of fiduciary duty. However, a Jersey company may exempt from liability, and indemnify directors and officers for, liabilities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• incurred in defending any civil or criminal legal proceedings where: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the person is either acquitted or receives a judgment in their favor;</li> <li>• the proceedings are discontinued other than by reason of such person (or someone on their behalf) giving some benefit or suffering some detriment; or</li> <li>• the proceedings are settled on terms that such person (or someone on their behalf) gives some benefit or suffers some detriment but in the opinion of a majority of the disinterested directors, the person was substantially successful on the merits in the person’s resistance to the proceedings;</li> </ul> </li> <li>• incurred to anyone other than to the company if the person acted in good faith with a view to the best interests of the company;</li> <li>• incurred in connection with an application made to the court for relief from liability for negligence, default, breach of duty, or breach of trust under Article 212 of the Jersey Companies Law in which relief is granted to the person by the court; or</li> <li>• incurred in a case in which the company normally maintains insurance for persons other than directors.</li> </ul>
Amendments to Governing Documents	Pursuant to the Cayman Companies Act and the Cayman Constitutional Documents, the Cayman Constitutional Documents may only be amended by special resolution (being the affirmative vote of holders of at least two-thirds of the ordinary shares represented in person or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon and who vote at the extraordinary general meeting).	The memorandum of association and articles of association of a Jersey company may only be amended by special resolution (being a two-third majority if the articles of association of the company do not specify a greater majority) passed by shareholders in general meeting or by written resolution signed by all the shareholders entitled to vote.

SECURITIES ACT RESTRICTIONS ON RESALE OF WALDENCAS T PLC SECURITIES

Pursuant to Rule 144 under the Securities Act (“Rule 144”), a person who has beneficially owned restricted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or Waldencast plc warrants for at least six months would be entitled to sell their securities provided that (i) such person is not deemed to have been an affiliate of Waldencast plc at the time of, or at any time during the three months preceding, a sale and (ii) Waldencast plc is subject to the Exchange Act periodic reporting requirements for at least three months before the sale and have filed all required reports under Section 13 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act during the 12 months (or such shorter period as Waldencast plc was required to file reports) preceding the sale.

Persons who have beneficially owned restricted Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares or Waldencast plc warrants for at least six months but who are affiliates of Waldencast plc at the time of, or at any time during the three months preceding, a sale, would be subject to additional restrictions, by which such person would be entitled to sell within any three-month period only a number of securities that does not exceed the greater of:

- 1% of the total number of Waldencast plc Class A ordinary shares then outstanding; or
- the average weekly reported trading volume of Waldencast plc’s Class A ordinary shares during the four calendar weeks preceding the filing of a notice on Form 144 with respect to the sale.

Sales by affiliates of Waldencast plc under Rule 144 are also limited by manner of sale provisions and notice requirements and to the availability of current public information about Waldencast plc.

Restrictions on the Use of Rule 144 by Shell Companies or Former Shell Companies

Rule 144 is not available for the resale of securities initially issued by shell companies (other than business combination related shell companies) or issuers that have been at any time previously a shell company. However, Rule 144 also includes an important exception to this prohibition if the following conditions are met:

- the issuer of the securities that was formerly a shell company has ceased to be a shell company;
- the issuer of the securities is subject to the reporting requirements of Section 13 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act;
- the issuer of the securities has filed all Exchange Act reports and material required to be filed, as applicable, during the preceding 12 months (or such shorter period that the issuer was required to file such reports and materials), other than Form 8-K reports; and
- at least one year has elapsed from the time that the issuer filed current Form 10 type information with the SEC reflecting its status as an entity that is not a shell company.

As a result, the Sponsor will be able to sell their founder shares and private placement warrants, as applicable, pursuant to Rule 144 without registration one year after Waldencast has completed Waldencast’s initial business combination.

Waldencast anticipates that following the consummation of the Business Combination, Waldencast plc will no longer be a shell company, and so, once the conditions set forth in the exceptions listed above are satisfied, Rule 144 will become available for the resale of the above noted restricted securities.

SHAREHOLDER PROPOSALS AND NOMINATIONS

If the Business Combination is completed, Waldencast plc shareholders will be entitled to attend and participate in Waldencast plc's annual general meetings of shareholders. Waldencast plc will provide notice of the date on which its annual general meeting will be held in accordance with the Proposed Constitutional Document and the Jersey Companies Law.

ENFORCEABILITY OF CIVIL LIABILITY

Waldencast is a Cayman Islands exempted company and after the Domestication will be a Jersey public limited company. You may have difficulty serving legal process within the U.S. upon Waldencast. You may also have difficulty enforcing, both in and outside the U.S., judgments you may obtain in U.S. courts against Waldencast in any action, including actions based upon the civil liability provisions of U.S. federal or state securities laws. Furthermore, there is doubt that the courts of the Cayman Islands or Jersey would enter judgments in original actions brought in those courts predicated on U.S. federal or state securities laws. However, Waldencast may be served with process in the U.S. with respect to actions against Waldencast arising out of or in connection with violation of U.S. federal securities laws relating to offers and sales of Waldencast's securities by serving Waldencast's U.S. agent irrevocably appointed for that purpose. A judgment of a U.S. court is not directly enforceable in Jersey, but constitutes a cause of action which may be enforced by Jersey courts provided that:

- the applicable U.S. courts had jurisdiction over the case, as recognized under Jersey law;
- the judgment is given on the merits and is final, conclusive and non-appealable;
- the judgment relates to the payment of a sum of money, not being taxes, fines or similar governmental penalties;
- the defendant is not immune under the principles of public international law;
- the same matters at issue in the case were not previously the subject of a judgment or disposition in a separate court;
- the judgment was not obtained by fraud; and
- the recognition and enforcement of the judgment is not contrary to public policy in Jersey.

Jersey courts award compensation for the loss or damage actually sustained by the plaintiff. Although punitive damages are generally unknown to the Jersey legal system, there is no prohibition on them either by statute or customary law. Whether a particular judgment may be deemed contrary to Jersey public policy depends on the facts of each case, though judgments found to be exorbitant, unconscionable, or excessive will generally be deemed as contrary to public policy. Moreover, certain defendants may qualify for protection under Protection of Trading Interests Act 1980, an act of the U.K. extended to Jersey by the Protection of Trading Interests Act 1980 (Jersey) Order, 1983. This Act provides that a qualifying defendant is not liable for multiple damages, in excess of that required for actual compensation. A "qualifying defendant" for these purposes is a citizen of the U.K. and its Colonies (as defined in the Act), a corporation or other limited liability entity organized under the laws of the U.K., Jersey or other territory for whose international relations the U.K. is responsible or a person conducting business in Jersey.

Jersey courts cannot enter into the merits of the foreign judgment and cannot act as a court of appeal or review over the foreign courts. It is doubtful that an original action based on U.S. federal or state securities laws could be brought before Jersey courts. In addition, a plaintiff who is not resident in Jersey may be required to provide a security bond in advance to cover the potential of the expected costs of any case initiated in Jersey.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Shareholder and Board of Directors of

Waldencast Acquisition Corp.

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying balance sheet of Waldencast Acquisition Corp. (the “Company”) as of December 31, 2020, the related statements of operations, shareholder’s deficit and cash flows for the period from December 8, 2020 (inception) through December 31, 2020, and related notes (collectively referred to as the “financial statements”). In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2020, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the period from December 8, 2020 (inception) through December 31, 2020, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Explanatory Paragraph — Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As more fully described in Note 1, the Company’s ability to execute its business plan is dependent upon its completion of the proposed initial public offering described in Note 3 to the financial statements. The Company lacks the financial resources it needs to sustain operations for a reasonable period of time, which is considered to be one year from the issuance date of the financial statements. These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern. Management’s plans in regard to these matters are also described in Notes 1 and 3. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that become necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s financial statements based on our audit. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (“PCAOB”) and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. As part of our audit we are required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company’s internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Our audit included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our audit also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1 — Organization and Plan of Business Operations

Waldencast Acquisition Corp. (the “Company”) is a newly incorporated blank check company incorporated as a Cayman Islands exempted company on December 8, 2020. The Company was originally incorporated under the name Waldencast Acquisition Inc. and on January 5, 2021 that name was changed to Waldencast Acquisition Corp. The Company was formed for the purpose of effecting a merger, share exchange, asset acquisition, share purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses (a “Business Combination”).

Although the Company is not limited to a particular industry or sector for purposes of consummating a Business Combination, the Company intends to focus on businesses operating in the beauty, personal care and wellness sectors. The Company is an early stage and emerging growth company and, as such, the Company is subject to all of the risks associated with early stage and emerging growth companies.

The Company was formed on December 8, 2020 and remained dormant through December 31, 2020. For the period from December 8, 2020 (inception) through December 31, 2020, there had been no activity since the formation of the entity and no equity shares were issued. The Company commenced operations on January 12, 2021 when the founder shares were issued. All activity since January 12, 2021 relates to the Company’s proposed initial public offering (“Proposed Public Offering”) as described below. The Company will not generate any operating revenues until after the completion of its initial Business Combination, at the earliest. The Company will generate non-operating income in the form of interest income on cash and cash equivalents from the proceeds derived from the Proposed Public Offering.

The Company’s ability to commence operations is contingent upon obtaining adequate financial resources through a Proposed Public Offering of 25,000,000 units (the “Units” and, with respect to the Class A ordinary shares included in the Units being offered, the “Public Shares”) at $10.00 per Unit (or 28,750,000 Units if the underwriters’ over-allotment option is exercised in full), which is discussed in Note 3 and the sale of 4,666,667 warrants (or 5,166,667 warrants if the underwriters’ over-allotment option is exercised in full) (the “Private Placement Warrants”) at a price of $1.50 per Private Placement Warrant in a private placement to the Company’s sponsor, Waldencast Long-Term Capital LLC, a Cayman Islands limited liability company (the “Sponsor”), that will close simultaneously with the Proposed Public Offering.

The Company’s management has broad discretion with respect to the specific application of the net proceeds of the Proposed Public Offering and the sale of the Private Placement Warrants, although substantially all of the net proceeds are intended to be applied generally toward consummating a Business Combination. The New York Stock Exchange rules require that the Business Combination must be with one or more operating businesses or assets with a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the net assets held in the Trust Account (as defined below) (net of amounts disbursed to management for working capital purposes, if permitted, and excluding the amount of any deferred underwriting discount). The Company will only complete a Business Combination if the post-Business Combination company owns or acquires 50% or more of the issued and outstanding voting securities of the target or otherwise acquires a controlling interest in the target business sufficient for it not to be required to register as an investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “Investment Company Act”). There is no assurance that the Company will be able to successfully effect a Business Combination. Upon the closing of the Proposed Public Offering, management has agreed that $10.00 per Unit sold in the Proposed Public Offering, including proceeds of the sale of the Private Placement Warrants, will be held in a trust account (“Trust Account”) and invested in U.S. government securities, within the meaning set forth in Section 2(a)(16) of the Investment Company Act, with a maturity of 185 days or less, or in any open-ended investment company that holds itself out as a money market fund meeting certain conditions of Rule 2a-7 of the Investment Company Act, as determined by the Company, until the earlier of: (i) the completion of a Business Combination and (ii) the distribution of the funds in the Trust Account to the Company’s shareholders, as described below.

The Company will provide the holders of the Public Shares (the “Public Shareholders”) with the opportunity to redeem all or a portion of their Public Shares upon the completion of the Business Combination, either (i) in connection with a shareholder meeting called to approve the Business Combination or (ii) by means of a tender offer. The decision as to whether the Company will seek shareholder approval of a Business Combination or conduct a tender offer will be made by the Company. The Public Shareholders will be entitled to redeem their shares for a pro rata portion of the amount held in the Trust Account (initially $10.00 per share), calculated as of two business days prior to the completion of a Business Combination, including any pro rata interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to the Company to pay its tax obligations. The per-share amount to be distributed to the Public Shareholders who redeem their shares will not be reduced by the deferred underwriting commissions the Company will pay to the underwriters (as discussed in Note 6). There will be no redemption rights upon the completion of a Business Combination with respect to the Company's warrants.

The Class A ordinary shares will be recorded at redemption value and classified as temporary equity upon the completion of the Proposed Public Offering, in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 480, "Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity." The Company will proceed with a Business Combination only if the Company has net tangible assets, after payment of the deferred underwriting commission, of at least $5,000,001 following any related share redemptions and, if the Company seeks shareholder approval, it receives an ordinary resolution under Cayman Islands law approving a Business Combination, which requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the shareholders who attend and vote and a general meeting of the Company. If a shareholder vote is not required and the Company does not decide to hold a shareholder vote for business or other legal reasons, the Company will, pursuant to its Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association, conduct the redemptions pursuant to the tender offer rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), and file tender offer documents containing substantially the same information as would be included in a proxy statement with the SEC prior to completing a Business Combination. If the Company seeks shareholder approval in connection with a Business Combination, the Company's Sponsor has agreed to vote its Founder Shares (as defined in Note 5) and any Public Shares purchased during or after the Proposed Public Offering in favor of approving a Business Combination and to waive its redemption rights with respect to any such shares in connection with a shareholder vote to approve a Business Combination or seek to sell any shares to the Company in a tender offer in connection with a Business Combination. Additionally, subject to the immediately succeeding paragraph, each Public Shareholder may elect to redeem their Public Shares, without voting, and if they do vote, irrespective of whether they vote for or against a proposed Business Combination.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, if the Company seeks shareholder approval of the Business Combination and the Company does not conduct redemptions pursuant to the tender offer rules, a Public Shareholder, together with any affiliate of such shareholder or any other person with whom such shareholder is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined under Section 13 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act")), will be restricted from redeeming its shares with respect to more than 15% of the Public Shares without the Company's prior written consent.

The Sponsor has agreed (a) to waive its redemption rights with respect to any Founder Shares and Public Shares held by it in connection with the completion of a Business Combination (and not seek to sell its shares to the Company in any tender offer the Company undertakes in connection with its initial business combination) and (b) not to propose an amendment to the Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association (i) to modify the substance or timing of the Company's obligation to allow redemption in connection with the Company's initial Business Combination or to redeem 100% of the Public Shares if the Company does not complete a Business Combination within Combination Period or (ii) with respect to any other provision relating to shareholders' rights or pre-initial business combination activity, unless the Company provides the Public Shareholders with the opportunity to redeem their Public Shares in conjunction with any such amendment.

The Company will have until 24 months from the closing of the Proposed Public Offering to consummate a Business Combination. However, if the Company has not completed a Business Combination within 24 months of the closing of the Proposed Public Offering (as such period may be extended pursuant to the Company's Amended and Restated Memorandum and Articles of Association, the "Combination Period"), the Company will (i) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible but not more than ten business days thereafter, redeem the Public Shares, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account, including interest (which interest shall be net of taxes payable, and less up to $100,000 of interest to pay dissolution expenses) divided by the number of then outstanding Public Shares, which redemption will completely extinguish the rights of the Public Shareholders as shareholders (including the right to receive further liquidation distributions, if any), and (iii) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of the Company's remaining shareholders and its Board of Directors, liquidate and dissolve, subject in each case to the Company's obligations under Cayman Islands law to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law. In the event of a liquidation, the Public Shareholders will be entitled to receive a full pro rata interest in the Trust Account (initially anticipated to be $10.00 per share, plus any pro rata interest earned on the Trust Fund not previously released to the Company and less up to $100,000 of interest to pay dissolution expenses). There will be no redemption rights or liquidating distributions with respect to the Company's warrants, which will expire worthless if the Company fails to complete a Business Combination within the Combination Period.

In order to protect the amounts held in the Trust Account, the Sponsor has agreed that it will be liable to the Company, if and to the extent any claims by a third party (other than the Company's independent auditors) for services rendered or products sold to the Company, or a prospective target business with which the Company has discussed entering into a transaction agreement, reduce the amount of funds in the Trust Account to below (1) $10.00 per Public Share or (2) such lesser amount per Public Share held in the Trust Account as of the date of the liquidation of the Trust Account due to reductions in the value of trust assets, in each case net of the interest which may be withdrawn to pay taxes, except as to any claims by a third party who executed a waiver of any and all rights to seek access to the Trust Account and except as to any claims under the Company's indemnity of the underwriters of the Proposed Public Offering against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"). In the event that an executed waiver is deemed to be unenforceable against a third party, the Sponsor will not be responsible to the extent of any liability for such third-party claims. The Company will seek to reduce the possibility that the Sponsor will have to indemnify the Trust Account due to claims of creditors by endeavoring to have all vendors, service providers (other than the Company's independent auditors), prospective target businesses or other entities with which the Company does business, execute agreements with the Company waiving any right, title, interest or claim of any kind in or to monies held in the Trust Account.

Going Concern Consideration

At December 31, 2020, the Company had no cash and a working capital deficit of $177,743. The Company has incurred and expects to continue to incur significant costs in pursuit of its financing and acquisition plans. These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern within one year after the date that the financial statements are issued. Management plans to address this uncertainty through a Proposed Public Offering as discussed in Note 3. There is no assurance that the Company's plans to raise capital or to consummate a Business Combination will be successful or successful within the Combination Period. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Note 2 — Significant Accounting PoliciesBasis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("US GAAP") and pursuant to the accounting and disclosure rules and regulations of the SEC.

Emerging Growth Company

The Company is an "emerging growth company," as defined in Section 2(a) of the Securities Act, as modified by the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012 (the "JOBS Act"), and it may take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not emerging growth companies including, but not limited to, not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in its periodic reports and proxy statements, and exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and shareholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved.

WALDENCAST ACQUISITION CORP.

Further, Section 102(b)(1) of the JOBS Act exempts emerging growth companies from being required to comply with new or revised financial accounting standards until private companies (that is, those that have not had a Securities Act registration statement declared effective or do not have a class of securities registered under the Exchange Act) are required to comply with the new or revised financial accounting standards. The JOBS Act provides that a company can elect to opt out of the extended transition period and comply with the requirements that apply to non-emerging growth companies but any such election to opt out is irrevocable. The Company has elected not to opt out of such extended transition period which means that when a standard is issued or revised and it has different application dates for public or private companies, the Company, as an emerging growth company, can adopt the new or revised standard at the time private companies adopt the new or revised standard. This may make comparison of the Company's financial statements with another public company which is neither an emerging growth company nor an emerging growth company which has opted out of using the extended transition period difficult or impossible because of the potential differences in accounting standards used.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period.

Making estimates requires management to exercise significant judgment. It is at least reasonably possible that the estimate of the effect of a condition, situation or set of circumstances that existed at the date of the financial statements, which management considered in formulating its estimate, could change in the near term due to one or more future confirming events. Accordingly, the actual results could differ significantly from those estimates.

Deferred Offering Costs

Deferred offering costs consist of underwriting, legal, accounting and other expenses incurred through the balance sheet date that are directly related to the Proposed Public Offering and that will be charged to shareholder's equity upon the completion of the Proposed Public Offering. Should the Proposed Public Offering prove to be unsuccessful, these deferred costs, as well as additional expenses incurred, will be charged to operations.

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes under ASC 740, "Income Taxes" ("ASC 740"). ASC 740 requires the recognition of deferred tax assets and liabilities for both the expected impact of differences between the financial statement and tax basis of assets and liabilities and for the expected future tax benefit to be derived from tax loss and tax credit carry forwards. ASC 740 additionally requires a valuation allowance to be established when it is more likely than not that all or a portion of deferred tax assets will not be realized.

ASC 740 also clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in an enterprise's financial statements and prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement process for financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. For those benefits to be recognized, a tax position must be more-likely-than-not to be sustained upon examination by taxing authorities. The Company recognizes accrued interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits as income tax expense. There were no unrecognized tax benefits and no amounts accrued for interest and penalties as of December 31, 2020. The Company is currently not aware of any issues under review that could result in significant payments, accruals or material deviation from its position. The Company is subject to income tax examinations by major taxing authorities since inception.

The Company is considered an exempted Cayman Islands Company and is presently not subject to income taxes or income tax filing requirements in the Cayman Islands or the U.S. As such, the Company's tax provision was zero for the periods presented.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 2 — Significant Accounting Policies (cont.)Net Loss Per Share

Net loss per share is computed by dividing net loss by the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding during the period, excluding ordinary shares subject to forfeiture. At December 31, 2020, the Company did not have any dilutive securities and other contracts that could, potentially, be exercised or converted into ordinary shares and then share in the earnings of the Company. As a result, diluted loss per share is the same as basic loss per share for the period presented.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The fair value of the Company's assets and liabilities, which qualify as financial instruments under ASC Topic 820, "Fair Value Measurement," approximates the carrying amounts represented in the accompanying balance sheet, primarily due to their short-term nature.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

Management does not believe that any recently issued, but not yet effective, accounting standards if currently adopted would have a material effect on the accompanying financial statements.

Note 3 — Proposed Public Offering

Pursuant to the Proposed Public Offering, the Company will offer for sale up to 25,000,000 Units (or 28,750,000 Units if the underwriters' over-allotment option is exercised in full) at a purchase price of $10.00 per Unit. Each Unit will consist of one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant ("Public Warrant"). Each whole Public Warrant will entitle the holder to purchase one Class A ordinary share at an exercise price of $11.50 per whole share, subject to adjustment (see Note 7).

Note 4 — Private Placement

The Sponsor has committed to purchase an aggregate of 4,666,667 Private Placement Warrants (or 5,166,667 warrants if the underwriters' over-allotment option is exercised in full) at a price of $1.50 per Private Placement Warrant, for an aggregate price of $7,000,000 (or $7,750,000 if the over-allotment option is exercised in full), from the Company in a private placement that will occur simultaneously with the closing of the Proposed Public Offering. A portion of the proceeds from the sale of the Private Placement Warrants will be added to the net proceeds from the Proposed Public Offering held in the Trust Account. Each Private Placement Warrant is exercisable for one Class A Share at a price of $11.50 per share, subject to adjustment (see Note 7). If the Company does not complete a Business Combination within the Combination Period, the proceeds from the sale of the Private Placement Warrants held in the Trust Account will be used to fund the redemption of the Public Shares (subject to the requirements of applicable law) and the Private Placement Warrants will expire worthless.

Note 5 – Founder Shares

On January 12, 2021, the Company issued 7,187,500 Founder Shares for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000. The Founder Shares will automatically convert into Class A ordinary shares on the first business day following the completion of a Business Combination, or earlier at the option of the holder, on a one-for-one basis, subject to certain adjustments, as described in Note 7.

The Founder Shares include an aggregate of up to 937,500 shares that are subject to forfeiture to the extent that the underwriters' over-allotment option is not exercised in full or in part, so that the number of Founder Shares will equal 20% of the Company's issued and outstanding ordinary shares after the Proposed Public Offering.

The Sponsor has agreed, subject to limited exceptions, not to transfer, assign or sell any of its Class B ordinary shares or Class A ordinary shares received upon conversion thereof (together, "Founder Shares") until the earlier of: (A) one year after the completion of a Business Combination and (B) subsequent to a Business Combination, (x) if the last reported sale price of the Class A ordinary shares equals or exceeds $12.00 per share (as adjusted for share sub-divisions, share dividends, rights issuances, consolidations, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 150 days after a Business Combination, or (y) the date on which the Company completes a liquidation, merger, amalgamation, share exchange, reorganization or other similar transaction that results in all of the Company’s shareholders having the right to exchange their ordinary shares for cash, securities or other property.

Promissory Note — Related Party

On January 12, 2021, the Company issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor (the “Promissory Note”), pursuant to which the Company may borrow up to an aggregate principal amount of $300,000. As of December 31, 2020, there were no outstanding borrowings under the note. The Promissory Note is non-interest bearing and payable on the earlier of (i) June 30, 2021 and (ii) the completion of the Proposed Public Offering.

Administrative Services Agreement

The Company will enter into an agreement pursuant to which it will pay the Sponsor up to $10,000 per month for office space, administrative and support services. Upon completion of a Business Combination or its liquidation, the Company will cease paying these monthly fees.

Related Party Loans

In order to finance transaction costs in connection with a Business Combination, the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor, or certain of the Company’s officers and directors may, but are not obligated to, loan the Company funds as may be required (“Working Capital Loans”). Such Working Capital Loans would be evidenced by promissory notes. The notes may be repaid upon completion of a Business Combination, without interest, or, at the lender’s discretion, up to $1,500,000 of notes may be converted upon completion of a Business Combination into warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant. Such warrants would be identical to the Private Placement Warrants. In the event that a Business Combination does not close, the Company may use a portion of proceeds held outside the Trust Account to repay the Working Capital Loans but no proceeds held in the Trust Account would be used to repay the Working Capital Loans.

Note 6 — Commitments

Registration Rights

The holders of the Founder Shares, Private Placement Warrants and any warrants that may be issued on conversion of Working Capital Loans (and any Class A ordinary shares issuable upon the exercise of the Private Placement Warrants or warrants issued upon conversion of the Working Capital Loans and upon conversion of the Founder Shares) will be entitled to registration rights pursuant to a registration rights agreement to be signed prior to or on the effective date of the Proposed Public Offering requiring the Company to register such securities for resale (in the case of the Founder Shares, only after conversion to the Company’s Class A ordinary shares). The holders of these securities will be entitled to make up to three demands, excluding short form registration demands, that the Company register such securities. In addition, the holders have certain “piggy-back” registration rights with respect to registration statements filed subsequent to the completion of a Business Combination and rights to require the Company to register for resale such securities pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act. However, the registration rights agreement provides that the Company will not be required to effect or permit any registration or cause any registration statement to become effective until termination of the applicable lock-up period. The Company will bear the expenses incurred in connection with the filing of any such registration statements.

Underwriting Agreement

The Company will grant the underwriters a 45-day option to purchase up to 3,750,000 additional Units to cover over-allotments at the Proposed Public Offering price, less the underwriting discounts and commissions.

WALDENCAST ACQUISITION CORP.

The underwriters will be entitled to a cash underwriting discount of $0.20 per Unit, or $5,000,000 in the aggregate (or $5,750,000 in the aggregate if the underwriters' over-allotment option is exercised in full), payable upon the closing of the Proposed Public Offering. In addition, the underwriters will be entitled to a deferred fee of $0.35 per Unit, or $10,500,000 in the aggregate (or $10,062,500 in the aggregate if the underwriters' over-allotment option is exercised in full). The deferred fee will become payable to the underwriters from the amounts held in the Trust Account solely in the event that the Company completes a Business Combination, subject to the terms of the underwriting agreement.

Note 7 — Shareholder's Deficit

Preferred Shares — The Company is authorized to issue 5,000,000 preference shares with a par value of $0.0001. The Company's board of directors will be authorized to fix the voting rights, if any, designations, powers, preferences, the relative, participating, optional or other special rights and any qualifications, limitations and restrictions thereof, applicable to the shares of each series. The board of directors will be able to, without shareholder approval, issue preference shares with voting and other rights that could adversely affect the voting power and other rights of the holders of the ordinary shares and could have anti-takeover effects. At December 31, 2020, there were no preference shares issued or outstanding.

Class A Ordinary Shares — The Company is authorized to issue 500,000,000 Class A ordinary shares, with a par value of $0.0001 per share. Holders of Class A ordinary shares are entitled to one vote for each share. At December 31, 2020, there were no Class A ordinary shares issued or outstanding.

Class B Ordinary Shares — The Company is authorized to issue 50,000,000 Class B ordinary shares, with a par value of $0.0001 per share. Holders of the Class B ordinary shares are entitled to one vote for each share. At December 31, 2020, there were no Class B ordinary shares issued and outstanding.

Only holders of the Class B ordinary shares, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, will have the right to vote on the election of directors prior to the Business Combination. Holders of Class A ordinary shares and holders of Class B ordinary shares will vote together as a single class on all matters submitted to a vote of the Company's shareholders except as otherwise required by law.

The Class B ordinary shares will automatically convert into Class A ordinary shares at the time of the completion of the Business Combination, or earlier at the option of the holder, on a one-for-one basis, subject to adjustment. In the case that additional Class A ordinary shares, or equity-linked securities, are issued or deemed issued in excess of the amounts issued in the Proposed Public Offering and related to the closing of a Business Combination, the ratio at which Founder Shares will convert into Class A ordinary shares will be adjusted (subject to waiver by holders of a majority of the Class B ordinary shares) so that the number of Class A ordinary shares issuable upon conversion of all Founder Shares will equal, in the aggregate, on an as-converted basis, 20% of the sum of the ordinary shares issued and outstanding upon completion of the Proposed Public Offering plus the number of Class A ordinary shares and equity-linked securities issued or deemed issued in connection with a Business Combination, excluding any Class A ordinary shares or equity-linked securities issued, or to be issued, to any seller in a Business Combination.

Warrants — Public Warrants may only be exercised for a whole number of shares. No fractional shares will be issued upon exercise of the Public Warrants. The Public Warrants will become exercisable on the later of (a) 30 days after the completion of a Business Combination and (b) 12 months from the closing of the Proposed Public Offering. The Public Warrants will expire five years from the completion of a Business Combination or earlier upon redemption or liquidation.

The Company will not be obligated to deliver any Class A ordinary shares pursuant to the exercise of a Public Warrant and will have no obligation to settle such Public Warrant exercise unless a registration statement under the Securities Act covering the issuance of the Class A ordinary shares issuable upon exercise of the Public Warrants is then effective and a prospectus relating thereto is current, subject to the Company satisfying its obligations with respect to registration or a valid exemption from registration is available. No Public Warrant will be exercisable for cash or on a cashless basis, and the Company will not be obligated to issue any shares to holders seeking to exercise their Public Warrants, unless the issuance of the shares upon such exercise is registered or qualified under the securities laws of the state of the exercising holder, or an exemption from registration is available.

The Company has agreed that as soon as practicable, but in no event later than 15 business days, after the closing of a Business Combination, it will use its commercially reasonable efforts to file with the SEC a registration statement registering the issuance, under the Securities Act, of the Class A ordinary shares issuable upon exercise of the Public Warrants. The Company will use its commercially reasonable efforts to cause the same to become effective within 60 business days after the closing of the Business Combination and to maintain the effectiveness of such registration statement, and a current prospectus relating thereto, until the expiration of the Public Warrants in accordance with the provisions of the warrant agreement. Notwithstanding the above, if the Class A ordinary shares are, at the time of any exercise of a Public Warrant, not listed on a national securities exchange such that they satisfy the definition of a “covered security” under Section 18(b)(1) of the Securities Act, the Company may, at its option, require holders of Public Warrants who exercise their Public Warrants to do so on a “cashless basis” in accordance with Section 3(a)(9) of the Securities Act and, in the event the Company so elects, the Company will not be required to file or maintain in effect a registration statement, but will use its commercially reasonable efforts to register or qualify the shares under applicable blue sky laws to the extent an exemption is not available.

Redemption of warrants when the price per Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $18.00. Once the Public Warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the Public Warrants:

- in whole and not in part;
- at a price of $0.01 per Public Warrant;
- upon not less than 30 days’ prior written notice of redemption to each warrant holder and
- if, and only if, the reported last sale price of the Class A ordinary shares for any 20 trading days within a 30-trading day period ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which the Company sends the notice of redemption to the warrant holders (the “Reference Value”) equals or exceeds $18.00 per share (as adjusted).

Redemption of warrants when the price per Class A ordinary share equals or exceeds $10.00. Once the Public Warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the Public Warrants:

- in whole and not in part;
- at $0.10 per warrant upon a minimum of 30 days’ prior written notice of redemption provided that holders will be able to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis prior to redemption and receive that number of shares determined by reference to the table below, based on the redemption date and the “fair market value” of the Class A ordinary shares;
- if, and only if, the Reference Value equals or exceeds $10.00 per share (as adjusted); and
- if the Reference Value is less than $18.00 per share (as adjusted), the Private Placement Warrants must also be concurrently called for redemption on the same terms as the outstanding Public Warrants, as described above.

If and when the Public Warrants become redeemable by the Company, the Company may exercise its redemption right even if it is unable to register or qualify the underlying securities for sale under all applicable state securities laws.

The exercise price and number of ordinary shares issuable upon exercise of the Public Warrants may be adjusted in certain circumstances including in the event of a share dividend, extraordinary dividend or recapitalization, reorganization, merger or consolidation. However, except as described below, the Public Warrants will not be adjusted for issuances of ordinary shares at a price below its exercise price. Additionally, in no event will the Company be required to net cash settle the Public Warrants. If the Company is unable to complete a Business

Combination within the Combination Period and the Company liquidates the funds held in the Trust Account, holders of Public Warrants will not receive any of such funds with respect to their Public Warrants, nor will they receive any distribution from the Company’s assets held outside of the Trust Account with respect to such Public Warrants. Accordingly, the Public Warrants may expire worthless.

In addition, if (x) the Company issues additional ordinary shares or equity-linked securities for capital raising purposes in connection with the closing of a Business Combination at an issue price or effective issue price of less than $9.20 per Class A ordinary share (with such issue price or effective issue price to be determined in good faith by the Company’s board of directors, and in the case of any such issuance to the Sponsor or its affiliates, without taking into account any Founder Shares held by the Sponsor or such affiliates, as applicable, prior to such issuance) (the “Newly Issued Price”), (y) the aggregate gross proceeds from such issuances represent more than 60% of the total equity proceeds, and interest thereon, available for the funding of a Business Combination on the date of the completion of a Business Combination (net of redemptions), and (z) the volume weighted average trading price of the Company’s ordinary shares during the 20 trading day period starting on the trading day prior to the day on which the Company consummates a Business Combination (such price, the “Market Value”) is below $9.20 per share, the exercise price of the Public Warrants will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 115% of the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price, and the $18.00 per share redemption trigger prices described above will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 180% of the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price and the $10.00 per share redemption trigger prices described will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price.

The Private Placement Warrants will be identical to the Public Warrants underlying the Units being sold in the Proposed Public Offering, except that the Private Placement Warrants and the Class A ordinary shares issuable upon the exercise of the Private Placement Warrants will not be transferable, assignable or salable until 30 days after the completion of a Business Combination, subject to certain limited exceptions. Additionally, the Private Placement Warrants will be exercisable on a cashless basis and be non-redeemable, except as described above, so long as they are held by the initial purchasers or their permitted transferees. If the Private Placement Warrants are held by someone other than the initial purchasers or their permitted transferees, the Private Placement Warrants will be redeemable by the Company and exercisable by such holders on the same basis as the Public Warrants.

Note 8 — Subsequent Events

The Company evaluated subsequent events and transactions that occurred after the audited balance sheet date through March 5, 2021, the date that the audited financial statements were available to be issued. Other than as previously described or as described below, the Company did not identify any subsequent events that would have required adjustment or disclosure in the financial statements.

Forward Purchase Agreement

Prior to this offering, the Company entered into two separate forward purchase agreements as follows. The sponsor and Dynamo Master Fund (a member of our sponsor) entered into a forward purchase agreement (the “Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement”), dated as of February 22, 2021, with the Company that will provide for the purchase of an aggregate of 13,000,000 Class A ordinary shares and 4,333,333 redeemable warrants, for an aggregate purchase price of $130,000,000, or $10.00 per one Class A ordinary shares and one-third of one redeemable warrant, in a private placement to close substantially concurrently with the closing of our initial business combination. The Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement provides that the applicable forward purchase investors may, in their sole discretion, increase the amount of capital committed under the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement up to an amount not to exceed $160,000,000. Beauty Ventures LLC (“Beauty Ventures”) entered into a forward purchase agreement (the “Beauty Forward Purchase Agreement”), dated as of March 1, 2021, with the Company that provides for the purchase of an aggregate of up to 17,300,000 Class A ordinary shares and up to 5,766,666 redeemable warrants, for an aggregate purchase price of up to $173,000,000 (subject to the below), or $10.00 per one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, in a private placement to close substantially concurrently with the closing of the initial business combination. To the extent that the amounts available from the trust account and other financing (including the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement) are sufficient for the cash requirements in connection with our initial business combination, the sponsor may, in its sole discretion, as the managing member of Beauty Ventures, reduce its purchase obligation, up to the full amount, under the Beauty Forward Purchase Agreement. Members of the sponsor or their affiliates will receive a performance fee allocation when the return on the securities underlying the Beauty Forward Purchase Agreement exceeds certain benchmark returns. The obligations under the forward purchase agreements will not depend on whether any Class A ordinary shares are redeemed by our public shareholders. The forward purchase shares and the forward purchase warrants included in the units being sold in this offering, respectively, will be identical to the public shares and public warrants included in the units being sold in this offering, respectively, except that the holders thereof will have certain registration rights, as described herein. On October 20, 2021, pursuant to the terms of the Forward Purchase Agreements, the Company received (i) an allocation notice from the Sponsor and Dynamo Master Fund committing to purchase 16,000,000 units, with each unit consisting of one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, for an aggregate purchase price of $160,000,000, or $10.00 per unit and (ii) an allocation notice from Beauty Ventures committing to purchase 17,300,000 units, with each unit consisting of one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, for an aggregate purchase price of $173,000,000, or $10.00 per unit

On March 15, 2021, the Company effected a dividend of 0.2 of a share of Class B ordinary shares for each share of Class B ordinary shares resulting in 8,625,000 shares outstanding. All share and per-share amounts have been retroactively restated to reflect the share capitalizations.

WALDENCAST ACQUISITION CORP.
NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1— Organization and Business Operations

Organization and General

Waldencast Acquisition Corp. (the “Company”) was incorporated in the Cayman Islands on December 8, 2020. The Company was formed for the purpose of entering into a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or similar Business Combination with one or more businesses (a “Business Combination”). The Company is not limited to a particular industry or geographic region for purposes of consummating a Business Combination. The Company is an early stage and emerging growth company and, as such, the Company is subject to all of the risks associated with early stage and emerging growth companies. The Company has selected December 31 as its fiscal year end.

The Company was formed on December 8, 2020 and remained dormant through December 31, 2020. For the period from December 8, 2020 (inception) through December 31, 2020, there had been no activity since the formation of the entity and no equity shares were issued. The Company commenced operations on January 12, 2021 when the Founder Shares were issued. All activity since January 12, 2021 relates to the Company’s formation and the initial public offering (the “Initial Public Offering”), as described below. The Company will not generate any operating revenues until after the completion of its initial Business Combination, at the earliest. The Company will generate non-operating income in the form of interest income on cash and cash equivalents from the proceeds derived from the Initial Public Offering.

Financing

On March 18, 2021, the Company consummated the Initial Public Offering of 34,500,000 units (the “Units” and, with respect to the Class A ordinary shares included in the Units being offered, the “public share”), at $10.00 per Unit, generating gross proceeds of $345,000,000, which is discussed in Note 4.

Simultaneously with the closing of the Initial Public Offering, the Company completed the private sale of 5,933,333 warrants (the “Private Placement Warrants”), at a price of $1.50 per Private Placement Warrant, which is discussed in Note 5.

Transaction costs amounted to $20,169,599, consisting of $6,900,000 of underwriting fee, $12,075,000 of deferred underwriting fee and $1,194,599 of other offering costs. Of the total transaction costs, $719,201 was reclassified as non-operating expense in the condensed statement of operations with the rest of the offering costs charged to shareholders’ equity. The transaction costs were allocated based on a relative fair value basis, compared to the total offering proceeds, between the fair value of the public warrant liabilities and the Class A ordinary shares.

Trust Account

Following the closing of the Initial Public Offering on March 18, 2021, an amount of $345,000,000 from the net proceeds of the sale of the Units in the Initial Public Offering and the sale of the Private Placement Warrants was placed in a trust account (“Trust Account”) which is invested in U.S. government securities, within the meaning set forth in Section 2(a)(16) of the Investment Company Act, with a maturity of 185 days or less or in any open-ended investment company that holds itself out as a money market fund meeting the conditions of Rule 2a-7 of the Investment Company Act, as determined by the Company. Except with respect to interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account that may be released to the Company to pay its taxes, if any, the funds held in the Trust Account will not be released from the Trust Account until the earliest to occur of: (1) the completion of the Company’s initial Business Combination; (2) the redemption of any public shares properly submitted in connection with a shareholder vote to amend the Company’s amended and restated memorandum and articles of association (A) to modify the substance or timing of the Company’s obligation to allow redemption in connection with its initial Business Combination or to redeem 100% of its public shares if the Company does not complete its initial Business Combination within 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering or (B) with respect to any other provision relating to shareholders’ rights or pre-initial Business Combination activity; and (3) the redemption of the Company’s public shares if the Company has not completed its initial Business Combination within 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering, subject to applicable law. The proceeds deposited in the Trust Account could become subject to the claims of the Company’s creditors, if any, which could have priority over the claims of the Company’s public shareholders.

Initial Business Combination

The Company's management has broad discretion with respect to the specific application of the net proceeds of the Initial Public Offering, although substantially all of the net proceeds are intended to be generally applied toward consummating a Business Combination.

The Company's Business Combination must be with one or more target businesses that together have a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the balance in the Trust Account (as defined below) (net of taxes payable) at the time of the signing of an agreement to enter into a Business Combination. However, the Company will only complete a Business Combination if the post-Business Combination company owns or acquires 50% or more of the outstanding voting securities of the target or otherwise acquires a controlling interest in the target sufficient for it not to be required to register as an investment company under the Investment Company Act. There is no assurance that the Company will be able to successfully effect a Business Combination.

The Company will provide its public shareholders with the opportunity to redeem all or a portion of their public shares upon the completion of the initial Business Combination either (i) in connection with a shareholder meeting called to approve the initial Business Combination or (ii) by means of a tender offer. The decision as to whether the Company will seek shareholder approval of a proposed initial Business Combination or conduct a tender offer will be made by the Company, solely in its discretion. The shareholders will be entitled to redeem their shares for a pro rata portion of the amount then on deposit in the Trust Account (initially $10.00 per share, plus any pro rata interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to the Company to pay its tax obligations).

The Class A ordinary shares subject to redemption is recorded at a redemption value and classified as temporary equity upon the completion of the Initial Public Offering, in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 480, "Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity." In such case, the Company will proceed with a Business Combination if the Company has net tangible assets of at least $5,000,001 either immediately prior to or upon consummation of a Business Combination and, if the Company seeks shareholder approval, a majority of the issued and outstanding shares voted are voted in favor of the Business Combination.

The Company will have 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering (with the ability to extend with shareholder approval) to consummate a Business Combination (the "Combination Period"). However, if the Company is unable to complete a Business Combination within the Combination Period, the Company will redeem 100% of the outstanding public shares for a pro rata portion of the funds held in the Trust Account, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account including interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to the Company, divided by the number of then outstanding public shares, subject to applicable law and as further described in the registration statement, and then seek to dissolve and liquidate.

The Company's Sponsor, officers and directors have agreed to (i) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares, private placement shares and public shares in connection with the completion of the initial Business Combination, (ii) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares and public shares in connection with a shareholder vote to approve an amendment to the Company's amended and restated memorandum and articles of association, and (iii) waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares and private placement shares if the Company fails to complete the initial Business Combination within the Combination Period.

The Company's Sponsor has agreed that it will be liable to the Company if and to the extent any claims by a third party for services rendered or products sold to the Company, or a prospective target business with which the Company has entered into a written letter of intent, confidentiality or similar agreement or Business Combination agreement, reduce the amount of funds in the Trust Account to below the lesser of (i) $10.00 per public share and (ii) the actual amount per public share held in the Trust Account as of the date of the liquidation of the Trust Account, if less than $10.00 per share due to reductions in the value of the trust assets, less taxes payable, provided that such liability will not apply to any claims by a third party or prospective target business who executed a waiver of any and all rights to the monies held in the Trust Account (whether or not such waiver is enforceable) nor will it apply to any claims under the Company's indemnity of the underwriters of the Initial Public Offering against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act. However, the Company has not asked its Sponsor to reserve for such indemnification obligations, nor has the Company independently verified whether its Sponsor has sufficient funds to satisfy its indemnity obligations and believe that the Company's Sponsor's only assets are securities of the Company. Therefore, the Company cannot assure that its Sponsor would be able to satisfy those obligations.

Liquidity

As of September 30, 2021, the Company had cash in an operating bank account, outside of the Trust Account, of $335,058 available for working capital needs. As of September 30, 2021 the Company had working capital of $422,644. All remaining funds held in the Trust Account are generally unavailable for the Company's use, prior to an initial Business Combination, and are restricted for use either in a Business Combination, to redeem Class A ordinary shares or with respect to the interest earned, to be withdrawn for the payment of taxes. As of September 30, 2021, none of the amount in the Trust Account was withdrawn as described above.

Through September 30, 2021, the Company's liquidity needs were satisfied through receipt of $25,000 from the sale of the Founder Shares and the remaining net proceeds from the Initial Public Offering and the sale of Private Placement Warrants.

On October 28, 2021, the Sponsor funded the $1,500,000 available under the Working Capital Loans to the Company (see Notes 6 and 12). The Company anticipates that the $335,058 in its operating bank account as of September 30, 2021, in addition to the subsequent $1,500,000 draw down of the Working Capital Loans available, will be sufficient to allow the Company to operate for at least the next 12 months from the issuance of the financial statements, assuming that a Business Combination is not consummated during that time. Until consummation of its Business Combination, the Company will be using the funds not held in the Trust Account, and any additional Working Capital Loans (as defined in Note 6) from the initial shareholders, the Company's officers and directors, or their respective affiliates (which is described in Note 6), for identifying and evaluating prospective acquisition candidates, performing business due diligence on prospective target businesses, traveling to and from the offices, plants or similar locations of prospective target businesses, reviewing corporate documents and material agreements of prospective target businesses, selecting the target business to acquire and structuring, negotiating and consummating the Business Combination.

The Company does not believe it will need to raise additional funds in order to meet the expenditures required for operating its business. However, if the Company's estimates of the costs of undertaking in-depth due diligence and negotiating Business Combination is less than the actual amount necessary to do so, the Company may have insufficient funds available to operate its business prior to the Business Combination. Moreover, the Company will need to raise additional capital through loans from its Sponsor, officers, directors, or third parties. None of the Sponsor, officers or directors are under any obligation to advance funds to, or to invest in, the Company. If the Company is unable to raise additional capital, it may be required to take additional measures to conserve liquidity, which could include, but not necessarily be limited to, curtailing operations, suspending the pursuit of its business plan, and reducing overhead expenses. The Company cannot provide any assurance that new financing will be available to it on commercially acceptable terms, if at all.

Risks and Uncertainties

Management continues to evaluate the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on the industry and has concluded that while it is reasonably possible that the virus could have a negative effect on the Company's financial position, results of its operations, and/or search for a target company, the specific impact is not readily determinable as of the date of these condensed financial statements. The condensed financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Note 2 — Restatement of Previously Issued Financial Statements

In the Company's previously issued financial statements, a portion of the public shares were classified as permanent equity to maintain shareholders' equity greater than $5,000,000 on the basis that the Company will consummate its initial business combination only if the Company has net tangible assets of at least $5,000,001. Thus, the Company had historically classified a portion of the public shares in permanent equity.

In connection with the preparation of the Company's financial statements as of September 30, 2021, and, in light of certain comment letters issued by the Securities & Exchange Commission ("SEC") to several special purpose acquisition companies, management reevaluated the Company's application of ASC 480-10-S99 to its accounting classification of public shares. Upon reevaluation, management determined that the public shares include certain provisions that require classification of the public shares as temporary equity, regardless of the minimum net tangible asset required by the Company to complete its initial business combination.

In accordance with SEC Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 99, "Materiality," and SEC Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 108, "Considering the Effects of Prior Year Misstatements when Quantifying Misstatements in Current Year Financial Statements,” the Company evaluated the changes and has determined that the related impacts were material to any previously presented financial statements. Therefore, the Company, in consultation with its Audit Committee, concluded that its previously issued financial statements impacted should be restated to report all public shares as temporary equity. As such, the Company is restating those periods in this Quarterly Report.

Impact of the Restatement

Note 3 — Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited condensed financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”) for interim financial information and in accordance with the instructions to Form 10-Q and Article 8 of Regulation S-X of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”). Certain information or footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with GAAP have been condensed or omitted, pursuant to the rules and regulations of the SEC for interim financial reporting. Accordingly, they do not include all the information and footnotes necessary for a complete presentation of financial position, results of operations, or cash flows. In the opinion of management, the accompanying unaudited condensed financial statements include all adjustments, consisting of a normal recurring nature, which are necessary for a fair presentation of the financial position, operating results and cash flows for the periods presented.

The accompanying unaudited condensed financial statements should be read in conjunction with the Company’s prospectus for its Initial Public Offering as filed with the SEC on March 17, 2021, as well as the Company’s Current Reports on Form 8-K. The interim results for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2021 are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the year ending December 31, 2021 or for any future interim periods.

Emerging Growth Company Status

The Company is an “emerging growth company,” as defined in Section 2(a) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, (the “Securities Act”), as modified by the Jumpstart our Business Startups Act of 2012, (the “JOBS Act”), and it may take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not emerging growth companies including, but not limited to, not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in its periodic reports and proxy statements, and exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and shareholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved.

Further, Section 102(b)(1) of the JOBS Act exempts emerging growth companies from being required to comply with new or revised financial accounting standards until private companies (that is, those that have not had a Securities Act registration statement declared effective or do not have a class of securities registered under the Exchange Act) are required to comply with the new or revised financial accounting standards. The JOBS Act provides that a company can elect to opt out of the extended transition period and comply with the requirements that apply to non-emerging growth companies but any such election to opt out is irrevocable. The Company has elected not to opt out of such extended transition period which means that when a standard is issued or revised and it has different application dates for public or private companies, the Company, as an emerging growth company, can adopt the new or revised standard at the time private companies adopt the new or revised standard. This may make comparison of the Company’s financial statements with another public company which is neither an emerging growth company nor an emerging growth company which has opted out of using the extended transition period difficult or impossible because of the potential differences in accounting standards used.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all short-term investments with an original maturity of three months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents. As of September 30, 2021, the Company had $335,058 in cash in its operating bank account, outside of the Trust Account, and had no cash equivalents.

Investment Held in Trust Account

At September 30, 2021, the Trust Account had $345,030,985 held in marketable securities. As of September 30, 2021, the Company has not withdrawn any of the interest income from the Trust Account to pay its tax obligations.

Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist of a cash account in a financial institution, which, at times, may exceed the Federal Depository Insurance Coverage of $250,000. At September 30, 2021, the Company has not experienced losses on this account.

Class A Ordinary Shares Subject to Possible Redemption

The Company accounts for its Class A ordinary shares subject to possible redemption in accordance with the guidance in ASC Topic 480, “Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity.” Class A ordinary shares subject to mandatory redemption (if any) are classified as a liability instrument and are measured at fair value. Conditionally redeemable ordinary shares (including ordinary shares that feature redemption rights that are either within the control of the holder or subject to redemption upon the occurrence of uncertain events not solely within the Company’s control) are classified as temporary equity. At all other times, ordinary shares are classified as shareholders’ equity. The Company’s Class A ordinary shares feature certain redemption rights that are considered to be outside of the Company’s control and subject to the occurrence of uncertain future events. Accordingly, all shares of Class A ordinary shares subject to possible redemption are presented at redemption value as temporary equity, outside of the shareholders’ equity section of the Company’s balance sheet.

All of the Class A ordinary shares sold as part of the Units in the IPO contain a redemption feature which allows for the redemption of such public shares in connection with the Company’s liquidation, if there is a shareholder vote or tender offer in connection with the Business Combination and in connection with certain amendments to the Company’s amended and restated memorandum and articles of association (except that in no event may we redeem our public shares in an amount that would cause our net tangible assets to be less than $5,000,001 following such redemptions pursuant to our amended and restated memorandum and articles of association). In accordance with the SEC and its staff guidance on redeemable equity instruments, which has been codified in ASC 480-10-S99, redemption provisions not solely within the control of the Company require ordinary shares subject to redemption to be classified outside of permanent equity.

As of September 30, 2021, the Class A ordinary shares reflected on the balance sheet are reconciled in the following table:

Gross proceeds	$345,000,000
Less:
Proceeds allocated to public warrants	(11,960,000)
Issuance costs related to Class A ordinary shares	(19,450,398)
Plus:
Accretion of carrying value to redemption value	31,410,398
Contingently redeemable Class A ordinary shares	$345,000,000

Net Income per Ordinary Share

The Company applies the two-class method in calculating earnings per share. The contractual formula utilized to calculate the redemption amount approximates fair value. The Class feature to redeem at fair value means that there is effectively only one class of stock. Changes in fair value are not considered a dividend of the purposes of the numerator in the earnings per share calculation. Net loss per ordinary share is computed by dividing the pro rata net loss between the Class A ordinary shares and the Class B ordinary shares by the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding for each of the periods. The calculation of diluted loss per ordinary share does not consider the effect of the warrants and rights issued in connection with the IPO since the exercise of the warrants and rights are contingent upon the occurrence of future events and the inclusion of such warrants would be anti-dilutive. The warrants and FPA units are exercisable for 61,833,333 shares of Class A ordinary shares in the aggregate. Accretion of the carrying value of Class A ordinary shares to redemption value is excluded from net income per ordinary share because the redemption value approximates fair value.

Offering Costs

The Company complies with the requirements of the ASC 340-10-S99-1 and SEC Staff Accounting Bulletin (“SAB”) Topic 5A-“Expenses of Offering”. Offering costs consist principally of professional and registration fees incurred through the balance sheet date that are related to the Initial Public Offering and that were charged to shareholders’ equity upon the completion of the Initial Public Offering. Accordingly, on September 30, 2021, offering costs totaling $20,169,599 have been charged to shareholders’ equity (consisting of $6,900,000 of underwriting fee, $12,075,000 of deferred underwriting fee and $1,194,599 of other offering costs). Of the total transaction costs, $719,201 was reclassified as a non-operating expense in the condensed statement of operations with the rest of the offering cost charged to shareholders’ equity. The transaction costs were allocated based on a relative fair value basis, compared to the total offering proceeds, between the fair value of the public warrant liabilities and the Class A ordinary shares.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The fair value of the Company’s assets and liabilities, which qualify as financial instruments under the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) ASC 820, “Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures,” approximates the carrying amounts represented in the condensed balance sheet.

Derivative Warrant Liabilities

The Company evaluates its financial instruments, including issued share purchase warrants, to determine if such instruments are derivatives or contain features that qualify as embedded derivatives, pursuant to ASC 480 and ASC 815-15. The classification of derivative instruments, including whether such instruments should be recorded as liabilities or as equity, is re-assessed at the end of each reporting period. The Company has determined its public warrants, private warrants and contingent forward purchase warrants are derivative instruments.

The Company accounts for its 17,433,333 ordinary share warrants issued in connection with its Initial Public Offering (11,500,000) and Private Placement Warrants (5,933,333) as derivative warrant liabilities in accordance with ASC 815-40. Accordingly, the Company recognizes the warrant instruments as liabilities at fair value and adjusts the instruments to fair value at each reporting period. The liabilities are subject to re-measurement at each balance sheet date until exercised, and any change in fair value is recognized in the Company’s condensed statement of operations. The fair value of warrants issued by the Company in connection with its Initial Public Offering and Private Placement Warrants has been estimated using Monte-Carlo simulations at each measurement date.

FASB ASC 470-20, Debt with Conversion and Other Options addresses the allocation of proceeds from the issuance of convertible debt into its equity and debt components. The Company applied this guidance to allocate IPO proceeds from the Units between Class A ordinary shares and warrants, using the residual method by allocating IPO proceeds first to fair value of the warrants and contingent forward purchase units and then the Class A ordinary shares.

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes under ASC Topic 740, "Income Taxes," which requires an asset and liability approach to financial accounting and reporting for income taxes. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are computed for differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities that will result in future taxable or deductible amounts, based on enacted tax laws and rates applicable to the periods in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. Valuation allowances are established, when necessary, to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount expected to be realized.

ASC Topic 740 prescribes a recognition threshold and a measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of tax positions taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. For those benefits to be recognized, a tax position must be more likely than not to be sustained upon examination by taxing authorities. The Company's management determined that the Cayman Islands is the Company's major tax jurisdiction. The Company recognizes accrued interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits as income tax expense. As of September 30, 2021, there were no unrecognized tax benefits and no amounts accrued for interest and penalties. The Company is currently not aware of any issues under review that could result in significant payments, accruals or material deviation from its position.

The Company is considered to be an exempted Cayman Islands company with no connection to any other taxable jurisdiction and is presently not subject to income taxes or income tax filing requirements in the Cayman Islands or the U.S. As such, the Company's tax provision was immaterial for the nine months ended September 30, 2021.

Recent Accounting Standards

In August 2020, the FASB issued ASU 2020-06, "Debt-Debt with Conversion and Other Options" (Subtopic 470-20) and "Derivatives and Hedging-Contracts in an Entity's Own Equity (Subtopic 815-40): Accounting for Convertible Instruments and Contracts in an Entity's Own Equity" ("ASU 2020-06"), which simplifies accounting for convertible instruments by removing major separation models required under current GAAP. The ASU also removes certain settlement conditions that are required for equity-linked contracts to qualify for scope exception, and it simplifies the diluted earnings per share calculation in certain areas. The Company adopted ASU 2020-06 on January 1, 2021. Adoption of the ASU did not impact the Company's financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

The Company's management does not believe that any other recently issued, but not yet effective, accounting standards if currently adopted would have a material effect on the accompanying financial statements.

Note 4 — Initial Public Offering

Pursuant to the Initial Public Offering, the Company sold 34,500,000 Units, at a price of $10.00 per Unit. Each Unit consists of one share of Class A Ordinary shares, par value $0.0001 per share one-third of one redeemable warrant ("Public Warrant"). Each whole Public Warrant entitles the holder to purchase one share of Class A Ordinary shares at a price of $11.50 per share.

Note 5 — Private Placement Warrants

Simultaneously with the closing of the Initial Public Offering, the Sponsor purchased an aggregate of 5,933,333 Private Placement Warrants at a price of $1.50 per Private Placement Warrant, for an aggregate price of $8,900,000. Each Private Placement Warrant is exercisable for one Class A ordinary share at a price of $11.50 per share, subject to adjustment (see Note 7). If the Company does not complete a Business Combination within the Combination Period, the proceeds from the sale of the Private Placement Warrants held in the Trust Account will be used to fund the redemption of the Public Shares (subject to the requirements of applicable law) and the Private Placement Warrants will expire worthless. The initial fair value of the private warrants was recorded as a liability of $6,230,000 with the excess of cash received over initial fair value of the warrants of $2,670,000 recorded as additional paid-in capital.

Note 6 — Related Party Transactions

Founder Shares

On January 12, 2021, the Company issued 7,187,500 Class B ordinary shares to the Sponsor for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000 (the “Founder Shares”). On March 15, 2021, the Company effected a dividend of 0.2 of a share of Class B ordinary shares for each share of Class B ordinary shares, resulting in 8,625,000 shares of Class B ordinary shares being issued and outstanding.

The Sponsor has agreed, subject to limited exceptions, not to transfer, assign or sell any of its Class B ordinary shares or Class A ordinary shares received upon conversion thereof until the earlier of: (A) one year after the completion of a Business Combination and (B) subsequent to a Business Combination, (x) if the last reported sale price of the Class A ordinary shares equals or exceeds $12.00 per share (as adjusted for share sub-divisions, share dividends, rights issuances, consolidations, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 150 days after a Business Combination, or (y) the date on which the Company completes a liquidation, merger, amalgamation, share exchange, reorganization or other similar transaction that results in all of the Company’s shareholders having the right to exchange their ordinary shares for cash, securities or other property.

Related Party Loans

On January 12, 2021, the Sponsor agreed to loan the Company up to $300,000 to be used for the payment of costs related to the Initial Public Offering pursuant to a promissory note (the “Promissory Note”). The Promissory Note was non-interest bearing, unsecured and due upon the earlier of June 30, 2021 and the closing of the Initial Public Offering. The Company had no borrowings under the Promissory Note at the closing of the Initial Public Offering.

In addition, in order to finance transaction costs in connection with a Business Combination, the Sponsor may, but is not obligated to, loan the Company funds as may be required (“Working Capital Loans”). If the Company completes a Business Combination, the Company would repay the Working Capital Loans out of the proceeds of the Trust Account released to the Company. Otherwise, the Working Capital Loans would be repaid only out of funds held outside the Trust Account. In the event that a Business Combination does not close, the Company may use a portion of proceeds held outside the Trust Account to repay the Working Capital Loans but no proceeds held in the Trust Account would be used to repay the Working Capital Loans. The Working Capital Loans would either be repaid upon consummation of a Business Combination, without interest, or, at the lender’s discretion, up to $1.5 million of such Working Capital Loans may be convertible into warrants of the post Business Combination entity at a price of $1.50 per warrant. The warrants would be identical to the Private Placement Warrants.

Due to Related Party

The balance of $65,000 represents the amount accrued for the administrative support services provided (defined below) by the Sponsor from date of the IPO to September 30, 2021.

Administrative Support Agreement

Commencing on the date of the Initial Public Offering, the Company has agreed to pay the Sponsor a total of $10,000 per month for office space and administrative support services. Upon completion of the Initial Business Combination or the Company’s liquidation, the Company will cease paying these monthly fees. For the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2021, the Company has recognized $30,000 and $65,000, respectively, of administrative service fee, which is included in formation and operating costs on the condensed statements of operations.

Working Capital Loans

In order to finance transaction costs in connection with a Business Combination, the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor, or certain of the Company’s officers and directors may, but are not obligated to, loan the Company funds as may be required (“Working Capital Loans”). Such Working Capital Loans would be evidenced by promissory notes. The notes may be repaid upon completion of a Business Combination, without interest, or, at the lender’s discretion, up to $1,500,000 of notes may be converted upon completion of a Business Combination into warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant. Such warrants would be identical to the Private Placement Warrants. In the event that a Business Combination does not close, the Company may use a portion of proceeds held outside of the Trust Account to repay the Working Capital Loans, but no proceeds held in the Trust Account would be used to repay the Working Capital Loans. As of September 30, 2021, the Company had no outstanding borrowings under the Working Capital Loans. On October 28, 2021, the Company drew down the entire available balance of the Working Capital Loans and the Sponsor deposited $1,500,000 in the Company's operating bank account (see Note 12).

Forward Purchase Agreement

The Company entered into two separate forward purchase agreements as follows. The Sponsor and Dynamo Master Fund (a member of the Sponsor) entered into a forward purchase agreement (the "Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement"), dated as of February 22, 2021, with the Company that will provide for the purchase of up to an aggregate of 13,000,000 units, with each unit consisting of one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, for an aggregate purchase price of $130,000,000, or $10.00 per unit, in a private placement to close substantially concurrently with the closing of our initial Business Combination. The Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement provides that the applicable forward purchase investors may, in their sole discretion, increase the amount of capital committed under the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement up to an amount not to exceed $160,000,000. Beauty Ventures LLC ("Beauty Ventures") entered into a forward purchase agreement (the "Beauty Forward Purchase Agreement", and together with the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement, the "Forward Purchase Agreements" or "FPA"), dated as of March 1, 2021, with the Company that provides for the purchase of an aggregate of up to 17,300,000 units, with each unit consisting of one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, for an aggregate purchase price of up to $173,000,000 (subject to the below), or $10.00 per unit, in a private placement to close substantially concurrently with the closing of the initial Business Combination. To the extent that the amounts available from the Trust Account and other financing (including the Sponsor Forward Purchase Agreement) are sufficient for the cash requirements in connection with our initial Business Combination, the Sponsor may, in its sole discretion, as the managing member of Beauty Ventures, reduce its purchase obligation, up to the full amount, under the Beauty Forward Purchase Agreement. Members of the Sponsor or their affiliates will receive a performance fee allocation when the return on the securities underlying the Beauty Forward Purchase Agreement exceeds certain benchmark returns. The obligations under the forward purchase agreements will not depend on whether any Class A ordinary shares are redeemed by our public shareholders. The forward purchase shares and the forward purchase warrants included in the units being sold in this offering, respectively, will be identical to the public shares and public warrants included in the units being sold in this offering, respectively, except that the holders thereof will have certain registration rights, as described herein. On October 20, 2021, the Company received (i) an allocation notice from the Sponsor and Dynamo Master Fund committing to purchase 16,000,000 units, with each unit consisting of one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, for an aggregate purchase price of $160,000,000, or $10.00 per unit and (ii) an allocation notice from Beauty Ventures committing to purchase 17,300,000 units, with each unit consisting of one Class A ordinary share and one-third of one redeemable warrant, for an aggregate purchase price of $173,000,000, or $10.00 per unit.

Note 7 — Commitments & Contingencies

Registration Rights

The holders of the Founder Shares, Private Placement Warrants and any warrants that may be issued upon conversion of Working Capital Loans (and any Class A ordinary shares issuable upon the exercise of the Private Placement Warrants or warrants issued upon conversion of the Working Capital Loans and upon conversion of the Founder Shares) will be entitled to registration rights pursuant to a registration rights agreement to be signed prior to or on the effective date of the Initial Public Offering requiring the Company to register such securities for resale. The holders of these securities will be entitled to make up to three demands, excluding short form demands, that the Company register such securities. In addition, the holders have certain "piggy-back" registration rights with respect to registration statements filed subsequent to the completion of a Business Combination. The Company will bear the expenses incurred in connection with the filing of any such registration statements.

Underwriters Agreement

On March 18, 2021, pursuant to the consummation of the IPO, the Company paid a fixed underwriting discount of $0.20 per Unit, or $6,900,000 in the aggregate. Additionally, a deferred underwriting discount of $0.35 per Unit, or $12,075,000 in the aggregate, will be payable to the underwriters from the amounts held in the Trust Account solely in the event that the Company completes an initial Business Combination, subject to the terms of the underwriting agreement.

Transaction Agreements

On November 15, 2021, the Company entered into the Obagi Merger Agreement (as defined in Note 12) with Obagi (as defined in Note 12) and Merger Sub (as defined in Note 12). The transactions contemplated by the Obagi Merger Agreement are described in more detail in Note 12.

On November 15, 2021, the Company entered into the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement (as defined in Note 12) with the Purchasers (as defined in Note 12), Milk (as defined in Note 12), Milk Members (as defined in Note 12) and Equityholder Representative (as defined in Note 12). The transactions contemplated by the Milk Equity Purchase Agreement are described in more detail in Note 12.

Note 8 — Class A Ordinary Shares Subject to Possible Redemption

The Company's Class A ordinary shares feature certain redemption rights that are considered to be outside of the Company's control and subject to the occurrence of uncertain future events. Accordingly, as of September 30, 2021, 34,500,000 shares of Class A ordinary shares subject to possible redemption are presented at redemption value as temporary equity, outside of the shareholders' equity section of the Company's balance sheet. The value of these redeemable shares was calculated as the gross proceeds from the sale of the Public Units reduced by the proceeds allocable to the Public Warrants, issuance costs related to the Public Units and the accretion of the carrying value to the redemption value. Upon the consummation of the IPO, the Company recorded $31,410,398 in accretion.

Note 9 — Shareholder's Deficit

Preference Shares — The Company is authorized to issue a total of 5,000,000 preference shares at par value of $0.0001 each. At September 30, 2021, there were no preference shares issued or outstanding.

Class A Ordinary Shares — The Company is authorized to issue a total of 500,000,000 Class A ordinary shares at par value of $0.0001 each. At September 30, 2021, there were no shares issued and outstanding (excluding 34,500,000 shares subject to possible redemption).

Class B Ordinary Shares — The Company is authorized to issue a total of 50,000,000 shares of Class B ordinary shares at par value of $0.0001 each. At September 30, 2021, there were 8,625,000 Class B ordinary shares issued or outstanding.

Only holders of the Class B ordinary shares, such holders being the Sponsor and the Investor Directors, will have the right to vote on the election of directors prior to the Business Combination. Holders of Class A ordinary shares and holders of Class B ordinary shares will vote together as a single class on all matters submitted to a vote of the Company's shareholders except as otherwise required by law.

The Class B ordinary shares will automatically convert into Class A ordinary shares at the time of the completion of the Business Combination, or earlier at the option of the holder, on a one-for-one basis, subject to adjustment. In the case that additional Class A ordinary shares, or equity-linked securities, are issued or deemed issued in excess of the amounts issued in the Initial Public Offering and related to the closing of a Business Combination, the ratio at which Founder Shares will convert into Class A ordinary shares will be adjusted (subject to waiver by holders of a majority of the Class B ordinary shares) so that the number of Class A ordinary shares issuable upon conversion of all Founder Shares will equal, in the aggregate, on an as-converted basis, 20% of the sum of the ordinary shares issued and outstanding upon completion of the Initial Public Offering plus the number of Class A ordinary shares and equity-linked securities issued or deemed issued in connection with a Business Combination, excluding any Class A ordinary shares or equity-linked securities issued, or to be issued, to any seller in a Business Combination.

Note 10 — Warrants

Public Warrants may only be exercised for a whole number of shares. No fractional warrants will be issued upon separation of the Units and only whole warrants will trade. The Public Warrants will become exercisable on the later of (a) 30 days after the completion of a Business Combination and (b) 12 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering. The Public Warrants will expire five years after the completion of a Business Combination or earlier upon redemption or liquidation.

The Company will not be obligated to deliver any Class A ordinary shares pursuant to the exercise of a Public Warrant and will have no obligation to settle such Public Warrant exercise unless a registration statement under the Securities Act with respect to the Class A ordinary shares underlying the Public Warrants is then effective and a prospectus relating thereto is current, subject to the Company satisfying its obligations with respect to registration. No Public Warrant will be exercisable, and the Company will not be obligated to issue any shares to holders seeking to exercise their warrants, unless the issuance of the shares upon such exercise is registered or qualified under the securities laws of the state of the exercising holder, or an exemption is available.

The Company has agreed that as soon as practicable, but in no event later than 15 business days, after the closing of the Company's Business Combination, the Company will use its commercially reasonable efforts to file with the SEC a registration statement for the registration, under the Securities Act, of the Class A ordinary shares issuable upon exercise of the warrants. The Company will use its commercially reasonable efforts to cause the same to become effective and to maintain the effectiveness of such registration statement, and a current prospectus relating thereto, until the expiration or redemption of the warrants in accordance with the provisions of the warrant agreement. If a registration statement covering the Class A ordinary shares issuable upon exercise of the warrants is not effective by the 60th business day after the closing of a Business Combination, warrant holders may, until such time as there is an effective registration statement and during any period when the Company will have failed to maintain an effective registration statement, exercise warrants on a "cashless basis" in accordance with Section 3(a)(9) of the Securities Act or another exemption. Notwithstanding the above, if the Class A ordinary shares are at the time of any exercise of a warrant not listed on a national securities exchange such that they satisfy the definition of a "covered security" under Section 18(b)(1) of the Securities Act, the Company may, at its option, require holders of public warrants who exercise their warrants to do so on a "cashless basis" in accordance with Section 3(a)(9) of the Securities Act and, in the event the Company so elects, the Company will not be required to file or maintain in effect a registration statement, and in the event the Company does not so elect, it will use its commercially reasonable efforts to register or qualify the shares under applicable blue sky laws to the extent an exemption is not available.

Once the warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the Public Warrants for redemption:

in whole and not in part;

at a price of $0.01 per Public Warrant;

upon not less than 30 days' prior written notice of redemption to each warrant holder; and if, and only if, the reported last sale price of the Class A ordinary shares for any 20 trading days within a 30-trading day period ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which the Company sends the notice of redemption the warrant holders (the "Reference Value") equals or exceeds $18.00 per share (as adjusted).

Once the Public Warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the Public Warrants:

in whole and not in part;

at $0.10 per warrant upon a minimum of 30 days' prior written notice of redemption provided that holders will be able to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis prior to redemption and receive that number of shares determined by reference to the table below, based on the redemption date and the "fair market value" of the Class A ordinary shares;

if, and only if, the Reference Value equals or exceeds $10.00 per share (as adjusted); and if the Reference Value is less than $18.00 per share (as adjusted), the Private Placement Warrants must also be concurrently called for redemption on the same terms as the outstanding Public Warrants, as described above.

If and when the warrants become redeemable by the Company, the Company may exercise its redemption right even if it is unable to register or qualify the underlying securities for sale under all applicable state securities laws.

The exercise price and number of ordinary shares issuable upon exercise of the Public Warrants may be adjusted in certain circumstances including in the event of a share dividend, extraordinary dividend or recapitalization, reorganization, merger or consolidation. However, except as described below, the Public Warrants will not be adjusted for issuances of ordinary shares at a price below its exercise price. Additionally, in no event will the Company be required to net cash settle the Public Warrants. If the Company is unable to complete a Business Combination within the Combination Period and the Company liquidates the funds held in the Trust Account, holders of Public Warrants will not receive any of such funds with respect to their Public Warrants, nor will they receive any distribution from the Company's assets held outside of the Trust Account with respect to such Public Warrants. Accordingly, the Public Warrants may expire worthless.

In addition, if (x) the Company issues additional Class A ordinary shares or equity-linked securities for capital raising purposes in connection with the closing of a Business Combination at an issue price or effective issue price of less than $9.20 per Class A ordinary share (with such issue price or effective issue price to be determined in good faith by the Company's board of directors and, in the case of any such issuance to the Sponsor or its affiliates, without taking into account any Founder Shares held by the Sponsor or such affiliates, as applicable, prior to such issuance) (the "Newly Issued Price"), (y) the aggregate gross proceeds from such issuances represent more than 60% of the total equity proceeds, and interest thereon, available for the funding of a Business Combination, and (z) the volume weighted average trading price of the Class A ordinary shares during the 20 trading day period starting on the trading day prior to the day on which the Company consummates a Business Combination (such price, the "Market Value") is below $9.20 per share, then the exercise price of the warrants will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 115% of the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price, and the $10.00 and $18.00 per share redemption trigger prices will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 100% and 180% of the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price, respectively.

The Private Placement Warrants will be identical to the Public Warrants underlying the Units being sold in the Initial Public Offering, except that the Private Placement Warrants and the Class A ordinary shares issuable upon the exercise of the Private Placement Warrants will not be transferable, assignable or salable until 30 days after the completion of a Business Combination, subject to certain limited exceptions. Additionally, the Private Placement Warrants will be exercisable on a cashless basis and be non-redeemable, except as described above, so long as they are held by the initial purchasers or their permitted transferees, the Private Placement Warrants will be redeemable by the Company and exercisable by such holders on the same basis as Public Warrants.

Note 11 — Fair Value Measurements

Fair value is defined as the price that would be received for sale of an asset or paid for transfer of a liability, in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. GAAP establishes a three-tier fair value hierarchy, which prioritizes the inputs used in measuring fair value. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). These tiers include:

Level 1, defined as observable inputs such as quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical instruments in active markets;

Level 2, defined as inputs other than quoted prices in active markets that are either directly or indirectly observable such as quoted prices for similar instruments in active markets or quoted prices for identical or similar instruments in markets that are not active; and

Level 3, defined as unobservable inputs in which little or no market data exists, therefore requiring an entity to develop its own assumptions, such as valuations derived from valuation techniques in which one or more significant inputs or significant value drivers are unobservable.

The following table presents information about the Company's assets that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis at September 30, 2021 and indicates the fair value hierarchy of the valuation inputs the Company utilized to determine such fair value:
